

1.1 On business or on holiday?

Goals

- Introduce yourself
- Ask questions with be

Lead-in

- Write hello on the board in a large speech bubble.
- If possible, as students enter the classroom, stand at the door to greet them with a friendly hello (and a handshake if appropriate). If students are already in the classroom, greet them with a clear hello and encourage them to say hello back to you, using gesture to direct them.

Listening & Speaking saying hello

Exercise 1a 1.1

- Write the verbs listen and read on the board and pre-teach using mime (e.g. cup your ear for listen, and hold your hands open like a book for read). These are important instruction words needed throughout the course.
- Point to the photo and teach hotel to help students understand the setting. You could give names of real local hotels or famous international ones.
- Point to the photos of Paul and Alisa. Make sure students can see that they are part of the group in the main photo.
- Play track 1.1 and ask students to listen to and read the conversation in the speech bubbles.

Exercise 1b

- Greet several students to demonstrate how to do this, e.g. Hi, I'm ... / Hello, I'm ... Drill the contraction I'm /aɪm/ to ensure natural pronunciation from the start.
- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to say their names to each other, e.g. Hi, I'm Ali. Student A starts.

Exercise 2a 1.2

PRONUNCIATION Explain 'stress' using demonstration and gesture. Write hello on the board and mark the stress on the second syllable. Model the pronunciation a few times. Show students how different it sounds with the first syllable stressed and indicate clearly that this is wrong. Model correctly again then drill students around the class and as a whole group. English is a stress-timed language and therefore even at beginner level we need to make it clear to students that this is important.

- Play track 1.2 and ask students to listen to the rhythm of the conversation and notice where the stress falls.

Exercise 2b 1.3

- Play track 1.3 for students to repeat.
- Correct any mistakes, particularly with the stress, and drill. Try to vary the way you drill pronunciation to make it interesting and memorable: drill individual students and the whole class; drill one half of the class first and then the other; drill all the men and then all the women. Use hand gestures to help indicate which students you want to speak (like the conductor of an orchestra).

Exercise 2c

- Put students into their A/B pairs from exercise 1b and ask them to practise the conversation, using their own names. Monitor carefully and make sure they swap roles so both students have a chance to practise all parts of the conversation. Note any errors and correct these with the whole class.

Exercise 3

- Put students into different pairs. Ask them to practise the conversation with their new partner.
- Listen carefully to catch any errors and correct them.

EXTENSION When you think students are ready, instruct them to stand up and move around the classroom saying hello and hi and introducing themselves to as many other students as possible. You could give a time limit for this.

Grammar & Listening verb be (I/you)

Exercise 4 1.4

Audio summary: People introducing themselves to each other in a hotel setting. They are on holiday, on business or studying.

- Pre-teach the phrases on business, on holiday and to study using pictures if possible or translation if you have a monolingual class. Drill the words.
- To make sure students clearly understand yes and no, ask questions to get these one-word answers: Are you here on business? Are you here on holiday? Are you here to study?

EXTRA SUPPORT You could also write the words on the board with the stress marked as in exercise 3: business, holiday and study.

- Explain to students that they are going to hear three conversations (show three fingers for clarity). They have to listen and tick the correct box for each person. Play the first conversation to demonstrate. Pause after Paul says Yes, I am and point to the tick in the book. Continue and pause after Havva, and elicit which box to tick.
- Play conversations 2 and 3. Students tick the correct boxes.
- Check the answers together. Demonstrate using the first conversation, e.g. Paul. On business. Havva. On holiday. Elicit answers like this for conversations 2 and 3 from two of the stronger students. Make sure the answers are audible. Beginner students may speak quietly because they are unconfident. Encourage them to speak up and praise them.

ANSWERS

Paul – on business    Alisa – on business
Havva – on holiday    Sunil – to study
Josué – on business    Julie – on holiday

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.4

1

P Hello, I'm Paul.
H Hi, I'm Havva.
P Nice to meet you, Havva.
H And you. Are you here on business?
P Yes, I am. And you? Are you here on business?
H No, I'm not. I'm on holiday.

2

A Hello, I'm Alisa.
J Hi, I'm Josué.
A Nice to meet you. Are you here on business?
J Yes, I am.
A I'm here on business, too.

3

S Hello, I'm Sunil.
J Hi, I'm Julie.
S Nice to meet you, Julie.
J And you. Are you here on holiday?
S No, I'm not. I'm here to study. And you? Are you on holiday?
J Yes, I am.

Exercise 5a 1.5

- Play track 1.5 and ask students to listen to Havva and Paul's conversation and complete it.

EXTRA SUPPORT For less confident students, write you, No, Yes, business, holiday on the board and explain that these are the words they need. Alternatively, you could play the track once, but ask students not to write as they listen. Then allow time for students to remember and write.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students could be challenged to remember the conversation, either alone or in pairs, and complete it. Then when they listen, they are checking whether they were correct.

Exercise 5b 1.6

- Play track 1.6 for students to check they have completed the conversation with the right words.
- Play the track again for students to repeat.
- You could put students into pairs to practise this conversation, particularly to ensure natural pronunciation.

ANSWERS

1 business    2 Yes    3 you    4 No    5 holiday

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.5 & 1.6

P Hello, I'm Paul.
H Hi, I'm Havva.
P Nice to meet you, Havva.
H And you. Are you here on business?
P Yes, I am. And you? Are you here on business?
H No, I'm not. I'm on holiday.

Exercise 6

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box. Point out the missing verb forms and ask them to find them in the conversation in 5a. Do number 1 as an example, eliciting the answer and highlighting it in the conversation.
- Students work alone to complete the Grammar focus box. They can compare answers in pairs before you check together by eliciting from different students.

WATCH OUT! Point out that the full forms of be are I am/I am not and You are/You are not, but that when we speak we use the contracted forms I'm /aɪm/ and You're /jʊː/. Drill these contractions and also the negative form You aren't /juːn't/.

ANSWERS

1 'm    2 Are    3 am    4 not

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p116. Ask them to read through the information. There are useful examples of each grammar point.
- There are four more exercises here that students can do for homework. Remind them to read the instructions carefully and to study the example before they start. You will need to check these answers during the next lesson.

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to find the photos of Sunil and Julie on the page. Ask: Is Sunil on business? (No. To study.) Is Julie on business? (No. On holiday.)
- Put students into pairs and ask them to read and complete Sunil and Julie's conversation. Point out that all the missing words are forms of the verb be.

EXTRA SUPPORT If students are struggling, refer them to the Grammar focus box.

Exercise 7b 1.7

- Play track 1.7 and ask students to listen to the conversation and check their answers. Play again, pausing after each line so students have more time to process what they hear and check it matches what they've written.
- Check answers as a class. Ask individual students to read out one line of the conversation including the gap they have completed with the verb be.
- You could ask students to practise the conversation in pairs. Listen for any mistakes and correct them.

ANSWERS

1 m 2 m 3 Are 4 m not 5 m 6 Are 7 am

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.7

S Hello, I'm Sunil.

J Hi, I'm Julie.

S Nice to meet you, Julie.

J And you. Are you here on holiday?

S No, I'm not. I'm here to study. And you? Are you on holiday?

J Yes, I am.

Exercise 8a

- Refer students to the mixed-up conversation which they have to put in order. Highlight that the first part is Hi, I'm Julie (indicated by the number 1). Ask them to find which line is next. Do this one together as an example.
- Tell students to continue numbering the lines in the correct order to make the conversation between Julie and Paul. They can check their answers in pairs and help each other.
- Check answers by reading line 1 yourself and asking different students to read the subsequent lines.

ANSWERS

5 No, I'm not. I'm here on holiday.

2 I'm Paul. Nice to meet you, Julie.

3 And you. Are you here on business, Paul?

1 Hi, I'm Julie.

4 Yes, I am. And you? Are you here on business?

Exercise 8b

- Put students into pairs to practise the conversation. They can read from the book. Allow them time to practise two or three times and then tell them to swap roles.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Invite a strong pair to model the conversation in front of the class.

Exercise 9

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to read the prompts. Tell them to use the prompts to have a conversation. Encourage them to use their real names.
- Choose a strong student and demonstrate the conversation for the class. You start.

FEEDBACK FOCUS When monitoring, check specifically for the verb be. Mistakes in omitting be are common, e.g. ~~Here on business~~ / ~~You here to study?~~ / ~~No, I not~~. Also be careful that students make the short answer Yes, I am and not Yes, I'm.

EXTENSION Encourage students to mingle and introduce themselves to other students in the class. Monitor for errors and correct them with the class when they have finished.

Listening skills recognizing questions

- Read the information aloud to the class. Highlight how the word order changes from statement to question form. You could write the example sentences from the book on the board to focus students' attention. Also point out the punctuation: statements finish with a full stop and questions with a question mark.

Exercise 1

- Demonstrate by asking students whether number 1 is a statement or a question. Write it on the board and invite one student to come up and punctuate it correctly. Point to the end of the sentence so they understand they need to write a question mark or full stop.
- Put students into pairs to complete the exercise.
- Write the sentences on the board so you can check the answers together by inviting students up to the board to write question marks or full stops.

ANSWERS

- |                            |                          |
|----------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 Hello. Are you Angela?   | 4 I am here on business. |
| 2 You're here on business. | 5 Are you on holiday?    |
| 3 Are you here to study?   |                          |

Exercise 2a 1.8

- Play the first sentence as a demonstration and refer students to the example answer on the page.
- Play the rest of the track for students to complete the exercise.

ANSWERS

1 S 2 S 3 Q 4 S 5 Q

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.8

1 I'm here to study.

2 You're here on holiday.

3 Are you Francesca?

4 I'm Peter. Nice to meet you.

5 Are you on business?

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask stronger students to try to remember the statements and questions and write them down.

- Play track 1.8 again and elicit the answers from the class.

EXTRA ACTIVITY In their pairs, ask students to write two sentences and two questions. Tell them to take turns to read them aloud to another pair. They listen to the other pair's sentences and identify if they are questions or statements.

1.2 Where are you from?

Goals

- Say countries and numbers 1–10
- Talk about where you're from

Lead-in

- Write numbers 1–10 on the board.
- Put students into pairs. Ask them to tell their partner any English words they know for these numbers. It doesn't matter if they don't know, but it could be motivating if they do know a few of them. (They might remember 1–5 from 1.1 exercise 8.)

Vocabulary numbers 1–10, countries

Exercise 1a 1.9

- Explain that students will hear the numbers in column 1 first and then the numbers in column 2.
- Play track 1.9 and ask students to listen to the numbers. Pause after one and point to the example answer. Play to the end for students to complete the exercise.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students could try to write the numbers next to the words before listening.

- Check that students have the correct answers.

ANSWERS

two 2 five 5 four 4 one 1 three 3 eight 8
six 6 nine 9 ten 10 seven 7

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.9

one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten

Exercise 1b 1.9

- Play the track again and ask students to listen to the numbers and repeat them.

EXTRA SUPPORT If students do not know most of these numbers, write the words from one to ten on the board and drill them, showing the numbers they represent by using your fingers. Remove the words before students do the exercise.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Write the words on pieces of paper and tell students to put them in number order as quickly as possible, starting with one. They could do this in pairs or small groups. Alternatively, if appropriate for your class, divide students into groups of ten and give each student one word. In this version, the ten students would physically move themselves to form one line in number order. They could hold up their number and say it during feedback.

Exercise 2a

- Read out the countries in the box. Demonstrate the exercise by eliciting which country matches number 1 on the map (the USA). Ask students to match the rest of the countries to the numbers on the map.

Exercise 2b 1.10

- Play track 1.10 and pause after each country name to allow time for students to process the information and check their answers.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 1.10

- |           |              |
|-----------|--------------|
| 1 the USA | 6 Turkey     |
| 2 Brazil  | 7 China      |
| 3 the UK  | 8 Japan      |
| 4 Spain   | 9 Indonesia  |
| 5 Russia  | 10 Australia |

Pronunciation saying names of countries

Exercise 3a 1.11

- Write the two example countries on the board with the stress marked and drill the pronunciation. To help students learn about and understand syllables, say Australia and ask how many syllables it has. You could show the syllables using the fingers on one hand. Ask which syllable is stressed. Do the same with Brazil.
- To help students focus on word stress, you could use a technique such as stress punching, where you punch your arm out in front of you for the stressed syllable. First you model and punch and then the students do it. Some students greatly benefit from physical action like this (but make sure there's enough room to do it safely!).
- Play track 1.11 and ask students to listen to the countries and mark the stress. Play again if necessary.
- Go through the answers together, making a list on the board with the stress marked. You could also elicit the number of syllables in each country name.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 1.11

- |             |            |
|-------------|------------|
| 1 Australia | 6 Russia   |
| 2 Brazil    | 7 Spain    |
| 3 China     | 8 Turkey   |
| 4 Indonesia | 9 the UK   |
| 5 Japan     | 10 the USA |

Exercise 3b 1.11

- Play track 1.11 again. Pause after each country and ask students to say the country several times, looking at the word stress marked on the board.

Exercise 4

- Put students into A/B pairs to test each other. Ask Student A to say a number from the map in exercise 2a and Student B says the corresponding country.
- Monitor carefully and note any pronunciation problems.
- Do error correction with the class. Write words on the board which were pronounced incorrectly and drill them again. Use stress punching to highlight the stress if that is the problem. Model any other sounds that are difficult and ask students to repeat. You could also play track 1.11 again if they are making a lot of mistakes.
- Tell students to swap roles and do the exercise again.

Exercise 5a

- Ask students to look at the chart. Explain that it shows the approximate number of people in the different countries in exercise 2a. Use the example answer to demonstrate that they have to match each country with a number.
- Students work in pairs to complete the rest of the chart.

Exercise 5b

- Teach the meaning of I think using gesture or a drawing of a person with a thought bubble.
- Write I think number one is China on the board and drill this sentence with the class until they find it easy to say. You could use back-chaining to help with pronunciation of the sentence, e.g. start at the end and say China, ask students to repeat, then add a little more (is China) and students repeat. Keep adding a little more (number one is China, etc.) until students are saying the whole sentence.
- Divide the class into groups of four, made up of two pairs. Ask them to compare their charts and say what they think.
- Monitor carefully and encourage them to use the full sentence with I think ... because this gives them valuable practice of numbers, too.

Exercise 5c 1.12

- Play track 1.12 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers.
- Check answers together by playing the track again, pausing after is each time and eliciting the country name before it is said by the speaker, e.g. Number one is ...

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 1.12

- 1 Number one is China.
- 2 Number two is the USA.
- 3 Number three is Indonesia.
- 4 Number four is Brazil.
- 5 Number five is Russia.
- 6 Number six is Japan.
- 7 Number seven is Turkey.
- 8 Number eight is the UK.
- 9 Number nine is Spain.
- 10 Number ten is Australia.

Grammar & Speaking verb be (we/you)

Exercise 6a 1.13

- Play track 1.13 and ask students to listen to and read the conversation in the speech bubbles.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask students which sentences are questions and which are statements (as they did in 1.1 listening skills exercises).

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.13 & 1.14

A Where are you from?

B I'm from Brazil. And you?

A I'm from Indonesia.

Exercise 6b 1.14

- Play track 1.14 for students to listen to the conversation and repeat. Pause at the end of each line.

PRONUNCIATION You could ask students to identify which words are stressed in each sentence and mark them with a dot. Do the first one as a demonstration. This kind of exercise helps students to understand which words in the sentence carry the most meaning and to get a feel for the rhythm of English. (See sentence stresses marked in audioscript 1.12.)

Exercise 6c

- Put students into pairs to practise the conversation. Monitor carefully and note any mistakes in pronouncing the names of the countries. Make sure students have a chance to practise both roles.
- After students have practised the conversation twice, drill the country names again if necessary.

EXTENSION With a multilingual class, you could help them learn the words for their own countries of origin. Then they can practise the conversation again, using their real countries. Ask some pairs to say their conversations for the class. They could point to their country on a map and all the students could practise the pronunciation of the new country names. Make sure you write the countries on the board and mark the stress clearly.

Exercise 7a 1.15

WATCH OUT! Before students do this, make sure they are aware that there's a St Petersburg and a Moscow in both Russia and the USA, and that there's an Aberdeen and a London in both the UK and the USA.

- Pre-teach the noun city by giving examples of big cities from the country where you're teaching. You could elicit the names of cities from different countries in exercise 2.
- Tell students they are going to hear two different conversations. Elicit who they can see in the photos (Alisa, Paul, Julie). Tell them that the man with Julie is Frank, Julie's boyfriend.
- Play the first conversation only and ask students to listen for city names. Then play again and this time students circle the correct countries and cities for Alisa and Paul.
- Play the second conversation between Julie and Paul twice. Students circle the correct countries and cities.
- Elicit the cities and countries from some students to check the answers.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask stronger students Are Julie and Frank here on business? to check whether they caught this information (No, on holiday).

ANSWERS

1 Russia 2 Moscow 3 the USA 4 Aberdeen
5 Australia 6 Perth

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.15

1

P Where are you from, Alisa?

A I'm from Russia.

P Where in Russia?

A I'm from Moscow. And you, Paul?

P I'm from Aberdeen. That's Aberdeen in the USA, not Aberdeen in the UK!

2

P So, Julie, you and Frank are here on holiday. Where are you from?

J We're from Australia.

P Where in Australia? Are you from Sydney?

F No, we aren't. We're from Perth.

Exercise 7b

- Ask students to read questions 1–4 and answers a–d.
- To demonstrate the exercise, read out question 1 and elicit the matching answer (c). Students match the rest of the questions and answers.
- Students could compare answers in pairs.

Exercise 7c 1.16

- Play track 1.16 and ask students to listen to the conversations and check their answers.

EXTENSION You could check that students understand that Where ...? can be a question asking about any place (country or city). Write on the board Where are you from? and two answers I'm from the USA and I'm from New York. Elicit that the USA is a country and New York is a city. Make it clear that these answers are both correct.

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.16

1

A Where are you from, Alisa?

B I'm from Russia.

2

A And you, Paul?

B I'm from Aberdeen.

3

A Where in Australia?

B We're from Perth.

4

A Are you from Sydney?

B No, we aren't.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 d 3 b 4 a

Exercise 8

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box. To demonstrate the exercise, elicit the form to complete the first gap. If students don't understand what to do, ask them to look at the questions and answers in exercise 7.
- Students complete the rest of the Grammar focus box.
- Go through the answers together, making sure students read out the whole sentence from the Grammar focus box, not only the missing word. Drill the contractions: we're /wiə/, you're /jʊə/ and we aren't /wi'ɑːnt/.

ANSWERS

1 're 2 aren't 3 are 4 aren't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p117. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 9a

- Put students into A/B pairs. Ask them to complete their part of the conversation with information about themselves, i.e. real information. They need to work together on this task.
- Monitor and help where needed.

EXTRA SUPPORT Ask students questions to help them complete the conversation with the right information, e.g. Is number 4 a country or a city? Is number 7 a country or a city?, etc.

Exercise 9b

- Ask each pair to work with another pair (to make groups of four students). Tell them to act out their conversations in their group to compare answers.
- Invite three or four pairs of students, from different cities/countries if possible, to act out their conversations in front of the class.

ANSWERS

1 are 2 you 3 I'm 6 I'm 8 I'm
4,5,7,9,10 Students' own answers

Exercise 10

- Put students into new A/B pairs. Refer them to the Communication pages and tell them to read their instructions and ask you about any words they don't understand.
- Ask all Student As to put their hand up (show with a gesture). Drill their city words together: Jakarta /dʒə'kɑ:tə/, Kyoto /ki:'əʊtəʊ/, São Paulo /sau'paulu:/, Moscow /'mɒskəʊ/. Do the same with the Student B half of the class: Izmir /'ɪzmɪə/, Benglou /bʌŋ'lu:/, Seville /sə'vɪl/, Adelaide /'ædəleɪd/.
- Show students that there is an example conversation they can use the first time and then they need to use the new city and country names in their conversations.

ANSWERS

Student A

A Where are you from?

B I'm from Japan/Brazil/Russia.

A Where in Japan/Brazil/Russia?

B I'm from Kyoto/São Paulo/Moscow.

Student B

A Where are you from?

B I'm from China/Spain/Australia.

A Where in China/Spain/Australia?

B I'm from Benglou/Seville/Adelaide.

EXTRA CHALLENGE After the first two conversations, ask students to cover the example conversation and try to do the activity from memory.

- Listen carefully and note any pronunciation errors, particularly in the contractions. When students have finished, correct any errors and drill pronunciation.
- You could ask some of the stronger students to come to the front of the class and act out their conversations.

Reading Skills recognizing proper nouns

- Read the information aloud to the class. Ask some students What's your name? and Where are you from? Write the answers on the board, point to them and say proper noun. Underline the capital letter at the beginning of each one.

Exercise 1

- Tell students to look at sentence 1. Ask Where is the proper noun? Confirm the answer (Carlos) and mime drawing a circle around it. Students find and circle the proper nouns in sentences 2–5.
- Elicit answers from the class. If the sentences are written on the board, you could invite students to come up and circle the proper nouns.

WATCH OUT! Some students may circle all the capital letters in the sentence. You will need to point out that every sentence begins with a capital letter and this is always true in English. Also highlight that the pronoun I is always capitalized.

ANSWERS

- 1 Carlos 2 Rashid 3 Canada 4 Chennai, India
5 Dave, Patsy, Mauritius

Exercise 2

- Put students into pairs and ask them to look at the table. Point out the three headings: Person, Country and City.
- Ask students to look at the sentences in exercise 1 and work together to decide where to write the proper nouns in the table. Use the example to demonstrate.
- Allow time for students to do the task in their pairs.
- Go through the answers together, eliciting the proper nouns and the correct categories.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Put students into teams of two or three. Ask them to add proper nouns to each column in the table. Give them a time limit. The team who add the most proper nouns in the time limit are the winners. (They can use proper nouns that they have learnt on their Navigate course or any other proper nouns they can think of.)

ANSWERS

- 1 Carlos – person
2 Rashid – person
3 Canada – country
4 Chennai – city, India – country
5 Dave – person, Patsy – person, Mauritius – country

Exercise 3

- Ask students to read questions 1–3 and think about the kind of information they need to look for in the text. Check understanding, e.g. Which questions are about places? They may need help with the question word Who. Explain that we use this question word about people.
- Monitor and help any students who are finding it difficult.
- Early finishers can check their answers in pairs.
- Go through the answers, checking students understand which proper nouns are countries and which are cities.

EXTENSION Ask students to add the proper nouns from the text to their table in exercise 2. Elicit the answers from the students (Person: Jacqui, Kevin; Country: the UK, the USA, Canada, Nicaragua; City: Boston, Guelph, Granada).

ANSWERS

- 1 Jacqui and Kevin
2 Jacqui is from Boston, the UK; Kevin is from Guelph, Canada
3 Granada, Nicaragua

1.3 How do you spell that?

Goals

- Say the alphabet
- Use question words

Lead-in

- Write the name of a country or city on the board. Ask where the capital letter is in this proper noun. Invite one student to circle the capital letter on the board.
- Draw students' attention to the letters of the alphabet in exercise 1. Point out that each letter has a capital and small version. This is especially important for students who have a different writing script in their own language.

Vocabulary the alphabet

Exercise 1 1.17

- Put students into pairs and give them a few moments to find out which letters they know in English by talking together and pointing at the alphabet.
- Play track 1.17 and ask students to listen to the letters of the alphabet and repeat. Play the track as many times as necessary to ensure good pronunciation.
- To make it more interesting, you could start a chain drill around the class: one student starts with A, then the next says B, etc. The second time, you could ask students to go faster. The third time, you could start more chain drills each time the previous one reaches F. Note: Make sure you always start chain drills with a different student each time, so they are not always saying the same letter!

EXTRA CHALLENGE When students have practised many times, ask them to start a chain drill from Z going back to A. (They will probably need to look in their books for this!)

! Point out that when we spell words aloud, we say capital for an upper-case letter, e.g. capital C, and if there are two of the same letters together, we say double, e.g. double t. Drill pronunciation of capital /'kæpɪtəl/ and double /'dʌbl/.

- Write the following examples on the board and elicit how we say them (including capital and double where necessary): mm, D, ss, G, pp, T, oo, l, ee.

WATCH OUT! Students commonly mix up the pronunciation of A /eɪ/, E /i:/ and I /aɪ/. Other alphabet letters which can cause problems are H /eɪtʃ/, R /ɑ:/ and Y /waɪ/. Also G /dʒi:/ and J /dʒeɪ/ are sometimes confused. These problems will probably be addressed in the pronunciation focus, but you may need to go back to them later or in another lesson.

Pronunciation the alphabet

- Students may never have seen phonemic script before. You will need to help them understand which sound the phonemic script corresponds to in each case. You can play the track to show this. If possible, model the sounds yourself so students can see how your lips and jaw move.
- Play track 1.18 which explains the seven sounds.

Exercise 2a 1.19

- Refer students to the table. It is a good idea to copy this onto the board for easy reference and feedback.
- Go through the examples, either modelling yourself or eliciting the pronunciation from students.
- Play track 1.19 and ask students to listen to the whole alphabet again and write the letters under the correct sound in the table. Do another example if necessary. A and B are already in the table, so ask about C. Play the track several times if necessary.
- Students could compare their tables in pairs.

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.19

A B C D E F G H I J K L M N
O P Q R S T U V W X Y Z

Exercise 2b 1.20

- Play track 1.20 and ask students to listen to the sound groups and check their answers.
- Play the track one more time so that students can repeat the letters of the alphabet in the seven sound groups.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 1.20

/eɪ/ A H J K
/i:/ B C D E G P T V
/e/ F L M N S X Z
/aɪ/ I Y
/əʊ/ O
/ju:/ Q U W
/ɑ:/ R

Exercise 3a 1.21

- Ask students to look at the pairs of letters in 1–10.

EXTRA SUPPORT Tell students to think about the pronunciation of each pair of letters. They could practise saying these in pairs before they listen.

- Write the first pair of letters on the board. Play the first letter only on track 1.21 and elicit which letter students heard (g). You could write 1 above the first letter (j) and 2 above the second letter (g) and then students just say 1 or 2.
- Play the track all the way through for students to complete the exercise. Monitor carefully and pause the recording after each letter if necessary.
- Put students into pairs to check their answers. If there is a lot of confusion, play the track again.
- Go through the answers together by playing the track and stopping after each letter to elicit the answers. They can just say 1 for the first of the pair and 2 for the second. Write the answers on the board for clarity.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 1.21

1 g 2 e 3 f 4 c 5 r 6 y 7 i 8 q 9 h 10 o

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs. They have some abbreviations and acronyms to spell out. Ask them to take it in turns to say the letters and check each other's pronunciation is correct.
- When students have all had an opportunity to spell out the letters, drill each abbreviation/acronym with the class. You could also elicit whether students know the meaning of any of them. (If you don't have time for the extra activity below, you could explain or give background information in students' L1 if it's a monolingual class.)

EXTRA ACTIVITY/Dictionary Skills Give students dictionaries or tell them to use dictionaries they have on their mobile phones/tablets. Ask them to find out the meanings of the abbreviations. To make this a quicker process, give each pair just one or two to find. Conduct feedback and help students understand the meaning and where they might hear or read these abbreviations. Elicit as much as possible from the students.

Background note: Students may want to know what the abbreviations and acronyms stand for:

HR = human resources (the department in a company which deals with staff); TV = television; FAQ = frequently asked questions (this phrase is often found on websites where answers to common questions are given); IMF = International Monetary Fund (organization which promotes international financial stability, based in Washington DC, in the USA, founded in 1945, consisting of 188 member states); ASAP = as soon as possible (this phrase means very quickly); WHO = World Health Organization (health agency, based in Switzerland, part of the United Nations, created in 1948).

Exercise 4

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the Communication pages and tell them to read their instructions.
- Students take turns to read their alphabet letters to their partner, who writes them down. When they finish, they can look at each other's letters to check they are the same.
- Monitor and drill any problem letters with the class.
- Then students work with their partner to look at all the letters and decide what they mean (answers below). If you have time, they could use the internet or dictionaries to check the meanings of these abbreviations/acronyms.

ANSWERS

Student A:

1 Great Britain 2 European Union
3 For your information 4 Date of birth

Student B:

1 United Nations 2 Digital versatile disc 3 Federal Bureau of Investigation 4 Do it yourself

Exercise 5 1.22

EXTRA SUPPORT Ask students to listen and write down the letters you say. Spell out your name, letter by letter. Then elicit the name from one student. Praise if correct.

- Ask students to look at the pairs of names in 1–5.
- Demonstrate the activity by playing the first name on track 1.22 and eliciting which name students heard. As in exercise 3a, students could just say 1 for the first name in the pair or 2 for the second name. Mime drawing a circle around the correct name.
- Play the track in full for students to circle the correct names.
- Go through the answers by playing the track again and pausing to elicit the correct names.

EXTRA CHALLENGE As you check the answers, you could also ask students to spell them out.

ANSWERS

1 Elinor 2 Jacqui 3 Jorge 4 Paula 5 Joan

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.22

1 E-L-I-N-O-R
2 J-A-C-Q-U-I
3 J-O-R-G-E
4 P-A-U-L-A
5 J-O-A-N

Exercise 6 1.23

- Tell students they are going to hear four conversations of people on business. They do not need to understand everything. They only focus on the names, which are spelt out, and write them down.
- Play the first conversation on track 1.23 and ask students to listen for the name which is spelt out and write it down. Elicit the name from the class and ask a student to spell it.
- Play the rest of the track and ask students to listen to the conversations and write down the names.
- Elicit answers from students, asking them to spell each name, which will give useful practice of the alphabet.

ANSWERS

1 Bill 2 Aylin 3 Stephanie 4 Roger

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.23

1
A What's your name?
B My name's Bill.
A How do you spell that?
B B-I-L-L.
A B-I-L-L?
B Yes, that's right.
2
A What's your name?
B My name's Aylin.
A How do you spell that?
B A-Y-L-I-N
A A-Y-L-I-N?
B Yes, that's right.
3
A What's your name?
B My name's Stephanie.
A How do you spell that?
B S-T-E-P-H-A-N-I-E.
A S-T-E-P-H-A-N-I-E?
B Yes, that's right.
4
A What's your name?
B My name's Roger.
A How do you spell that?
B R-O-G-E-R.
A R-O-G-E-R?
B Yes, that's right.

Exercise 7a 1.24

- Ask students to read the conversation. Elicit or teach the meaning of the phrase Yes, that's right, perhaps with an appropriate gesture.
- Play track 1.24, pausing after each line for students to repeat. Play again if necessary, pausing after each line to address any pronunciation problems.

SMART COMMUNICATION Point out that we repeat the spelling we have heard, so we can check that it is correct. We sometimes repeat words for the same reason. This is a good technique which can be used face to face and on the phone.

Exercise 7b

- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to practise the conversation in exercise 7a using their own names.

EXTRA SUPPORT Drill What's your name? with the class to ensure they make the contraction and that the correct words are stressed. Do the same with How do you spell that? They may also need to repeat the contraction of name is, i.e. name's. Remember to drill in different ways: around the class in both directions, drilling individual students in no specific order, and also whole-class drilling.

- Ask students to get up and have the conversation with other students in the class. Give a time limit if you wish. Encourage them to speak to a number of other students. Monitor for errors and correct them with the class when they have finished.

Grammar & listening question words

Exercise 8a

EXTRA SUPPORT This would be a good time for students to revise numbers as they will need them for phone numbers. You could quickly drill them around the class. Also, if there is any confusion about the new word phone /fəʊn/, show them a mobile handset to illustrate it. You could also drill the pronunciation of this word now as students may not understand that ph is pronounced /f/.

! Point out how to pronounce phone numbers: 0 is oh /əʊ/ and for two of the same numbers together we say double. This is the same as the students learnt for letters of the alphabet (e.g. double t).

- Point to the question words in the box and say them aloud. Ask students to use these words to complete questions 1–5. Point out that they need to use Where and What twice.

WATCH OUT! Students may know that we sometimes say zero for 0. Praise students for their knowledge and say that it is possible to use zero in telephone numbers, but generally we say oh.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Go through the answers together by asking some students to say the complete questions.
- For pronunciation practice, ask students to practise the mini dialogues in their pairs. Listen and correct any mistakes.

ANSWERS

1 What 2 How 3 Where 4 Where 5 What

Exercise 9

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to match one question word 1–3 with an answer a–c. They can use exercise 8 to help them.
- Go through the answers together.

EXTRA ACTIVITY You could give students a quick oral test to check their understanding and memory: Ask For a name we use ...? (elicit What), For a spelling we use ...? (How) and so on for country, city, phone number.

ANSWERS

1 b 2 c 3 a

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p117. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 10a

- Ask students to read the beginnings of questions 1–5 and the possible endings a–e. Focus on number 1, and elicit the correct ending (d).
- Allow time for students to match 2–5 with the correct endings. Monitor and check they are making the right matches.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 b 3 e 4 c 5 a

Exercise 10b

- Put students into pairs to check they have made the same questions. Elicit the answers to check them together.
- Tell students to ask each other the questions. Make sure they know to give real information in their answers. Also point out that they need to listen carefully to their partner's answer to question 2 and use the same country name in question 3.
- Monitor and note any problems with pronouncing the questions, and with spelling and numbers in the answers.
- Do any necessary error correction with the class.

Exercise 11a 1.25

Audio summary: Conversations between two different conference delegates and a receptionist who registers each person for the conference.

- Ask students to look at the photo. Teach or elicit conference.
- Ask students to read the form. Tell them they are going to hear two conversations and complete the form.

WATCH OUT! The convention in the UK and the USA is to give your first name, e.g. John, followed by your last name (also called your family name or surname), e.g. Blackwell. Point this out to students and use your own name as an example. You could elicit from some students to check understanding: What's your first name? and What's your last name? Also ask What's your surname? at this point as this is a common alternative to last name.

- Play track 1.25 for students to listen to conversation 1 and fill in column 1 of the form. If necessary, play the conversation again, pausing after each line to allow time for students to process the information and write their answers.
- Do the same with conversation 2.
- Go through the answers together. Help students practise spelling by asking How do you spell that? for the names. Also help them to remember oh for 0 and double when saying two identical numbers together, e.g. double five.

ANSWERS

First name:	Havva	Josué
Last name:	Yilmaz	Santos
Country:	Turkey	Brazil
Phone number:	00 90 540 15889450	00 55 22 834076199

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.25 & 1.26

1

Jane Hello. Are you here for the GHQ conference?

Havva Yes, I am.

Jane What's your name?

Havva My name's Yilmaz. Havva Yilmaz.

Jane How do you spell that?

Havva Y-I-L-M-A-Z.

Jane Where are you from, Havva?

Havva I'm from Turkey.

Jane And what's your phone number?

Havva It's 00 90 540 15889450.

Jane Thanks. Have a good day.

2

Jane Hello. Are you here for the GHQ conference?

Josué Yes, I am.

Jane What's your name?

Josué My name's Santos, Josué Santos.

Jane How do you spell that?

Josué Santos? S-A-N-T-O-S.

Jane Where are you from, Josué?

Josué I'm from Brazil.

Jane And what's your phone number?

Josué It's 00 55 22 834076199.

Jane Great. Well, have a good day, Josué.

Exercise 11b 1.26

- Ask students to read the conversation with Havva.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students can try to remember or work out the missing words before they listen.

- Play track 1.26 and ask students to listen to the conversation and complete it. You will need to play the track at least twice to give them opportunity to catch and write down the missing words. Pause after each line, if necessary, to give them more time.
- Students could compare answers in pairs before you check with the class. Ask one strong pair to read the conversation to the class or play the track again, pausing after each gap and eliciting the missing word(s).

ANSWERS

1 Are / here 2 I am 3 What's 4 name's Yilmaz
5 How 6 are you 7 I'm from Turkey 8 what's 9 good

Exercise 12

- Put students into pairs to practise the conversation in exercise 11b. Try to make different pairs from exercise 10. Make sure they swap roles after the first practice.
- When students have practised the conversation once or twice, ask them to do it again but use their own real information instead of Havva's.

1.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Say hello and goodbye
- Fill in a form

Lead-in

- Mime waving. Show/explain that in the UK people wave for both hello and goodbye. You could also mime shaking hands for both hello and goodbye.
- Elicit in a simple way, whether people use these gestures for hello and/or goodbye in students' country/countries. You could also find out any other gestures they use – the students can show you. (Depending on the country, they may bow or hug or just smile, for example.)

Listening & Speaking hello and goodbye

Exercise 1 1.27

- Play track 1.27 and ask students to listen to the four conversations. They have to decide whether the people in each conversation are saying hello or saying goodbye.
- Check the answers together by playing the track again, pausing after each conversation to elicit the answer.

EXTENSION You can refer to the gapped conversation below each photo and ask students to find a hello word or a goodbye word or phrase (1 Hi 2 Morning 3 Have a nice day 4 Bye).

ANSWERS

Photo 1 Hello Photo 3 Goodbye
Photo 2 Hello Photo 4 Goodbye

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.27

1

A Hi. How are you?

B Fine, thanks. And you?

A Great, thanks.

2

A Morning, Patrick.

B Good morning.

3

A Have a nice day.

B Thanks. You, too.

4

A Bye. See you later.

B Goodbye.

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to read phrases a–d as you read them aloud. Demonstrate what to do by asking students to focus on conversation 1 and decide which phrase person B says (d).
- Students then complete the rest of the conversations. You could put them into pairs to compare answers.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 b 3 c 4 a

Exercise 2b 1.27

- Play track 1.27 again and ask students to listen to the conversations and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each sentence for students to repeat.

Exercise 2c

- Put students into A/B pairs to practise the conversations. Make sure they swap roles.
- Monitor for any pronunciation problems. You will be able to address these in exercise 3 by drilling the phrases.

Exercise 3

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box. Drill the phrases using varied techniques (around the room, whole class, pairs, individuals in random order, etc.).

PRONUNCIATION You could help students focus on word stress and sentence stress by modelling the phrases (or using track 1.27 as a model) and eliciting which words or parts of words are stressed in each phrase: Hi./Hello. Good morning./Morning. How are you? Fine, thanks. And you? Great, thanks. Have a nice day. Thanks. You, too. Goodbye./Bye. Bye. See you later.

- Put students into new pairs and ask them to cover the photos and conversations in exercises 1 and 2.
- Ask them to use the hello column in the Language for speaking box to have conversations where they practise saying hello using the phrases. They can start with very basic conversations of one greeting and one reply.
- Monitor carefully. Then when you think students are ready, encourage them to make longer conversations including How are you? and an appropriate response. Correct any mistakes you hear or make a note of them to correct with the whole class at the end of the activity.
- Ask students to do the same with the goodbye column in the box. Here they will have short conversations of one phrase and an appropriate response.
- Do any necessary error correction with the class. Focus on problem sounds, word stress in the wrong place and incorrect sentence stress.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to move around the classroom using the phrases from the Language for speaking box to say hello and then goodbye to as many other students as possible. If the class is very large, put students into groups of six to eight. Demonstrate the activity with one student, if necessary, so they understand they should greet and then also say goodbye to the same person.

Exercise 4a 1.28

- Refer students to the Understanding ... box. Play track 1.28 and ask them to read the phrases as they listen. Point out that the important thing is practice so that you can reply quickly. You could demonstrate a slow or hesitant reply in contrast to a quick one.

Exercise 4b 1.29

- Ask students to close their books. Do a few demonstrations yourself before playing the track. Say Good morning and gesture to elicit a quick reply from the class. (It doesn't matter if different students use different replies as long as they are correct.) Say Have a nice day and again gesture to encourage a quick reply: in this case, Thanks. Bye.
- Play track 1.29 and ask students to listen to the prompts and reply quickly after each one. You will need to pause after the first greeting and encourage them to reply. Try to ensure every student replies. If the class is very large, you could divide students into four groups and point to a different group in turn to respond to the next prompt.

- Continue to play the track, offering plenty of encouragement and praise as students reply.

EXTENSION Put students into pairs and tell them to practise as in the listening, using the phrases and replies from the Understanding ... box. Student A starts and Student B responds. If necessary, Student A can look at the Understanding ... box and use the Hear phrases, but some stronger students should be able to remember. Student B should remember the replies (not look in the book). After a few practice hellos and goodbyes, they should swap roles.

Reading & Writing filling in a form

Exercise 5

- Ask students to look at the photo of Josie and the hotel registration card and establish she's at a hotel. Ask them to read what Josie says and use the information to complete the registration card.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Fast finishers can think about how they would spell Josie's first and last name and the road and city where she lives. They can check their spelling with a partner.

- Encourage students to check their answers in pairs.
- Go through the answers together, eliciting spellings of first and last name, road and city (especially if any fast finishers have tried the Extra challenge). Teach the meaning of the signature by signing your own signature on the board.

ANSWERS

1 Josie 2 the USA 3 909 4 business

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read what Josie says in exercise 5 again and underline all the capital letters. Refer them to the example so that they remember what capital letters are.
- Check that students have found all the capital letters.

ANSWERS

Hi, I'm Josie Harris from the USA. I'm here on business. My address is 909 Cameron Road, Austin, Texas.

Exercise 6b

- Refer students to the Language for writing box and ask them to read it carefully.

WATCH OUT! In some countries street names begin with lower case letters so it may be useful to point out that in English we use capital letters for all names in addresses, including street names.

EXTRA CHALLENGE With a strong group, you could tell them to cover the category names 1–6 and read the information in column 2. Elicit what each piece of information is, e.g. Havva is a first name, London is a city.

Ask students to match the category numbers to the capital letters in the information about Josie. Refer them to the example which shows them how to do this. To check understanding ask: Why is the capital 'h' in 'Hi' number 5?

ANSWERS

Hi – number 5 My – number 5 I – number 4
Cameron Road – number 6 Josie Harris – number
1 Austin, Texas – number 2 the USA – number 3

Exercise 6c

- Put students into pairs to check they have categorized the capital letters in the same way. Monitor and then check the answers with the class.

EXTRA ACTIVITY You could ask students to look at Josie's words in the speech bubble in exercise 5 again. Ask them to work alone and write the same sentences, but use their own information instead of Josie's (name, country, street, city). When they have finished, ask them to swap their writing with their partner and check that their partner has used capital letters correctly.

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to look at the hotel registration card and find the mistakes. Point out that there are five mistakes and make sure they realize they should be focusing on the use of capital letters. Find the first mistake as a class to convey the meaning of mistake and to demonstrate the exercise.
- Students find the rest of the mistakes. You could give a time limit to make it more challenging.

Exercise 7b

- In pairs, students compare the mistakes they found.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Encourage stronger students to try to say how they know it's a mistake, referring back to the Language for writing box.

- Go through the answers together, eliciting the corresponding category numbers from the Language for writing box if possible.

ANSWERS

zack – Zack australia – Australia street – Street perth – Perth Holiday – holiday

Exercise 8a

- Refer students to the blank registration card. Tell them they are at the hotel. Ask them to complete the card with their own real information. They can choose their 'reason for visit': elicit on business, on holiday and to study.
- Monitor as students write their information.

WATCH OUT! Make sure students use capital and lower case letters, as in the other registration cards on the page. (Of course, in real life we may sometimes need to complete forms in all capitals, but here we want students to understand about capital and lower case letters.)

Exercise 8b

- Ask students to give their registration card to their partner. They should read the card, check carefully that they have used capital letters correctly, and circle any mistakes. If students are unsure, they can check with you.
- Ask students to give the registration card back to the writer.
- To finish off, with a monolingual class you could highlight any differences in the use of capital letters between the students' L1 and English. (This may also be possible with a multilingual class, but will obviously be more complicated due to the multiple L1s.)

1.5 Video

At a hotel

Presenter Leila is a receptionist in a hotel.

Leila Hi, I'm Leila. I'm from Hong Kong, but I'm in England to study. On Saturdays and Sundays, I'm a receptionist in a hotel.

Presenter The hotel is in London and it's very busy.

Leila Yes, yes ... thank you. Goodbye. I'm sorry, sir. How can I help you?

Richard I'm here for the conference. My name's Turville.

Leila And how do you spell that?

Richard T-U-R-V-I-L-L-E.

Leila And what's your first name?

Richard Richard.

Leila Ah, yes. The conference and a room for one night?

Richard That's right. Here's my credit card.

Leila Great. Thank you. And are you from England?

Richard Yes.

Leila And what's your address, please?

Richard It's number 11, Stanley Park, Tunbridge Wells.

Leila Great. Thank you. And are you here on business?

Richard Yes, I'm here for the conference.

Leila Yes, of course. I'm sorry. Great. Here is your room key and the conference is just over there.

Richard Thanks. Bye.

Leila Some guests are here on business. They're usually very busy. But some guests are here on holiday.

Fabienne Hi! Is check-in here?

Leila Yes. What's your name, please?

Fabienne It's Fabienne Leclercq.

Leila Sorry, what's your surname?

Fabienne Leclercq.

Leila And how do you spell that?

Fabienne It's L-E-C-L-E-R-C-Q.

Leila Er, where are you from Ms. Leclercq?

Fabienne I'm from France. My home address is 12 Rue Pasteur, Bordeaux, France.

Leila Great. That's one room for three nights?

Fabienne That's right. Here's my credit card.

Leila Thank you. Are you here on business?

Fabienne Oh no! I'm here on holiday!

Leila Great. Sign here, please, and here's your room key.

Fabienne Thanks. See you later.

Leila Goodbye.

Richard Morning!

Leila Good morning, sir.

Richard Here's my key.

Leila Thank you.

Richard I'm late again! And thank you, too.

Leila That's OK, sir. Goodbye!

Fabienne Good morning!

Leila Good morning.

Fabienne How are you?

Leila I'm fine thank you. And you?

Fabienne Great. It's very nice here. Now, where's breakfast?

Leila It's in the restaurant. Just over there.

Fabienne Excellent! See you later.

Leila Have a nice day.

Fabienne You, too!

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1

credit card, guest, receptionist, registration card

Exercise 2

1 Hong Kong 2 London 3 England 4 on business
5 France 6 on holiday 7 restaurant

Exercise 3

1 Turville 2 Park 3 one 4 Leclercq 5 France
6 three

Exercise 4a

G Is check-in here?	R The restaurant is over there.
G I'm here on holiday.	R What's your name?
R Are you here on business?	G, R See you later.
R What's your address?	G I'm from France.
G Here's my credit card.	R How do you spell that?
G Where's breakfast?	R Sign here, please.
R Here's your room key.	G, R How are you?

Review

ANSWERS

Exercises 1a & 1b 1.30

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT

A Hello, I'm Gary.

B Hi, I'm Sally.

A Nice to meet you, Sally.

B You, too. Are you here on holiday?

A No, I'm not. I'm here on business. And you?

B I'm here to study.

Exercise 2a

1 What's 2 How 3 from 4 in 5 Are 6 your

Exercise 3a

A Are you B we're not, aren't A I'm from B Are you

A I am

Exercise 4

1 Spain 2 Turkey 3 Brazil 4 Russia 5 China

6 Indonesia

Exercise 5

1 Lynda 2 French 3 Yaroslavl 4 01632 9628837

AUDIOSCRIPT 1.31

1 My name's Lynda. L-Y-N-D-A.

2

A What's your last name?

B French. F-R-E-N-C-H.

3

A We're from Yaroslavl in Russia.

B Yaroslavl? How do you spell that?

A Y-A-R-O-S-L-A-V-L.

4

A What's your phone number?

B 016329628837.

Exercise 6

My name is Kabelo. I'm from Johannesburg in South Africa. Danisa and I are on holiday in England. We are in a hotel in London.

Exercise 7a

1 e 2 f 3 a 4 c 5 d 6 b

2.1 What's this in English?

Goals

- Use singular and plural forms
- Say numbers 11–100

Lead-in

- Ask students to look at the photos of David and the objects in his bag, covering up all the written parts of the page. A fun alternative would be real objects for those in the photos, which students can hold and pass around the class.
- Put students into pairs to share English words they know for any of the objects. Tell them to speak only, not write.
- After a minute, elicit any words for the objects from the students. Praise them (even if they know only a few).

Vocabulary & Speaking objects

Exercise 1a

- Ask students to read the words in the box and look for any they said in the Lead-in. Then students match the objects to the words. Use the example to show them what to do.

! Point out how we use the indefinite article a/an with singular nouns. Highlight that we use an before nouns starting with a vowel sound, using the example of an umbrella. Elicit the other example from the box (an apple) and model both words to show the vowel sounds.

Exercise 1b 2.1

- Play track 2.1 and ask students to listen and check their answers. Then play again, pausing after each word for students to repeat.
- You could write the words on the board and elicit the word stress: apple, laptop, notepad, tablet, umbrella, wallet. (You could elicit that for all the two-syllable words, the stress is on the first part of the word.)

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 2.1

- |             |                |
|-------------|----------------|
| 1 a tablet  | 6 an apple     |
| 2 a phone   | 7 a laptop     |
| 3 a wallet  | 8 a pen        |
| 4 a key     | 9 a book       |
| 5 a notepad | 10 an umbrella |

Exercise 1c

- In A/B pairs, students take turns to test each other on the new vocabulary. Demonstrate with a strong student.
- Monitor carefully for any pronunciation mistakes. Do error correction with the whole class and drill problem words.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Test students in two teams by playing a memory game. You will need real objects: all or most of those in the photos. Put the objects on a tray and show them to the class. Secretly take two things off the tray then show the teams the tray again. They have to discuss which things are missing and write them down. Award one point for each correct answer. Do this several times. You can make it more difficult by removing more objects and/or giving a short time limit. The winning team is the one with the most points.

Exercise 2a 2.2

EXTRA SUPPORT As a quick check that students understand the number words, ask them to read the words and write the numbers in figures above them.

- Play track 2.2 and ask students to listen for the correct number words. Mime circling the correct answer if necessary. You could play again to give students a second chance to catch the numbers.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 2.2

- |              |               |
|--------------|---------------|
| 1 five books | 4 eight pens  |
| 2 ten phones | 5 two wallets |
| 3 three keys |               |

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare answers. Monitor to ensure they have the correct answers. If you notice any errors, play the track again, pausing to elicit the numbers.

Exercise 3

- Indicate, using finger gestures, that singular means one and plural means more than one. Ask students to look at the plural objects in exercise 2a, and elicit that you need to add -s to nouns to make them plural.
- Ask students to complete the table. Refer them back to exercise 2a if necessary. Students work alone, but they could compare answers in pairs.
- Monitor and check students write an for number 1. If not, refer them back to the ! note in exercise 1a.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 an umbrella 2 books 3 phones 4 wallets

Exercise 4a 2.3

- Play track 2.3 and ask students to listen to the plural nouns and focus on the ends of the words. Model /s/ and /z/ and ask students to repeat these sounds.

PRONUNCIATION These sounds are made with the same mouth and tongue position, but with /z/ there is far more vibration. You can help students understand this by asking them to put their hands over their ears as they say the two sounds. The /z/ sound will be much louder.

- Play the track again, pausing after each word for students to repeat. Listen carefully and correct any pronunciation mistakes at the end by drilling the whole class. You can drill in a variety of ways: see p35 exercise 2b for ideas.

Exercise 4b

- Put students into new pairs and ask them to take turns to point to the objects and say the words as they did in exercise 1c, but this time one student says the singular word and the other says the plural. Remind them to be careful with a and an and the pronunciation of plural -s.
- Monitor carefully and correct any mistakes with each pair.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Using real objects if you have them, hold one up and make a gesture, using your fingers, to show singular or a plural number, e.g. pick up an apple and hold up three fingers. Call a student by name and they tell you the object, making sure to use the correct number and plural -s sound or the correct article (a/an). Make this a quick-fire activity, calling on students in random order to encourage them to think quickly. Praise good answers and correct any mistakes. A strong class could continue this activity in pairs or small groups, pointing to objects in the photos on p16 rather than using real objects.

Grammar & Speaking this/that/these/those; verb be (it/they)

Exercise 5 2.4

- Ask students to look at the photos and name the objects the hands are pointing to (a key, an apple, pens, books).
- Play track 2.4 so that students can hear the pronunciation of this, that, these, those. Then play the track again, pausing after each word for students to repeat.

PRONUNCIATION Write the words on the board so you can point out the /s/ sound at the end of this and the /z/ sound at the end of these and those (as they practised these sounds in exercise 4). The /ð/ sound is sometimes difficult for students. Show them how the tongue is slightly protruding between the teeth and make the sound for them to copy. There is a high level of vibration in this sound and students can feel it on their tongues, especially if they hold their voice box between finger and thumb.

EXTRA SUPPORT To make the meaning absolutely clear in a physical way, use real objects positioned close to you and further away. Point to singular objects and elicit or say the words this and that. Then point to plural objects and elicit or say these and those.

Exercise 6a 2.5

- Play track 2.5 and ask students to listen to the mini conversations and complete them. Pause after the first conversation to elicit the missing word as a demonstration.

ANSWERS

1 umbrella 2 wallet 3 notepads 4 pens

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.5

- 1
A What's this in English?
B It's an umbrella.
- 2
A What's that in English?
B It's a wallet.
- 3
A What are these in English?
B They're notepads.
- 4
A What are those in English?
B They're pens.

Exercise 6b

- In pairs, students compare their answers. Monitor carefully and if the answers are correct, move on to the next exercise. If not, play track 2.5 again to check together.

Exercise 7a

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to complete it using the correct forms of the verb be.
- Elicit the answer to number 1 as a demonstration. Refer students to mini conversations 1 and 2 in exercise 6a where they can see the 's contraction in context.
- Allow time for students to work alone to complete the box. They can compare their answers with a partner.
- Check the answers with the class by eliciting them.

ANSWERS

1 's 2 's 3 's 4 are 5 're

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p118. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 7b

- Pre-teach friend: use a picture or translate into L1.
- Write the first conversation on the board to do as an example. Point to What's. Elicit that this uses the it form of be which is singular and so the answer must be singular: circle this. Point to a tablet and again elicit whether it is singular or plural to help them choose the singular form: 's.
- Monitor and assist any students who are struggling. Encourage them to look at the Grammar focus box.

Exercise 7c 2.6

- Play track 2.6 and ask students to listen to the conversations and check their answers. Pause after each line to elicit the correct answers from the class.

EXTENSION Put students into A/B pairs to practise the conversations. Make sure they swap roles so they practise both questions and responses. Monitor for any pronunciation problems. Correct them individually, but if many students are making the same mistakes, drill the whole class after the activity.

ANSWERS

1 this/'s 2 are/are 3 's/It's 4 those/They're

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.6

- 1
A What's this?
B It's a tablet.
- 2
A What are these in English?
B They are keys.
- 3
A Who's that?
B It's my friend, Lynne.
- 4
A What are those in English?
B They're phones.

Exercise 8

- Pre-teach I don't know using gesture/body language and facial expression. Model a simple conversation, taking both parts yourself: Q: What's this in English? A: I don't know. Drill the phrase around the class.
- Put students into A/B pairs. Ask them to take turns to point at an object in the classroom and ask a question with What. Their partner answers with the name of the object or I don't know. Demonstrate with a strong student using an object from your bag (singular or plural). Ask What's this?/What are these? and elicit an answer. Do a second demonstration, choosing an object far from you. Point and ask What's that? and elicit an answer.

FEEDBACK FOCUS Students have a lot to remember now. Note any confusion with this/that and these/those. Also note any singular and plural mistakes with the verb be, articles (a/an) and noun endings.

EXTRA ACTIVITY If appropriate, you could allow students to ask you for any very useful nouns for objects they want to know, e.g. door, chair. Drill the pronunciation for singular and plural and make sure students know how to pronounce the plural -s ending in each case. Be careful not to teach a lot of new words – up to a maximum of eight new ones.

Vocabulary & Speaking numbers 11–100

Exercise 9 2.7

EXTRA ACTIVITY Test numbers 0–10 in English by holding up a certain number of fingers and eliciting the numbers. You could also ask How do you spell that? and elicit the correct alphabet letters for each number word.

- Play track 2.7 and ask students to listen and read the numbers. Play again, pausing after each number for students to repeat.

Pronunciation word stress: -teen and -ty

Exercise 10a 2.8

- Write the numbers on the board and mark the stress.
- Play track 2.8 and ask students to listen to the stress on each word. Point out that in numbers ending in -teen the stress is on the second syllable, whereas in multiples of ten the stress is on the first syllable.

Exercise 10b 2.8

- Play track 2.8 again, pausing after each number for students to repeat. Use your fingers to help them count the syllables in each number.

EXTENSION Put students into small groups. Point to one of the numbers on the board and elicit the pronunciation from one group at random. Encourage students to respond quickly. Repeat, pointing and eliciting several times with different groups. Correct any word stress problems.

Exercise 11 2.9

EXTRA SUPPORT Before listening, in pairs, students decide how each pair of numbers is pronounced, paying particular attention to word stress.

- Play track 2.9 and ask students to listen and decide which word the speaker says. Pause after the first one to check students have heard correctly. Then play to the end.
- Play the track one more time, pausing after each number to elicit which word students heard. For clarity, you could ask students to say 1 if they heard the first word in the pair and 2 if they heard the second word.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 2.9

- |            |          |
|------------|----------|
| 1 thirty   | 4 eighty |
| 2 fourteen | 5 ninety |
| 3 sixteen  |          |

Exercise 12

- Put students into pairs to take turns saying the numbers to each other. You could elicit that the numbers in 3 are in film titles (but students only say the numbers).
- Monitor carefully and note any pronunciation problems. Drill any problem numbers with the class.

ANSWERS

- 2 fifteen, fifty-two, seventy, ninety-seven, forty-nine, fourteen, twenty-four, twenty-eight, eighty, eighteen, eighty-six, sixty-one, eleven
- 3 The thirty-Nine Steps, Twenty-one Grams, Apollo Thirteen, Around the World in Eighty days, Forty-eight Hours

EXTRA ACTIVITY Bingo. Put students into small groups. One student writes the numbers 11–30 on a piece of paper. This person is the caller. The other students (players) divide their paper into eight squares to make a Bingo card and write a number in each square: they can choose any numbers from 11 to 30 inclusive. The game begins when the caller says one number on their list and crosses it off. Any players who have the number on their Bingo card also cross it off. The winner is the player who crosses off all their numbers first and says Bingo. This game can be repeated with different callers and numbers 31–50, 51–75, 76–100.

Listening skills understanding singular and plural

Exercise 1 2.10

- In these four conversations, students listen for clues such as this/these, 's/re, a/an and -s ending to identify whether the objects are singular or plural.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students may also be able to remember which objects are in each conversation.

- Play the first conversation on track 2.10 and pause to elicit the answer as a demonstration. Ask if anyone can remember the object (an umbrella). If necessary, remind them that an is singular. Play the track to the end.
- To check the answers as a class, play the track again, pausing after each conversation to elicit the answer (and the object(s) from stronger students).

ANSWERS

Singular 1 and 4 Plural 2 and 3

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.10

- 1
A What's this in English?
B It's an umbrella.
- 2
A What are these?
B They're apples, from England.
- 3
A What are these in English?
B They're keys.
- 4
A What's this? A laptop?
B No, it's a tablet.

Exercise 2 2.11

- Play track 2.11. Ask students to listen to the numbers and objects and write the numbers they hear. You could pause after the first one to check they understand what to do.
- Play the track to the end. Students complete the exercise.
- Elicit answers from students. You could write 1–6 on the board and invite students to come up and write the numbers (and corresponding words for an extra challenge).

ANSWERS

- 1 eighteen 2 thirty-five 3 two 4 forty 5 one
6 nine

AUDIOSCRIPT

- 1 eighteen laptops
2 thirty-five pens
3 two umbrellas
4 forty apples
5 a book
6 nine bags

Exercise 3a 2.12

- There are four conversations and some are quite long. Tell students not to worry about understanding everything. They only have to listen for the numbers and objects.
- Play track 2.12 and ask students to listen to the first conversation. Pause and point out the example answer. Play on, pausing after each conversation for students to write the answers. Before conversation 3, point out that there are two objects and two numbers to write.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Play the track one more time, pausing after each conversation and eliciting the numbers and objects.

ANSWERS

- 1 one/tablet 2 twenty-six/letters 3 thirty/students / fifteen/books 4 three/laptops

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.12

1

A Look at this!

B Wow! A tablet!

2

A How many letters are there in the English alphabet?

B There are twenty-six letters. A, B, C, D, E, F, G ...

3

A There are thirty students and fifteen books.

B So we can work in pairs.

4

A Hello, I'm here for the conference. My name's Frantzen, Paul Frantzen.

B Welcome, Mr Frantzen. Nice to meet you.

A Nice to meet you, too. Um ... where's the computer room?

B There are three laptops you can use over there.

A Thanks.

2.2 What's your job?

Goals

- Talk about jobs
- Use the verb be (he/she/it/they)

Lead-in

- Create a spidergram on the board for jobs. Write job in the centre of the board. Point to yourself and say teacher. Drill pronunciation around the class. Point to different students and say student. Drill this word too.
- Put students into small groups to brainstorm other words for jobs they may know. Add these to the spidergram.
- Ask students to look at the photos in exercise 1a, but to cover the words in the box. Do they know the words for any of these jobs?

Vocabulary & Speaking jobs

Exercise 1a

EXTENSION Use the webpage to revise countries. Write _____ from? (Greece) on the board and ask students to find the photo which matches (Yanni Loukas). Elicit the missing words in the question (Where's he). Ask the question about Yanni and elicit the answer (Greece). Put students into A/B pairs. Student A points at a photo on the webpage and asks the question. Student B replies with the correct country. Monitor that students remember to change he to she where necessary. Point this out if they forget. Correct any mispronounced countries with the class.

- Ask students to look at the words in the box as you read them aloud. Then students match the jobs to the people in the photos on the webpage. Point out the two examples which have been done for them (3 and 8).

DICTIONARY SKILLS There are only four more words for jobs here which the students may never have seen (doctor, engineer, nurse, shop assistant). You could allow students to work in pairs, use bilingual dictionaries to look up the meanings of two of these words each and then show each other the matching photo.

Exercise 1b 2.13

- Play track 2.13 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers. Pause the track as necessary.
- Add the words to the spidergram on the board.

ANSWERS

1 engineer 2 student 3 waiter 4 nurse 5 doctor
6 shop assistant 7 teacher 8 taxi driver

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.13

- 1 Erik's an engineer.
- 2 Hassan's a student.
- 3 Thierry's a waiter.
- 4 Asya's a nurse.
- 5 Sonja's a doctor.
- 6 Kumiko's a shop assistant.
- 7 Daisy's a teacher.
- 8 Yanni's a taxi driver.

Pronunciation word stress: jobs

Exercise 2a 2.14

- Refer students to the example doctor and model it several times to show the word stress is on the first syllable.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Put students into pairs and ask them to say the words in exercise 1a to each other, to decide where the word stress is. Then when students listen to the track, they will be checking whether they are correct.

- Play track 2.14 and ask students to listen to the jobs and mark the stress, using a circle above the stressed syllable.
- Play the track again, pausing after each word to elicit which syllable the stress is on. Use your fingers to indicate the number of syllables and the one which is stressed. Mark the stress on the words in the spidergram on the board or invite students to come up and mark the stress.

Exercise 2b 2.14

- Play track 2.14 again for students to repeat the words. Drill each word several times.

! Point out how articles are used for these singular nouns. Read the two sentences aloud. Elicit why we use an in the second sentence (because engineer starts with vowel sound /e/).

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 2.14

doctor engineer nurse shop assistant student taxi driver teacher waiter

Exercise 3

EXTRA SUPPORT Model the sentence for photo 1: Erik's an engineer, and drill it with the whole class. Do this for all the photos, so students can practise saying the sentences before doing the exercise.

- Put students into A/B pairs to talk about the people on the webpage. They can take turns to point to a photo and say the person's job. Demonstrate with a strong student. Point to Hassan and say Hassan with rising intonation. The student says Hassan's a student.
- Monitor carefully while students are doing the activity. Ensure both students in each pair have a chance to talk about the jobs. Note any problems with pronunciation of the jobs and the use of articles.
- Do any necessary error correction with the whole class.

ANSWERS

- 1 Erik's an engineer.
- 2 Hassan's a student.
- 3 Thierry's a waiter.
- 4 Asya's a nurse.
- 5 Sonja's a doctor.
- 6 Kumiko's a shop assistant.
- 7 Daisy's a teacher.
- 8 Yanni's a taxi driver.

Exercise 4

- Refer students to the jobs diagram on the board. Ask them to think of friends from school with these jobs. Then, in pairs, students tell each other about their friends' jobs.
- Monitor and make a note of students, one of their friends' names and their job. Conduct class feedback by asking students questions about their friends, e.g. Your friend Joshua. What's Joshua's job? to elicit some sentences.

Grammar & Listening verb be (he/she/it/they)

Exercise 5a 2.15

- Point to the two photos. Ask students for their opinions: Is he a student or a teacher? Are they nurses or doctors?
- Play track 2.15 and ask students to listen to the conversation to find out whether they guessed the correct job for each photo. Elicit the answers by pointing to the photos and asking This person? These people? (At this stage, it's fine if students just say the job word, but make sure they are correct with singular and plural.)

ANSWERS

Photo 1: teacher   Photo 2: nurses

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.15

A This is my friend Fernando.

B Is he a student?

A No, he isn't. He's a teacher in a school in Mexico.

B Is it a language school?

A Yes, it is. And these are my friends Jack and Katie.

B Are they doctors?

A No, they aren't. They're nurses in a hospital in London.

Exercise 5b 2.15

- Refer students to the gapped conversation.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask strong students to complete the conversation before they listen again.

- Play track 2.15 again and ask students to listen to the conversation and complete it. Then play again for students to check their answers.

EXTENSION Put students into A/B pairs to act out the conversation for extra pronunciation practice. Make sure they swap roles to practise both parts. Do any necessary correction with each pair as you monitor.

ANSWERS

1 student   2 teacher   3 doctors   4 nurses

Exercise 6

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to read it carefully.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could write he/she/it and they on the board and elicit which are singular and which are plural. You could draw a stick picture next to each word to illustrate it or point to students in the room to illustrate gender and singular/plural.

- Ask students to use the conversation in exercise 5b to complete the box. Demonstrate how to complete the first gap by eliciting 's from students. Allow plenty of time for students to complete the exercise. Monitor and assist struggling students by showing them where to look in exercise 5b.
- Elicit answers from individual students.

WATCH OUT! In a number of languages the form of the verb changes to indicate both gender and singular/plural. For this reason, pronouns in English may be a difficult area of grammar for some students, but choosing the incorrect pronoun, e.g. she for a man, can be very confusing and embarrassing. It is important to correct any mistakes from the beginning and explain clearly.

ANSWERS

1 's 2 're 3 isn't 4 Is 5 Are 6 is 7 isn't
8 aren't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp118–119. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to look at conversation 1. Point out that there are two words to choose from in the first sentence: is/are. Elicit the correct word is and, if possible, elicit that you need is because a photo is singular.
- Do the second example together, too. Elicit the correct answer is it and elicit that this is the correct word order for questions. Refer students to the Questions section of the Grammar focus box for examples.
- Students work alone to do the rest of the exercise. Monitor carefully and refer them to the Grammar focus box to help them decide which option is correct.
- You could ask two strong pairs to act out the conversations for the rest of the class to check their answers.

ANSWERS

1 is 2 is it 3 Is it 4 it isn't 5 It's 6 are 7 Are they 8 aren't 9 is 10 is

Exercise 7b

- Put students into new pairs for pronunciation practice. Ask them to act out the two conversations.

PRONUNCIATION It is sometimes difficult for students to pronounce the contractions of the verb be. If you notice this, stop the exercise and drill the contractions with the class: he's /hi:z/, she's /ʃi:z/, it's /ɪts/, they're /ðeə/, and isn't /'ɪznt/, aren't /ɑ:nt/

- Do any necessary error correction and invite one or two strong pairs to act out a conversation in front of the class.

Exercise 8

- Before you start, put students into pairs to brainstorm the names of countries from Unit 1. After a few minutes, elicit countries and write them on the board or refer students to the list in 1.2 exercise 2a.
- Ask students to look at the photos. Say These are your friends. Go through the pronunciation of the names to make the exercise easier: Pieter /'pi:tə/, Selma /'selmə/, Reggie /'redʒi:/ and Sara /'sɑ:rə/.
- Elicit the people's jobs from looking at the photos, and ask students to think about where the people are from, using the country names they brainstormed together.
- Use the conversation prompts with a strong student to demonstrate the exercise, then students do the same in their pairs.
- Invite some pairs to act out their conversations in front of the class. Praise and encourage them.
- Do any necessary error correction, particularly of the contractions of be.

Exercise 9

- Closed book. Write job on the board, together with blanks to complete to make questions: ____ ____ ____? (Is he a ...?) ____ ____ ____? (Is she a ...?) ____ ____ ____? (Are they ...?). Elicit the words to make the questions – you could draw a stick picture next to your question. Then write country on the board, with blanks as before (Is he from ...? Is she from ...? Are they from ...?). Again, elicit the words to make the questions. Drill all the questions in different ways (loudly, quietly, half the class, etc.).
- Put students into new A/B pairs. Refer students to the Communication pages and ask them to read their instructions.
- Ask Student A to raise their hands. Model and drill the names they need for the exercise: Lina /'li:nə/, Jason /'dʒeɪsən/, Steve /sti:v/ and Natasha /nə'tæʃə/. Do the same with the Student B names: Zheng /dʒen/, Marina /mə'ri:nə/, Adam /'ædəm/ and Phyllis /'fɪlɪs/.
- Students take turns to ask and answer questions about the people in their photos. Monitor and note any difficulties.

EXTENSION Fast finishers could write down the conversation they had about one of the photos. They can check their writing with the conversation prompts in exercise 8 or use the Grammar focus box.

- When students have finished, elicit information about the people in the photos. Say the name of each person with rising intonation, e.g. Lina? and elicit full sentences about job and country, e.g. She's a shop assistant. She's from Indonesia. Write errors on the board and elicit corrections from the class. Correct any pronunciation errors together.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to find an image of a person or two people together to print and bring to class or to cut from a magazine/newspaper. Put students into pairs and ask them to swap their pictures. Refer them to exercise 8 and ask them to have similar conversations about the pictures.

ANSWERS

Student A: Lina, shop assistant, Indonesia, Steve and Natasha, waiters, Australia, Jason, taxi driver, USA

Student B: Zheng, teacher, China, Marina, engineer, Spain, Adam and Phyllis, nurses, UK

Reading skills understanding pronouns (1)

- Read the information aloud to the class. Use the examples given and elicit that Tony can be replaced by the pronoun he and my friends by they. If necessary, elicit that Tony is singular and friends is plural.

Exercise 1

- Use the photo of the chef to teach the new job chef. Drill pronunciation /ʃef/.
- Ask students to read the text and underline all the pronouns. Then ask them to match one pronoun 1–4 with one name or place a–d. If necessary, do the first one together as an example. Elicit from or remind students that it is used for things and a restaurant is a thing.
- Elicit the answers from the class. Say the pronoun and ask a student to say the name it replaces in the text. You can elicit from the students or remind them that he is singular and male, she is singular and female, and they is plural and either male or female or a mixture of the two.

ANSWERS

1 b 2 d 3 a 4 c

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to read sentence number 1. Elicit the answer, mime underlining it and point to the pronoun he in the text. Ask students to underline the correct answer for 2–6.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Go through the answers together. For sentence 1, point to the relevant sentence in the text and elicit the pronoun which corresponds to the person, e.g. She's an engineer. Do the same for sentences 2–6, eliciting the pronouns which correspond to the person/people/thing.

ANSWERS

1 a chef 2 an engineer 3 Australia 4 Italian 5 Italy
6 holiday

Exercise 3

- Ask students to look at the text and underline all the pronouns.

EXTRA SUPPORT Read the first two sentences of the text aloud. Ask: Who is 'he'? (Arturo) and Who is 'she'? (Romina).

- Ask students to read questions 1–5. Remind them that Who is about people and What is about things. Students read the text to find the answers to the questions.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you elicit the answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 Arturo and Romina 2 Romina 3 Arturo 4 Romina
5 the language school

EXTENSION Ask fast finishers to write questions, starting with Who ...? Or What ...?, using the following nouns: Mexico, on holiday, a doctor, in Cancún. (Who is from Mexico? Who is there on holiday? Who is a doctor? What's in Cancún?) They can ask these questions to other students when they have finished the exercise. (Answers: Arturo, Romina, Arturo, a hospital)

EXTRA ACTIVITY Put students into pairs. Ask them to read the conversations in exercise 7a again and discuss what each pronoun refers to (it in conversation 1 is the house, they in conversation 2 are Jana and Milos). Elicit answers from the class. For homework, students could find one or two photos showing objects, places or people. They could bring them to class and have conversations similar to exercise 7a.

2.3 Where are they?

Goals

- Use subject pronouns
- Use prepositions of place

Lead-in

- Refer students to the title of the lesson Where are they? Elicit that Where is about places, countries and cities.
- Play a game to revise cities and countries. Write the number of spaces on the board for a particular city, e.g. _ _ _ _ _ (Paris). Tell students this is the name of a city and ask them to give you one alphabet letter at a time in order to guess the city name. If the letter is in the word, write it in the correct place. If it is not in the word, write it at the side of the board (so you and the students can remember which letters have been said). If students guess the city before there are ten letters at the side, they win. If you reach ten letters before they guess, the teacher wins. In each case, when they guess the name of the city, ask Where is (city name)? to elicit the country. (Suitable cities, from Unit 1, are: Moscow, Russia/London, the UK/Sydney, Australia/Barcelona, Spain.) You could include the town and country where the students are.

Grammar & Speaking subject pronouns

Exercise 1a

- Put students into pairs. Ask them to talk about the places in the photos and the maps, and allow time for them to write the people's names next to the correct location.
- Elicit places and names from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 Champs-Élysées: Marie
- 2 Robson Street: John
- 3 Abbey Road: Sven and Max

Exercise 1b

- Still in their pairs, ask students to answer the two questions, choosing the correct answer a, b or c. They'll need to refer to the maps to work out the answers.

Exercise 1c 2.16

- Play track 2.16 and ask students to listen to the mini-conversations and check their answers.

WATCH OUT! The Champs-Élysées looks like a plural noun. Some students might question why we don't use are; it is the name of one street and is singular even though it ends in -s. (Of course, this word is French, not English.)

ANSWERS

- 1 c 2 a

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.16

- 1 A Where's Robson Street?
B It's in Vancouver, Canada.
- 2 A Where's the Champs-Élysées?
B It's in Paris, France.

Exercise 2

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the Communication pages and ask them to read their instructions. (The aim of this exercise is for students to find out where the places in their photos are and write them on their maps.)

- Read out the names of the places that both students have to find so you can model the pronunciation. Also go through the example conversation, pointing out that students need to put the before all the place names apart from Petra.
- Students take turns to ask about the places. Monitor and note any difficulties they are having.
- When all students have finished, elicit where all the places are. Write any errors on the board and elicit corrections from the class.

ANSWERS

Student A

- 1 The Museo Frida Kahlo is in Mexico City, Mexico
- 2 The Paul Klee Centre is in Bern, Switzerland
- 3 The Borobudur Temple is in Java, Indonesia
- 4 The Purnululu National Park is in Australia

Student B

- 1 Museo Guggenheim is in Bilbao, Spain
- 2 The Roman Baths are in Bath, UK
- 3 Potala Palace is in Lhasa, China
- 4 Al-Deir is in Petra, Jordan

Exercise 3a

- Ask students to read sentences a–d and match them to 1–4. You could elicit that 1–3 are the names of people and 4 is the name of a place.
- Do the first one together if students are unsure what to do. Read out He's on Robson Street and point to the photos to elicit the name John. Point to the correct photo and say He is John.
- Students work alone to complete the exercise.

Exercise 3b 2.17

- Play track 2.17 and ask students to listen to the mini-conversations and check their answers.
- Pause after each conversation, point again to the relevant photo and say the corresponding pronoun.

EXTENSION Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to practise the conversations. Student A starts. Make sure they change roles after a few minutes. In conversation 3 remind them that the question needs are, not is because there are two people. The aim is to reinforce the meaning of the subject pronouns with repetition.

ANSWERS

- 1 d 2 a 3 b 4 c

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.17

- 1
A Where's Marie?
B She's on the Champs-Élysées.
- 2
A Where's John?
B He's on Robson Street.
- 3
A Where are Sven and Max?
B They're on Abbey Road.
- 4
A Where's Abbey Road?
B It's in London, in the UK.

Exercise 4a

- Pre-teach sister, using a quick sketch of a family tree, or translation into L1 if appropriate. Elicit or tell students that the word is female and singular.
- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and allow time for them to read all the beginnings and endings. Do the first one together as a demonstration. Elicit the ending which matches the pronoun I (4).

EXTRA SUPPORT You could help students to conjugate the verb be from I to they, either by eliciting orally or by eliciting and writing on the board. Clean the board before they do the exercise.

- Students work alone to complete the exercise.
- Check answers by eliciting from some students. Encourage them to say the complete sentence.

ANSWERS

1 She 2 It 3 They 4 I 5 We 6 You 7 He

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p119. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 4b

- Ask students to read the first sentence and elicit the pronoun to complete it (He). Students work alone to complete the exercise.
- Check answers. Invite students to write the pronouns on the board, but they should say the whole sentence.

ANSWERS

1 He 2 We 3 you 4 She 5 It 6 They

Exercise 5a

- Ask students to read the conversation. Read out the first line and elicit the correct pronoun to complete the question (you). Elicit that they know this because Helen is talking to Lewis and he is just one person, therefore singular.
- You could put students into pairs to choose the correct words in the rest of the conversation. Monitor and assist any pairs who are struggling.

Exercise 5b 2.18

- Play track 2.18 and ask students to listen to the conversation and check their answers.

EXTENSION Put students into A/B pairs to practise the conversation. Monitor for any errors and do error correction with the class.

ANSWERS

1 you 2 you 3 I'm 4 I'm 5 It's 6 he 7 We're

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.18

A Hi, Lewis. Helen here. How are you?

B Fine, thanks.

A Are you at home?

B No, I'm in London.

A Really? Where in London?

B I'm at the Victoria and Albert Museum.

A Where's that?

B It's on Cromwell Road, near the Science Museum.

A Wow! Is Max with you?

B Yes, he is. We're here on holiday.

Exercise 5c

- Put students into A/B pairs. Point to the highlighted words in the conversation in exercise 5a. Explain that they have to change these words and have their own conversation. They can choose any names and places they wish.

EXTRA SUPPORT Go through the conversation in exercise 5a and elicit different names and places from the students. You could write these on the board for them to choose from during the exercise.

- Demonstrate the start of a conversation with a strong student. Stop after Really? Where in ...? Then allow plenty of time for students to do the exercise. Monitor for any problems and do error correction at the end.

Vocabulary prepositions of place

Exercise 6

- Ask students to study the map and decide which city it is.
- Elicit suggestions and confirm the answer.

ANSWERS

Victoria, Canada

Exercise 7a

- Read out places 1–5 and ask students to find them on the map. They could circle or highlight them.
- Read out locations a–e then ask students to match each of the places they've highlighted on the map with a location.

- If students ask you about the prepositions, you can reassure them they will study these in the next exercise (8a).

Exercise 7b 2.19

- Play track 2.19 and ask students to listen to the conversations and check their answers.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 a 3 d 4 e 5 b

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.19

1

A Where's Fisgard Street?

B It's in Chinatown.

2

A Where's the McPherson Playhouse?

B It's near City Hall.

3

A Where's the Robert Bateman Centre?

B It's on Belleville Street.

4

A Where's Thunderbird Park?

B It's next to the Royal British Columbia Museum.

5

A Where are the YMCA and YWCA?

B They're near the Courthouse.

Exercise 8a

- Refer students to the Vocabulary focus box and read out the information. Write in, on and near/next to on the board. Check students' understanding by saying the following: city (Paris), building (the Science Museum), country (Russia), area (Chinatown), street (Douglas Street), landmark (the Eiffel Tower). Elicit which preposition goes before each one. For each example, point to the correct preposition on the board then write the place next to the preposition.

WATCH OUT! Students might want to know the difference between near and next to. Show them, using the illustration in the Vocabulary focus box and/or physical objects, that next to means 'by the side of' whereas near means 'in the vicinity of' but not necessarily next to. Also note that the preposition on with streets is correct, but in with streets is becoming more frequent, e.g. in Oxford Street.

- Point out the note about at. You could write the phrases with at on the board.

PRONUNCIATION It's a good idea to drill all of the prepositions in a list (in, on, near, next to, at), but also drill them together with the nouns that follow them, e.g. in Tokyo, near the station. This is important because we do not usually put stress on prepositions, and students need to get a feel for the rhythm of English, i.e. that the words which carry most meaning – in this case nouns – are the words which stand out.

EXTENSION Ask students to look at exercise 7a again. Ask Where's/Where are for each place 1–5. Elicit the answer and ask why we use the particular preposition. Refer to the Vocabulary focus box as necessary.

Exercise 8b

- Ask students to read the sentences and complete them with the prepositions. Do the first one together if necessary.
- Monitor students as they do the exercise. Refer them to the Vocabulary focus box if they are struggling.
- Students can compare their answers in pairs before you check with the class. Read each sentence until you reach the missing preposition. Elicit it from students together with the place that follows. Pronunciation of the places is not the focus here. It is important to elicit why the preposition is correct.

ANSWERS

1 on 2 in 3 near/next to 4 in 5 near/next to

Exercise 9

- Ask students to find places 1–6 on the map and circle them.
- Refer students to the example questions and answers. Ask which place needs the question Where are ...? (number 3). Elicit that this is because it is plural (the Parliament Buildings).

WATCH OUT! Point out that we don't use the with street names, e.g. Store Street, but we need the with buildings, e.g. the Library.

- Demonstrate a conversation with a strong student.
- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to start a conversation about the places. Monitor carefully, particularly noting any mistakes with the prepositions.
- Do corrections at the end by writing incorrect sentences on the board and eliciting corrections from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 It's on Broughton Street.
- 2 It's on Wharf Street.
- 3 They're near the Royal British Columbia Museum
- 4 It's near City Hall.
- 5 It's in Chinatown.
- 6 It's on Belleville Street/near the Robert Bateman Centre.

Exercise 10a

- Ask students to think about the town where they are studying and write down four places in the town.

EXTRA SUPPORT If students have difficulty, remind them to think about museums, bridges and special buildings. If the town where you are is too small, you could prompt them to think about the capital city or another large city they know well. You could also provide maps of the town or city to make this exercise more realistic.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to swap the lists they have written. Tell them to have conversations like in exercise 9 about the places they have written down. Nominate two students to read out the example.
- Monitor students as they have their conversations and make sure they take turns to ask and respond.
- When students have finished, invite some pairs to act out their conversations in front of the class.
- To reinforce the vocabulary, at the end of each conversation, you could ask students why they needed the preposition they used, i.e. on for streets/roads and near/next to for buildings and landmarks.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Students could find photos of famous cities, buildings and landmarks from around the world as a homework task. They could bring these into class for you to make a Where are they? quiz, or students could ask questions and respond as in exercise 9.

2.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Tell the time
- Write a blog

Lead-in

- Students will need numbers 0–59 for telling the time. Put them into small groups then start a chain drill in each group, with students saying numbers one after another. Monitor for any mistakes and correct them. Remind students that 0 is pronounced oh.
- Teach students clock by pointing to one in the classroom. Drill and write the word on the board. You could also teach watch by pointing to your watch.
- Write What time is it? on the board and drill this question.

Listening & Speaking the time

Exercise 1a 2.20

- Play track 2.20 and ask students to look at the clocks and listen to the times, but not to write anything.
- Ask students to read the times under the clocks. Elicit that all the missing words are numbers.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask strong students to complete the times with the missing words before they listen for a second time.

- Play the track again for students to complete the times.
- Students can check answers in pairs, but elicit answers from the whole class to ensure all the times are correct.

Exercise 1b 2.20

- Play track 2.20 again, pausing after each time for students to repeat.

PRONUNCIATION Model and drill the pronunciation of o'clock /ə'klɒk/ (to ensure students don't say /əʊ'klɒk/). Write the word on the board and mark the word stress with a circle.

WATCH OUT! Make sure students understand we use o'clock with whole hours (e.g. one o'clock) not parts of hours (e.g. NOT ~~two fifteen o'clock~~).

ANSWERS

1 one 2 five 3 three 4 fifteen 5 six 6 thirty
7 forty 8 twelve

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.20

- 1
A What time is it?
B It's one o'clock.
- 2
A What time is it?
B It's two oh five.
- 3
A What time is it?
B It's three ten.
- 4
A What time is it?
B It's four fifteen.
- 5
A What time is it?
B It's six twenty-five.

- 6
A What time is it?
B It's seven thirty.

- 7
A What time is it?
B It's nine forty.

- 8
A What time is it?
B It's twelve fifty-five.

Exercise 2

- Drill the question What time is it? several times.
- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to act out the example conversation. Then tell them to have similar conversations using the times on the other clocks.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Fast finishers can continue these conversations, using the clocks in exercise 1a.

- Monitor carefully and make a note of any mistakes. Correct any errors with numbers and pronunciation.

EXTENSION Ask students What time is it? Point to the clock in the classroom to elicit the real time now. You could repeat this at various times during the lesson to check they remember numbers 0–59 and o'clock when appropriate.

Exercise 3 2.21

- Ask students to read the information in the Understanding ... box about times. Then play track 2.21 and ask them to listen to the examples.
- To check students' understanding, you could drill the numbers around the classroom clock (i.e. 1–59), either as a chain drill around the class or whole class together. Do this quite fast and elicit what happens after 59 (o'clock). Show this visually by pointing to each number on the clock as students say it and pointing to the 12 for o'clock.

Exercise 4 2.22

- Play track 2.22 and ask students to listen to the times and write them down. Play the track again if necessary.
- Students could compare answers in pairs before you check together by playing the track again, pausing after each time and eliciting the answer. Write the times on the board so students can check they have written them correctly.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 2.22

- |                   |                      |
|-------------------|----------------------|
| 1 eleven fifteen  | 5 two forty          |
| 2 one thirty      | 6 five twenty        |
| 3 twelve o'clock  | 7 seven thirty-three |
| 4 nine forty-five | 8 ten oh seven       |

Exercise 5a 2.23

- Students are going to listen to conversations which are about times. Pre-teach the nouns film, meeting and train.
- Play track 2.23 and ask students to listen to the conversations and circle the correct word/words. Play the track again if necessary.

EXTRA SUPPORT For weaker students, pause after the times in the conversations to give them a helpful point of reference and enough time to circle the correct words.

Exercise 5b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers, then check with the whole class. Choose three pairs of students to act out the conversations.

EXTENSION Students could work in A/B pairs to act out these three conversations to practise their pronunciation. Drill What time's ... so students say the contraction naturally.

ANSWERS

1 at seven thirty    2 from    3 at ten forty-two

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.23

1

A What time's the film?

B It's at seven thirty.

A OK. Thanks.

2

A What time's the meeting?

B It's from two o'clock to four o'clock.

A OK. Good.

3

A Excuse me. What time's the next train?

B One moment. It's at ten forty-two.

A Great. Thanks.

Exercise 6a

SMART COMMUNICATION In the Language for speaking box students learn the phrase Excuse me ... to begin a conversation with a stranger. Act out stopping a person in a street so they understand the function of this phrase. Model and drill the pronunciation, and write the phrase on the board with the word stress marked.

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box. Drill each phrase for asking about times and the corresponding phrase for answering about times, e.g. What time is it? It's nine fifty. What time's the next bus? It's at five fifteen.
- Point out the prepositions used with times. You could draw timelines on the board to explain that at is used for one moment in time and from ... to is used for a period of time.

WATCH OUT! If you hear students making mistakes with 50 and 15, you can refer them back to 2.1 exercise 10a and drill all the numbers ending in -ty and -teen again.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the Communication pages and ask them to read their instructions. (The aim is to ask and answer questions to find out time information.)
- Elicit from students Where are you? (Student A: at a hotel; Student B: on holiday in London)

ANSWERS

Student A: Students' own answers, Breakfast is from 7.00 to 10.00., The airport bus goes at 11.15 and 4.30.

Student B: The next bus tour is at 2.30., The yoga class is from 6.15 to 7.45., Students' own answers

EXTRA SUPPORT Put students into pairs of two Student As and two Student Bs to plan their questions and responses. Then change the pairs to A/B for the exercise.

- Students take turns to find out the times for the things listed. Monitor and note any difficulties they have asking and responding to the questions.
- When all students have finished, write any errors on the board and elicit corrections from the class.

Reading & Writing a blog

Background note: The writing of blogs started in the 1990s. The word blog is formed from web and log. It is a website where someone writes regularly about themselves, recent events and topics that interest them, usually with photos. An introductory piece about the author is called a blog profile and other entries are called posts. A person who writes a blog is a blogger and the activity is blogging.

Exercise 7

Text summary: Two different blog profiles, containing photos, which give personal information about the writers.

- Closed book. Tell students they are going to read two blog profiles about Adriana Costa and Gio De Luca. Write the names on the board.
- You could ask students Where is she (Adriana) from? and Where is he (Gio) from? Put students into pairs to predict the countries of origin based upon just the names.
- Pre-teach offices and electricity company, which are in Gio's blog. Students then work alone to read the profiles and answer the questions.

EXTRA SUPPORT Put students into pairs for this exercise so they can help each other.

EXTRA CHALLENGE With a strong group, divide the class into two halves: A and B. A reads about Adriana and B reads about Gio. Then in A/B pairs they could ask each other the questions about the profile they read. Finally, they could read the other profile to check their partner's answers.

- Go through the answers, eliciting full sentences.

ANSWERS

- 1 She's from Brazil. He's from Italy.
- 2 She's eighteen. He's twenty-seven.
- 3 No, she isn't. Yes, he is.
- 4 Her friend is Pedro. His friend is Nevin.
- 5 The school's in Vancouver. The ENI offices are near Ciampino airport in Rome.

Exercise 8a

- Ask students to read the two sentences from Adriana's profile and find the differences between them.
- Elicit the differences from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 is 's    2 am, 'm

Exercise 8b

- Read out the two uses (a and b). Explain that spoken is from the verb speak. Teach this verb or translate into L1 if appropriate. Also check students understand letter and email, using real examples if possible.
- Ask students to match the two sentences in exercise 8a to uses a and b. Make sure students understand that work situations need full forms of the verb be, but with friends and in speaking we use contracted forms. (This will be further explained in the Language for writing box.) Elicit whether we use contractions for blog profiles or not (yes).

ANSWERS

- 1 b    2 a

Exercise 9a

- Refer students to the Language for writing box and ask them to read the information carefully. You could drill the examples, paying particular attention to the contractions.

Exercise 9b

- Find the first two contractions together as a class. Then students continue and circle the rest of the contractions.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you elicit the contractions from the class to check they've found them all.

ANSWERS

- 1 My name's Adriana. I'm eighteen and I'm from Brazil. I'm with my friend Pedro in this photo. He's a nice guy. He's from Brazil, too. I'm a student in a language school in Vancouver. Pedro isn't a student. He's a chef in a restaurant. It's an Italian restaurant and it's next to the school!
- 2 I'm Gio from Italy. I'm twenty-seven and I'm an engineer with ENI. ENI is an electricity company in Rome. The offices are near Ciampino airport. In this photo I'm with Nevin. She's twenty-five and she's a friend. Nevin's from Ankara in Turkey and she's a nurse. We're in an English class together.

Exercise 10a

- Tell students Huba hasn't used any contractions in her profile. Ask them to rewrite it using contractions where possible. Use the example as a demonstration.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could put students into pairs to help each other. Then in exercise 10b they could check their answers with another pair.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers then go through Huba's profile with the class. You could invite students to come and write one sentence each on the board.

ANSWERS

My name's Huba. I'm from Hungary. I'm twenty-three and I'm a teacher at FLL Centre. FLL Centre's is a language school. It's in Budapest. In this photo I'm with my students. They're very nice.

Exercise 11a

- Ask students to look at the table. Check they understand all the headings by referring them to Adriana's profile and eliciting her information, e.g. name? (Adriana), age? (eighteen), etc. Point out that other info (information) means 'more details', and students can choose what they write. Elicit examples of 'other info' from Adriana and Gio's profiles: He's a nice guy. ENI is an electricity company in Rome. We're in an English class together.
- Ask students to complete the first column of the table with information about themselves. Then ask them to think of a friend and complete the second column with their details.
- Monitor and assist with spelling difficulties or if students need words for jobs or 'other info' they want to include.

Exercise 11b

- Ask students to write a short blog using the information in the table in exercise 11a. They can use the Language for writing box and the profiles of Adriana and Gio to help.
- Give students enough time and a lot of encouragement to do this writing exercise, particularly when writing about their friend. Refer them to the two profiles and the sentences I'm with ... in this photo and In this photo I'm with ... to help them start writing about their friend.
- Monitor and assist, reminding students to use contractions if they forget.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask fast finishers to check their writing carefully for spelling and to correct any mistakes.

Exercise 11c

- Put students into pairs and ask them to swap blogs and read each other's profile.
- Students also need to think of one or two questions to find out more information about their partner and their friend. Help the class think of possible questions, e.g. country: Where in ... are you / is he/she from? Is ... a big country?; job: Where's your/his/her office? Is it near ...?, etc.
- Allow enough time for students to ask and answer their questions. Monitor and do error correction at the end.

EXTRA ACTIVITY For homework, students could write a blog profile about a famous person using the table in exercise 11a to guide them and the profiles on the page as models. Students could find a photo of the famous person to go with their blog. You could combine the finished blogs into a poster or display for the classroom.

2.5 Video

Witney Antiques

Presenter This is Witney Antiques. It's in a small village near Manchester, in the UK. This is Jonathan Witney. He's an English antiques dealer. This is his shop and these are Jonathan's favourite antiques.

Jonathan Hello, I'm Jonathan Witney and I'm an antiques dealer. I'm forty-five years old and this shop is thirty years old. The things in this shop are all very old. This table is from France and it's 155 years old. And that chair over there is from England and it's 300 years old.

Presenter All the things in this shop are beautiful antiques and some are very expensive. But they aren't Jonathan's favourite objects. These things are.

Jonathan This is The Complete Works of Shakespeare. This is Romeo and Juliet and this is Hamlet. There are lots of collections of Shakespeare, but this one, in this fantastic bookcase, is my favourite. Both the books and the case are around 100 years old and they are both English. The case is nice, but the books ... the books are beautiful. One of my other favourite things is this clock. This shop is full of clocks. That big clock is from England and that beautiful clock is from Austria. Now this clock is old, but it isn't very expensive. But it's very special to me because it's my grandmother's old clock. Wait ... listen ... It's amazing, isn't it? I love that sound. These antiques are all very nice, and some are expensive. But these things aren't for sale. They aren't amazing antiques, but they're my favourites.

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

1 b   2 c   3 d   4 a

Exercise 1b

1 table/chair   2 books   3 some things are very expensive, but not the clock

Exercise 2

books in a bookcase   his grandmother's clock

Exercise 3

1 F (thirty years old)   2 T   3 F (from England)   4 T
5 F (from England)   6 F (isn't expensive)
7 F (nearly 12 o'clock)   8 F (aren't for sale)

Review

Exercise 1a

1 this 2 a 3 those 4 They're 5 laptop 6 books
7 an

Exercises 2a & 2b

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 2.24

The Fantastic 4	12 Years a Slave
84 Charing Cross Road	100 Degrees Below Zero
9 to 5	17 Again

Exercise 3a

1 This 2 What's 3 an 4 Is 5 a 6 he is 7 isn't
8 He's

Exercise 4a

Name Sara Country Brazil Job student
Where? University in Rio de Janeiro

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.25

A This is my friend, Sara.

B Is she from Spain?

A No she isn't. She's from Brazil.

B What's her job?

A She's a student.

B Is she at university?

A Yes, she is. We're at the same university in Rio de Janeiro.

Exercise 5a

Paolo and I are on holiday in New York. We are with our friends, Hannah and David. They are students at Columbia University in New York. Hannah is from California. She is twenty years old. David is from South Africa. He is twenty-one. Paolo, Hannah, David and I love New York. It is a great city.

Exercise 6a

1 on 2 near 3 on 4 next to 5 in 6 on

Exercise 6b

AUDIOSCRIPT 2.26

The Sherlock Holmes Museum is on Baker Street. It is near Marylebone and Baker Street stations. Madame Tussauds is on Marylebone Road. It is next to Baker Street station. London Zoo is in The Regent's Park. The entrance is on Prince Albert Road.

Exercise 7a

- 1 Excuse me. What time is it?
- 2 What time's the meeting?
- 3 Is the film at eight o'clock?
- 4 What time's the next bus?

Exercise 7b

a 2 b 4 c 1 d 3

3.1 My neighbours

Goals

- Use adjective + noun phrases (1)
- Talk about possessions with have got

Lead-in

- Write the following questions on the board: 1 What is this? 2 Are the people in a restaurant? 3 Is this a cat or a dog? 4 Is this man at home? 5 Is this woman here on holiday or to study? 6 Is this in your country?
- Put students into pairs. Ask them to look at the photos only in exercise 1a and answer the questions about each photo.
- Elicit ideas from the class. Help them to learn the nouns they need for each photo.

Vocabulary & Speaking adjective + noun phrases (1)

Exercise 1a

- Write the six phrases on the board and ask students to find a photo to match each one. They should write the numbers of the photos next to the phrases.

Exercise 1b 3.1

- Play track 3.1 and ask students to listen to the phrases and check their answers.
- Play the track again for students to repeat. Elicit the word stress of the adjective and noun in each phrase and mark it on the board. Ask students to mark the word stress with a circle in their notebooks.
- Drill the class. Say the noun, e.g. woman, and elicit the whole phrase. Also do quick individual drilling: say the noun and point to a student to say the whole phrase.

! Point out that we change the article according to the sound which follows it. So we say a clever woman because the sound is /k/ (a consonant sound), but an old woman because the sound is /ɒ/ (a vowel sound.) Add an old woman to your list on the board.

- Elicit from the class which words are nouns (woman, book, city, film, dog, job). Tell students the other words are adjectives (clever, great, lovely, funny, friendly, hard, old). Underline the adjectives in the phrases on the board.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 3.1

1 a great book 2 a funny film 3 a friendly dog
4 a hard job 5 a clever woman 6 a lovely city

Exercise 1c

- Act out the example conversation with a confident student as Student A. Do another example, e.g. say Photo 4 and Student A says a hard job.
- Put students into A/B pairs to do the exercise. Give them a time limit. Monitor and check they are taking turns.
- Do error correction and drill any difficult words at the end.

Exercise 2

- Read out the words in the box and elicit that these are nouns. Check the meaning of song as it may be new.
- Ask one student to read the examples aloud. Elicit which word is the noun and which is the adjective in each phrase.
- Refer students to the adjectives you underlined on the board in exercise 1b. Elicit one or two more example sentences or give examples if students are unsure.
- In their pairs, students make sentences. One student in each pair can write them down.

EXTRA SUPPORT/EXTRA CHALLENGE You can limit the number of sentences students have to make (e.g. five) or for stronger students, set a time limit and ask them to make as many sentences as possible against the clock.

- Help struggling students: you could encourage them to use examples from the country they are studying in and recent films/books they may know.
- Monitor carefully and note any interesting sentences to elicit from students when they have finished.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Put two pairs together to compare their sentences by reading them to each other. The aim is to find out whether any of their sentences are the same.

Reading & Vocabulary irregular plurals

Exercise 3

Text summary: Two texts where the writers give information about where they live and about their neighbours.

- Write neighbours on the board. Elicit the meaning if possible or teach the word by drawing two houses with people. Translate into L1 if appropriate.
- Ask students to look at the photos of the man and the woman. Ask questions: Where is Catherine/Sanjay from? What is her/his job? Put students into pairs to discuss, but tell them not to read the texts now.
- Read the question in the rubric aloud and ask students to read the texts quickly to find the answer.
- Elicit the answer from one student. Follow up with Who are the friendly neighbours? (Amit and Syreeta)

EXTENSION To fully exploit the texts, ask extra questions such as Who's at work from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.? (Catherine) Who's a musician? (Amit) Who are lovely people? (Amit and Syreeta) Where's a nice place? (Notre Dame de Paris) Who's a clever woman? (Syreeta) Who's got two children? (Amit and Syreeta) Who's got five neighbours? (Catherine). This helps them to practise understanding pronouns from Unit 2.

ANSWERS

Sanjay

Exercise 4a

- Ask students to look carefully at the table. Tell them that the plural of man is not mans because it is irregular. Ask them to find the plural in the text about Catherine. Elicit the answer and ask students to add it to the table.
- Students work alone to find the other irregular plural nouns in the texts. They can compare answers in pairs and show each other where they found the words in the text.

Exercise 4b 3.2

- Play track 3.2 and ask students to listen to the plural nouns and check their answers.
- Play again, pausing after each word for students to repeat.

PRONUNCIATION Highlight the change in vowel sound from man /mæn/ to men /men/ and drill it. Woman /'wʊmən/ and especially women /'wɪmɪn/ are often difficult for students, so drill these several times. Don't forget to use varied techniques, changing the speed, volume, etc. You could start a pronunciation whisper chain to travel around the class: whisper woman to the first student, they repeat it to the next and so on until the last student who then says the word aloud. If students' pronunciation has been accurate, the word in this case will be the same: woman.

ANSWERS

1 men 2 women 3 people 4 children

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.2

a man – men a person – people

a woman – women a child – children

Exercise 5

- Refer students to the illustration on page 108. Explain they have one minute to look it at and remember what is in it.
- After one minute, tell students to close their books and write down the objects and people in the illustration. Ask them to write the number of each, as in the example.
- Put students into pairs to talk about their answers. To check how much they've remembered, ask them to look again at the illustration.

ANSWERS

six phones, three men, four women, five apples, ten books, three bags, four children, one umbrella, eight pens, three wallets, one tablet, two notepads, seven keys, six mugs, one table, one sofa, two chairs, two windows

Grammar & Speaking have got, has got

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read the sentences about the two texts in exercise 3 then read the texts again to find the information to complete them.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students can try to remember the texts and complete the sentences before reading.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into pairs to compare answers.
- Elicit answers from different students, encouraging them to say the full sentences.

ANSWERS

1 neighbours 2 friends 3 hospital 4 two

Exercise 7

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and allow time for them to read it. Then ask students to complete the box, using the sentences in exercise 6a to help them.

WATCH OUT! Students will need to use sentence 3 to work out he/she/it, but these pronouns are not used there – only the name Amit. If necessary, elicit which pronoun can be used instead of Amit (he).

- Monitor and show struggling students which sentence in exercise 6a to look at to find the information they need.
- Go through the answers, eliciting them from students.

! Point out that the contractions are important and drill I've, I've got and He's, He's got with the class.

ANSWERS

1 've got 2 's got

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p120. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 8a

- Point to the woman in the photo and say This is Lena. You could teach/elicite the meaning of the following words from the text: artist, cat, painting, happy.
- Ask students to read and complete the text. They can refer to the Grammar focus box as necessary. Remind them to use contractions.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask fast finishers to underline all the adjective + noun phrases in the text. Check these combinations after you check the answers in exercise 8b.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Check the answers together, asking individual students to read the text aloud one sentence at a time. Don't forget to elicit the adjective + noun combinations from students who did the Extra challenge in exercise 8a (great neighbours, lovely paintings, a hard job, a good friend).

ANSWERS

1 have got/'ve got 4 have got/'ve got
2 has got/'s got 5 has got/'s got
3 have got/'ve got

Exercise 9a 3.3

- Ask students to read the two texts and think about what words might be missing in each gap. Elicit ideas from the class.
- Play track 3.3 and ask students to listen to the two people and complete the texts. If students are finding it difficult, pause after each sentence to allow them extra time to write.

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.3

1

Antony's my neighbour. He's got a flat in my building. He's a waiter in an Italian restaurant. He's a friendly man and he's got a nice cat. His name's Mr Muffin.

2

Mr and Mrs Thompson are my neighbours. They're from New Zealand and they're lovely people. Mr Thompson is a teacher in a big school and Mrs Thompson is a doctor. They've got four children and two dogs.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Check the answers together by playing the track again, pausing to elicit the missing words.

Background note: In Britain, pets are often considered part of the family, so we sometimes use the pronouns he/she and his/her rather than it or its, e.g. His name is Mr Muffin. For animals which are not pets we use it and its.

ANSWERS

1 flat 2 waiter 3 restaurant 4 friendly 5 cat
6 neighbours 7 people 8 teacher 9 school
10 doctor 11 children 12 dogs

Exercise 10a

- Check students understand all the categories in the table: they may not know pets. Ask them to complete the table with information about their neighbours or families living near them. You could write information on the board about one of your neighbours as an example.
- Allow plenty of time for students to write their notes. Monitor and assist any students who are finding it difficult. Refer them back to the texts in exercise 9a for ideas.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into groups of three or four. You could demonstrate by making full sentences from the information you wrote on the board in exercise 10a. Also refer them back to the texts in exercise 9a.

FEEDBACK FOCUS In this exercise, students need to put together many different things they have learnt. Monitor for problems with: adjective + noun phrases; forms of have got; choosing the correct pronouns; forms of verb be.

- Conduct error correction at the end. Write common mistakes on the board and ask students (in their groups) to discuss what the mistakes are and how to correct them.

EXTENSION For homework, ask students to write a text similar to that in exercise 8a about themselves and their neighbours. Collect in the homework and check it is correct. Then use these texts as reading practice in a later lesson (or for asking have got questions at the end of 3.2).

Reading skills identifying key words

- Ask students to read the information. Teach or translate important to help students understand the information.

EXTRA CHALLENGE At the top of the board write: house, lovely, neighbour, nice, friendly, woman, hospital, funny, hard, New York. Divide the lower half of the board into two columns: Nouns and Adjectives. Put students into pairs. Ask them to copy the table into their notebooks and write the words in the correct column. Demonstrate by writing house in the Noun column. Go through the answers together.

Exercise 1a

- To help students identify the nouns in the text, check they have understood the different categories of nouns (thing, person, place). Elicit the categories for the following: London (place), dog (thing), student (person).
- Point to the example in the text and find the next noun together (flat). Students continue reading and identify the rest of the nouns in the text.

ANSWERS

Agnieska and I have got a lovely flat in Poznań in Poland. It's a great city. It's got big universities and lovely buildings, too. I'm a teacher in a university and Agnieska is a doctor. She's got a hard job. She's at the hospital from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. every day.

Exercise 1b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers and also think about why some of the nouns have capital letters.
- Elicit answers from the class to check together. When you elicit an answer with a capital letter, ask Why is there a capital letter? (because they are names: Agnieska – person, Poznań – city, Poland – country).

WATCH OUT! Strong students may notice that the text has a university and wonder why the article isn't an. Remind them that the choice of article is based on the sound of the word which follows: university doesn't begin with a vowel sound /juːniˈvɜːsəti/.

ANSWERS

Agnieska Poznań Poland

Exercise 2

EXTRA CHALLENGE Closed book. Ask students, in their pairs, to make a list of as many adjectives as they can remember from the lesson so far. Give a one-minute time limit. When the time is up, tell students to count their adjectives and ask the pair with the highest total to read them out. Praise and do any necessary error correction.

- Refer students to the text in exercise 1a. Ask them to find and circle all the adjectives. Then put them into pairs to identify which noun each adjective is describing.
- Check answers by reading out the text slowly. Students say Stop! loudly when you say an adjective. Elicit which noun the adjective refers to before you continue.

ANSWERS

lovely – flat   great – city   big – universities lovely – buildings   hard – job

Exercise 3a

- Ask students to cover the words in the boxes and look at the text about Sophia. Put students into pairs to talk about what type of word is missing in each gap: noun or adjective. Elicit ideas from the class.
- Before starting the completion exercise, you could check some of the words in the boxes, e.g. interesting, room, work and manager, as these may be new.
- Students use the words in the boxes to complete the text.

EXTRA SUPPORT Elicit the word for the first gap as a demonstration. If necessary, highlight that the article is an to help students find the correct word (because it must begin with a vowel sound).

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class. Check the meaning of goldfish: you could draw a quick picture.

ANSWERS

1 interesting   2 hotel   3 manager   4 room   5 work
6 hard   7 happy   8 children   9 pets

3.2 Possessions

Goals

- Ask and answer about possessions using have got
- Use opposite adjectives

Lead-in

- Take out three possessions from your bag which students know the word for (choose from: a phone, a tablet, a wallet, an umbrella, a pen, a notebook). Hold each object up and say I've got a ... Elicit the word and put the object on the table. Point to the three things and say my possessions. Highlight this word in the lesson title.
- If appropriate, ask students to take out three possessions from their own bags to show a partner. Encourage them to say I've got a ... as well as the word for the object.
- Ask some students to report to the class which three possessions their partner has got. Remind them to use He/She has got ...

Grammar & Speaking have got negatives and questions

Exercise 1a

- Draw a percentage sign on the board and say percent. Write the word, mark the stress and drill /pə'sent/.
- Refer students to the 'Possessions in the world' information and explain that this is about all the people in the world. Elicit things that students can see in the infographic. Teach any new words, e.g. bank account.
- Put students into pairs. Point to the missing percentages in the infographic and ask students to decide which of the three percentages (2%, 9%, 20%) completes each gap.

Exercise 1b 3.4

- Play track 3.4 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their guesses. Play again, pausing after sentences which have missing information, i.e. after car, TV and pet, to elicit the percentage.

ANSWERS

1 2% 2 9% 3 20%

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.4

70% of people in the world have got a mobile phone.
9% of people in the world have got a car.
20% of people in the world have got a TV.
30% of people in the world have got a bank account.
2% of people in the world have got a pet.
40% of people in the world have got a bicycle.

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to read sentences 1–4 and look again at the infographic in exercise 1a. Ask them to complete the sentences with the correct possessions. Monitor and help students who are struggling with 1 in 5. Elicit the percent and tell them 20% if necessary.
- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Remind them to be careful with sentences 3 and 4 because they contain negatives.

Exercise 2b 3.5

- Play track 3.5 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers.

ANSWERS

1 bank account 2 TV 3 bicycle 4 car

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.5

- 1 30% of people in the world have got a bank account.
- 2 1 in 5 people in the world has got a TV.
- 3 60% of people in the world haven't got a bicycle.
- 4 91% of people in the world haven't got a car.

Exercise 3a 3.6

- Ask students to read the questions and answers. Then play track 3.6 and ask students to listen to the two people and complete the gaps.

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.6

- 1
A Have you got a bicycle?
B Yes, I have.
- 2
A Have you got a car?
B No, I haven't.
- 3
A Has your best friend got a pet?
B No, he hasn't.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Monitor and check that their answers are correct.

PRONUNCIATION Drill these examples of full questions and positive and negative short answers. One good technique is back-chaining. For example, using question 1, begin at the end of the question: a bicycle. Say this two or three times. Then add got: got a bicycle. Again repeat. Then add you: you got a bicycle, etc. This way you build clearly, but step by step, until students are pronouncing the whole question naturally. Practise all the questions together and then practise the positive and negative answers.

- You could ask students to practise the conversations in pairs. After a few minutes, ask them to swap roles so each has a chance to ask and answer questions with have got.

ANSWERS

1 bicycle 2 Yes 3 car 4 No 5 pet 6 No

Exercise 4

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and allow time for them to read the information. Ask them to look at the sentences in exercise 2a and the questions and answers in exercise 3a to help them complete the box.
- Check answers, eliciting the full sentences from the Grammar focus box, not only the missing words.

! Point out that we use contractions in writing and in speaking with have got in the negative form. Drill the contractions: haven't got /'hævənt gɒt/, hasn't got /'hæzənt gɒt/.

ANSWERS

1 haven't 2 Have 3 Has 4 have 5 hasn't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp120–121. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 5a

- Ask students to read and complete the conversations. Before they start, you could elicit why two of the words in the box (Has and Have) start with a capital letter (because they start a sentence in the conversation). It is a good idea to prompt students to notice punctuation and grammar which can help them use English effectively.
- Early finishers could check their answers in pairs.

WATCH OUT! Sometimes students forget that in positive short answers the full form of the auxiliary verb is needed, i.e. instead of writing Yes, he has they mistakenly write ~~Yes, he's~~. If you see students doing this, make sure you correct them and give them other examples: Are you from Italy? Yes, I am. Are they doctors? Yes, they are. Have they got a dog? Yes, they have. Has she got a car? Yes, she has.

Exercise 5b 3.7

- Play track 3.7 and ask students to listen to the conversations and check their answers. Play the track again, pausing after each gap to elicit the answer.

ANSWERS

1 Have 2 haven't 3 've 4 got 5 has 6 Has 7 hasn't 8 's

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.7

1

A Have you got a pet?

B No, I haven't. And you?

A Yes, I have. I've got a dog.

2

A Has your best friend got a mobile phone?

B Yes, he has.

3

A Has she got a car?

B No, she hasn't. She's got a bicycle.

Pronunciation stress in yes/no questions and answers

Exercise 6a 3.8

- Play track 3.8 and ask students to listen to the conversation and notice the stress patterns.

Exercise 6b 3.8

- Play track 3.8, pausing after each line and asking students to copy the speaker. Indicate with a hand gesture that the voice goes up at the end of And you?
- Model the conversation, saying only the stressed words with the correct intonation (car?/haven't, you?/have, Mercedes). This is an amusing way to show how important stress is in English. Even if you only hear the stressed words, you can understand the basic conversation.

Exercise 7

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to read then practise the two example conversations. After a few minutes, ask them to change the conversations to ask each other real questions. Demonstrate with a strong student, e.g. ask Have you got a mobile phone?
- Monitor and assist where necessary. You could refer students back to the infographic in exercise 1a if they can't think which possessions to ask about.
- If students are only asking Have you got ...?, prompt them to ask questions about their neighbours and best friends too, so they practise he/she/they forms of have got.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Class survey/mingle activity. Ask students to choose one possession only. They then move around the class asking Have you got ...? to every other student, and giving short answers to other students' questions. They must keep a tally of the yes and no answers they get – this is important! When students have finished, they sit down and analyse the results of their survey. They present their results in a sentence like in exercise 2a: X% of the students in the class have/haven't got ... You could write the sentences on a large piece of paper to make a report/poster for the wall. If the class is very large, you could put them into groups of 8–10 and each group could produce a report/poster.

Vocabulary opposite adjectives

Exercise 8a 3.9

- Ask students to look at the illustrations in the Vocabulary focus box and elicit what they can see, e.g. These are mobile phones. These are apples.
- Ask students to read the adjectives under each illustration. Write opposite and the symbol  $\neq$  on the board to help students understand.
- Play track 3.9 and ask students to listen to the pronunciation of the adjectives. Play again, pausing after each pair of adjectives for students to repeat. Correct any mistakes. Elicit the word stress on expensive.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into pairs. Ask them to take turns to point to an illustration and describe it using the two adjectives. Point out the examples.
- Elicit ideas from the students and praise them.

Exercise 9a

- Use the example to demonstrate the exercise, then ask students to read sentences 2–5 and think about the kind of adjective they could use about the nouns in each sentence. Refer them to the adjectives in 3.1 exercise 1 so they have more adjectives to use. Put students into pairs and ask them to complete the sentences, choosing the correct article (a/an) to go before each adjective.

Exercise 9b

- Put two pairs together to compare answers.
- Elicit possible answers from the class, encouraging students to say the full sentence each time.

POSSIBLE ANSWERS

- 1 Switzerland is a rich/small/lovely/cold country.
- 2 Tim Berners-Lee is a clever/rich man.
- 3 Romeo and Juliet is a sad/great story.
- 4 New York is an expensive/a lovely/a big city.
- 5 My best friend is a funny/happy/clever/great person.

Exercise 10a

- Teach true /tru:/ and false /fɔ:ls/. You could use obvious statements about yourself to show the meaning, e.g. I'm a child (false!) I'm a man/I'm a woman (true). Write the words on the board. Drill pronunciation.
- Ask students to write five sentences using adjectives. Tell them three sentences must be true (point to the word on the board) and two sentences false. Read the example sentence about the USA. Ask Is this true? (No, it's false.)
- Allow plenty of time for students to write their sentences.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Notice any fast finishers and ask them to write more sentences: two true and two false. After exercise 10b, you could ask these students to read out their sentences to challenge the class.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into new pairs (so they don't work with the same partner as in exercise 9a) to read their sentences to each other. Ask them to respond to their partner's sentence by saying True or False and to correct the false sentences. Refer them to the example.
- When students have finished, encourage some students to read a sentence aloud, and nominate another student in the class to respond. Continue this across the class until most students have either read a sentence or responded.

Listening & Speaking talking about possessions

Exercise 11a 3.10

- Tell students they are going to hear three people talking about their possessions. Play track 3.10, pausing between the conversations. Ask students to listen for the possession and the adjective in each conversation and write them in the table.

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.10

- 1
A Have you got a laptop?
B No, I haven't. And you?
A Yes, I have.
B Is it a new laptop?
A No, it's three years old.
- 2
A Have you got a bicycle?
B Yes, I do.
A Is it an expensive bicycle?
B Yes, it is.
- 3
A Have you got a pet?
B No, I haven't. And you?
A I've got a cat.
B Is it old?
A No, it's only two.

Exercise 11b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Ask questions to elicit the answers from the class: e.g. in conversation 1, what is the possession? If students say a laptop, you'll need to prompt them for the adjective, e.g. a new laptop? (No, an old laptop.)

EXTRA CHALLENGE You could ask if anyone remembers how old the laptop is in conversation 1 or how old the cat is in conversation 3.

ANSWERS

	Possession	Adjective
1	laptop	old
2	bicycle	expensive
3	cat	old

Exercise 12a

- Ask students to remember conversation 3 from the previous exercise and to complete the gaps in the conversation.

Exercise 12b 3.11

- Play track 3.11 and ask students to listen to the conversation and check their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class. You could then put students into pairs to practise the conversation.

ANSWERS

1 Have 2 pet 3 cat 4 old 5 two

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.11

- A Have you got a pet?
B No, I haven't. And you?
A I've got a cat.
B Is it old?
A No, it's only two.

Exercise 13a

- Put students into pairs and ask them to look at the possessions and adjectives in the box. You could ask them to find any opposite adjectives (good/bad, big/small, old/new, cheap/expensive, cold/hot).
- Write conversation prompts on the board to help students with positive answers: Have you got a ...? Yes, I have. Is it ...? Yes, it is. Ask students to use this framework and conversation 3 to help them have conversations together about the possessions.
- Monitor and encourage any struggling students. Prompt stronger students to give as much information as possible, especially using the adjectives. Make a note of any errors with have got or the adjectives.

Exercise 13b

- Put students into small groups to brainstorm other possessions they could talk about and make a list.
- Put students into pairs again and ask them to talk about three of the things on their list. Ask them to read the example conversation starter first. Monitor and encourage them to use adjectives with the nouns where possible. Ask extra questions, e.g. Is it big? to prompt more conversation.
- For class feedback, you could ask students to say what their partner has got, e.g. Ibrahim's got an expensive pen.
- Do any necessary error correction from this exercise and exercise 13a with the class.

3.3 Family

Goals

- Use possessive determiners and possessive 's
- Talk about family

Lead-in

- Write family on the board and mark the stress. Point to the photos on p30 to show the meaning of the word and drill the pronunciation /'fæməli/.
- Say I have four people in my family. Write the sentence on the board. Ask And you? Put students into pairs to tell each other the size of their family. At this stage, if students know any family words, they will probably try and use them, so it is a good chance to see what they know.
- Elicit some family sizes from different students.

Vocabulary & Speaking family

Exercise 1a

- Point to the family tree and say family tree. Point to photo 1 and back to the family tree and say It's this family, to make the connection clear. Point to the grandfather and say This is Derek.
- Put students into pairs to decide which people in the photo correspond to which names on the family tree. Then ask students to complete sentences 1–5.

Exercise 1b 3.12

- Play track 3.12 and ask students to listen and check their answers. Play again, pausing to elicit the answers.

ANSWERS

1 Derek 2 Charlie 3 Andy 4 Olivia 5 Derek, Carol

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.12

- 1 Derek is Anna's father and Carol is her mother.
- 2 Charlie and Anna are husband and wife.
- 3 Andy and Anna are brother and sister.
- 4 Olivia is Charlie and Anna's daughter and Fergus is their son.
- 5 Derek and Carol are Fergus, Olivia, and Katie's grandparents.

Exercise 2a

- Refer students to the table of people in a family. Check that they understand male and female by pointing to the photo and asking Is this person male? Elicit that the third column in the table is for plural words.

WATCH OUT! The plural parents includes male (father) and female (mother). Likewise children includes both genders, so you can ask Have you got any children? to ask about sons and daughters. For brother and sister, we do have the word siblings which includes both genders, but it is more formal and less commonly used. We generally ask Have you got any brothers and sisters?

- Ask students to use the information in exercise 1a to help them complete the table.

Exercise 2b 3.13

- Play track 3.13 and ask students to listen and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each word for students to repeat. Elicit word stress in the multi-syllable words: the stress is on the first syllable. You could point this out and encourage students to mark the stress on the words.

PRONUNCIATION Many students find parents /'peərənts/ difficult to pronounce correctly as they equate the letter a with /æ/, but in this word it is /eə/. Daughter /'dɔ:tə/ also tends to cause problems.

ANSWERS

1 grandparents 2 father 3 daughter 4 sister
5 husband

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.13

- 1 grandfather grandmother grandparents
- 2 father mother parents
- 3 son daughter children
- 4 brother sister
- 5 husband wife

Exercise 3

- Put students into pairs to find pairs of family members in photo 2. Read out the example sentence to help them understand what to do. Ask students to point to the brother and sister in the photo.
- Monitor and encourage students to take turns to point at and label the pairs.
- Elicit answers from the class by pointing to the photo.

Listening & Grammar possession

Exercise 4a 3.14

- Tell students that they're going to hear two people talking about the family in photo 2. Play track 3.14 and ask students to listen to the conversation to find out who is not in the photo. Play a second time, if necessary, before you elicit the answer.

ANSWER

Their son, Marcus

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.14

- A It's a nice family photo.
B Yes, it is. So is he the father?
A Yes, and the woman next to him is his wife.
B I see. And these two are their children?
A Yes, the girl is their daughter and the boy is her brother.
B We have one boy and one girl in our family, too.
A Ah, but they've got another son, Marcus. He's at university.

Exercise 4b 3.14

- Play track 3.14 again for students to circle the correct words in sentences 1–4.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students could try to circle the answers from memory before they listen.

- Go through the answers together by asking some students to say the complete sentences.

ANSWERS

1 wife 2 daughter 3 brother 4 family

Exercise 5a

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to complete it with the correct possessive determiners. They can use exercise 4b to help them.

Exercise 5b 3.15

- Play track 3.15 and ask students to listen and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing for students to repeat the pronouns and determiners (which will also aid memory).

ANSWERS

1 his 2 her 3 our 4 their

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.15

I my you your he his she her it its we our they their

EXTRA ACTIVITY To help students understand possessive determiners better, use physical action and objects. Point to or pick up objects which belong to people and use possessive determiners to label them, e.g. my book (hold up book and point to yourself), her pen (hold up pen and point to female student), our classroom (indicate the room and gesture to include everyone), etc. Students could take turns to do this, too.

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p121. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read and complete the sentences, referring to the Grammar focus box as necessary. Do the first one. Elicit that brother is male (so he) then elicit the possessive determiner to complete the sentence (His).
- Students work alone to complete the exercise. Monitor and check they are using the correct determiners.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Go through the answers together, eliciting the correct possessive determiner in each sentence and also asking checking questions to make sure students really understand, e.g. for sentence 2, students need to understand that together Juan and Lolita are they so that they can choose Their correctly to complete the sentence.

WATCH OUT! You could also check that students have used capital letters for the start of new sentences. Sometimes we forget to check punctuation when eliciting answers orally.

ANSWERS

1 His 2 Their 3 My 4 our 5 her

Exercise 7

- Ask students to read the sentences in exercise 1 again and use these to complete the Grammar focus box. Make it clear they have to write 's or nothing (–) in the gaps.
- When checking answers, if they seem unsure about when not to use 's after a name, focus on the names in exercise 1a. Write Anna's father on the board and underline 's. Then write Charlie and Anna's daughter and again underline 's. Highlight that when something is the possession of two people, we put 's after the second name.

ANSWERS

1 's 2 – 3 's

Exercise 8a

- Ask students to read sentences 1–4 and decide where 's is needed. They can compare their answers in pairs.

Exercise 8b 3.16

- Play track 3.16 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers. Play again, pausing after each sentence for students to repeat.

WATCH OUT! Even students who understand the grammar and know they need 's, sometimes fail to pronounce it. Make sure they say it clearly. In this exercise, 's is pronounced /z/ not /s/.

ANSWERS

- 1 brother's 2 Marichka and Mikolaj's 3 husband's 4 Xavier and Carmen's

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.16

- 1 Aileen is my brother's wife.
2 Marichka and Mikolaj's daughter is ten.
3 My husband's name is Shuang.
4 This is Xavier and Carmen's son, Cristóbal.

Exercise 9a

- Put students into pairs to discuss the possible family relationships in the photo, e.g. Lee is Amy's father.
- After a few minutes, ask students to read and complete the text about the family with possessive determiners or possessive 's. Monitor and refer struggling students to the Grammar focus boxes in exercises 5a and 7.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Put fast finishers into A/B pairs to ask each other Who ...? questions about the people in the text, e.g. A Who's Oliver? B He's Amy and Jerry's son.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Check together by inviting students to read a sentence at a time.

ANSWERS

- 1 our 2 their 3 her 4 Their 5 his 6 's 7 's
8 his 9 's 10 's

Listening & Speaking talk about family

Exercise 10a 3.17

- Tell students they are going to hear a woman called Elsa talking about her family. Ask students to read the statements about her family. Explain they are not correct.
- Play track 3.17 and ask students to listen for the correct information and change the statements. Elicit the changes in the first sentence as an example.
- Play the track again. Pause after Elsa's answers to allow time for students to process the information.
- Elicit the corrected statements from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 Elsa has got two sisters.
2 Inga is twenty-one years old.
3 Agneta has got a job in a bank and Inga is a student.
4 Inga isn't married.
5 Agneta's husband is an engineer.

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.17

- A Have you got any brothers and sisters?
B Yes, I've got two sisters.
A What are their names?
B Agneta and Inga. Agneta is twenty-six and Inga's twenty-one.
A What are their jobs?
B Well, Agneta's got a job in a bank and Inga's a student.
A Are they married?
B Inga isn't married, but Agneta is. Her husband's an engineer.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into pairs to complete the questions from the interview with Elsa. You may need to prompt them to use the form of be for they (for questions 2–4).

Exercise 10c 3.17

- Play track 3.17 again and ask students to listen to the questions and check their answers. Pause as necessary.

ANSWERS

- 1 Have, got 2 are their 3 are their 4 Are they

Exercise 11a

- Ask students to think about a family they know (which could be their own family) and write information in the table about the members of this family. Quickly elicit family words they remember, to encourage them to think about all these people in their chosen family.
- Allow students plenty of time for this preparation stage. You may need to help them with the words for different jobs.

Exercise 11b

- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to talk about their chosen families, like Elsa did in exercise 10a. You could demonstrate the activity with one strong student, using the example conversation starter.
- Monitor carefully and note any points for correction (family vocabulary, pronouns, possessive 's or possessive determiners, have got). Write any sentences with mistakes on the board for everyone to correct together. Drill problem words, including problems with contractions.

EXTENSION Put students into new pairs and ask them to do the exercise again. With beginner students, it can be beneficial and build their confidence if they occasionally have a second opportunity to perform a task and are able to do so better than before.

Listening skills understanding final 's

- Slowly read the first two sentences aloud to students. Read each of the examples in the table and then the meaning and the structure. Focus attention on what comes after 's. You could ask questions to check students' understanding, e.g. Ida's a chef. Which word is the noun? (chef). When a or an comes next, then 's means is.

Exercise 1a 3.18

- Ask students to read sentences 1–4. Then play track 3.18 and ask students to listen for the missing words to complete the sentences.
- Play the track again, pausing after each sentence to elicit the answers.

ANSWERS

1 's car 2 's a teacher 3 's rich 4 's got a

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.18

- 1 My mother's car is very old.
- 2 Frank's a teacher.
- 3 My grandfather's rich.
- 4 Sarah's got a friendly dog.

Exercise 1b

- Read sentence 1 in exercise 1a and point to the example answer. Say The old car is my mother's possession.
- Students work alone to complete the exercise. Monitor and refer them to the table before exercise 1a if necessary.
- Check answers with the class. Ask Why? to check they can point to what comes after 's (which is how you understand the meaning of 's).

ANSWERS

1 possession 2 is 3 is 4 has

Exercise 2 3.19

- Ask students to read questions 1–3. Then play track 3.19 and ask them to listen to Bruno and answer the questions.

ANSWERS

- 1 Bruno's friend.
- 2 He's an engineer.
- 3 Yes, he's got a daughter.

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.19

Carlo is my friend. He's an engineer. He's got a good job with the car company, Fiat. He's married and he's got a daughter.

Exercise 3a 3.20

- Tell students they are going to hear Mia talking about the four people in the table. You could tell them that Nicole and Ivy are female names and Robert and Tony are male.
- Explain that as students listen, they need to understand 's because Mia talks about who each person is and about the people, pets and other things in their lives.
- Play track 3.20 and ask students to listen to Mia and complete the table. Play again, pausing frequently to give students a second chance to complete the table.

ANSWERS

Nicole is Mia's neighbour. Nicole has got two children. Ivy is Nicole's daughter. Ivy has got many friends. Robert is Nicole's son. Robert has got a pet dog called Junior.

Tony is Nicole's husband. Tony has got a job in the school next to their building.

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.20

Nicole's our neighbour. She's got two young children, a boy and a girl. The girl's name is Ivy and she's got many friends in the building. The boy's name is Robert. He's got a pet dog called Junior.

Tony is Nicole's husband. He's got a job in the school next to our building.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to tell each other the answers using full sentences. Remind them to use 's.
- Read out the example sentence, then elicit the 'has got' information from the table, to ensure they say She's got ...
- Monitor students' conversations and make sure they are taking turns. Note any problems with 's to correct when they have finished.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Draw a blank table on the board like in exercise 3a, but with only two rows. Ask students to think about two people they know and complete the table. Put students into pairs to tell each other about the people, using 's.

3.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Use everyday expressions
- Write a social media message

Lead-in

- Bring some appropriate snack food or chocolate to the lesson. Offer it to a student. If they take some food and say Thank you, say You're welcome. If they don't take any food, smile and move on to another student. Continue to offer the food around the class.
- If nobody seems to know thank you, swap roles. Give the food to a student and motion that you would like some. Take some food and say Thank you.
- The aim is to just very briefly introduce the idea of everyday situations.

Listening & Speaking everyday expressions

SMART COMMUNICATION There are many everyday situations where we react automatically, using a set expression. Learners of English need to learn these chunks of language, together with their sound pattern (stress and intonation), so they can react quickly as they would do in their mother tongue. Note that in this lesson, students are only taught to say Yes, of course in response to a request. This is because saying no politely is more complex!

Exercise 1a 3.21

- Refer students to illustrations 1–8. Go through them in order and drill each expression.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask students to read responses a–h and try to match them to the illustrations (before they listen).

- Play track 3.21 and ask students to listen to the eight conversations and match the responses to the expressions in the illustrations.
- Play the track again for students to check their answers.

ANSWERS

1 a 2 g 3 f 4 e 5 h 6 c 7 d 8 b

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.21

- 1
A After you.
B Oh, thanks.
- 2
A Atishoo!
B Bless you!
- 3
A Tea?
B Yes, please.
- 4
A Thanks very much.
B You're welcome.
- 5
A Excuse me. That's my seat.
B Oh, I'm so sorry.

- 6
A Excuse me. Where's the toilet?
B Sorry, I don't know.
- 7
A Can I sit here?
B Yes, of course.
- 8
A Sorry I'm late.
B That's OK. Don't worry.

Exercise 1b 3.21

- Play track 3.21 again for students to repeat.

Exercise 1c

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to practise the conversations. Student A starts.

PRONUNCIATION Students may have difficulty producing the consonants in Excuse me /ɪk'skju:z mi:z/ and the /θ/ sound in thank you/thanks. Spend extra time drilling these expressions, either before they begin the exercise or when doing error correction.

- Monitor carefully and note any pronunciation errors.
- When students have finished conversation 8, stop the exercise and do error correction with the class.
- Start the exercise again, with Student B starting this time.

Exercise 2 3.22

- Teach the adjective polite by pointing to the illustration with Thanks very much or translate into L1 if appropriate.
- Ask students to look at the information about understanding polite intonation. Read it aloud to the class and use hand gesture to indicate the changing pitch of the voice when intonation goes up and down.
- Play track 3.22 to model the examples, using hand gestures to indicate rising and falling intonation. You could also model them yourself. The important thing is that students hear the wide range of ups and downs in polite intonation. You could also ask students to copy this, using the example conversation.

Exercise 3a 3.23

- Tell students they are going to hear four expressions and have to decide if the speaker is polite or not. Play track 3.23 for students to listen to the expressions and tick the correct boxes. Pause after the first one (the example) and elicit what makes it polite then play on to the end.
- Students can compare answers in pairs. Then play the track again, pausing after each expression to elicit the answer.

ANSWERS

1, 2 and 4 – polite; 3 – not polite

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.23

- 1 Oh, sorry.
2 Thank you very much.
3 Sorry, I'm late.
4 Can I sit here?

Exercise 3b 3.23

- Ask students to read the responses in exercise 1a again. Then play track 3.23 again so students can choose the correct responses.
- Play the track one more time, pausing to elicit the response after each expression.

ANSWERS

1 b 2 e 3 b 4 d

Exercise 4

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box to read all the expressions and corresponding responses.
- Help students to make different everyday expressions by writing the following extra endings on the board and eliciting which of the expressions they could be used in:
... the station?, ... don't understand, ... use your pen?, ... pen (Where's the station?/Sorry, I don't understand./Can I use your pen?/That's my pen.).

- Put students into small groups of three or four. Ask them to practise by saying an expression and then saying the name of one of the other students in the group. The nominated student responds correctly. Point out that they can use the endings from the board as well as in the Language for speaking box.
- To begin with, students can refer to both columns in the Language for speaking box. Then after they have practised most of the expressions, ask them to cover the response column and respond from memory.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Students practise in pairs as above, but they start by saying a response. Their partner has to say what the first expression is.

STUDY TIP You could encourage students to make their own cards for revision of language learnt in their lessons. These everyday expressions are a good lexical set to demonstrate this study technique. Give students eight pieces of paper or card. On the front of each card they write one of the first expressions and on the back of the card they write the response. Then at any time, they have a handy way to test themselves.

Reading & Writing a social media message

Exercise 5a

Text summary: A social media message from Eva to her friend Nula, telling Nula about her holiday in London.

- Point to the social media message. Establish/elicit that it is from Eva to her friend Nula. Ask students to read questions 1–4 then read Eva's message to answer the questions.

EXTRA CHALLENGE For fast finishers, you could write an extra challenge on the board: Find five adjectives in the text. (Answers: great, expensive, nice, small, big)

- Check answers by eliciting full sentences. Also elicit adjectives from students who have done the Extra challenge. Check understanding by asking questions, e.g. What is expensive?

ANSWERS

- 1 She's in London.
- 2 She's with Sunil.
- 3 She's there on holiday.
- 4 It's in Kensington, near the city centre.

Exercise 5b

- Point out the small numbers 1–4 in Eva's social media message and ask students to read items a–d. Demonstrate how to match the numbers and items: point to number 1 in the message and ask Which item is number 1? (d).
- Students could compare answers in pairs before you check with the class.

ANSWERS

a 3 b 4 c 2 d 1

Exercise 6

- Put students into pairs to read the message and complete it. This will probably not take very long.
- Elicit answers from the class. Check they understand which items from exercise 5b match numbers 1–3 in the message (1 and 2 start the message, 3 ends the message). Elicit which part of the message says where the person is and why and also which part describes the place.

POSSIBLE ANSWERS

1 Hi, Hello 2 I hope you're well 3 Write to me soon

Exercise 7a

- Refer students to the Language for writing box. Read out the information and examples. Tell them that nice is a positive idea. Elicit that near the city centre is also a positive idea. Elicit that not near the city centre is a negative idea. Give two more examples and ask if the ideas are similar or contrasting, e.g. London is nice, but it's cold. Our hotel is cheap and our room is big.

Exercise 7b

- Point to the but words in bold in Eva's message.
- Do the example together. Ask students to look at the sentence about London and elicit the contrasting ideas.
- Ask students to find the ideas in the other but sentences.
- Check answers together.

WATCH OUT! Knowing how to use and and but depends on understanding when ideas are similar or contrasting, and even at this level you may find students have different opinions. For example, it's unlikely, but possible, that a student may think a small flat is nice. Be aware of this and elicit whether the ideas are similar or contrasting just to check students are all thinking the same way.

ANSWERS

for a conference/on holiday great city/expensive city nice flat/small flat

Exercise 7c

- Ask students to read the sentence about Sunil's sister and find and. Tell them to find the two ideas in this sentence. Elicit that they are similar.
- Ask students to find two more sentences which contain and, and find the two ideas. Check answers together.

ANSWERS

Sunil's sister is in London./Sunil's sister has got a flat in London.

Eva and Sunil are in a hotel in Kensington./Eva and Sunil's room is big.

Their hotel has a great restaurant./Their hotel is near the city centre

Exercise 8a

- Put students into pairs to read sentences 1–5 and discuss which word (and or but) is needed to complete them.
- Elicit answers from some pairs. Ask them if the ideas are similar or contrasting.

ANSWERS

1 but 2 but 3 and 4 but 5 and

Exercise 8b

- Look at the example together. Ask students to read the sentence beginning and the two possible endings. Elicit that the two ideas in the first sentence are similar, so we use and, while the two ideas in the second sentence are contrasting, so we use but.
- Put students into pairs to make sentences for 2–4.

EXTRA SUPPORT You may need to give some ideas to weaker learners, e.g. 2 cheap/expensive 3 two sons/no sons 4 I like it/it's hard.

- When students have finished, put two pairs together. Tell them to read their sentences to each other, but when they get to and or but, they make a noise instead then finish the sentence normally. Demonstrate with the example sentences, e.g. It's a nice hotel BEEP it's cheap. (Basically this is an oral 'fill the gaps' exercise.) The other pair decide if the missing word is and or but.
- Invite some pairs to say their sentences to the whole class, either with a noise, so the class can say the missing word afterwards, or just say the whole sentence aloud.

EXTENSION Ask students to write three more sentences which contain two ideas with and or but. These sentences can be about their own lives, people and places they know. Check and correct any errors as they write.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to write two contrasting ideas and two similar ideas for their partner to make into a sentence with and or but. You will need to monitor carefully that the pairs of ideas are appropriate.

Exercise 9a

- In pairs, students work on this creative task together. Tell them to think of another country and imagine they are there. Then ask them to read the prompt questions and think of answers. It is a good idea for them to write down their ideas. Demonstrate yourself by thinking of a country and answering the first three questions, e.g. I'm in Africa. It's great. I'm on holiday.
- Allow plenty of time for students to think of ideas. Monitor and help any pairs who are struggling.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into pairs to write a social media message using their ideas from exercise 9a.
- Refer them to the text in exercise 6 (or in exercise 5a if they are a strong group). Elicit what is needed in a social media message by referring students to the items in exercise 5b. Remind students to practise using and and but in their message.

- Allow plenty of time for students to do this exercise. Monitor and correct errors as you see them. Point out opportunities for students to add clauses to sentences using and or but, e.g. if they have written It's great here, prompt them to find a contrasting idea to add, e.g. but it's hot.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Fast finishers can be encouraged to check their writing carefully for mistakes and then add two more pieces of information.

Exercise 9c

- Direct each pair to swap their writing with another pair and allow time for students to read it. Ask students to compare this social media message with the one they wrote and find similarities and differences.
- Invite a number of pairs to say what is the same and different as in the example.

3.5 Video

A gadget-free life

Presenter Today, around 4.7 billion people have got a mobile phone and almost 2 billion people have got a smartphone. Twenty-five per cent of people have got a laptop. And around 6% of people have got tablets! And lots of people have got all three. But some people haven't got all these things. Christopher Jenkinson is from Oxford, in the UK. He's thirty and he's an artist. Christopher's friends have all got smartphones and tablets. But Christopher hasn't.

Christopher I haven't got a computer, a tablet or even a television. I've only got a phone. I've got a lovely flat near the centre of Oxford. It's big and I've got my office here. It's a really nice workspace ... with no computers! Just my desk, paper, pens, pencils and notepads. It's very quiet in here – it's great! I'm at my desk a lot. But I've also got other interests. I've got lots and lots of books. Old books, new books and my favourite – comic books! I haven't got a television, so in the evenings I often see my friends. We eat ... we chat ... and we sometimes play games. It's great fun.

I often go out on my bike, too. I haven't got a car, but that's OK - Oxford has got great cycle routes and lovely parks. My friends have all got smartphones and tablets and they think I'm a bit strange because I haven't got those things. But everyone is different. I've got everything I want – a great job and fantastic friends. I'm very happy with my gadget-free life!

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1b

- 1 Oxford in England   2 thirty   3 He's an artist.
4 No, it's an office at home   5 Yes, very happy.

Exercise 3a

- 1 a smartphone   2 Twenty-five per cent
3 Six per cent   4 hasn't got   5 hasn't got, has got 6 a flat   7 is   8 comic books   9 hasn't got 10 have got

Exercise 3b

a desk, pens, paper, pencils, books (old and new), comic books, notepads

Review

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 3.24

Exercise 1

- 1 Stefan Hell's a clever man.
- 2 Birdman's a funny film.
- 3 Vienna's a nice city.
- 4 My neighbours are lovely people.
- 5 Morocco's a friendly country.
- 6 Is teaching a hard job?

Exercise 2

- 1 I've got a new bicycle.
- 2 They've got a small house.
- 3 It's a cheap laptop.
- 4 He isn't a poor man.
- 5 This coffee is cold.
- 6 It's a bad restaurant.
- 7 It's a sad film.
- 8 His father is very old.

Exercise 3

- 1 Have 2 haven't 3 's 4 got 5 hasn't 6 's
- 7 Have 8 haven't 9 haven't 10 hasn't 11 haven't
- 12 We've

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.25

1

- A Have you and Fred got pets?
B No, we haven't. But my mother's got nine cats.
A Nine?! Has she got a big house?
B No, she hasn't. It's a small house, but it's got a garden.

2

- A Have your parents got a car?
B No, they haven't. We haven't got cars in our family.
I haven't got a car, my brother hasn't got a car and my parents haven't got a car.
A What transport have you got?
B We've got bicycles.

Exercise 4a

	Number 34	Number 38
People in the house	Four	Six
People's jobs	Charlie – waiter, Linda – nurse	University students
Pets	A dog	No

Exercise 4c

- 1 Charlie's 2 Charlie and Linda's 3 The children's
- 4 Caleb's

AUDIOSCRIPT 3.26

Our house is at number 36 Judson Street. We've got neighbours at number 34 and number 38.
Our neighbours at 34 are called Linda and Charlie. Charlie's a waiter in a restaurant. Linda's a nurse, but she's at home now because they've got two young children. They've got a dog, too – Benji. Our neighbours at 38 are university students. Six people live in the house. But they haven't got any pets. They love our street and they're very friendly.

Exercise 5a

- 1 d 2 a 3 b 4 f 5 c 6 e

Exercise 6a

- 1 well 2 in 3 a 4 is 5 are 6 's 7 and

4.1 About me

Goals

- Use present simple positive with common verbs
- Talk about your life

Lead-in

- Write Barack Obama on the board and ask Where's he from? What's his job? Elicit answers from the class and teach any words they need: He's from the USA. He's a politician. Write January 2009–November 2016 on the board and ask Job? to elicit or teach president. You could mark the word stress and drill pronunciation of the new words: president /'prezɪdənt/, politician /,pɒlə'tɪʃən/.

Reading & Grammar present simple positive

Exercise 1

- Point to the photos and read out the question. Elicit the answer from the class.

ANSWER

b brother and sister

Background note: Barack Obama's wife, Michelle Obama, is famous and students may have seen photos of her. She is a lawyer and writer.

Exercise 2 4.1

Text summary: A text about the lives of Barack and Auma Obama, giving details which include home, family, job and free-time activities.

- Tell students they are going to find out about the lives of Barack Obama and his sister. Point to the categories and check they understand home as the place where you live.

WATCH OUT! Help students understand the difference between the same and similar. Write two number 5s on the board and say the same. Write a number 5 and a number 6 on the board and say similar. You could also write a number 5 on the board and a very different number, e.g. 352, to elicit different. Note that same is almost always preceded by the, so it's a good idea to teach this as a phrase.

- Play track 4.1 and remind students to read as they listen to the text. Allow plenty of time for students to find the similarities and differences.
- They can compare answers in pairs before you check as a class. Elicit information in each of the categories and whether it is similar or different.
- Students may want to know the meaning of charity /'tʃærəti/. Teach it by giving examples of international charities (Oxfam, International Red Cross, International Red Crescent) or one local to where they are studying English. They also might not know comics (show a real example or picture) and abroad (in/to a different country).

ANSWERS

Parents: They've got the same father, but different mothers.

Children: Auma has got a daughter. Barack has got two daughters.

Home: Auma lives in Kenya and Barack lives in the USA.

Job: They both want to help people.

Exercise 3a

- Elicit that the highlighted words in the text are verbs. You could check that students know a verb is an action word.
- Students match the verbs and illustrations. Do the first one together, e.g. a What is this country? (Kenya) Which verb in the text is about Auma Obama and Kenya? (lives).

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers before you elicit answers from the class. Write the verbs on the board in a list. Model the pronunciation and drill the list in a fun way. Chain drill around the class first, then randomly. Students could nominate a person to say the next verb in the list.

EXTENSION Ask students to test each other on the verbs in pairs. One student points to an illustration and their partner says the corresponding verb. Make the students do this faster and faster, to increase the element of challenge and do as much practice as possible in a short time.

ANSWERS

lives a teaches g goes f plays d reads e watches c likes b

Exercise 4a

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box. Point out that the verbs are missing in the sentences and ask them to read the text again to find them. Read out the example sentence and say that study is the correct form of the verb after I.
- Allow time for students to work alone to complete sentences 2–4. Monitor and assist any struggling students, checking they are using the correct form of the verbs.

Exercise 4b

- Put students into pairs to compare answers. Then check answers together by eliciting from different students.
- Go through the forms of some of the verbs. Write read books on the board. Start with I and elicit the correct form from the whole class. Then do you, etc. until they. Praise if they remember the -s ending for he, she and it.
- Do the same with study and elicit the spelling for the third person singular form (studies). Refer students back to point 3 in the Grammar focus box if necessary.
- Finally, do the same with watch TV. Elicit the spelling for the third person singular (watches) and refer students back to the Grammar focus box (point 2).
- This kind of mechanical drilling technique is useful for some students who learn by hearing and speaking aloud.

WATCH OUT! Make sure students read the note about have at the bottom of the Grammar focus box so they don't try to use the rules and say he haves. Remind them that, like be, have is irregular. Also remind them that they know this verb well from Unit 3 where they used have got to talk about possession. Refer students to she has a daughter in the second line of the text in exercise 2. Explain that you can also say She's got a daughter and both are correct.

ANSWERS

1 study 2 have 3 plays 4 works

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p122. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 5

- Ask students to read sentences 1–6 and complete them with the correct verbs. They may need to refer back to the text.
- Ask fast finishers to check their work carefully, especially to make sure they have the correct ending for each verb.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you check with the class. Elicit the pronoun in each case, i.e. Barack is he so we need to add -s. You could also ask How do you spell that? to check they remember the notes in the Grammar focus box.

ANSWERS

1 reads 2 teaches 3 have 4 likes 5 has 6 live

Pronunciation present simple with he/she/it

Ask students to read the information about how we say the endings of verbs for he/she/it forms.

Exercise 6a 4.2

- Play track 4.2 and ask students to listen to the three sounds and the verb endings.
- Play the track again, pausing after each sound and verb for students to repeat.
- If you can, model the sounds so students can see the position and movement of the mouth and copy it. To help students understand the difference between /s/ and /z/, ask them to hold their voice box between finger and thumb as they say these sounds. When they say /z/, they should feel vibration of the voice box, but not for the sound /s/. Elicit what happens with /ɪz/ (vibration).

EXTENSION Ask students to practise saying the verbs in pairs. They take turns to point to one of the verbs in the table and their partner says it aloud.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to say the sentences in exercise 5. Monitor and note any errors with the pronunciation of the verb endings. Correct together.

Vocabulary & Speaking common verbs

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to read phrases 1–9 and elicit what kind of word is missing in each one (verb).
- Students use the verbs in the box to complete the phrases. Do the first one together as a demonstration.

WATCH OUT! In this exercise, students are using the infinitive of the verbs and do not need to change them. Some may find this confusing, but point out that there are no pronouns in these phrases.

Exercise 7b 4.3

- Play track 4.3 and ask students to listen to the phrases and check their answers. Then play the track again, pausing after each phrase to elicit the verb.

ANSWERS

1 live 2 study 3 go 4 work 5 play 6 like
7 teach 8 watch 9 read

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.3

- 1 live in Kenya/live in a flat
- 2 study at a school/study English
- 3 go abroad/go to Italy
- 4 work for a charity/work in an office
- 5 play basketball/play the violin
- 6 like comics/like cars
- 7 teach young people/teach English
- 8 watch TV/watch films
- 9 read newspapers/read books

Exercise 7c

- Read out the example. You could elicit more words and phrases which follow live (e.g. other countries, buildings, cities). Students then work in pairs to think of words or phrases for the other verbs.

EXTRA SUPPORT Do another verb together as a further example. Elicit words/phrases which follow study (at university, Russian, etc.).

DICTIONARY SKILLS If students want to express something specific which they don't know in English yet, refer them to a good bilingual dictionary to find the correct word or phrase. Check these new words carefully to make sure they have found what they want to express.

- Elicit ideas from the class. If students use words which some of the class don't know, teach the new words. Example words/phrases which they could add: 3 other countries, places they go on holiday 4 other workplaces (e.g. school, shop, hospital) 5 more sports (tennis, football) or musical instruments (the piano) 6 things (animals, French food, art) 7 other subjects (German, sport, music) 8 sport, DVDs 9 magazines, comics, blogs.

Exercise 8

- Write one true and one false sentence about yourself on the board, e.g. I like tennis. I read newspapers. Explain that one is true and one is false (remind students what these words mean if they have forgotten). Ask the class to decide which sentence is false, and confirm the answer.
- Ask students to write two true and two false sentences about themselves using the verbs in exercise 7a. Monitor carefully to ensure their sentences are correct.

EXTRA SUPPORT Weaker students could do the exercise in pairs and write sentences which are true and false about them as a pair, e.g. We ...

- When students have finished, put them into pairs (or put two pairs together) to read their sentences to each other and decide which are true and which are false. Read the example conversation aloud to demonstrate.
- Invite some students with interesting sentences to say them to the class to guess which are true and which are false.

EXTENSION You could make this into a mingle activity to maximize student speaking practice. Students move around the classroom saying their sentences to several students, each of whom decides which sentences are true and false. If the class is too large to have a whole class mingle, you could divide students into groups of 6–8.

Exercise 9a

PRONUNCIATION Students meet the verb live and also the noun life /'laɪf/ in this lesson. Write I live in France. He lives in Turkey. on the board. Drill the pronunciation. Write My life. Their lives. Elicit that these are nouns. Point out that the plural of life is lives /'laɪvz/ which looks like the 3rd person singular of the verb lives /'lɪvz/, but the pronunciation is very different. This is a confusing point, so try to be clear!

- Ask students to read the prompts. Demonstrate the exercise by finishing some of the prompts to give information about your life. If necessary, teach or elicit the meaning of the phrase in my free time which is used in prompt 5.

EXTRA SUPPORT Allow students thinking and planning time. Encourage them not to write too much, however, as the aim is speaking practice.

- In their pairs, students use the prompts to tell each other about their lives. Ask them to try to remember what their partner says. They can take notes if appropriate.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into new pairs to tell their partner about the person they talked to in exercise 9a. Ask a student to read out the example before they start.

FEEDBACK FOCUS This exercise checks that students remember to change the endings for the verbs in the 3rd person form (he/she). Focus on this and make a note of any errors. Write these on the board at the end of the exercise and elicit corrections.

Exercise 10

- Read out the example. Ask students to think about their own lives and those of students they have talked to and heard about, and find similarities and differences.
- Give students a moment to think about what to say. Then elicit similarities and differences from some of the students. Praise good use of and and but which they learnt in Unit 3 for similar and contrasting ideas.
- Alternatively, to give more students the opportunity to talk, divide the class into groups of 7–8 and ask them to share the similarities and differences they found.

EXTRA ACTIVITY For homework, students could think of a friend or person they know well and find similarities and differences between their own life and their friend's life. Ask them to write 3–4 sentences and remind them to use and/but.

Reading skills understanding verb phrases

Go through the information. Refer students back to the text about the Obamas and ask them to look at the highlighted verbs and the noun phrases that come after them, e.g. lives in Nairobi and teach young people from poor families.

Exercise 1

- Ask students to look at the nouns and phrases in a–f. Elicit meanings or teach any words they don't know.
- Use the example to demonstrate the exercise before students work alone to complete it.

- Go through the answers together by saying a verb and eliciting the matching noun/phrase.
- Drill the verb phrases so students hear that the main stress falls on the verb and the noun. (The main focus of this lesson is reading skills, however.)

ANSWERS

1 c 2 d 3 a 4 e 5 f 6 b

Exercise 2

- Use the example to show how to find the verb first (goes) and then the 'longer idea' that follows (to the cinema).
- Students find the verb phrases in sentences 2–6.
- Elicit the answers from the class. Teach the meaning of some of the new words: golf, cinema, weekend.

ANSWERS

1 goes to the cinema	4 plays golf
2 watch a lot of films	5 teaches maths
3 studies English	6 like music

Exercise 3

- Point to the photo and ask Are they sisters? (yes). Teach the noun twins. Tell students that these twins are Giorgia and Valentina and they are going to read about their lives.
- Ask students to read questions 1–5 and then read the text to find the answers.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you check with the class, asking students to give you the full sentences, e.g. Giorgia lives in Milan.

ANSWERS

1 Giorgia lives in Milan.
2 Giorgia works in a hospital.
3 Valentina studies music.
4 They like sport and music.
5 Valentina plays tennis and she goes to the beach.
Giorgia reads books and watches TV.

4.2 Journeys

Goals

- Use the present simple negative
- Talk about journeys

Lead-in

- Write journey /'dʒɜːni/ on the board and drill the pronunciation. Draw a quick picture of a house on one side of the board and a building on the other. Label them home and work. Point at home, motion across the board and end at work and say My journey to work. Between the two buildings write twenty minutes. You can point to your watch or a clock to help them understand minutes.
- Say My journey takes twenty minutes and drill the phrase. Say it one more time and add And you? Encourage strong students to say how long their journey takes.

Vocabulary & Speaking transport

Exercise 1

- Closed book. Write transport on the board and start a spidergram by adding car.
- Put students into pairs to discuss all the forms of transport they know in English. After a few minutes, elicit words and add them to the board.
- Ask students to open their books and look at the infographic to see whether the pictures help them think of any more transport words.

Exercise 2a

- Read out the words in the box. Point out that some are nouns and some are verbs. Elicit or teach ferry as students may not have thought of this word in exercise 1. Add this and any other nouns to the spidergram on the board.
- You can make a separate section for transport verbs on the board, too. Teach meanings if you think students may not know them. You could mime walking and elicit the forms of transport you can drive (car, bus, train) and which form of transport cycle refers to (bicycle).

PRONUNCIATION Drill all the transport nouns and elicit where the word stress falls. It is good to continue to emphasize the importance of word stress and get students into the habit of thinking about this when they learn new words, e.g. bus /bʌs/, ferry /'feri/, motorbike /'məʊtəbaɪk/, train /treɪn/, car /kɑː/, bicycle /'baɪsɪkl/.

- Ask students to read sentences 1–7 and look for the missing information in the infographic. Demonstrate by using the example: they find 35% in the infographic and look at the picture of the form of transport it refers to.

Exercise 2b 4.4

- Play track 4.4 and ask students to listen to the sentences to check their answers.

ANSWERS

1 drive 2 train 3 walk 4 cycle 5 ferry
6 motorbike 7 bus

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.4

- 1 35% of people in London, in the UK, drive to work.
- 2 A lot of people in Switzerland go to work by train. Over 2,900 trains go through Zurich station every day.
- 3 In the USA, 4 million people walk to work or school.
- 4 In Copenhagen, Denmark, 36% of people cycle to work, school or university.
- 5 In Sydney, Australia, 17% of people go to work on public transport. Some people go by ferry.
- 6 A lot of people in Vietnam go to work by motorbike. Hanoi has 3 million motorbikes.
- 7 In São Paulo, Brazil, 6 million people go by bus every day.

Exercise 3

- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to test each other (by saying the cities/countries and the corresponding transport). Refer them back to the sentences in exercise 2.
- Demonstrate the exercise with a strong pair using the example conversation. Then prompt B to say the next city (In Zurich) and A to respond (they go to work by train).
- Monitor this pair work and make sure students are taking turns. Note any pronunciation problems.

! Point out that we use go + by + form of transport to talk about how we go to work, university, etc.

Exercise 4

- Put students into small groups. Refer them to the example conversation to show them what to do.
- When all students in each group have had an opportunity to speak, conduct class feedback.

EXTENSION Ask students to raise their hands for the form of transport they use. Keep a note of approximately how many hands go up as you say each of cycle, drive, walk, go by train, go by bus, go by motorbike (and go by ferry if this is appropriate for the place where you are) and write the numbers and forms of transport on the board. Help students make sentences using ... people in this class with percentages or a lot of.

Listening & Grammar present simple negative

Exercise 5a 4.5

- Ask students to read the five names and the transport information a–e. Then play track 4.5 and ask students to listen to the people and match each person with the form of transport for their journey to work/university.
- Play again, pausing after each person to elicit the answer.

ANSWERS

1 b 2 d 3 e 4 a 5 c

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.5

C My name's Christina. I live in Copenhagen and I cycle to work. I don't go by bus because my house is fifteen minutes from my work.

P My name's Pedro and I live in São Paulo with my brother. We drive to work in his car. We don't like buses – they have too many people.

T My name is Tai. I'm a student in Hanoi. I don't drive to university. I don't have a car. I go by motorbike. Motorbikes are very cheap here.

C My name is Candice. We live in Johannesburg in South Africa. I walk to work. But my husband James works in Pretoria. It's 70 kilometres to Pretoria. He doesn't walk to work. He goes by train.

Exercise 5b 4.5

- Ask students to prepare by reading sentences 1–4. Explain that they need to listen to the people and circle the correct word/number from the two which are given.
- Play track 4.5 again for students to complete the exercise.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you elicit the answers from the class. If many students have made mistakes, play the track again and pause after each answer to give them another chance to hear the words.

ANSWERS

1 fifteen 2 buses 3 car 4 seventy

Exercise 6

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to complete the sentences using the sentences in exercise 5b. Monitor and assist where necessary. Remind students that they are looking for contractions.
- Elicit answers from the class and write them on the board. Underline the s in doesn't and point out that in the present simple positive form he, she and it need to have s added to the verb. It may help logical students to see that in the negative form we also need s (this time in the auxiliary verb do). Make it clear that the main verb does not change by pointing to the infinitives in the Grammar focus box.

PRONUNCIATION Drill the contractions don't /'dəʊnt/ and doesn't /'dʌzənt/ a number of times as individual items. Then add a verb in each case, e.g. don't drive, doesn't work, and drill the short phrase. Students may notice that the final /t/ is not pronounced when the word is followed by a consonant sound. Finally drill the full sentences in the Grammar focus box (using whichever pronoun you choose).

ANSWERS

1 don't 2 doesn't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp122–123. There are three more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to use the Grammar focus box to help them make the verbs in 1–6 negative. Demonstrate by eliciting how to change the first verb (don't). You could ask Why don't and not doesn't? (because the pronoun is we).
- Allow enough time for students to change the sentences. Monitor and assist struggling learners by asking them to identify the pronoun in the sentence and look it up in the Grammar focus box.

WATCH OUT! Students may concentrate so much on getting the correct form of the auxiliary they forget to make sure it is followed by the infinitive, leading to mistakes such as The city doesn't has good buses. Be careful to point this out and correct it, either as you monitor or with class after the activity if many of them have made this mistake.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask fast finishers how they could make sentence 5 negative if it was Pedro and Raquel, not just Pedro.

Exercise 7b 4.6

- Play track 4.6 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers. If necessary, elicit just the answers after students have listened to the track to ensure none have been missed. To further check understanding you could ask questions about these negative sentences, e.g. In sentence 4, why is it don't not doesn't? (because the trains are plural, so the pronoun is they).
- Play again for students to repeat the sentences.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 4.6

- 1 We don't work near the centre.
- 2 Christina doesn't live in New York.
- 3 The city doesn't have good buses.
- 4 The trains don't go to Essex Road.
- 5 Pedro doesn't go to work by bus.
- 6 I don't like old ferries.

Exercise 8a

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the Communication pages and ask them to look at the photo of Sun-Hee on p39 and read their information about her.

Exercise 8b

- Make sure students understand they have to change Sun-Hee's first person information (I) into 3rd person (She) and make the necessary changes to the form.
- Students take turns to tell their partner the information they have about Sun-Hee. Monitor and note errors with present simple positive and negative and correct at the end.

EXTENSION Ask fast finishers to write down as much information as they can remember that their partner told them about Sun-Hee. Then they check by turning to their partner's page and reading the information.

Exercise 8c

- Students change Sun-Hee's information so it is true for their own life and journey to work, using negatives as well as present simple positive in their sentences.

EXTRA SUPPORT Weaker students may need preparation time and may prefer to make some written notes before they talk to their partner.

- Allow plenty of time for students to talk to their partner. Ask them to listen carefully to the information about their partner's journey and try to remember what they say.
- Make a note of any errors, especially with present simple negative forms.

Exercise 9

- Put students into new pairs. Ask them to take turns to say what they remember about their first partner's journey.
- When students have finished, elicit any interesting information they found out about other students.
- Write any errors relating to the present simple tense on the board and elicit corrections.

Listening skills understanding positive and negative contractions

Ask students to read the information about contractions as you read it aloud. Elicit that n't is a contraction of (not).

Exercise 1

- Ask students to read the contracted words and find all the negatives. If necessary, go through the first word together. Elicit that it is negative.
- Monitor and refer any struggling students to the sentence which says Negative contractions end in n't.
- Elicit answers and drill the negative words: aren't /ɑːnt/, doesn't /'dʌznt/, hasn't /'hæznt/, isn't /'ɪznt/.

EXTRA CHALLENGE For each negative word, elicit which pronouns it can be used with (aren't – you/we/they, doesn't – he/she/it, hasn't – he/she/it, isn't – he/she/it). Then elicit other negatives students know, or give them yourself and the pronouns they can be used with (don't – I/you/we/they, haven't – I/you/we/they).

ANSWERS

aren't doesn't hasn't isn't

Exercise 2 4.7

- Play track 4.7 and ask students to listen to the sentences and write the contractions they hear. Pause after each contraction to allow time for students to write. You could do the first sentence together as an example. Elicit that the contraction is 's (my brother's).

- Students can compare answers in pairs before you elicit answers from the class. Write them on the board and underline the n't endings for the negative contractions.

ANSWERS

- |                    |                     |
|--------------------|---------------------|
| 1 's – positive    | 4 hasn't – negative |
| 2 isn't – negative | 5 don't – negative  |
| 3 's – positive    | 6 've – positive    |

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.7

- My brother's got a house near Vancouver.
- He likes the city a lot, but his house isn't in the city.
- He's a taxi driver and he loves it.
- He hasn't got a car.
- His children are nineteen and twenty-three, but they don't drive.
- They've got motorbikes.

Exercise 3 4.8

- Ask students to read the statements in the table. Then play track 4.8 and ask students to listen carefully to Ye-eun and tick the correct name for each statement.
- Put students into pairs to check and talk about their answers before you elicit answers from the class.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Put students into pairs and ask them to write a negative sentence for the statements in the table. Do an example together: Bon-hwa doesn't live in South Korea. Elicit the sentences from the class.

ANSWERS

Ye-eun		Bon-hwa
✓	lives in South Korea	✗
✓	is a student	✗
✗	works in a restaurant	✓
✗	has got a car	✓
✓	goes to the university by bus	✗
✗	goes to the beach	✓
✗	is happy	✓

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.8

My name's Ye-eun. I live with my parents in South Korea. My brother Bon-hwa doesn't live with us. He lives in Australia. I'm a student at university. Bon-hwa isn't a student. He's a chef in a restaurant. He's got a nice flat and a car. I haven't got a car. I go to the university by bus. At the weekend I study, but Bon-hwa goes to the beach. He's very happy in Australia. I want to go abroad, too!

4.3 My day

Goals

- Ask present simple yes/no questions
- Talk about your day

Lead-in

- Bring in a real example of a calendar /'kælɪndə/ and a diary /'daɪəri/ to teach these words. Show the objects and say the words. Write the words on the board, then drill pronunciation and elicit and mark the word stress.
- Ask Have you got a calendar? Have you got a diary? and elicit some short answers (Yes, I have/No, I haven't).

WATCH OUT! The word agenda exists in English but is used for a list of matters to be discussed at a meeting. It isn't a synonym for diary.

- Pointing to the calendar or diary, teach week and write it on the board. Ask How many days are in one week? Elicit the answer (seven) and write day on the board. Drill pronunciation of day and week.
- If you think students may be ready, you could ask What day is it? You could point to today's date on the calendar. Praise anyone who can give the correct answer, but if nobody can, tell them they are now going to learn the English words for days of the week.

Vocabulary & Listening daily activities

Exercise 1a 4.9

- Play track 4.9 and ask students to listen to the days of the week and write them in the calendar. Play again for weaker students, pausing to allow time to write.
- To check the answers, point to the calendar and elicit the days from the class. At this point, don't worry if they don't pronounce them perfectly.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 4.9

Monday Tuesday Wednesday Thursday Friday
Saturday Sunday

Exercise 1b 4.9

- Play the track again and ask students to listen to the days and repeat. Encourage them to count how many syllables each day has and mark the word stress in their notebooks.

EXTRA CHALLENGE You could also start a chain drill around the class, stopping and reversing the direction frequently to keep the level of interest and attention high.

PRONUNCIATION Students commonly mix up Tuesday /'tju:zdeɪ/ and Thursday /'θɜ:zdeɪ/ (probably due to similarities in spelling). Demonstrate the different sound at the beginning and the difference in the vowel sounds. Wednesday /'wenzdeɪ/ can also be difficult. Make sure students realize it is a two-syllable word. Drill these more than the other days if necessary. It is also a good idea to point out similarities in pronunciation. In this case, you could highlight that Monday /'mʌndeɪ/ and Sunday /'sʌndeɪ/ have the same vowel sound.

Exercise 2

- Ask students to read questions 1 and 2. Teach the word favourite /'feɪvərɪt/ using the example. Translate into L1 if appropriate. Drill pronunciation.
- Tell a strong student to ask you question 2 so you can give another example to help students know how to do the exercise, e.g. I don't like Friday. I am tired.
- Put students into groups of three or four to take turns asking and answering the questions.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask students about other people in their group, e.g. Jan, what is Petra's favourite day? (If necessary, remind them to use the correct pronouns: his/her, he/she.)

Exercise 3a 4.10

- Write daily activities on the board. Point out daily is the adjective from day, meaning that we do these things every day. Refer students to the illustrations of daily activities.
- Play track 4.10 and ask students to listen to the verbs and repeat them. Listen carefully for any errors and drill any phrases students are finding difficult.

Exercise 3b

- Demonstrate by saying the second part of one of the phrases (emails) and asking which verb is needed (check). Elicit the whole phrase. Do another example if necessary.
- Put students into A/B pairs to do the activity. Monitor and ensure students swap roles.

EXTENSION Give a quick written test. Tell students to write numbers 1–10 down the side of a piece of paper. Explain that you will say part of a phrase and they need to write the whole phrase, e.g. finish – finish work. Remind them not to shout out, only write. Keep a note yourself of the parts of phrases you say. Check the answers together at the end.

EXTRA ACTIVITY (This is for students who benefit from physical movement, but may not be appropriate for all classes.) Put students into small groups. Ask each person to act out one of the daily activities for other people in the group to guess. Demonstrate by acting out one activity yourself and eliciting the phrase.

Exercise 4

- Ask students to read the instruction and the question. Teach the adjective surprising. You could draw a surprised face on the board or act a surprised expression yourself.
- Students read the profile to answer the question.
- Elicit the answer from a strong student. Also elicit that CEO is a good job (see background note) and explain that her business is connected with money (investment management). Check students understand hobbies by giving examples from the text about the Obamas in 4.1 exercise 1 or about the twins in 4.1 Reading skills section.

ANSWERS

She has nine children and is CEO of a company.

Background note: CEO is the acronym for Chief Executive Officer. This is the highest level manager in a company.

Exercise 5a 4.11

Audio summary: An interview with Helena Morrissey, a company CEO and mother of nine. She gives information about her routine.

- Ask students to read the instruction. Elicit how many things to write down (three). Play track 4.11 through once and ask students to listen to Helena. The track is quite long so students will probably need to listen a second time to catch and write down three things.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you elicit from the class. Remind them to use she and the correct form of the verbs for third person singular.

POSSIBLE ANSWERS

She has breakfast with her children.

She has dinner with her family.

She watches films with her family at the weekend.

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.11

I So, Helena. Do you get up early?

H Yes, I do! From Monday to Friday I get up at 5.00 a.m. and check my emails. My children get up at about 6.30 and we have breakfast.

I What time do you go to work?

H I leave the house at 7.30 and I go to work by train. I start work at 8.00 and I finish at about 6 p.m. I get home at about 6.30.

I Do you have dinner with your family?

H Yes, I do. We eat at about 7.30. After dinner I work again, and I go to bed at ten.

I Does your husband work?

H No, he doesn't because we have nine children! They are aged from two years old to twenty-one.

I Do they all live at home?

H No, they don't. Seven children live at home.

I Do you work at the weekend?

H Yes, I do. But on Saturday evenings I watch a film with my family. And we sometimes go out with friends.

Exercise 5b 4.11

Background note: In this lesson, students see the time references a.m. and p.m. for the first time. These refer to the Latin phrases ante meridiem, meaning before midday, and post meridiem, meaning after midday.

WATCH OUT! Students need to understand that a.m. means in the morning and p.m. means in the afternoon/evening and that we often don't say them (even if they are written), when the time period is clear and doesn't need to be stated, e.g. 10.15 a.m. is ten fifteen and 5.00 p.m. is five/five o'clock. When we do say them, we pronounce them like separate letters of the alphabet: a.m. /eɪˈdʒem/, p.m. /piːˈdʒem/.

- Ask students to read sentences 1–8. Point out there are different options to choose from in each sentence.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students can try to remember and underline the correct options before they listen again.

- Play track 4.11 again and ask students to choose the correct options in the sentences.

EXTRA SUPPORT With a weaker group, elicit the first answer by pausing the track after emails. Continue to play the track, but pause before the interviewer each time to allow time for students to process what they have heard.

Exercise 5c

- Put students into pairs to compare answers. Elicit answers from the class to ensure they are all correct. Encourage students to say the full sentences, including the underlined words, as this will help them with pronunciation.

ANSWERS

1 check my emails 2 children 3 train 4 get home
5 7.30 6 work again 7 work 8 go out

Exercise 6

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the communication pages and ask them to spend two minutes reading their profile. Tell them to think about how to say the words and the times as they will need to tell their partner this information.
- Ask all Student As to raise their hand. Drill the name of their person and the city where she lives: Rachna Bhatnagar /rʌtʃiˈnɑː/ /bʱʌtˈnɑːgər/, Trivandrum /trɪˈvændrəm/. Do the same for Student B's information: Marton Szentkiralyi /ˈmɑːrtɒn/ /ˈsentkɪrɑːli/, Debrecen /ˈdebretsen/.

EXTRA SUPPORT Drill fifteen /ˈfɪfˈtiːn/ and thirty /ˈθɜːtɪ/ a few times with the class to help them say the times easily.

- Student A starts by telling Student B the information about the person in their profile. Student B reads the four times and listens carefully to find out what the person does then.

EXTRA SUPPORT Elicit how to start giving the different pieces of information. Read the example about jobs. Then say For talking about her home, start with 'She ...', and elicit lives in. Do the same for family, eliciting that they need the verb be (She is ...). For times, remind them that we use at and elicit the first sentence She gets up at ...

- When Student As have finished, ask Student Bs if they heard the information they needed. If they didn't, they can say the times to elicit the information, e.g. Student B: 6.15 a.m.? Student A: She has a shower at 6.15 a.m.
- Then Student B talks about the person in their profile and Student A completes the listening and writing exercise.
- Monitor the activity carefully to note down any errors, e.g. correct form of the verb (third person singular), missing words or mispronouncing words. At the end, write errors on the board and ask students to think about and correct them in their pairs. Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

Student A: 6.45 a.m. – check emails 6.30 p.m. – finish work 8 p.m. – play with children 11 p.m. – go to bed
Student B: 6.15 a.m. – have a shower 7.30 a.m. – start work 5.15 p.m. – get home 9 p.m. – read a book

Grammar & Speaking present simple yes/no questions

Exercise 7

EXTRA ACTIVITY Put students into pairs and ask them to remember as much as they can about Helena Morrissey who they listened to in exercise 5a. Elicit ideas from the class.

- Ask students to read the questions and answers. Elicit what time early is for Helena Morrissey (5 a.m.) and ask Is 5 a.m. early for you? to check the meaning of early.
- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to complete it using the questions and answers to help them.
- Elicit answers from the class. Point out how the auxiliary verb do is necessary at the beginning of the questions and at the end of short answers. You could ask them to underline all the forms of do in the Grammar focus box.
- It is a good idea to point out at this stage that questions starting with Do or Does normally need a yes/no answer, unlike questions starting with question words such as Where, Who, which need more information.

ANSWERS

1 Do 2 Does 3 doesn't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p123. There are three more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 8a

- Show students how the exercise works using the example. Do the next sentence together as well. Point out or elicit that the first word in the question starts with a capital letter. When they give you Do, write it on the board. Then elicit the other words in order and write them up. Refer students to the Grammar focus box as you do this if necessary.
- Ask students to make questions 3–8. Monitor and assist any struggling students.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Invite students to write their questions on the board. Check these answers are correct and elicit any corrections.

! Point out that the auxiliary verb do changes according to the pronoun which follows, so we need to know who we are asking our question to or about before we begin and choose the correct form of do.

ANSWERS

- 1 Does she get up early?
- 2 Do her children get up at 5.00?
- 3 Does she have breakfast with her family?
- 4 Does she drive to work?
- 5 Does she work after dinner?
- 6 Do her children live at home?
- 7 Does she work at the weekend?
- 8 Do Helena and her husband go out with friends?

Pronunciation stress in present simple yes/no questions and answers

Exercise 9a 4.12

- Play track 4.12 and ask students to read and listen to the questions and answers and focus on the stress.
- Elicit what type of words are stressed in the questions (nouns and verbs). Point out that auxiliary verb do is not stressed in questions. Elicit which words are stressed in short answers (the verb do).

Exercise 9b 4.12

- Play track 4.12 again, pausing for students to repeat.
- If students are having difficulty placing the stress on the correct words, try back-chaining, e.g. weekend, the weekend, at the weekend, work at the weekend, etc. Make sure you emphasize the correct words to show the stress.

Exercise 9c

- Put students into A/B pairs. Ask them to read the questions in exercise 8a again and think about the answers, remembering what they heard about Helena Morrissey. They can make a note of the answers. If they can't remember, refer them to the information in exercise 5b.
- Students practise the questions and answers with their partner. Monitor and check they are stressing the correct words. Make sure students swap roles after question 4.

Exercise 10a

- Put students into A/B pairs to practise the example conversation. Tell them they are going to continue the conversation using the verbs in the box. Ask them to prepare by writing a question for each daily activity in the box. Assist any pairs who are finding this difficult. Remind them to ask some time questions, e.g. Do you ... at 7 a.m.? They can look at the questions in exercise 8a to give them ideas, but remind them they need to use I and Do you ...?
- Ask Student A to start (by using the example if they wish) then monitor students' conversations and encourage them to ask questions about all the activities in the box. They will need to remember what their partner says or you could ask them to make notes about their partner's day.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into new pairs and ask them to practise the example conversation. Draw attention to the form of do in the question and short answer: does/doesn't for 3rd person singular (he/she).
- Tell students to ask and answer questions about their first partners. Monitor and if one student in a pair is dominating, ask them to ask questions and encourage the other student to give extra information in their answers.
- Note any errors with making questions and short answers, specifically using the correct form of auxiliary verb do.

Exercise 10c

- Ask students to think of the two students whose daily activities they found out about and find one thing which is the same and one which is different. Read the example sentence aloud to the class as a demonstration.
- Allow time for students to remember what they heard and/or look at any notes they have written. Elicit sentences from each student. If the class is too big for whole class feedback like this, divide into smaller groups of 6–8 and ask each group member to feed back to their group only.
- Monitor students' sentences closely. If they are in groups, note any excellent sentences for whole class feedback.
- Correct any errors by writing them on the board and eliciting corrections from students.

Vocabulary verb + noun phrases

Exercise 11a

- Refer students to the Vocabulary focus box. Explain that it is useful to learn these words together as phrases because we use them so often like this. You could read all the phrases aloud so students hear the word stress.

WATCH OUT! In verb + noun phrases, we usually need an article (a/an or the), but there are a few exceptions which students need to learn, e.g. have breakfast/lunch/dinner NOT ~~have a breakfast~~.

Exercise 11b

- Demonstrate the exercise by writing three sentences of your own on the board, e.g. I have a ___ at 7 a.m./I go to ___ at 11 p.m./I get ___ at 5.30 p.m. Elicit student guesses of the second part of the phrases.
- Ask students to write three sentences like yours using phrases with get, go and have. Point out that they can also write about people they know, e.g. My brother ..., and that they need to use the third person form of the verb for these sentences (has, goes, gets). Monitor and tell students to write clearly as another student will read their sentences.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask strong students or fast finishers to write two more sentences.

Exercise 11c

- Put students into pairs and ask them to read the example conversation. Make it clear that they need to guess their partner's missing words.
- Invite some students to come up to the board and write one of their partner's sentences with the gap. Elicit from the class the word(s) needed to complete each sentence.

EXTENSION Ask students to write a list of five words for family members, e.g. wife, daughter, etc. Ask them to include one plural family word, e.g. grandparents. Put students into pairs and ask them to swap lists. They choose three of the words and write a true sentence with a gap for each word they've chosen, as in exercise 11b, e.g. My sister gets ___ at 6 p.m. They can use transport words as well as time, e.g. My parents go ___ by car. Students read their partner's sentences and guess the missing words.

4.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Ask for things in a shop
- Write an informal email

Lead-in

- Write bookshop in large letters on a tent card and put it on the desk in front of you. Put several books on the desk to make a bookshop. Hold up a book and say This is a good book and invite a strong student up to 'buy' it. Clearly say the price, e.g. It's five euros, and mime selling the book to the student and taking the money.
- Write You buy a book from a bookshop on the board and point to the verb buy /'baɪ/ as this is a word they need for this lesson. Write shop assistant /'ʃɒp ə,sɪstənt/ and customer /'kʌstəmə/, too. Point to yourself and say shop assistant, and to the student who 'bought' the book and say customer. Drill the words on the board.

Listening & Speaking in a shop

Exercise 1a

- Ask students to look at the photos and find the bookshop. Elicit the number (2). Then ask students to read the names of the other shops and match them to a photo.
- Check the answers together and drill all the words. You could write them on the board and elicit the number of syllables and word stress: pharmacy, department store, electronics shop, bookshop.

ANSWERS

Photo 1: department store

Photo 2: bookshop

Photo 3: pharmacy

Photo 4: electronics shop

Exercise 1b 4.13

- Ask students to look at the list of items. Elicit which is the right shop to buy vitamins in (pharmacy). Do the same with an umbrella and a tablet.
- Tell students they are going to hear four different people shopping. Play track 4.13 and ask them to listen to the conversations and write the number of the person next to the thing they want to buy.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 an umbrella 2 nothing 3 vitamins 4 a tablet

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.13

1

C Excuse me. Do you have any umbrellas?

SA Yes. They're over there, near the window.

C Great. Thank you.

2

SA Can I help you?

C No, thanks. Just looking.

3

SA Is that everything?

C No, I need vitamins, too.

4

C How much is this tablet, please?

SA It's £75.

C OK. I'll take it.

Exercise 2a

- Point to the conversations under the photos in exercise 1a. Elicit that C is customer and SA is shop assistant.
- Ask students to read the customer sentences a–f and use them to complete the conversations. Elicit the first answer from the class as a demonstration.

Exercise 2b 4.13

- Play track 4.13 again for students to check their answers. Pause between the conversations to check all students have the correct answers.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 e 3 a 4 f 5 d 6 b

Exercise 2c

- Choose a strong student to be the shop assistant, and act out all four conversations in front of the class.

EXTRA SUPPORT When you, the teacher, act out conversations, this benefits the students as you can add body language/visual cues to aid understanding, such as nodding for OK, I'll take it, shaking your head for No thanks, and perhaps a shrug of the shoulders for Just looking.

- Put students into A/B pairs to practise the conversations. Monitor for any pronunciation problems. You will be able to address these in exercise 6a by drilling the phrases.
- At this stage, students may have questions about the meaning of phrases such as Is that everything?, I'll take it and Just looking. Help them to understand the meaning using gesture and, if appropriate, L1 translation.

Exercise 3 4.14

- Write dollars, pounds, cents, euros, pence on the board. Elicit that these are all money words and we sometimes need to use them when saying prices. Drill all the words.
- Refer students to the Understanding ... box and ask them to read the information carefully. Elicit that we use the currency word with one number, e.g. $10 = ten dollars, but if we say two numbers, we often don't say the currency word, e.g. £9.99 = nine ninety-nine. Also point out that we need to remember to use plurals, e.g. dollars, pounds.

WATCH OUT! Like the word children, pence is an irregular plural noun, e.g. ten pence. We don't add s. The singular is a penny. (Refer students to 3.1 exercise 4a to review plural nouns if they are confused.) Encourage students to keep a list of irregular nouns which they can add to.

- Play track 4.14 and ask students to listen to the examples. Then play it again and ask them to repeat the prices.

PRONUNCIATION Make sure students are saying the two-number prices clearly. It is important to put equal stress on each number. You could say prices where there is not enough stress on the first or second number and explain how this makes it difficult to understand. Then model the prices correctly.

Exercise 4a 4.15

- Say an example price for the students, e.g. It's thirty-seven fifty, and elicit that there are two numbers 37 and 50.
- Play track 4.15 and ask students to listen out for the prices and circle how many numbers they hear. Pause after number 1 to check students understand what to do and have circled the correct answer.
- Play the track again, pausing after each price to elicit whether it is one or two numbers.

ANSWERS

1 two 2 one 3 two 4 two

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.15

1 OK. That's €6.49, please.

2

A How much is this phone, please?

B It's £96.

3 It's a very expensive café. A cup of coffee is £5.75.

4

A How much are these, please?

B They're $24.90.

Exercise 4b

- Play track 4.15 again, pausing after each conversation to allow time for students to process the number(s) and write the prices.
- Go through the answers by inviting students up to write the prices on the board. Correct any errors.

ANSWERS

1 €6.49 2 £96 3 £5.75 4 $24.90

Exercise 5

- Elicit or teach the question students need to find out prices: How much is/are ... ? Write How much is this laptop? and How much are these apples? on the board. Drill these phrases to ensure natural pronunciation.
- Put students in to A/B pairs. Refer them to the Communication pages and tell them to read their instructions. Students then take turns to ask and answer about the prices of the items. They can write down the prices to remember them.

FEEDBACK FOCUS Monitor for errors in saying prices correctly as this is the main focus of the lesson. You should also make sure students are using singular and plurals correctly: It's ... / They're ...

- In class feedback, elicit which of their partner's items are expensive and which they think are cheap.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Remind students of their money limit (£20/$20) and ask them What do you spend your money on? Allow time for students to write down some items and do some maths and then ask them to share their list of items with a partner.

ANSWERS

Student A: 1 pens: They're £6.99 for three

2 a book: It's £5.69 3 apples: They're £2.59 per bag

4 an umbrella: It's £3.99 5 vitamins: They're £6.89

Student B: 1 a pizza: It's $4.50 2 DVDs: They're $5.35

for 20 3 apples: They're $2.20 per kilo

4 a pen: It's $2.49 5 a notepad: It's $3.89

Exercise 6a

SMART COMMUNICATION Students will see that we say please, thank you and thanks when we are shopping. Visitors to the UK and the USA often comment that we use these phrases more often than in their countries, so it is worth highlighting their importance and drilling pronunciation until it is automatic.

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box. Drill the phrases in the order they occur in the box as this is similar to how they are used in conversations. So drill Excuse me ... and then Yes, it's/they're ... Make sure students are using lively intonation and using sentence stress correctly.

EXTENSION Ask half the class to cover one side of the Language for speaking box and half to cover the other side. Give them an item (either singular or plural), e.g. pens. Conduct the first half of the class in Excuse me. Do you have any pens? and conduct the response from the other half Yes, they're over there. Continue with the other phrases. When you reach the yes/no responses, show students what to say with clear nodding or shaking of your head. If your class is too large to drill half at a time, this Extension will still work in pairs where one student covers one half of the box and their partner covers the other. If there is time, swap the two roles.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to take turns to be the customer and shop assistant and ask and answer about the items in the box (Student A asks about laptops and notepad; Student B asks about nothing and pens). Refer them to the Language for speaking phrases and remind them to start each conversation with Excuse me.
- Monitor conversations carefully and do error correction at the end. You could invite confident pairs to act out their conversations to the class.

EXTENSION Put students into new pairs. Ask them to take four real objects from their bags and put them on the desk. Students take turns to be shop assistant and customer. They use the Language for speaking phrases to buy two of the things.

Reading & Writing an informal email

Exercise 7

Text summary: Two informal emails between friends; Anastasia and Angelo. They make arrangements for Anastasia's visit.

- As a lead-in, you could write on the board Do you get work emails? Do you get emails from friends and family? Put students into pairs to ask and answer.
- Explain that students are going to read emails between two friends: Anastasia and Angelo. Point to the heading an informal email and check they understand that informal means for friends and people you know well.
- Ask students to read sentences 1–4, then read the emails to find out if the sentences are true or false. Allow plenty of time for students to read and process the information.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask fast finishers to change any false sentences to make them true.

- Elicit answers from the class. Ask them to give the information that indicates the sentence is true/false, e.g. 1 F: She doesn't arrive in the morning. She arrives at 5.10 p.m.

ANSWERS

1 False 2 True 3 True 4 True

Exercise 8a

- Write some punctuation symbols ( , , ' ? ! ) on the board. Elicit or teach the words for them and write them on the board next to the relevant mark.
- Find the first three punctuation marks in the emails together and circle them as examples. Allow time for students to find the rest of the punctuation marks.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you check with the whole class.

ANSWERS

Hi Angelo

I arrive at Ninoy Aquino International Airport at 5.10 p.m., but I don't have your address. Does the bus go to your house? How much is a ticket?

Thanks.

Anastasia

Hi Anastasia

Thanks for your email. The airport bus doesn't go to my house, but it goes to the hotel near my house – the Bignay Hotel. You buy your ticket on the bus. It's not expensive. Call me when you get to the hotel. My mobile phone number is 09817 3329 6400.

Can't wait to see you!

Angelo

Exercise 8b

- Refer students to the Language for writing (1) box and ask them to read the five sentence endings a–e. Check they understand the words in a–e. You may need to teach the meaning of at the end of and show strong feelings.

- Ask students to make the five punctuation rules. Refer them to the emails to see how the punctuation marks are used if they are unsure.
- Elicit answers from the class and write them on the board. Ask students to give examples from the emails where possible. For apostrophe, check students know which letters are missing (don't, it's). For exclamation mark, the example is Can't wait to see you!. Elicit what feeling this shows; if they can't remember adjectives, model sad and happy with appropriate expressions and ask them to choose the correct feeling.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 a 3 b 4 c 5 e

Exercise 9a

- Explain that students are going to read another email between friends and put the correct punctuation back into the email. Point out that the instructions state how many of each mark are missing.
- Allow plenty of time for students to do the exercise and remind them to refer to the Language for writing box.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into pairs to check they have used punctuation in the same way. Then go through the answers together. You could read the email aloud and ask students to shout Stop! when there is a missing punctuation mark. Elicit which mark is missing and then start reading again.

ANSWERS

Hi Marie

How are you? I'm in Australia now and I love it! It's very hot, but that's okay. I get to Sydney bus station tomorrow, but I don't know what time. My number is 0460 741 9935. What's your telephone number? Do I walk from the station to your house?

Can't wait to see you!

Jens

Exercise 10a

- Refer students to the Language for writing (2) box and ask them to read the phrases for informal emails.

WATCH OUT! Students may remember thank you and want to know if it has the same meaning as thanks. This is a good chance to show how informal English is often shorter than formal English even if the meaning is basically the same.

Exercise 10b

- Refer students to the email from Anastasia to Angelo. Explain that they, like Anastasia, want to visit someone and need to ask for information. Ask them to write a similar email to their partner to find out how to get to their house. Refer them to the Language for writing box for phrases.
- Monitor carefully as students write their emails. Assist weaker students: point out that they can use the words in the instruction, too, i.e. I want to visit you.
- You could put students into pairs to check each other's emails or to look for similarities between them.

Exercise 10c

- Ask students to give their email to their partner. They should read each other's email and write a reply. Remind them of the useful phrases in the Language for writing box.

DICTIONARY SKILLS Students may want to make their emails realistic but not know specific words. First, encourage them to explain to you what they want to say, but if necessary, tell them to use a bilingual dictionary.

- You could display the sets of two emails around the class so that everyone has a chance to read other students' work. Alternatively, invite one or two pairs to read their emails aloud to the class.
- It is a good idea to collect the replies in order to mark them properly and return them the following lesson.

EXTRA ACTIVITY If you think it is appropriate, ask students to exchange email addresses with two or three classmates or you could set up special email addresses for language work only. Encourage students to send a short informal email to another student in the class once a week.

4.5 Video

A day in the life of a journalist

Portia Hi I'm Portia Agney. I'm a journalist. I live in Chinatown in New York City.

Presenter Portia gets up at about six o'clock. She checks her e-mails and reads the news. After that she has a shower, gets dressed and has some breakfast. She doesn't have a big meal. She has some fruit with yoghurt or she has cereal with milk. At about 7.30, she starts work. She works for a big news company and they have offices all over the world. But she doesn't work in an office, she works at home. First she phones her boss – he lives in London – and they talk about the news. They decide on an interesting story and that's when her day really begins.

Portia OK, so I have an interview with a lawyer in two hours. It's about transport problems so it's a good story! OK I have my bag, my pen, my phone. Let's go!

Presenter New Yorkers know a lot about transport problems! It's a very busy city with a lot of traffic! Portia travels a lot for her job, but she doesn't go by car or by bus – she goes by bike. It's a great way to travel around New York and she doesn't need to park!

Portia Now I have all the information I need, it's time to go home.

Presenter When she gets home, Portia listens to her interviews and writes the story. Then, she sends it to her boss. After she finishes work, she cooks dinner and then reads or plays the guitar. She loves the guitar – it's a great way to relax. At the end of the day, Portia watches TV – but she doesn't watch the news!

Portia And that's my day. It's a hard job, but I love it! And every day is different! But now it's time for bed!

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

- 1 cook dinner   2 go by bike   3 have breakfast
4 listen to the news   5 play the guitar   6 write a story

Exercise 1b

- 1 have breakfast   2 go by bike   3 play the guitar

Exercise 2

- 1 False   2 True   3 False   4 False   5 True   6 False

Exercise 3b

- 1 six   2 news   3 home   4 London   5 story
6 transport   7 New York   8 listens   9 TV   10 loves

Review

ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 lives 2 have 3 works 4 studies 5 goes 6 has 7 watches 8 plays

Exercise 2a

1 ferry 2 drive 3 bus 4 walk 5 train 6 cycle

Exercise 3a

1 g 2 e 3 a 4 f 5 b 6 d 7 c

Exercise 4a

1 do 2 get 3 do 4 is 5 Do 6 don't 7 works
8 does 9 works

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.16

1

A What time do you get up?

B I get up at 8 a.m.

A That's late. When do you start work?

B At 9 a.m. But my work is very near my house.

2

A Do you work at home?

B No, I don't. But my husband works at home.

A What job does he do?

B He works for a newspaper. He's a journalist.

Exercise 5a

1 8 p.m. 2 finishes 3 5 a.m. 4 bed 5 2 p.m.
6 breakfast 7 school 8 gets 9 dinner

AUDIOSCRIPT 4.17

A Where do you work?

B I work in a car factory.

A What time do you start work?

B I work nights. I start at 8 p.m. and finish at 4 a.m.

A Wow! When do you go to bed?

B I get home at 5 a.m. and I go to bed at 7 a.m.

A What time do you get up?

B I get up around 2 p.m.

A 2 p.m.? What do you then?

B I have breakfast and I then I go to my daughter's school.

Her school finishes at 3 p.m. Then we walk home together.

My wife gets home at five and we have dinner together.

Exercise 6a

1 b 2 d 3 a 4 e 5 c

Exercise 7

1 . 2 ' 3 , 4 ' 5 . 6 ? 7 . 8 . 9 !

5.1 Clothes style

Goals

- Use adverbs of frequency
- Talk about clothes

Lead-in

- Write clothes on the board and point to what you're wearing. Tell students it is a plural noun and drill the pronunciation /kloʊðz/. Teach or elicit two useful verbs which collocate well with clothes: buy and wear. Write the collocations on the board: buy clothes, wear clothes. You could also teach the verb phrase go clothes shopping.
- With a strong group, you could elicit some information about students' clothes-shopping habits. Write two sentences on the board and say them out loud: My favourite clothes shop is Gap. I go clothes shopping with my sister. Elicit similar sentences from some students by asking And you? Ask them to copy the main part of each sentence and change the name of the shop and the person they shop with. Prompt if necessary: your friend/ husband/wife/children?, etc.
- The words and phrases in this lead-in are all used several times in the lesson.

Reading & Grammar adverbs of frequency

Exercise 1

- Use the photos to convey the meaning of type, and model the pronunciation for students to repeat /taɪp/. Then drill the adjectives for the four different types: sports /spɔ:tɪs/, smart /smɑ:t/, casual /'kæʒuəl/, fashion /'fæʃən/.
- Model how to form an answer to the question in the instruction: I wear casual clothes and sports clothes.
- Put students into pairs to tell each other about their clothes types. Elicit answers from some students about them and their partner. Encourage full sentences, e.g. I wear sports clothes. He wears smart clothes. Remind them to use -s for the third person singular verb form (he/she) if they forget.

Exercise 2a

Text summary: A magazine article about four different types of clothes, together with comments from three readers.

- Point to the first paragraph of the text and ask students to read it to find the answer to the question. Elicit the full answer from one student.
- You could check that all students understand different by asking What is the opposite? (the same). Students should remember this from Unit 4, but if necessary, show them three identical items, e.g. three blue pens, and elicit the same. Then show two different items to elicit different.

WATCH OUT! Drill pronunciation of different /'dɪfrənt/ as we say this with only two syllables, though students may think it has three.

ANSWERS

Most people wear different types of clothes at different times.

Exercise 2b

- Ask students to read questions 1–5. Teach the verb enjoy /ɪn'dʒɔɪ/, which is in question 1.
- To understand the comments by Hussain, Philip and Sophie, students need to know the meaning of I like, I love and I don't like. You could write these phrases down one side of the board, with I love at the top, I like a little further down and I don't like nearer the bottom. Illustrate I love with a heart. Use facial expressions or draw faces on the board to convey the meaning of all three phrases.
- Ask students to read the three comments in the text and match each person to questions 1–5. They will need to write some names more than once.

EXTRA SUPPORT In some cases in this exercise, students need to work out the answers, not just find the sentences in the comments. You could put them into pairs so that they can help each other.

- Elicit the answers from the class as full sentences.

EXTRA CHALLENGE It is beneficial to encourage students to find justification for their answers in a reading text, e.g. Sophie always enjoys clothes shopping is similar to I love shopping for clothes.

ANSWERS

1 Sophie 2 Philip 3 Hussain 4 Philip 5 Hussain

Exercise 3a

- Write the highlighted sentence in Sophie's comment on the board: Jenny's clothes are always amazing. Elicit that amazing is an adjective and that Sophie is saying something very nice about Jenny's clothes.
- Refer students to the Grammar focus box. Read out the adverbs of frequency and encourage students to look at the percentage lines to help them understand the meanings.
- Ask students to use the questions in exercise 2b and the sentence on the board to help them choose between before/after in the sentence near the end of the box.
- Go through the answers. To help students understand the rule about where adverbs of frequency come, elicit the verbs in the questions in exercise 2b (enjoy, buy, wear, go, wear). Elicit that before each of these verbs there is an adverb of frequency. Then refer students to the example sentence from the text on the board. Elicit that are is the plural form of the verb be. This shows that the adverb of frequency comes after be (Jenny's clothes are always ...).

ANSWERS

1 before 2 after

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p124. There are three more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 3b

- Pre-teach the adjective exciting which students will read in sentence 1. You may need to give a simple example situation, e.g. It's my holiday on Saturday. It's exciting. Mime the feeling if appropriate. Write exciting on the board, mark the stress and drill pronunciation /ɪk'saɪtɪŋ/.
- Ask students to read sentences 1–6 and add an adverb of frequency in the correct place. They can choose from any of the adverbs in the Grammar focus box. Remind them to look at the percentage lines to remember the meanings.

EXTRA SUPPORT Ask students to underline the verb in each sentence before they add an adverb, to help them use the rule in the Grammar focus box.

- Monitor and check students are using adverbs in the correct place. Help them correct any mistakes.

Exercise 3c

- Put students into pairs to read each other's sentences and check that the adverbs are in the correct place. Ask them to compare the meaning of the sentences and find ones where they agree and ones which are very different.

EXTENSION Ask students to decide if the sentences in the Grammar focus box are true or false for them. If a sentence is false, they make it true by changing the adverb. Put students into pairs to compare their sentences. A stronger group could add extra information, e.g. I usually buy my own clothes. (extra information: My wife sometimes buys my clothes.)

Vocabulary & Speaking colours and clothes

Exercise 4a 5.1

- Ask students to look at the colours. Play track 5.1 and pause after each colour for students to repeat.

EXTENSION Bring objects to class which are each of the eight colours. Put the objects on the students' desks and tell them to hold up one object at a time. Ask questions, e.g. What's this/that? What colour is this/that? This revises this/that from 2.1. (Use some plural items if you wish to revise these/those.) Then, put students into pairs to ask and answer What colour is this/that? about your objects or about objects from their bags or around the classroom.

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.1

yellow, green, red, brown, blue, white, grey, black

Exercise 4b

- Highlight the examples and then give your own. Tell one student to ask you the first question. Give a clear answer using the sentence starters in the example. Tell another student to ask you the second question and again give a clear answer to model the exercise, e.g. My laptop is black.
- Put students into pairs and ask them to take turns to ask and answer the questions.

FEEDBACK FOCUS There may be many kinds of errors here as students try to express themselves. Monitor for any pronunciation mistakes related to the colours. Save any other errors for correction after exercise 4c.

- Elicit sentences from some students. Model and drill the colour adjectives with the class. You could do this by holding up the object which is that colour.

Exercise 4c

- Put two pairs together to form groups of four. Ask students to think of two things for each colour. Monitor and assist with any new vocabulary they need.
- Elicit things from the class. Teach any new vocabulary or with a strong group, encourage peer teaching. Students could come and draw the items on the board. Limit this new lexis to eight words or so.
- Conduct error correction of mistakes noted in exercise 4b, e.g. using possessive s or the verb be. Elicit corrections from students as far as possible.

Exercise 5a

- Put students into pairs and refer them back to the four photos in exercise 1. Ask them to point to the clothes and say the colour words to each other.
- Ask students to read description 1. They may not know the clothes vocabulary, but ask them to use the colours to help find the matching photo. Elicit the answer from one pair.
- In their pairs, ask students to match descriptions 2–4.

Exercise 5b 5.2

- Play track 5.2 for students to check their answers. Pause after each description and elicit answers.
- Students may need further clarification of top. This is a rather unspecific word for a piece of clothing worn on the top part of the body. You could point to examples of tops students are wearing, e.g. a T-shirt.

WATCH OUT! Trainers and shoes are obviously countable. You can say one trainer, two trainers. Trousers and jeans are always plural and we don't use an article or a number before them. You can't have a jeans or two jeans. You have to say a pair of jeans. Point this out as it is likely to be different to how the word is used in many other languages.

ANSWERS

1 C 2 D 3 B 4 A

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.2

- a A man in a yellow T-shirt, black trousers and white trainers. A woman in a grey top and a grey hat.
- b A man in a blue jacket and trousers and a blue shirt. A woman in a red dress.
- c A man in blue jeans and a green jumper. A woman in a red top and blue jeans.
- d A man in a green jumper and brown trousers. A woman in a black top, a grey skirt and black shoes.

Pronunciation word stress: clothes

Exercise 6a 5.3

- Ask students to read the clothes words in the box. Refer them to the word stress table and model the one- and two-syllable word examples.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Put students into pairs to say the words to each other and decide which have two syllables before they listen to the audio track.

- Play track 5.3 and ask students to listen to the words and categorize them as one syllable or two syllables in the table.

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.3

dress hat jacket jeans jumper shirt shoes skirt top trainers trousers T-shirt

Exercise 6b 5.4

- Play the track again for students to check their answers, pausing after each word for students to repeat.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 5.4

One-syllable words: dress, hat, jeans, shirt, shoes, skirt, top
Two-syllable words: jacket, jumper, trainers, trousers, T-shirt

Exercise 6c

- Put students into A/B pairs. Ask one pair to act out the example conversation to show the class what to do. Then students take turns to name the people and say the clothes.
- Monitor and note problems with pronunciation of the clothes vocabulary. Conduct error correction with the class, modelling and drilling any difficult words.

Exercise 7

- Refer students to the example conversation. If necessary, demonstrate yourself by describing one of the students' clothes, e.g. He has black jeans. Ask Who is he? If they can't guess, describe another clothes item on the same person, e.g. He has a white shirt.
- Put students into small groups of 3–4 to do the exercise. Monitor and encourage them to take turns.
- Elicit descriptions from two or three students and ask the class to guess the person.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to write their name on a piece of paper. Collect the pieces of paper. Put students into pairs and randomly give out the pieces of paper, two names to each pair. Students work with their partner to write three sentences about each of the two people whose names they have. They mustn't use the name of the person, only he or she. Monitor and correct any mistakes. (Stronger students can write more than three sentences about each person.) When they have finished, give each piece of writing to a different pair, who read it and identify the two students.

Reading skills and, but, because

- Ask students to read the information and the example sentences. Point out that the sentences with and and but connect two pieces of information. The important thing to notice is that the first piece of information in the second sentence is I like and the other piece of information is I don't like. These are different so the connector is but.
- To highlight the use of because, read out I don't drive to work ... then ask Why? Continue with ... because I haven't got a car and say that this is the reason why.

Exercise 1a

- Ask students to read the beginnings of the sentences. Tell them to think about what type of information comes next in the sentence, e.g. after because in sentence 1 there is a reason (why she lives in the city).

EXTRA SUPPORT Check students understand what type of information comes next for all the sentences by eliciting from the class (1 a reason 2 more information 3 different information 4 more information 5 different information 6 a reason).

- Give students a moment to think about what comes next in each sentence then ask them to find the correct ending a–f. Elicit the first one as an example if necessary.

Exercise 1b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Check answers by eliciting them from some students.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 a 3 f 4 c 5 b 6 e

Exercise 2a

- Tell students they are going to read about two people who love fashion. Ask them to read questions 1–6 first. If necessary, explain writer in the first question.
- Students read the text to find the answers to the questions. Allow plenty of time for students to read as it is the longest text they have read so far. Encourage them to write full answers so that they use and, but or because, e.g. The writer likes clothes in London because ...

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare answers. Pair a stronger student with a weaker one so that they can help if the weaker student hasn't found the answer or has made a mistake.
- Check answers as a class by eliciting from the pairs. As you go through the answers, elicit that the Why? questions have answers with because. Also elicit the two pieces of information in answers with and, and the two pieces of different information in answers with but.

ANSWERS

- 1 Because they are different.
- 2 They like old clothes.
- 3 David wears his grandfather's old clothes – cowboy shirts and leather jackets.
- 4 She likes fashion from the 1950s and 1960s.
- 5 She works in a clothes shop and she's a clothes designer.
- 6 Their clothes aren't expensive, but they look great.

5.2 Amazing architecture

Goals

- Ask Wh- questions
- Talk about a building you like

Lead-in

- Write the title of the lesson on the board. Elicit which word is an adjective (amazing) and which is a noun (architecture). Elicit that amazing is a very positive adjective (students know this word from 5.1). You could draw steps and write amazing on the top step and good a few steps lower, to show that amazing is much stronger.
- Ask students to look at the photos in the book. Elicit or teach that these are two buildings and that architecture is about buildings. Ask Where are these buildings? to engage them in the topic. Don't confirm any guesses at this stage as students will find out the information very soon.

Vocabulary & Listening adjectives

Exercise 1

- Ask students to read the adjectives in the box. You may need to teach modern and unusual as these are new.
- Put students into pairs to choose adjectives for the buildings in the photos. Elicit some adjectives from the class.

Exercise 2a 5.5

Audio summary: Two different conversations about the buildings in the photos. One person asks questions and the other provides details about the function, location, design and opening hours.

- Ask students to read the factfiles. Check they understand the categories, especially function (what people do in the building), design feature (special thing about it/different thing) and opening times (when you can visit).
- Play track 5.5 and ask students to listen to the conversations and complete the factfiles. Play the track again, pausing at regular intervals, i.e. after person A, to allow time for students to process what they have heard.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Then play the track again, pausing after the missing information to elicit answers from the class. Elicit or teach the verb to dance and demonstrate dancing if necessary!

EXTENSION Ask students which building they like and why. If necessary, remind them that the question Why ...? asks for your reasons and you can answer starting with because.

ANSWERS

1 Germany 2 football 3 colour 4 6.00 5 office
6 people 7 10.00

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.5

1

- A My favourite building is in Munich in Germany.
B What's its name?
A The Allianz Arena.
B What do people do there?

- A They play football. It's a football stadium.
B And why do you like it?
A Because it changes colour – red, then blue, then white. Different teams play football there. It's red when the Bayern Munich team play and blue when 1860 Munich play.
A When does it change to white?
B It's white for the German national team.
B That's amazing. When is it open?
A It's open from ten a.m. to six p.m. every day.
2
B My favourite building is the Dancing House in the Czech Republic.
A Where is it?
B It's in Prague.
A What do people do there?
B They work there. It's an office building. But people eat there, too.
A Oh? Where do they eat?
B There's a restaurant on the top floor.
A Why do you like it?
B Because it's an exciting design. It's like two people dancing.
A When is it open?
B The restaurant is open from 12 midday to 10 o'clock at night.

Exercise 3a 5.6

- Ask students to read the summary of the conversation about The Allianz Arena. Then play track 5.6 and ask students to listen to the conversation and underline the correct words. Play the track again if necessary.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Monitor and check that their answers are correct. If necessary, play the track again for students to check one final time.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 different 2 red 3 blue 4 white

Grammar & Speaking Wh- questions

Exercise 4a

- Put students into pairs. Ask them to use the question words in the box to complete the questions in the four extracts from the conversation about The Dancing House.

EXTRA SUPPORT Students first saw What and Where in 1.3. Elicit that these words are used to ask about things and places. Write time and reason on the board and elicit which of the other two question words matches them (time – When, reason – Why).

Exercise 4b 5.7

- Play track 5.7 and ask students to listen to the conversation and check their answers. Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 Where 2 What 3 Why 4 When

Exercise 5

- Ask students to read the Grammar focus box and complete it using question words in 1–4 and correct forms of the verbs in 5–6.
- Check as a class by eliciting the answers.

ANSWERS

1 What 2 Where 3 When 4 Why 5 is 6 do

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp124–125. There are three more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read the questions. Check they understand the adjective useful.
- Point out the example and elicit that it asks about place.
- Students complete the questions with the question words.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could tell students to use each question word twice. Also, to help them decide which questions are Why questions, ask them to find the questions which need an answer starting with because.

- Fast finishers could check their answers in pairs.

Exercise 6b 5.8

- Play track 5.8 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each question for students to repeat.

PRONUNCIATION Ensure students notice that the tone of the voice in these questions goes down. Play the track again to raise their awareness.

ANSWERS

1 Where 2 What 3 When 4 Why 5 When
6 What 7 Where 8 Why

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.8

- 1 Where do you live?
- 2 What is your favourite colour?
- 3 When do the shops close on Saturday?
- 4 Why do people like fashion?
- 5 When does your family eat dinner?
- 6 What music do you like?
- 7 Where do you buy your clothes?
- 8 Why is English a useful language?

Exercise 6c

- Put students into pairs to ask and answer the questions. Assist by helping with any vocabulary they need.
- Ask pairs to say one question and answer for the class.

Exercise 7a

- Do question 1 together as an example. Elicit which is the first word and why (Where – because it has a capital letter and because it's the question word). Refer students to the information in the Grammar focus box to help them decide on the order of the words and elicit the words one by one.
- Allow plenty of time for students to reorder the rest of the questions. Monitor carefully, noting any word order errors.
- Elicit the answers from the class. You could invite students to the board to write the questions. Elicit any corrections from the class to ensure they all have the correct questions.

WATCH OUT! Students may be confused by question 7 as it has the same verb twice (do). Focus attention on the structure of questions 1, 2 and 4 to show them that it is the same and the main verb is the second one.

ANSWERS

- 1 Where do you go on holiday?
- 2 When do you speak English?
- 3 Where is your house?
- 4 Why do you study English?
- 5 When is your birthday?
- 6 What clothes do you wear at work?
- 7 What do you do at the weekend?

Exercise 7b

- Put students into new pairs to ask and answer the questions. Ask them to remember answers which are the same.

EXTRA SUPPORT Students may take notes to help them remember their and their partner's answers in feedback.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask students to also remember at least one answer that is different.

- Conduct feedback as a class by eliciting some answers students have in common. Remind them to use we and our where necessary. They could also use and in these sentences, e.g. I like rock music and she likes rock music, too.
- From students who did the extra challenge, also elicit answers that were different to give students practice in using but, e.g. His favourite colour is blue, but I like green.

Exercise 8

- Tell students they are going to ask and answer questions about two more amazing buildings. Some of the names may be difficult to pronounce. Elicit the question to ask about spelling: How do you spell that? Drill it with the class (students learnt this question in 1.3).

EXTRA SUPPORT You could quickly revise the letters of the alphabet, too. Ask students to write down the letters (and check they have twenty-six of them). Then chain drill around the class or ask students to test each other in pairs by taking turns to point at different letters and say them.

- Divide the class into two halves: A and B. Refer students to the Communication pages and ask them to look at the photos and read their instructions.

DICTIONARY SKILLS In pairs or small groups, students use dictionaries or translators to help them understand unknown vocabulary in their information. Monitor and assist if the meaning is still unclear.

- You could elicit the questions students need to ask about the buildings: What's its name? Where is it? What is it? Why is it interesting? When is it open?
- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to ask and answer about the buildings in the photos. Monitor and note any errors, particularly making Wh- questions.
- When students have finished, they can check their answers by looking at their partner's page.
- Write any errors on the board and elicit corrections from the class. Also, correct any pronunciation errors together.

EXTENSION Referring to the photos, ask some students Which building do you like? Why do you like it? (Students will need to use because and probably some of the adjectives in exercise 1 in their answers.)

ANSWERS

Student A: 1 Royal Ontario Museum 2 Toronto, Canada 3 an art, science and history museum 4 old and new architecture, great for children 5 10.00 a.m. to 5.30 p.m.

Student B: 1 Heydar Aliyev Center 2 Baku, Azerbaijan
3 A museum, library and cultural centre 4 Amazing design by Iraqi-British architect, Zaha Hadid; it doesn't have any straight lines 5 10.00 a.m. to 11.30 p.m.

Exercise 9

- Ask students to think of a building they like. This can be in their own country or abroad and may be a building they have seen pictures of, read information about or visited. Allow time for students to think about the building and what they know about it. They can make notes, but this is a speaking exercise so discourage writing full sentences.
- In their pairs, students take turns to ask and answer questions about their building. Refer them to the example to show them what to do. Monitor and note any particularly interesting conversations. Ask these students to act out their conversations to the class.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Bring in or find on the internet images of some more interesting buildings from around the world. In pairs, students invent a factfile for one of the buildings. When the factfiles are ready, put two pairs together to ask and answer questions about their buildings.

Listening skills understanding chunks

- Read out the information about understanding chunks. You could draw bricks on the board or use Cuisenaire rods, Lego bricks or counters to demonstrate visually how individual words are grouped into chunks. Each individual piece represents one word but when put closer together in groups, they are a chunk. Ask students to look at the sentences in exercise 1 to see chunking.

Exercise 1 5.9

- Play track 5.9, pausing between the conversations, for students to try to hear the chunks. You could play it again, pausing after each sentence to drill with the class. The focus of the lesson is understanding chunks when listening, but saying these chunks may help reinforce the idea.

Exercise 2a 5.10

- Play track 5.10 and ask students to mark the chunks in the sentences. You could write the first sentence on the board and pause the track to elicit where students have marked the chunks, indicating this visually on the board.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students may like to try marking the chunks before they listen. They could do this in pairs.

- Play the track again if necessary. Chunking may be a new idea to many students, but it is important in understanding spoken English.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Then elicit answers from the class. Make sure they clearly show the chunks by pausing between them.
- You may need to indicate where the chunks begin and end yourself with pauses, and using your hands to mime where the brackets are. Alternatively, write the sentences on the board and mark the chunks visually or nominate students to come up and mark the chunks themselves.

ANSWERS

- 1 [I play football] [every Thursday.]
- 2 [What car] [do you drive?]
- 3 [They live] [next to the station.]
- 4 [I never wear] [blue jeans.]

Exercise 3a 5.11

- Pre-teach facilities and give or elicit examples, e.g. restaurant, parking.
- Ask students to read the instruction. Prepare them for the listening by asking checking questions: Is this one person or two people speaking? (two – it's a conversation) What is it about? (the Marina Bay Sands building) Where is it? (Singapore) What is the Marina Bay Sands? (a hotel) What information do you need to listen for? (the facilities).
- Play track 5.11 and ask students to listen to the conversation and write the answer to the question.
- Elicit the answer from the class.

ANSWER

It's got shops, restaurants, a swimming pool and a museum.

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.11

A Do you know this building?

B No, what is it?

A It's Marina Bay Sands in Singapore. It's a big hotel with shops and restaurants. And it's got a swimming pool on the top floor.

B Wow! It looks amazing.

A I know. Look, it's got a museum of art and science, too. Do you want to go?

B I don't know. It's very expensive.

Exercise 3b 5.11

- Ask students to read the sentences from the conversation. In each sentence one of the chunks is correct and they have to listen to the conversation and circle the correct one.
- Play track 5.11 again, pausing after the first sentence to elicit the answer (Do you know?). Continue playing for students to complete the exercise.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 Do you know?
- 2 What is it?
- 3 It's a big hotel
- 4 It's got a swimming pool
- 5 It looks amazing
- 6 museum of art and science
- 7 Do you want to go?
- 8 It's very expensive.

Exercise 3c

- Put students into A/B pairs. Ask them to turn to the audioscript on p140 and practise the conversation. Monitor and note any problems with chunking the sentences appropriately. Make sure students swap roles.
- Write on the board sentences which students divided incorrectly in terms of chunks. Elicit the correct chunking, model clearly and ask students to repeat.

5.3 Styles around the world

Goals

- Use the present simple
- Talk about body parts
- Talk about style and fashion

Lead-in

- Write style on the board and drill the pronunciation /stɑɪl/. Elicit or teach the meaning of the word (the way you do something; the design of something).
- Write some examples of style in a list down the left side of the board: style of clothes, style of architecture, lifestyle. On the right side, write in a vertical list: buildings, habits, jeans and top. Put students into pairs to match the styles with the words on the right (style of clothes – jeans and top, style of architecture – buildings, lifestyle – habits). Explain and elicit examples of habits if necessary to ensure students understand this word.

Reading & Grammar different styles

Exercise 1

Text summary: A text which gives information about people in four different countries and their customs in relation to clothes and fashion.

- Put students into pairs. Ask them to read questions 1 and 2 and the example answer in 1. Check they understand that etc. is short for et cetera, which means they can also talk about other topics related to style.
- Encourage students as they discuss, then elicit answers.

EXTENSION You could also ask Do you like the fashion style in your country? Why/Why not?

Exercise 2

- Refer students to photos a–d. With a strong group, you could elicit reactions to the photos: just adjectives would be enough, e.g. interesting, beautiful.
- Ask students to read the text and find the paragraph to match each photo. Allow plenty of time for students to read, but encourage them not to use dictionaries as they can match the photos even if they don't understand all the words.
- Elicit answers from the class. You could ask which words in the text helped them to decide.
- Finish by reading the two questions at the end of the instruction. Elicit opinions or put students into small groups to discuss first and then elicit their opinions. Encourage students to include because to introduce their reasons.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask questions about the texts to check understanding and help students prepare for the next exercise:

In paragraph 1, it says the women wear a shawl. Which object in photo d is a shawl? (show in the photo)

In paragraph 2, what is fake tan? (You use it to change the colour of your skin.)

In photo a, what is in the woman's hair? (A piece of wood – you could find something wooden to show the meaning of the word.)

What adjectives are similar to 'strange' in paragraph 4? (different, unusual)

ANSWERS

1 d 2 c 3 a 4 b

Exercise 3

- Ask students to read sentences 1–6 and then read the text again to help choose the correct options.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you check with the class.

ANSWERS

- |                         |                   |
|-------------------------|-------------------|
| 1 cold in their country | 4 China           |
| 2 trousers              | 5 No, they don't. |
| 3 white                 | 6 Japan           |

WATCH OUT! You might want to check that students understand the difference between don't always and never. Write they never wear shoes on the board and ask if it has the same meaning as the first sentence in paragraph 4. Elicit that don't always means that they sometimes wear shoes, but not all the time.

Exercise 4

- Ask students to read the verbs in the box. Point out that live and wear are main verbs, while the other words are auxiliaries. Explain that the numbers are to show them how many times to use each verb form.
- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to complete it using the verbs. Tell them to look at the sentences in exercise 3 to help. You could do the first one together as a demonstration. Elicit which verb goes with shoes (wear). Ask why it is wear and not wears to check they understand we don't add -s for the I/You/We/They forms of positive present tense verbs.
- When students have finished the exercise, check answers with the class by eliciting full sentences.

EXTENSION Use a substitution drill to give further practice of the grammar rules for the present simple: Write wear trainers on the board. Stand next to the phrase and say a pronoun, e.g. we. Then encourage all the class to say the sentence We wear trainers., using gesture like a conductor. Change the pronoun and repeat the choral eliciting of the sentence. Do this several times, ensuring that they use the correct form of the verb. Then do the same, but shake your head to indicate negative and elicit doesn't wear or don't wear according to your chosen pronoun. Use this method to practise questions and short answers, too.

ANSWERS

1 wear 2 lives 3 don't 4 doesn't 5 Do 6 Does
7 do 8 does 9 don't 10 doesn't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p125. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 5

- Ask students to read and complete sentences 1–4. Remind them to be careful about whether the sentence is positive or negative and to refer to the Grammar focus box.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you check with the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 does a Miao woman wear, puts
- 2 doesn't wear/does not wear
- 3 do Chinese women wear
- 4 don't like/do not like

Exercise 6a

- Put students into pairs and ask them to write questions about the text similar to 1 and 3 in exercise 5. Refer them to the prompts in the box to help them start their questions. Allow plenty of time for this exercise and ask students to write clearly (as other students will read their sentences).

- Monitor and assist pairs struggling to choose the topic of their questions. If necessary, point to things in the text that students could write questions about and elicit the question word they need to start: e.g. The Chola women of Bolivia wear big skirts ... – What do the Chola women wear?
- Check students' questions for errors and elicit corrections from the pairs as you monitor.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Fast finishers can write two more questions.

Exercise 6b

- Students swap their questions with another pair and read the new questions. Ask them to read the text again to find the answers. When they have finished, put the two pairs together to show each other their answers.
- Elicit some questions and answers from the class. Ask students to say the same if they wrote the same questions and answers.
- Correct any errors with the present simple tense forms you have read or heard by saying the incorrect sentence/question and eliciting the correction from the class. You could also praise any very good examples of questions.

Vocabulary & Speaking parts of the body

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to read the words in the box which are all parts of the body. Refer them to the text in exercise 2, which contains these body parts in context.

EXTRA SUPPORT Note that the following suggestion may not be appropriate in all classes. Write the body parts words on the board. Point clearly to parts of your own body, say the word and ask students to repeat. Then point to the word on the board.

- Put students into pairs to label the photo of the man with the body parts words.

Exercise 7b 5.12

- Play track 5.12 and ask students to listen to the words and check their answers.

PRONUNCIATION Drill the words with the class. Most of them are one-syllable words and therefore the vowel sounds are particularly important. Write foot /fʊt/ on the board and add school, book, look, good, room, choose. Put students into pairs to decide which of these words sound like foot. Elicit and model that book, look and good all have the /ʊ/ sound and the others have a longer /u:/ sound. This exercise is to make students aware that the same spelling may be pronounced in different ways, so it is important to practise the pronunciation when learning new words. You could give another example: head /hed/, read /ri:d/, wear /weə/.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 5.12

1 body 2 head 3 hair 4 face 5 arm 6 hand
7 leg 8 foot

Pronunciation plural forms

Exercise 8a 5.13

- Ask students to look at the singular and plural words in the box. Elicit that the pronunciation of the endings of the plural words is /z/ and not /s/. Drill the example words: arms /ɑ:mz/ and legs /legz/.
- Explain that some plural noun endings are pronounced /ɪz/. Give an example: one dress, two dresses /'dresɪz/.

WATCH OUT! Students might try and put bodies in the /ɪz/ column, but when a word ends in /i/ (e.g. city, family), the plural ending is pronounced /z/.

- Play track 5.13 and ask students to listen to the plural forms of the body parts from exercise 1 and write them in the correct place in the table. Pause after each word, if necessary, to allow time for students to write.

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.13

arm – arms body – bodies face – faces hand – hands head – heads leg – legs

Exercise 8b 5.14

- Play track 5.14 for students to check their answers. Then play again for students to repeat.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 5.14

/z/: arms, bodies, hands, heads, legs
/ɪz/: faces

Exercise 8c

- Put students into A/B pairs to test each other on the singular and plural forms of the body parts.

! Point out that some body parts words have irregular plural forms and that hair, i.e. the hair on your head doesn't have a plural form. For example: He has long hair (not hairs). Ask students to read the examples, and drill them with the class for pronunciation: foot /fʊt/, feet /fi:t/, body /'bɒdi/, bodies /'bɒdɪz/, hair /heə/.

- Refer students to the example to show them what to do. You could also ask a strong pair to model the exercise.
- Ask students to take turns to say a body part. Continue until they have said all the body parts at least once.

Exercise 9a

- Ask students to look at the photo only. Ask some questions: Where are the women from? What colour are their faces? What colour are their clothes? What colour is their hair?
- Ask students to use the photo to complete the text. All the missing words are body parts, but point out that they may be singular or plural.

Exercise 9b 5.15

- Play track 5.15 and ask students to listen to the description and check their answers. Play again, pausing before each gap to elicit the answer.

ANSWERS

1 hair 2 faces 3 heads 4 bodies 5 feet

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.15

These women are Japanese Maiko. Their style is very traditional. They have black hair and white faces. They put white and red flowers on top of their heads. On their bodies they wear a traditional dress called a kimono. On their feet they wear big shoes made of wood.

Exercise 10

- Ask students to read the instructions, and check they understand what to do. They will need individual thinking and planning time for this task. Monitor this stage carefully and assist with any vocabulary, but also allow students to use translators or dictionaries. Students should not write sentences, but may make notes in preparation.
- When students are ready, put them into pairs to take turns to tell their partner about the style or fashion they like. After this, you could put them into new pairs to describe to their partner the style or fashion that their first partner likes.

EXTENSION Find images of different styles or fashions and bring them in to class. Alternatively, ask students to find one image each of a style or fashion they like or don't like and bring it into class. Use the images to stimulate discussion and description as in exercise 10.

Vocabulary adjective modifiers

Exercise 11a 5.16

- Ask students to look at the illustrations in the box and read the sentences. Then play track 5.16 and ask students to listen to the sentences to notice which words have the most stress. Elicit that very and really are strongly stressed because their job is to make the adjective stronger. Point out the word order (the modifiers come before the adjective).
- Play the track again, pausing for students to repeat each sentence. Encourage them to make the stress strong on the adjective modifiers.

ANSWERS

very and really have the most stress

Exercise 11b

- Ask students to decide where the adjective modifiers go in the sentences. Refer them to the sentences in the Vocabulary box to help them decide.
- Elicit answers from the class. Model and drill the sentences so students can practise stressing very and really.

ANSWERS

- 1 That hat is very nice.
- 2 She's got a really lovely face.
- 3 My jacket is very old.
- 4 They wear really beautiful clothes.

Exercise 11c

- Remind students that these modifiers work with adjectives. Ask them to read the example sentence. Elicit the noun, adjective and adjective modifier.
- Students work in pairs to make sentences and write them down. Allow plenty of time for them to do this. Refer them to the texts in exercises 2 and 9a to give them ideas, if necessary. Monitor and correct errors as you see them.
- Stop the exercise when all pairs have written at least three sentences. Ask some students to write one of their sentences on the board. Praise, and correct if necessary.

5.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Ask for and give travel information
- Make arrangements by text

Lead-in

- Put students into small groups. Ask them to remember forms of transport (which they studied in 4.2). Give a one-minute time limit for students to brainstorm.
- When you reach the time limit, ask each group how many words they have and elicit words from the group with the highest total. Write the words on the board. Praise the winning team. Elicit any transport words that other groups have which are not on the board. (The list could include bus, train, motorbike, bicycle, ferry.) Elicit or teach plane to add to the list, using a picture/drawing on the board. Elicit or teach metro using a metro map or picture.
- Elicit, using a picture or real ticket, that for bus, train and plane journeys you need a ticket. Drill pronunciation with the class /'tɪkɪt/.
- Write questions on the board: Which types of transport do you like? Why? Get students to ask you the questions so you can give example answers, e.g. I like buses because they're cheap. I like planes because they're fast.
- Ask students to ask and answer the questions in their groups. When they have discussed for a few minutes, elicit some answers from the class.

Listening & Speaking asking for and giving travel information

Exercise 1a 5.17

Audio summary: Four conversations where Angelo Santos requests travel information while on holiday.

- Ask students to read 1–4, and check they understand all the words. Teach station if they don't know the meaning and be clear this means the place where you get a train from, but can also be the place where you get a bus.
- Play track 5.17 and ask students to listen to the four conversations and circle the correct answers.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 bus 2 Las Arenas 3 time 4 price of a ticket

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.17

1

A Excuse me. Where do I buy a ticket?

B You buy your ticket on the bus.

A OK, thanks.

2

A Hello. Does this bus go to Las Arenas?

B No, it doesn't. The number thirteen goes to Las Arenas. The metro goes there, too.

A Oh, OK.

3

A Excuse me. What time is the next metro to Las Arenas?

B It leaves at 9.35.

A Great, thanks.

4

A Hello. How much is it to Las Arenas?

B It's €2.15 single.

Exercise 1b 5.17

- Ask students to read Angelo's questions.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students can complete the questions before they listen to the track again.

- Play track 5.17 again for students to complete the questions. Elicit the answers in full sentences.

ANSWERS

1 buy 2 go 3 next 4 much

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to read answers a–d and find the matching questions in exercise 1b. Monitor and help struggling students make the connections in meaning, e.g. In answer c, is 9.35 a time or a price? Look for the question about time.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Then elicit matching questions and answers from the class. Point out the grammar or vocabulary clues in the questions and answers, e.g. 1 The answer to question 2 is no or yes because questions with do or does generally have yes/no answers 2 Question 4 asks How much? so the answer contains a price.

WATCH OUT! A common mistake is to omit the pronoun it in question 4 (How much is to ...?). Remind students that it is for things, and in this case the thing is the journey.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 b 3 c 4 a

Exercise 3a 5.18

- Play track 5.18 to model the pronunciation of the questions. Pause after each one for students to repeat.
- You could also try the back-chaining method to drill these questions (see exercise 3b in 3.2).

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.18

1 Where do I buy a ticket?

2 Does this bus go to Las Arenas?

3 What time is the next metro to Las Arenas?

4 How much is it to Las Arenas?

Exercise 3b

- Put students into A/B pairs to practise the conversations. Make sure they take turns to ask and answer the questions. Listen carefully and make a note of any errors in pronunciation, either stressing words wrongly in the questions and answers or errors with individual words.
- Invite some pairs to act out one conversation for the class.
- Correct any pronunciation mistakes and drill the class.

EXTENSION Students, in pairs, choose one conversation and practise it again, changing one piece of information (place, time, price). Pairs act out their new conversation to the class. Ask students listening to identify the change they have made.

Exercise 4a

- Elicit or teach the noun phrase travel announcement. You could play a few words of track 5.20 to illustrate it.
- Refer students to the Understanding ... box and ask them to read the information. Then play track 5.19 and ask them to listen to the examples.
- Check understanding of late. Write a bus time on the board, e.g. 10.20 a.m., and tell them the bus is fifteen minutes late. Ask Does the bus arrive at 10.05 or 10.35? (10.35).
- Elicit/teach platform, gate, flight and bus stop. Ask check questions, e.g. Which place is in a station? (platform) Which place is in an airport? (gate) Where do you find bus stops? (on the street). Drill the words, eliciting that the stress is on the first syllable in platform and bus stop.

WATCH OUT! It is difficult for students to know how to pronounce flight from its spelling. Drill the pronunciation several times /flaɪt/. Point out that igh in the middle of a word is usually pronounced /aɪ/ and that learning unusual-looking spelling patterns can make pronouncing new words with the same pattern easier.

- Drill the examples in the box, including the numbers, to show how they're pronounced in announcements. Point out that letters are used as well as numbers, and that numbers up to 100 are said as usual, but from 101 we often separate the numbers into single digits, e.g. one-oh-one.

Exercise 4b 5.20

Audio summary: Six different announcements in stations and airports.

- Ask students to read the information they need to listen for in each announcement. Then play track 5.20, pausing after each announcement to allow time for students to write the answers.

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.20

- 1 If there is anyone flying to Istanbul tonight, would you please ...
- 2 We are sorry to announce that the 8.45 to London Paddington ...
- 3 ... the doors will close two minutes before departure.
- 4 Will passengers for the next train to New York, please ...
- 5 This bus will depart in approximately fourteen minutes.
- 6 This is an announcement for passengers on flight FW1632 leaving at ...

Exercise 4c

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- You could play the track again, pausing after each announcement to elicit the correct information. Write answers on the board; sometimes mistakes can be made with letters and numbers when only hearing them.

ANSWERS

- |                     |                          |
|---------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 Place: Istanbul   | 4 Place: New York        |
| 2 Time: 8.45        | 5 Time: fourteen minutes |
| 3 Time: two minutes | 6 Flight: FW1632         |

Exercise 5a

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box and ask them to read the travel information phrases carefully.

WATCH OUT! Prepositions are important in these phrases. Make sure students understand questions with from are asking about the start of the journey and questions with to are asking about the end of the journey (the destination).

- Drill all the phrases in the box with the class.

PRONUNCIATION You could use the questions and answers in the box for students to practise chunking, which they studied in 5.2. Put students into pairs. Ask them to read the sentences aloud to each other and decide where the chunks of language start and finish, e.g. [Where do I] [buy a ticket?]. You will need to check this carefully with the class, but it should help them pronounce the sentences more naturally.

- Put students into pairs to find which questions in 'Ask for information' have answers in 'Give information': Where do I buy a ticket? (You buy your ticket ...) What time is the next ...? (It leaves at ...) How much is it to ...? (It's ...).
- Elicit responses to the other questions: Where does the ... go from? (It goes from platform ... / stop ...) Does this ... go to ...? (Yes, it does / No, it doesn't. It goes to ...).
- You could also elicit a question for the response It arrives at 4.15 (e.g. What time does flight BA66 from Paris arrive?).

Exercise 5b

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the communication pages and ask them to look at the photo and read their instructions. Drill the place names: Puebla /'pweblə/ and Bingen /'bɪŋən/.
- For the first conversation, Student A is the traveller and Student B works at the information desk at the airport. Check they understand these roles.
- Refer students to the Language for speaking box to help them ask the correct questions and respond appropriately. Allow students a few minutes' planning time.

SMART COMMUNICATION In a second language, asking for information can make you feel very nervous. It is a good idea to write down what type of information you need and you can also plan what questions to ask.

- Student A starts the activity and asks questions to get the travel information to complete their table. Student B responds using information from their page. The process is repeated for Student B to complete their table. Monitor and help students choose the best questions to get the information they need.
- When students have finished, they can check they have the correct information by looking at their partner's page.

ANSWERS

Student A: Bus leaves every hour $10 for a single ticket Buy ticket at ticket office in airport

Student B: Train leaves at 9.53 a.m., 10.26 a.m., 11.05 a.m. It costs 13 euros Buy ticket at ticket machines

Reading & Writing making arrangements by text

Exercise 6a

- Pre-teach arrangement. You could show students a page of your diary and point to some of the arrangements. Write the word on the board, drill pronunciation and mark the word stress. Also elicit that text can be both a noun and a verb, e.g. She sends texts. She texts me.
- Ask students to read sentences 1–3 and choose the correct adverb of frequency for them.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Conduct feedback. Ask if any pairs make arrangements the same way. If appropriate, tell students how you make arrangements and why, e.g. I usually send a text because it is easy/quick/because I don't have time to talk on the phone. You could ask strong students to say why they like one particular way to make arrangements. Encourage them to use because and help them express what they want to say.

Exercise 7a

- Explain that the box shows texts and their replies which form a conversation about making an arrangement. Elicit which text is the first in the conversation (e Hi, Hannah. ...). Put students into pairs to work out the correct order following this first text. Monitor and point out clues to struggling students, e.g. OK. What time? is going to be followed by a text with a time in it.
- Elicit answers from the class by nominating two strong students to act out the text conversation.

ANSWERS

1 e 2 d 3 b 4 f 5 a 6 c

Exercise 7b

- Write time, place and reason on the board. Tell students to underline words/phrases in the texts giving information about these three things. Look at text a as an example. Say that there is one time word and one place phrase and elicit these (about 2.00 = time, by the museum = place).
- Allow time for students to underline the words/phrases in the rest of the texts. Monitor and assist struggling students.
- Elicit the answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- a About 2.00. By the museum?
b I need a new jacket. Do you want to come into town with me?

Exercise 8

- In this exercise, students categorize phrases according to the time/place/reason. Ask them to read phrases 1–8 and copy them into the correct column in the table.

STUDY TIP Students often complete this kind of exercise by writing the number of the phrase rather than the whole phrase. This is quick but if they write the whole phrases, their brains may remember them more easily, so you should recommend completing the table in full.

- Go through the answers together. You could divide the board into three columns and invite students to write the phrases in the correct place. Correct any errors.

ANSWERS

Time	Place	Reason
4 at 3 o'clock	2 on the High Street	1 I need to go to the pharmacy.
5 at midday	3 in the park	6 I want to buy a tablet.
8 on Tuesday	7 near the bank

Exercise 9a

- Ask students to read the conversation and point out they only have Speaker A's sentences.
- Ask students to read sentences a–c which belong to Speaker B and decide where to add them in the conversation. Monitor and assist students who are struggling by helping them notice clues, e.g. Student A says 6.30 p.m. so Student B's question to get that answer is about time.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class, either line by line or by asking a strong pair to act out the conversation. Highlight the use of the pronoun in Where is it on? and elicit that it refers to the new James Bond film. (They learnt about pronouns in Reading skills in 2.2 and it is good to continually review what students have learnt.)

EXTENSION To fully check students' understanding of the details of the conversation, ask further questions: What's the name of the cinema? (The Regal) What film are they going to see? (the new James Bond film) Does the film start at 6.15 or 6.30? (6.30 p.m.).

ANSWERS

- 1 b Yes. Where is it on?
2 c What time?
3 a OK. See you at the cinema at 6.15.

Exercise 10a

- Refer students to the Language for writing box and ask them to read the information. Check understanding of the adjectives long and short using gesture. You could refer back to the conversation in exercise 9a and point out short sentences, e.g. at the Regal, rather than It's on at the Regal. Ask Why do we keep texts short? (because it's quick).

Exercise 10b

- Put students into pairs to read the text conversation. Ask them to focus on sentences 1–4, which are too long, and make them shorter. Monitor and assist by referring students to the examples in the Language for writing box.
- Elicit answers from some pairs. Note that students may have slightly different answers to those below. If an answer is short and makes sense, accept it, e.g. 2 Yes, a lot. 3 Jamie's restaurant? 2.30? 4 Why?/Why then?

ANSWERS

1 Where? 2 Yes. 3 Jamie's at 2.30? 4 Why 2.30?

Exercise 11a

- Divide the class into two halves, A and B, and tell them to read their instruction (A or B). Then ask students to write a short text to begin their text conversation. Make it clear they are writing this first text for another student to reply to. Monitor and, if necessary, refer students to the texts in exercises 7 and 10b for ideas about how to start.

EXTRA SUPPORT Students with the same task could work in pairs on this first text.

Exercise 11b

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to swap texts with their partner and write a reply.

Exercise 11c

- When students have written their replies, ask them to swap back and respond to the new text. Continue until the arrangement is completed and they know the place and time of the meeting.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Fast finishers can read their text conversations together carefully and check that their sentences are short, referring to the Language for writing box for guidance.

- Invite some pairs to read out their text conversations. Elicit from other pairs how their conversations are the same or different.

EXTRA ACTIVITY If students are happy to exchange mobile phone numbers with another student in the class, and you feel this is appropriate, they can practise the skills they have learnt in a more authentic way.

5.5 Video

Architecture in Amsterdam

Amsterdam is the capital city of The Netherlands, in the north-west of Europe. It's a very popular place for tourists. Around 4.6 million people visit the city every year. But what do they do here?

When people visit Amsterdam, they often take a boat trip on the city's famous canals. From here, they see the canal houses. These buildings are hundreds of years old and today they are symbols of the city. A lot of these houses are now museums, and tourists sometimes go inside. But they usually just stay on the boat and enjoy the views. A lot of the city's important buildings are along here.

This is Amsterdam Centraal, the city's main railway station. It's in the city centre and it's about 130 years old.

With about 250,000 passengers every day, it's usually very busy here. But visitors don't always come to travel. They often come to see the building itself. Amsterdam Centraal has wonderful designs on the walls and a very unusual clock. Amsterdam's famous Rijksmuseum is very similar. It's about 140 years old and it's very near the centre. It has wonderful art on the walls. Tourists often come to enjoy the building's fantastic design. But not every building in Amsterdam is old. There are lots of exciting and modern buildings all over the city.

This is the Muziekgebouw – a concert hall for modern music. It is on the canal and it's very near Amsterdam Centraal. But this building is very different. It's a very interesting design and at the side is a large black box – the Bimhuis, a special space for jazz.

This is another unusual building in the city – the NEMO science centre. It's twenty-two metres tall and it has a huge copper roof. Visitors often go to the top because of the great views over the whole city.

Amsterdam has all kinds of architecture. From the Rijksmuseum to the Bimhuis, from Centraal to NEMO, the city is a fantastic mix of the old and the new.

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 2

1, 5, 7, 8, 9

Exercise 3

1 c, f   2 d, j   3 e, h   4 a, i   5 b, g

Review

ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

yellow green blue white red brown black grey

Exercise 2a

- 1 I never wear yellow clothes.
- 2 My father sometimes wears sports clothes.
- 3 My work clothes are always smart.
- 4 I usually buy my clothes online.
- 5 I often go clothes shopping at the weekend.

Exercise 3a

1 What 2 What 3 Is 4 When 5 Do 6 Why

Exercise 3b

1 e 2 c 3 a 4 f 5 d 6 b

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.21

- A What's the name of that building over there?
B It's called the Gherkin.
A What do people do there?
B They work. It's an office building.
A Is it open to the public?
B No, it isn't, but people visit the plaza.
A When is the plaza open?
B Every day.
A Do you like the building?
B Yes, I do.
A Why do you like it?
B Because it's very different.

Exercise 4a

- 1a Where on the body does a Tuareg man wear a tagelmust?
1b Why is a tagelmust important in the Sahara desert?
2 What colour are these men's football shirts?
3 Where do Indian women put henna?
4 Why do people in Russia wear hats like this?
5 When does a woman wear this dress?

AUDIOSCRIPT 5.22

The tagelmust is a really long piece of cloth: five to ten metres. Tuareg men wear it on their heads and faces. Its colour is often blue, but sometimes it is black. Blue is a rich colour for the Tuareg people. Men wear the tagelmust because it is beautiful and because the sun and wind is very strong in the Sahara. They don't wear it in the house but they always wear it outside.

Exercise 5a

1 really 2 heads 3 faces 4 blue 5 black 6 rich
7 beautiful 8 very 9 don't 10 always

Exercise 6a

1 next 2 go 3 Excuse, Does 4 do 5 much

6.1 Two towns

Goals

- Use there is/there are
- Talk about places in a town

Lead-in

- Write famous on the board. Mark the word stress and drill pronunciation /'feɪməs/. Tell students London is famous for Big Ben and Paris is famous for the Eiffel Tower. Add a personal example of your own: My town is famous for ...
- Ask students What is your town famous for? Elicit sentences from the class.

Reading & Vocabulary places in a town

Exercise 1a

Text summary: Two texts about two different towns in the USA, written by someone who lives there. Each text gives information and also the writer's opinions about the town.

- Refer students to the maps with each text so they can see that the towns are both in the USA, but in different areas. Say the names of the towns: Lewisburg /'lu:ɪsbɜ:g/ and Mount Angel /'maʊnt'eɪndʒl/. Point out that Mt. is the abbreviation of Mount.
- Ask students to read the instruction. Check they understand what information they are looking for as they read.
- Allow plenty of time for students to read the two texts. Remind them they don't need to understand every word and discourage use of dictionaries at this point.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

Jack: Lewisburg has the facilities of a big town: museums, cinemas, shops, etc. and there are a lot of things to do. There's also an amazing bakery, which is Jack's favourite place in town.

Sara: She likes the restaurants, her favourite is the Glockenspiel. The country is beautiful and the sea is only two hours away by car.

Exercise 1b

- Ask students to read sentences 1–6. Check meaning of festival, tourists and sea, which may be new.
- Ask students to read the texts again to find out which town each sentence is about. Do the first sentence as an example. Tell students to look at the photos: Which person is old? (Jack – so try reading his text first). Give students a moment to find the answer. Elicit the sentence which gives the answer: I'm sixty-eight and it's a great place for people like me.

STUDY TIP Encourage students to underline in pencil where they find the answers in the text. Being able to show the evidence for your answers is helpful. If the answer is incorrect, it is sometimes easier to see how you made a mistake if you can refer to underlined passages.

Exercise 1c

- Put students into pairs to compare answers. Encourage them to show the evidence in the texts for their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class, making reference to the sentences in the texts which contain the information.

ANSWERS

1 Lewisburg 2 Mt. Angel 3 Lewisburg 4 Mt. Angel
5 Lewisburg 6 Mt. Angel

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to look at the illustrations and words for places in a town. Explain that these places are facilities. Go through the different facilities, asking What do you do there? (The answers can be very basic/simple, e.g. put money in, or eat, as this is just to check understanding.)
- Ask students to look at the texts again and write L or MA for the town which has each facility.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Again, encourage them to point to the words in the texts.
- Elicit full answers from the class. You could model the first sentence: Mount Angel has got a bank.

ANSWERS

Bank	MA	park	None
Cinema	L	restaurant	MA, L
Hotel	L	shop	L
Café	None	supermarket	MA
Museum	L	theatre	L

Exercise 3a 6.1

- Play track 6.1 and ask students to listen to the words. Pause after each one for students to repeat.
- It is a good idea to ask students to count the syllables and mark the stress on the multi-syllable words: cinema, hotel, café, museum, restaurant, supermarket, theatre.

WATCH OUT! Some of these words are similar in many other languages. This may make pronouncing them in a different way quite challenging, so students will need practice. Also restaurant is pronounced with only two syllables in British English, though it commonly has three in American pronunciation.

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.1

bank cinema hotel café museum park restaurant shop supermarket theatre

Exercise 3b

- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to test each other on the words using the pictures. Refer them to the example to show them what to do.

EXTENSION If students are from the same area, say the names of well-known local theatres, cinemas, banks, supermarkets, etc. to elicit the vocabulary, e.g. What's Interspar? A supermarket. Students could test each other in this way, too.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to read the texts again and find any other words for places in a town. Possible answers: bakery, golf course. Teach the meanings and pronunciation of these words.

Exercise 4

- Read the question aloud to the class and tell students to discuss it in pairs. Refer them to the example sentence to show them what to do.
- Monitor and prompt quiet students, e.g. There's a festival in Mount Angel. Do you like festivals?
- Elicit ideas from the class.

WATCH OUT! If students say The country is beautiful make sure they know that this is another meaning of country from the one they have learnt. It is not about different political countries such as Italy, the USA. It means countryside – the natural land around towns and cities.

Grammar there is/there are

Exercise 5a

- Ask students to find the missing words in the sentences by looking at the texts again.

Exercise 5b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. If some students haven't been able to find the answer in the texts, their partner may be able to show them.
- Check answers as a class by eliciting them from students.

ANSWERS

1 four 2 nine 3 any 4 Lewisburg 5 Mt. Angel

Exercise 6

- Refer students to the table in the Grammar focus box. Ask them to complete it using the example sentences in exercise 5a to help them.
- Check answers with the class. Obviously, singular and plural are very important aspects of this grammar point. Elicit that a supermarket is singular so we use is and cinemas is plural so we need are. Point out that we use any with the negative plural sentence There aren't any parks.

ANSWERS

1 There's 2 are 3 isn't 4 aren't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p126. There is one more exercise here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 7a

- Put students into pairs and ask them to read the sentences about Lewisburg and underline the correct words. With a weaker group, elicit the first answer as a demonstration. Ask about facilities: Is it singular or plural?
- Monitor pairs and refer them back to the Grammar focus box and example sentences if necessary.
- Tell students you will check the answers after exercise 7b.

Exercise 7b

- Still in their pairs, ask students to complete the sentences about Mt. Angel using the correct form. Assist weaker students by eliciting if the words are singular or plural, and refer them back to the text to find out whether Mt. Angel has got the facilities or not, so they can decide whether to use positive or negative. Point out that in number 6 any tells them whether to use positive or negative. You could refer students to the Grammar focus box note.

ANSWERS

1 are 2 's 3 are 4 's 5 There are 6 There aren't
7 There isn't 8 There's

Exercise 7c 6.2

- Play track 6.2 for students to listen to the sentences and check all the answers to exercise 7. If students have difficulty with any of the answers, ask questions to help them understand why the answer is singular or plural/positive or negative.

Exercise 7d 6.2

- Play the track a final time, pausing for students to repeat.

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.2

- 1 There are good facilities.
- 2 There's a great bakery.
- 3 There are 4,000 people.
- 4 There's a theatre.
- 5 There are supermarkets and banks.
- 6 There aren't any hotels.
- 7 There isn't a theatre.
- 8 There's a German restaurant.

Exercise 8a

- Allow plenty of time for students to think about their town and write their lists. Encourage them to think about all the facilities in exercise 2a and any others they know. Students may want to ask you or use dictionaries to find the words for specific facilities. Assist with this, but limit it to two new words or phrases so it doesn't take too long and there won't be too many things for them to peer explain.
- Monitor and ensure students are writing lists containing both singular and plural (including how many, e.g. two banks) and that their lists have a minimum of four facilities.

WATCH OUT! Many languages do not use articles a/an in the same way as English and a common error is to omit these words. You could encourage students to write the articles for singular items in their lists to help them remember to include it when they speak.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into small groups to take turns to talk about their towns. Point out the instruction to use and and but. There is an example sentence to help them. You could write more sentences on the board to elicit these two connectors (to show they remember how to use them): There's a supermarket _____ there are two banks. (and) There are three parks _____ there aren't any hotels. (but). Elicit that there's and there are give similar information, so we use and. Elicit that there are and there aren't give different information so we use but.
- Nominate one student in each group to start. Monitor carefully and note errors with there is/are and there isn't/aren't. Ensure students take turns and they all say a minimum of three sentences about their town.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask students to prompt each other to say more about their town with words for facilities they haven't mentioned, e.g. Cafés? The speaker responds about that facility, e.g. There aren't any cafés.

- Conduct error correction by writing sentences with mistakes on the board and asking students to discuss in their groups where the error is. Elicit the corrections.

Vocabulary recording vocabulary

Exercise 9

- Ask students to read the Vocabulary focus box. Elicit the different ways to record vocabulary shown in the box. Point out that when you yourself write on the board, you often use these techniques. Ask students which of these ways they like. If appropriate, you could ask pairs of students to show each other their notebooks.
- You could also mention that example sentences are usually more memorable if they are personal, i.e. they are about people, places and things in your life or experience.

Exercise 10a

- Ask students to look at the three circles and the words inside them. Point out the example.
- Students work alone to put the words in the box in the right group. The aim is to practise recording vocabulary, so these are all words which students should already know.

Exercise 10b

- Ask students to think of two places, two colours and two other adjectives to add to the diagrams. Of course, they may add more than two to each one.
- Monitor and encourage weaker students to look back in their student's book or their own notebooks to find words they learnt in previous lessons.

Exercise 10c

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Encourage them to add their partner's words to their own diagrams if they think they are categorized correctly.
- Create the diagrams on the board by eliciting the words from the box first and then extra words that the students have thought of. You could invite students to write the words in the correct places on the board.

ANSWERS

Places: building, museum, office, shop, theatre

Colours: black, blue, green, red, white

Other adjectives: big, exciting, interesting, modern, old

Exercise 11a

- Ask students to read the instruction carefully, together with the example. Refer them to points 2 and 3 in the Vocabulary focus box for further examples.
- Students work alone to complete the exercise. Monitor carefully to check they are accurately labelling the part of speech and number and marking the word stress correctly. Also check whether their example sentences make sense and are grammatically correct.

- For feedback later, you could make a note of any excellent examples and the students who have written them so you remember who to elicit from in exercise 12b.

DICTIONARY SKILLS This is a good time to encourage students to use dictionaries to check their notes are accurate, as good monolingual and bilingual dictionaries will list parts of speech and indicate pronunciation, including word stress. Monolingual dictionaries also contain useful example sentences. Allow students extra time when they have finished their notes to check the information in a dictionary.

Exercise 11b

- Put students into pairs to compare their notes.
- Nominate a few students to say one of the words they chose to the class and give their example sentence.

Exercise 12a

- In their pairs, students make their own diagrams. They can choose any topics, but you could guide them towards vocabulary they have learnt so far on the course, e.g. family, clothes, objects, transport.

EXTRA SUPPORT Suggest a maximum of five words per diagram for weaker students.

- When students have chosen topics and started making their diagrams, remind them to add information as they did in exercise 11a.
- Monitor and correct errors as you see them. Help students to remember more words for each diagram, especially if they don't have very many.
- Allow plenty of time for this creative task, but give a time limit to the end so all pairs can finish at a similar moment.

Exercise 12b

- Put pairs together into small groups and ask them to show each other their diagrams. Students can offer suggestions of more words to add to each other's diagrams and together create notes and example sentences to go with them.
- Praise the class for their hard work and encourage them to use the techniques in the lessons which follow.

EXTENSION Display the diagrams around the classroom for all students to read all of the diagrams.

6.2 Is there Wi-fi?

Goals

- Talk about hotel facilities
- Ask questions with Is there ...?/Are there ...?

Lead-in

- Write hotel on the board and check students pronounce it correctly with the stress on the second syllable. Ask When do you stay in a hotel? Elicit responses from the class, e.g. on holiday, on business.
- Put students into pairs or small groups. Ask them to think of any famous hotels and make a list of the names. If they can't think of any famous hotels, they could think of two hotels in their own area.
- Elicit hotel names and ask others in the class if they know them. Ask simple questions about the hotels: Where is it? Is it big? Is it expensive? Is it modern?
- The aim of the Lead-in is to help students start thinking about hotels in general before they focus on hotel facilities.

Vocabulary & Speaking hotel facilities

Exercise 1a

- Tell students to look at the icons and think in their own language what hotel facility each picture represents. Then ask students to read the words in the box and find the matching icons. Put them into pairs to help each other complete the exercise or check answers if they've finished.

Exercise 1b 6.3

- Play track 6.3 and ask students to listen to the words and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each word for students to repeat it.

WATCH OUT! Wi-fi is a word which is used in many countries but often pronounced /wi:fi:/ whereas in English the pronunciation is /'waɪ faɪ/. Other points to note are: refreshments is always plural (we don't ask for a refreshment); air conditioning and Wi-fi don't need an article (i.e. not an air conditioning/a Wi-fi) and we don't make these words plural either (because they are uncountable nouns). Students may make these kinds of mistakes when using these words and you will need to correct them.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 6.3

1 Wi-fi 2 air conditioning 3 iron 4 refreshments
5 lift 6 safe 7 bath 8 gym 9 car park 10 towels

Exercise 2a

- Demonstrate by picking five of the items and writing them on the board. Point to the items and say These are important for me. Say one of the other items, e.g. car park, and say It isn't important for me – I go by taxi. I don't drive.
- Ask students to think about when they stay in hotels and choose five things from the list that are important for them. Ask them to write the items in their notebooks.

Exercise 2b

- Read out the examples, then put students into small groups to share the items in their lists. Nominate a strong student in each group to start.
- Monitor carefully and make sure everyone in each group has a chance to talk about their list. Note any pronunciation errors and correct these after the exercise.

Exercise 3a

Text summary: Two texts giving information about different and interesting hotels – one in Germany and the other in Chile.

- Ask students to look at the photos. They are going to read about these two interesting hotels. Tell them to choose an adjective from the words they know to describe them. Elicit ideas from the class.
- Allow plenty of time for students to read the two texts and answer the questions.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Monitor and check that they are correct.
- Elicit or teach some of the new words in the texts: factory, theme, eco-hotel, tree house, fishing. Use pictures, mime and real examples (e.g. a factory they may know). Students could check in an online dictionary to find out about the word stress of new words. They could add this to notes they make about the new vocabulary and you could remind them of the methods for recording vocabulary in 6.1 exercise 9.
- In pairs, students discuss the question. Encourage them to say why they like their chosen hotel. Elicit some answers.

EXTRA SUPPORT Model the exercise for a weaker group before they do it. Say I like the Magic Mountain Hotel because it's interesting/it has a swimming pool.

ANSWERS

V8 Hotel

- 1 It's in Boblingen, Germany.
- 2 It's got free parking, Wi-fi and a gym.

Magic Mountain Hotel

- 1 It's in Chile.
- 2 The hotel has twelve rooms, a restaurant, and a swimming pool.

Exercise 4

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the Communication pages and ask them to read their information. Explain that they have more information about the hotels in exercise 3 and have to tell each other what facilities the hotels have/haven't got.
- Ask students to read the example sentences to help them know how to start. Make sure students understand that tick = facilities at the hotel and cross = facilities aren't at the hotel. Point out the use of have got (which they studied in 3.1)
- Students take turns to talk about the facilities in each hotel. Monitor and assist if necessary.
- Finally, students discuss the questions in 4. Elicit some students' answers.

ANSWERS

The V8 Hotel is best for someone on a business trip
The Magic Mountain Hotel is best for someone on holiday

Listening & Grammar Is there ...?/Are there ...?

Exercise 5a 6.4

- Ask students to read the instruction. Check they understand how many pieces of information to listen for. Use the photo to elicit the meaning of hotel reception. You could teach receptionist /rɪ'sepʃənɪst/, too.

- Play track 6.4 and ask students to listen to the conversations and write down the three things the people ask about.
- Check answers by eliciting them from the class.

ANSWERS

Wi-fi, gym and towels in the gym

Exercise 5b 6.4

- Ask students to read the two conversations they listened to.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students could try to remember the missing words before they listen again.

- Play track 6.4 again for students to complete the conversations. Elicit the answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 two 2 Wi-fi 3 Yes 4 gym 5 towels 6 towel

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.4

1

A Hi. I have a reservation. The name is Davis.

B Yes, sir. A room for two nights.

A That's right. Is there Wi-fi in the room?

B Yes, there is. The password is 'guest'.

2

A Hello. Is there a gym in the hotel?

B Yes, there is. It's on level 1.

A Oh, great. Are there any towels in the gym?

B No, there aren't. Please take a towel from your room.

Exercise 6

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to complete the questions and short answers with the correct forms of the verb be. Remind them to look at the conversations in exercise 5b to help them.

! Point out that some nouns, called uncountable nouns, do not need an article. They take the third person singular form of the verb. Two examples are Wi-fi and air conditioning. In questions, we ask Is there Wi-fi? Is there air conditioning?

- Go through the answers, eliciting the missing verb forms. Point out that we ask questions in the singular if there's usually one of something, e.g. Is there a phone in the room? (NOT: ~~Are there any phones?~~), but in the plural if we expect more than one item of something, e.g. Are there any towels in the gym? (NOT: ~~Is there a towel?~~)

ANSWERS

1 Is 2 Are 3 is 4 aren't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp126–127. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 7a

- Do the first one together as a demonstration. Tell students to read A's line in the mini conversation. Elicit which is the correct option and why (Is there because this first sentence is a question).
- In pairs, students underline the correct options in 2–8.

Exercise 7b 6.5

- Play track 6.5 and ask students to listen to the conversations and check their answers.

PRONUNCIATION Point out that the /r/ sound in there is a connecting sound and pronounced clearly when the following word begins with a vowel, e.g. there is /ðeə'riz/, there isn't /ðeə'rɪznt/, there are /ðeə'rɑ:/, there aren't /ðeə'rɑ:nt/, Is there a /'ɪzðeə'ɑ/, Are there any /'ɑ:ðeə'reni/. Model these examples for students and drill the class in a variety of ways. (Note that there is more focus on linking in 6.3, exercise 8.)

ANSWERS

1 Is there 2 there is. 3 They are 4 Is there
5 there isn't 6 there's 7 Are there 8 there are

Pronunciation Is there ...?/Are there ...?

Exercise 8 6.6

- Play track 6.6 and ask students to listen to the questions and answers and notice the stress.

Exercise 9a 6.7

- Ask students to read the questions and answers in 1–4. Then play track 6.7, pausing after each question and answer for students to repeat.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into A/B pairs to practise the questions and answers.

EXTRA SUPPORT Encourage students to work with a partner and mark the stress on the correct words in each question and answer before they practise them.

- Monitor and correct any sentence stress errors. Make sure students swap roles to practise both questions and answers.

Exercise 10

- Tell students they are going to act out four more conversations about hotel facilities and take turns to be the guest and receptionist. Ask them to read the instructions and the prompts for Students A and B. Elicit or teach the meaning of instructions (in relation to air conditioning) and ironing board.
- Use the example conversation to demonstrate the activity: nominate two students to act out the conversation.
- Put students into A/B pairs (different to their pairs in exercise 9b). Ask them to use their prompts to ask and answer questions about hotel facilities.
- Monitor carefully and note any errors in grammar and pronunciation. Correct any errors with the class by writing them on the board and eliciting what is wrong. Drill any mispronounced words or phrases.

EXTENSION For extra practice, ask students in their pairs to choose two more facilities from the pictures in exercise 1a and have similar conversations about them, asking questions and responding.

EXTRA ACTIVITY For homework, ask students to write a short text of 2–4 sentences about the facilities in their hotel based on the information they got from the receptionist in their conversations.

Listening skills understanding where and when

- Ask students to read the information as you read it aloud to them. To check understanding, ask Which word is about place? (where) Which word is about time? (when).
- Point out that the information is true for positive and negative sentences and questions too. There are examples of positive and negative. You could give examples of questions: Is there a bus at ten o'clock? Are there any refreshments in my room?

Exercise 1 6.8

- Ask students to look at the table. Explain that in the four sentences they are going to hear there is something (what) and either a place or a time.
- Play the first conversation of track 6.8. This is the example, so ask students to listen and notice the what and where in the conversation.
- Play the track to the end so students can listen to the other conversations and complete the table.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 phone, room, –	3 two hotels, town, –
2 bus, – , 2.15	4 six people, photo, –

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.8

- 1 There's a phone in the room.
- 2 There's a bus at 2.15.
- 3 There are two hotels in the town.
- 4 There are six people in the photo.

Exercise 2 6.9

- Ask students to read the four incomplete questions. Help them notice whether the missing noun is going to be singular or plural by looking at Is there ...?/Are there ...?
- Play track 6.9 and ask students to listen to the questions and complete them.
- Check answers by eliciting them from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 towels, room
- 2 bus, airport
- 3 restaurant, hotel
- 4 shops, museum

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.9

- 1 Are there any towels in the room?
- 2 Is there a bus to the airport?
- 3 Is there a restaurant in the hotel?
- 4 Are there any shops near the museum?

Exercise 3 6.10

- Tell students they are going to hear the questions in exercise 2 followed by answers this time. They have to listen out for the information about place or time.
- Play track 6.10 and ask students to listen to the conversations and write the answers.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you check with the class by playing the track again and pausing to elicit answers. You could ask in each case if the information is about where or when.

ANSWERS

- 1 Yes, in the bathroom.
- 2 Yes, at 10 o'clock and at 2 o'clock.
- 3 No, café near the hotel.
- 4 No, shops in the city centre.

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.10

- 1 Are there any towels in the room?
Yes, there are towels in the bathroom.
- 2 Is there a bus to the airport?
Yes, there's a bus at ten o'clock and at two o'clock.
- 3 Is there a restaurant in the hotel?
Sorry, no, there isn't. There's a café near the hotel.
- 4 Are there any shops near the museum?
No, there aren't. But there are shops in the city centre.

Exercise 4a 6.11

- Tell students they are going to hear a conversation about another hotel. Ask them to read the instruction and the five questions. Pre-teach checkout and you could also teach check-in at the same time. Tell students it is a long conversation and they don't need to understand everything: just listen for the answers to the questions.
- Play track 6.11 and ask students to listen to the conversation and answer the questions.

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.11

A Good morning. I need some information about your hotel.

B Yes, of course.

A My flight arrives at 4.30 a.m. on Friday. What's the best way to get from the airport to the hotel?

B The bus is the best way to get here. There are two buses: the 98 and the 99. The 99 goes every thirty minutes. There's a bus stop on London Road, near the airport.

A Thanks. Is the hotel near the city centre? Is it OK to walk?

B Yes, the hotel is IN the city centre. It's a five-minute walk from the bus station.

A Oh, good. Umm, is there Wi-fi in the hotel?

B There is free Wi-fi in reception, but not in the rooms.

A Oh. And is there a restaurant in the hotel?

B There's a small restaurant where we serve breakfast. Breakfast is between seven o'clock and ten o'clock.

A That's OK. What time is check-in and checkout from the hotel?

B Check-in is after 2 p.m. and checkout is before 11 a.m.

A Great! Thank you very much.

B You're welcome.

Exercise 4b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Then elicit answers from the class and ask in each case whether the information is about when or where.
- Check students understand before and after relating to time: Check-in is after 2 p.m. Can you check in at 1 p.m.? (no). Checkout is before 11 a.m. Can you check out at 11.30? (no).

ANSWERS

- 1 It's on London Road, near the airport.
- 2 The hotel is in the city centre. It's a five-minute walk from the bus station.
- 3 There is free Wi-fi in reception.
- 4 Breakfast is between seven o'clock and ten o'clock.
- 5 Checkout is before 11 a.m.

EXTRA ACTIVITY To exploit the listening text, write some more questions about where and when on the board: When does the number 99 bus go? (every thirty minutes) Where do they serve breakfast? (in the hotel restaurant) What time is check-in at the hotel? (after 2 p.m.) Play the track again for students to find the answers.

6.3 Has each flat got a kitchen?

Goals

- Use each and all the
- Describe rooms and furniture

Lead-in

- Write questions on the board: Student A: Is this building modern? Is it big? Is it in a small town? Student B: Is it new? Is it an office building? Do you like it? Put students into A/B pairs. Ask them to look at the photos only in exercise 1 and ask and answer the questions on the board.
- The aim of the Lead-in is to practise short answers and to engage students in the topic of the lesson.

Listening & Vocabulary rooms and furniture

Exercise 1

- Ask students to look at the phrase book now at the bottom of the advert. Elicit or teach that book here is a verb and booking a room or an apartment means sending an email or making a phone call to say how many days you want to stay there. Explain that the photos and text are an advert and teach the meaning of this word.
- Ask students to read the three questions about the advert. Then put students into pairs to find the answers in the text. Tell them not to check all the new words in a dictionary as the next exercises will clarify the meanings.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 Ho Chi Minh City
- 2 in a quiet area, ten minutes from the city centre by taxi
- 3 twenty-four hours, seven days a week

Exercise 2a 6.12

- Tell students they are going to hear a conversation about the flats. Ask them to read sentences 1 and 2 so they know what to listen for. Remind them that this is all the information they need and not to worry about other things they don't understand.
- Play track 6.12 and ask students to listen to the conversation and choose the correct options.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 isn't 2 want

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.12

- A So, we have three nights in Ho Chi Minh City.
B I know. It's very exciting. There are some really nice flats on this website.
A Are they expensive?
B No, they're only £30 a night. In each flat there's a bedroom with a big bed and a TV.

- A Have all the flats got their own kitchen?
B Yes, there's a small kitchen with a fridge and microwave, and a dining area with two chairs ... Are you on the internet?
A Yes, I am.
B OK. I'll send you the link to the flats.
A One moment ... OK, yes, I've got it now ... Oh – there isn't a living room.
B Yes, there is. In Photo 4. There's one living room for all the flats.
A Oh, yes. I see. It's got a nice big sofa ... And is there a bath in the bathroom?
B No, there isn't. Each bathroom has got a shower and a toilet.
A OK. And is there a garden for each flat?
B No, there isn't. But all the flats have got lovely balconies with a big table. In Photo 6. What do you think?
A Yes, it looks great. Let's book it.

Exercise 2b 6.12

- Refer students to the lists of rooms and facilities in the advert. Then play track 6.12 again and ask students to tick which of the things on the list the friends talk about.
- EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students could discuss what they remember about the flats before they listen again.
- Elicit which rooms/areas and facilities they talked about.

ANSWERS

bedroom, kitchen, dining area, living room, bathroom, TV, microwave, balcony

Exercise 3a

- Tell students that the photos are of the flats in Ho Chi Minh City. Ask them to read the words in the box and use them to label the numbered items in the photos.

Exercise 3b 6.13

- Play track 6.13 and ask students to listen to the words and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each word for students to repeat. They can mark the word stress in the multi-syllable words to help them remember the pronunciation.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 6.13

- 1 bed 2 TV 3 fridge 4 microwave 5 chair 6 sofa
7 shower 8 table

Exercise 4a

- Ask students to read sentences 1–7 about the photos then complete them using words from the advert and the box in exercise 3a. Point out the example answer.
- Students could compare their answers in pairs.

Exercise 4b 6.14

- Play track 6.14 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing for students to repeat.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Put students into pairs to choose vocabulary from this lesson to create vocabulary diagrams as they did in 6.1 exercise 10. Encourage them to add information about the parts of speech and word stress and example sentences to show the meaning.

ANSWERS

1 bedroom 2 bedroom 3 fridge, microwave
4 chairs 5 living room 6 balcony 7 shower

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.14

- 1 The bed is in the bedroom.
- 2 The TV is in the bedroom.
- 3 The fridge and the microwave are in the kitchen.
- 4 The two chairs are in the dining area.
- 5 The sofa is in the living room.
- 6 The table is on the balcony.
- 7 The shower is in the bathroom.

Grammar & Speaking each and all the

Exercise 5a

- Put students into pairs to remember what rooms and facilities the two speakers mentioned about the flat in the conversation in exercise 2a, e.g. The flat has got a living room. The living room has got a sofa. The flat hasn't got a garden. Give them a few minutes to do this, using the photos, too. They don't need to write anything, only talk.
- Ask students to read the second part of the conversation and then look at the words in the box. Tell them to try to complete the conversation from memory before they listen again. They could do this in their pairs.

Exercise 5b 6.15

- Play track 6.15 and ask students to listen to the conversation and check their answers. Go through the answers, eliciting just the missing words to make sure they are all correct.

ANSWERS

1 living 2 one 3 sofa 4 bath 5 shower 6 garden
7 table

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.15

B Oh – there isn't a living room.

A Yes, there is. In Photo 4. There's one living room for all the flats.

B Oh, yes. I see. It's got a nice big sofa ... And is there a bath in the bathroom?

A No, there isn't. Each bathroom has got a shower and a toilet.

B OK. And is there a garden for each flat?

A No, there isn't. But all the flats have got lovely balconies with a big table.

Exercise 6

- Refer students to the highlighted words in the conversation in exercise 5a. Ask them to look at the nouns which follow these words, noticing whether they are singular or plural. This will help them complete the Grammar focus box.
- Elicit the answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 each 2 all the

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p127. There are three more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to read the conversation and use each and all the to complete it. Refer them to the Grammar focus box if they are having difficulty and remind them to check whether the following noun is singular or plural.

Exercise 7b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers by asking a strong pair to read the conversation aloud. Ask whether they needed any capital letters to complete the sentences (in 4 they need a capital as it is the start of a sentence).

ANSWERS

1 each 2 all the 3 each 4 All the 5 all the 6 each

Pronunciation linking (1)

- Ask students to read the information about linking as you read it aloud. Check they know the meaning of consonant and vowel by writing a word on the board and asking them to circle all the vowels or all the consonants.

Exercise 8a 6.16

- Play track 6.16 and ask students to listen to the sentences and notice how consonant sounds link with vowel sounds in natural speech.

WATCH OUT! Point out that students need to focus on the sounds of the words, not the spelling, e.g. there and table obviously finish with a vowel in spelling, but when we say them, the last sound is the consonant sound (/r/ and /l/ respectively).

Exercise 8b 6.16

- Play track 6.16 again, pausing after each sentence for students to repeat and practise the linking. You could isolate the specific words linked in each sentence and model these for students to see your lip position.

Exercise 9a

- Check that students understand the categories in the table. Then ask them to make notes in their notebooks about their real flat or house. Alternatively, students can invent a flat/house to describe if they prefer not to talk about their own.
- Monitor and refer students to the advert in exercise 1 to help them think of things to write.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Remind a strong group that they want people to rent their flat, so they can also use positive adjectives to describe rooms and facilities, e.g. a big dining area, a new kitchen, a beautiful bathroom. Ask students to think of adjectives and add them to their notes in the table.

- Ensure all students have some information in each of the categories before you end this part of the exercise.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into groups of three or four. Explain that one student answers questions about their house/flat. All the other students in the group ask questions. Point out the example questions starting Is there ...? and Has it got ...? Demonstrate by inviting students to ask you questions about your house/flat. Give clear short answers, e.g. Yes, it has/No, there aren't, and if possible, also model longer answers, e.g. Yes, there is air conditioning in all the rooms.
- Choose a student in each group to have the first turn at answering questions. Monitor groups carefully, encouraging quieter students to ask questions.

FEEDBACK FOCUS Focus on noting mistakes with there is/there are. Students need to remember how to: use these structures with singular and plural nouns; make negatives; change the word order for questions. Make a note of errors to correct after exercise 9c. Note students who use each/all the in sentences or questions, so you can praise them.

Exercise 9c

- Ask students to think about the different houses/flats their group talked about and decide which one they like best.
- Elicit ideas from each group, together with information about why they like that particular house/flat, e.g. There are four bedrooms. It's got air conditioning.
- Conduct error correction by asking students to identify and correct errors in sentences/questions on the board. You could encourage them to discuss in their groups before eliciting the correction from the class.

EXTENSION Choose sentences students have said as examples and write them on the board. Ask students to copy the sentences into their notebooks and mark places where words are linked. Refer them back to exercise 8a if they cannot remember the rule for consonant + vowel linking. Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Check together and drill the sentences to practise linking.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Find a lettings agency website in an English-speaking country and suggest a city to look in. Students browse and find a flat they would like to rent. Then, in pairs, they talk about what rooms and facilities the flat has got. Alternatively, find two adverts yourself and ask pairs to read and compare the two flats/houses and choose which they would like to rent.

Reading skills words that look similar

- Ask students to read the information then refer them to the example sentences. Ask questions about the for/four sentences first: Which word is a number? (four) Do these words sound the same? (yes /fɔːr/). Then ask about read/red, e.g. Which word is a colour? (red) What is the function of read? (It's a verb.) Do these words sound the same? (no, read /riːd/, but red /red/).

Exercise 1a

- Ask students to read the pairs of words and underline letters which are different, e.g. bad – bed. Write this example on the board (it will aid feedback to have all the pairs written on the board).
- Students work alone to complete the exercise.
- Go through the answers, inviting students up to the board to underline as appropriate. Spend some time checking meanings and parts of speech for these twelve words. Elicit meanings, opposites, example sentences by asking questions, e.g. 1 Which word is the opposite of good? (bad) 2 Which word is for asking questions about people? (Who) 3 Which word is a verb about using your eyes (point to eyes)? (see) Is the other sea a verb or a noun? (noun).

PRONUNCIATION Some of these pairs of words sound the same and some sound different. Put students into pairs to decide which ones sound the same (sea/see, their/there, two/too). Drill all the pairs and point out differences in sounds: bad /bæd/, bed /bed/; How /haʊ/, Who /huː/; form /fɔːm/, from /frɒm/.

ANSWERS

1 bad, bed 2 How, Who 3 sea, see 4 there, their 5 two, too 6 form, from

Exercise 1b

- Ask students to read 1–4 and complete the sentences using words from the pairs in exercise 1a.
- Elicit answers from the class, encouraging students to say the completed sentences in full.

WATCH OUT! Point out that it is easy to make mistakes when using these similar-looking words, and it is important to check your work because these kinds of errors will not be corrected by spellcheckers in computer software: the spellchecker will not highlight a word that is spelt correctly, but used incorrectly.

ANSWERS

1 from 2 there 3 see 4 Who

Exercise 2

- Ask students to read the text about another flat and circle the correct words from the options in 1–7.
- Check answers by asking students to read the text one sentence at a time around the class.

ANSWERS

1 from 2 there 3 for 4 two 5 bed 6 too 7 for

Exercise 3

- Ask students to read the questions and then read the text again to find the answers. They can compare answers in pairs before you check with the class.

ANSWERS

1 It's in Hiroshima.
2 It's for five to six people.
3 There are two bedrooms.
4 More photos.

6.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Explain problems
- Write a hotel review

Lead-in

- Put students into small groups to remember as many words as they can for hotel facilities from 6.2. Give them a time limit as an element of competition. When they reach the time limit, find out which group has the most words.
- You could build a spidergram of the vocabulary together on the board.

Listening & Speaking explaining problems

Exercise 1

- Put students into pairs to think of problems people often have in hotels. Give students an example to start them off.
- Monitor and help struggling students by referring them to facilities they thought of in the Lead-in and asking what problem they could have with each one.
- You could put two pairs together to compare ideas.
- Elicit ideas from the class and write them on the board.

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to look at the pictures and think about what the problems are. Then ask them to read sentences 1–5 and match them to the pictures.
- Check answers by eliciting from some of the students. Write the numbers and letters on the board.
- Make sure students understand new words in these sentences (the code for the door, noisy, broken). Refer to the pictures to help them understand the meanings and use mime if necessary, e.g. for picture a, mime punching in a key code and saying the numbers aloud, etc.

ANSWERS

1 e 2 a 3 d 4 b 5 c

Exercise 2b

- Pre-teach cupboard, which may be new and is used in this exercise. Model and drill the pronunciation as there is a silent p: /'kʌbəd/.
- Put students into pairs and ask them to read solutions a–e and match them to the problems in exercise 2a.

Exercise 2c 6.17

- Tell students they are going to hear five conversations about the problems. Remind them to listen for the key words in the solutions. Elicit these: a send/look b cupboard c air conditioning d another room e code number.
- Play track 6.17 and ask students to listen to the conversations and check they found the correct solutions.
- Go through the answers, eliciting them from students.

ANSWERS

a 5 b 3 c 1 d 4 e 2

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.17

1

A My room is very hot.

B There's air conditioning. The switch is next to the door.

2

A Excuse me. I don't know the code for the door.

B It's A5468.

3

A There aren't any towels in the bathroom.

B Hmmm ... Try in the cupboard near the window.

4

A Our room is very noisy.

B I'm so sorry. You can have another room.

5

A Excuse me. The shower in my room is broken.

B Oh, I'm sorry. I'll send someone to look.

Exercise 3a 6.17

- Ask students to read the extracts from the conversations.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students could try to complete the extracts from memory before they listen again.

- Play track 6.17 again so students can complete the extracts.
- Play again, pausing to elicit the missing words.

! Point out we can offer help saying I'll ... Elicit the offer of help from conversation 5 (I'll send someone to look.).

ANSWERS

1 There's, door 2 5468 3 near 4 room

5 sorry, look

Exercise 3b

- Put students into A/B pairs to act out the conversations. To start each conversation, Student A says one of the problems 1–5 in exercise 2a. Student B responds with the appropriate response in exercise 3a. Then ask them to swap roles.
- Monitor and note any pronunciation problems.

SMART COMMUNICATION The phrase I'm sorry is a common response, and in these conversations it is used to apologize for the problem. In number 4, the receptionist says I'm so sorry. Point out that this is one modifier which emphasizes our apology. Elicit or teach that very and really are also used in this way: I'm very sorry and I'm really sorry.

Exercise 4 6.18

- Refer students to the Understanding ... box and ask them to read the information.
- Play track 6.18 and ask students to listen to the examples.
- You could read the examples yourself: keep the rhythm of the original, but only say the key words. This highlights that these words carry the meaning of the sentence.
- Check students understand the meaning of switch as this may be new (point to a switch in the classroom).

PRONUNCIATION The reason why we hear key words is because they are stressed. Remind students that this aspect of pronunciation is very important. Play track 6.18 and pause at the end of each sentence for students to repeat and practise stressing the key words.

Exercise 5a

- Pre-teach or elicit the adjective dirty and drill pronunciation /'dɜ:tɪ/. You could also check they know the opposite: clean. Then put students into pairs to think of solutions for the problems.

WATCH OUT! In order to talk about their solution to 4, students may need you to provide heater.

- Monitor and refer students to the problems and solutions in exercises 2 and 3 for ideas. Ensure all students have a possible solution for each problem before they listen to the conversations in exercise 5b.

Exercise 5b 6.19

- Remind students that to understand offers of help, they need to listen for the key words. Play track 6.19 and ask students to listen to the conversations and make a note of key words they hear for each solution.
- Put students into pairs again to compare key words and discuss whether any of the solutions in the conversations are the same as the ones they thought of.
- Elicit the key words from the class. Make sure they have the correct key words as they need them in the next exercise. Find out if they thought of the same solutions.

ANSWERS

- 1 send someone, look
- 2 have another room
- 3 23 Water Street
- 4 heater, switch, near door

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.19

1

A The phone in my room is broken.

B Oh, I'm sorry. I'll send someone to look.

2

A The bathroom is very dirty.

B I'm so sorry. You can have another room.

3

A I don't know the address of this museum.

B It's 23 Water Street.

4

A My room is very cold.

B Oh, there's a heater. The switch is near the door.

Exercise 5c

- In this exercise, students recreate the conversations in exercise 5b using the key words they wrote down.
- You could demonstrate the activity by choosing a student to be A and taking the B part yourself. Be careful to stress the key words strongly.
- Put students into A/B pairs. Student A goes first. Ensure students change roles after conversation 2 so Student A can reply with a solution in conversations 3 and 4.
- Invite a pair of students to act out each conversation. Praise them if they stress the key words well.

Exercise 6a

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box about problems. Drill the phrases for problems then solutions.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into pairs and ask them to think of two more hotel problems. Help by eliciting things which could be broken (e.g. air conditioning, bed, fridge, TV) or missing (e.g. refreshments, iron, safe). Also help them to think of things they might need to know (e.g. Wi-fi password, hotel address or phone number, hotel email address).
- Ask students to decide on two problems and think about possible solutions. Then they take turns to be guest and receptionist and act out a conversation for each problem (similar to the ones in exercise 5c).
- Monitor and assist students who are finding it difficult to start by referring them to the conversation prompts in exercise 5c or the Language for speaking box.

EXTENSION Invite a few pairs to act out their conversations in front of the class. Ask students who are listening to identify the problem and the solution. You could ask Is it a good solution?

Reading & Writing a hotel review

Exercise 7a

Text summary: An online hotel review which describes the hotel and local area and gives the writer's personal opinion.

- Write a hotel review on the board and ask students to look at the review in the book. Ask Who writes a hotel review? Elicit they are written by guests. Teach that the guest who writes a review is a reviewer. Refer students to the word rating and point to the stars. Teach star for this shape. Elicit that the hotel has four stars and this shows it has a good rating. Add reviewer, rating and star to the board. Drill all the words on the board.
- Ask students to look at the table. Explain that points has a similar meaning to things, and that near the beach is a good thing.
- Students work alone to read the review and complete the table. Allow plenty of time and monitor carefully that students are finding the correct information in the text.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask fast finishers to read the question in exercise 7b and start thinking about their answer.

Exercise 7b

- Put students into pairs to compare their tables.
- Read the question aloud and ask them to discuss with their partner. Encourage them to give reasons why using because, e.g. It's a good hotel for me because the rooms are clean and it has got a nice swimming pool.

EXTENSION Ask students to find examples of but in the review. Put them into pairs to discuss why the reviewer used but in each case (contrasting a positive point with a negative one: It's near the beach, but the sea is not very warm in May. / ... beautiful walks near the hotel, but there aren't a lot of other things to do). Students studied but in 5.1, so refer them there if they have forgotten how this connector is used.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Explain that the adjectives give a good idea about how the reviewer feels about the hotel. Ask them to underline all the adjectives in the review: great, warm (though used in negative not very warm), nice, small, good, clean, lovely, beautiful, local. Elicit which adjectives are positive and which are not. Ask: Does the reviewer like the hotel? Elicit from students which words tell them what the reviewer thinks.

ANSWERS

Good points: near the beach, nice swimming pool, good facilities, clean rooms, air conditioning in each room, the staff are lovely, beautiful walks

Bad points: sea not very warm in May, there aren't a lot of other things to do, one bus a day into town

Exercise 8a

- Refer students to the Language for writing box and ask them to read it carefully. This kind of grammatical labelling may be new to some students, so point out the colour coding and the meanings in brackets. Then refer students to the example sentences and ask Which word is the subject? Which word is the verb?, etc.
- Make the subject – verb – adjective/object order clear and point out that information about place and time is at the end of the sentence and commonly in that order (place, then time, e.g. on the beach at 5 o'clock). To check students have understood this order, write the following words on the board: has got / in the city / My brother / a small flat. Put students into pairs to identify the subject, verb, object and place information and put the sentence into the correct order. Elicit the sentence and grammatical labels: My brother has got a small flat in the city.

Exercise 8b

- Students work alone to find three more example sentences in the review. Ask them to check with a partner and decide which type in the Language for writing box each sentence is similar to.
- Elicit the answers from the class, together with subject, verb, adjective, object labels.

ANSWERS

- 1 The staff are lovely./The rooms are clean.
- 2 It's near the beach./A bus goes to the local town, Nikiti.
- 3 The hotel has a nice swimming pool.

Exercise 9a

- Ask students to read the first sentence. Elicit which is the first word in the sentence (which by now they can identify from the capital letter) and elicit that this is the subject. Ask them to find the verb (has) then elicit what comes next. Elicit or teach the meaning of too.
- Ask students to work alone to complete the exercise.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Check answers and elicit the subject, verb, etc., too.

ANSWERS

- 1 The hotel has a cinema, too.
- 2 The waiters are very friendly.
- 3 Our room doesn't have a big bathroom.
- 4 The train doesn't go to the university.

Exercise 10a

- Tell students to think about a real hotel. This could be in their home town or a hotel they know from a holiday. Ask them to read questions 1–5 and answer about their hotel. Check they understand places of interest. Allow plenty of time for this preparation stage. Students could write their answers, either in full or in note form.
- Monitor and assist with new vocabulary. Allow use of bilingual dictionaries, but check students are finding appropriate/correct words for what they want to say.

Exercise 10b

- In their pairs, students talk about their hotels using their notes from exercise 10a. Refer to the hotel review to remind them of the kind of things to say.

FEEDBACK FOCUS The main focus is on the word order in students' sentences, so note any errors to correct in feedback together after exercise 11a.

Exercise 11a

- Students have prepared well and should now be ready to put the information in writing in the form of a hotel review. Refer students to the review in exercise 7a and remind them to use adjectives and write about both good and bad points. You can also ask them to give the hotel a star rating.
- Monitor and assist struggling students. Correct word order errors as you monitor, but also make a note of common ones for a correction stage at the end.

- Give a time limit to the end of the task and encourage fast finishers to check their work carefully.
- Write common word order errors on the board and elicit corrections. Give students another minute to check and correct any errors in their reviews.

Exercise 11b

- Put students into small groups of 3–4 (preferably different students to the pairs in exercise 10a) and ask them to pass their reviews around the group for everyone to read.
- When students have read the reviews, ask them to discuss the question: Which hotel do you like? Remind them to give their reasons for liking or not liking a hotel.
- Elicit answers to the question and help students express their likes and dislikes. You could make a display of the hotel reviews, grouped according to star rating.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Put students into pairs to think of a very bad hotel (from their imagination and general experience). Ask them to make a list of hotel problems. If necessary, help by eliciting words such as dirty, broken, noisy and also the structures There isn't a/an/There aren't any. Then the pairs write a review of this bad hotel. They can use the questions in exercise 10a to prompt them. In small groups, students read other pairs' reviews and judge which hotel to write a DO NOT GO THERE warning next to on the review website.

6.5 Video

House searching

Presenter Hi there. My name is Louise and I want to find a new house. I live in Bristol in the west of England and I love the place. Bristol has got a population of 437,000 and it's a great city for young people. There are a lot of things to do. There are cinemas, museums and lots and lots of shops. But one problem is that houses and flats are expensive. It isn't easy to find a good flat in Bristol.

Lyndsay Mornay is an estate agent. She has got some houses and flats to show me today. This is a typical city flat. This is the living room. It's big and it's got a large window so there's a lot of light. It's got a table, chairs, an old sofa and a bookcase. Next to the living room is the kitchen. It's very small. It's got an oven, a fridge, a sink and a washing machine. The bedrooms are very different. The big bedroom's got a double bed, a wardrobe and a chest of drawers. In the small bedroom there's a desk and a sofa. In the bathroom there's a bath, a shower, a toilet and a sink.

OK, it's a nice flat. It's got everything and it's in a lovely area. But it's small and at £850 a month it's very expensive. Flats in the city aren't cheap. But there are other places. Flats and houses outside of the city are usually quite big and the rent is cheap. So, let's go and see one.

This house has got two bedrooms and a lovely garden, and is around ten minutes from the village shop. This is the living room. It's a really nice room. There's a sofa, a TV and a coffee table. This is the dining room. There's a large, wooden table and six chairs. And this is the kitchen. It has an oven, a big sink and an old table and chairs. This is the master bedroom and this is the guest bedroom. They are both quite big and they have both got a bed, a wardrobe and a chest of drawers. But my favourite thing about the house is the garden. It's beautiful and it's got lovely flowers.

I love Bristol. It's a great city and there are lots of things to do. But the flats are very expensive. This village is small. There's only one shop. There aren't any cafés or restaurants, and there isn't a cinema or a gym. But it's really pretty and the house is amazing. I love it here!

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

bedroom, living room, kitchen

Exercise 1b

a sofa, an oven, a chest of drawers, a window, a chair, a bed, a TV, a bookcase

Exercise 2

1 T 2 T 3 F 4 F 5 T 6 T

Exercise 3a

1 big 2 window 3 small 4 sofa 5 a bath and a shower 6 month

Exercise 3b

1 ten 2 coffee table 3 six 4 big 5 wardrobe
6 small 7 a shop 8 restaurants

Review

ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

Facilities in a town: bank, museum, park, shop

Facilities in a hotel: air conditioning, iron, safe, Wi-fi

Furniture: bed, chair, sofa, table

Exercise 1b

table – kitchen, dining room

bed – bedroom sofa – living room chair – kitchen, dining room

Exercise 2a

1 There's 2 There's 3 There isn't 4 There's

5 There are 6 There isn't 7 There's 8 There aren't

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.20

1 There's a big bed.

2 There's a fridge.

3 There isn't a sofa.

4 There's a table.

5 There are four chairs.

6 There isn't a bath.

7 There's a shower.

8 There aren't any books.

Exercise 3a

1 Austria 2 small 3 restaurants, cafés, shops

4 swimming pool, park 5 walk

6 restaurant, gym, Wi-fi

AUDIOSCRIPT 6.21

A So, this hotel is in Lech am Arlberg in Austria. It's in the mountains.

B Is it a big town?

A No, it isn't.

B What facilities has it got?

A Oh, there are lots of restaurants and cafés and there are nice shops.

B OK. And are there things for children to do?

A Yes, there's a swimming pool and a park.

B And what other things do people do there?

A Well, people walk in the forest and in the mountains. They're very near to the town.

B And the hotel? What facilities has it got?

A It's a lovely hotel. There's a restaurant and a gym.

B Is there Wi-fi?

A Yes, there's Wi-fi in all the rooms.

B OK, that sounds great.

Exercise 4a

1 e 2 d 3 b 4 c 5 a

Exercise 5a

1 any 2 Each 3 All 4 Each 5 all 6 a 7 a

8 any

Exercise 5b

1 they don't 2 there is 3 I haven't 4 there are

7.1 She can paint

Goals

- Use can and can't
- Talk about your abilities

Lead-in

- Put students into groups to make a list of all the English words they know for animals (they learnt cat, dog, goldfish, but they may know some more).
- Elicit words from the class. Make sure bird is included in the list as students will see a bird in the photos in this lesson. Teach any other new animal words, using images from the internet or a quick sketch on the board.
- Tell students this lesson includes a text about an animal with an unusual ability. Check they understand the meaning of ability.

Reading & Vocabulary skills

Exercise 1

- Put students into pairs and ask them to read the questions. Give an example to demonstrate how to do the exercise: I know a clever dog. He's my sister's dog. He opens doors! Mime this action if necessary.

EXTRA SUPPORT Students may not know all the words to explain why the animal they know is clever. Ask them to mime what the animal can do and give them the English words they need for the action.

- Elicit any answers from the class and help them explain why the animal is clever.

Exercise 2a

Text summary: An article about a gorilla called Koko who has unusual abilities. The text explains the different things Koko can do.

- Point to the photo and say This is Koko. She's a gorilla. Elicit the meaning and strength of the adjective amazing in the title of the text (they learnt this word in Unit 5). Ask students to read the text to find out the writer's reasons for using this adjective about Koko.
- Elicit ideas from the class.

ANSWERS

She understands language. She uses her hands to say things. She paints pictures and she plays the electric piano.

Exercise 2b

- Pre-teach the noun sign by referring students to the picture of hands doing sign language at the bottom of the text (the sign means word). Drill pronunciation /saɪn/. You could also elicit or teach paintbrush and piano.
- Ask students to read questions 1–4 and find the answers in the text.

EXTRA SUPPORT Help students remember the kind of information needed to answer each of the Wh- questions: Where (place), What (thing), How (the way she does it), What does she do (action). Point out that there are two videos mentioned in the text, so they need to find what she does in each one. This kind of predicting can help them find the answers.

- Elicit the answers from the class as full sentences.

ANSWERS

- 1 She lives near Santa Cruz in the USA.
- 2 She can understand language.
- 3 She uses her hands.
- 4 In one of the videos, she uses a paintbrush and paints a picture of a bird. In another video, she plays an electric piano.

Exercise 3

- Refer students to the verbs in the box. Ask if any are unknown and elicit or teach meanings as necessary.
- Ask students to work alone and write the verbs next to the matching nouns 1–8. Show them that number 1 has been done as an example. (To be clear, you could point out that Japanese in number 6 is the Japanese language.)

WATCH OUT! Most of these verb + noun combinations are in the text and the verb drive was used in Unit 4 (remind students if necessary), which leaves ride as the only verb left to make the final verb + noun combination: ride a bike.

- Elicit the verb + noun combinations then drill the phrases.

ANSWERS

- 1 remember 2 understand 3 paint 4 play 5 use
6 speak 7 drive 8 ride

Exercise 4a

- Read out the example phrase and elicit more nouns. Ask them What can you remember? (someone's name/a telephone number/a word, etc.).
- Put students into pairs and ask them to think of one more noun for each verb, but more if possible. Give another example if necessary, e.g. paint a picture/paint a house. (Example answers: understand + school subjects/languages/someone; play + instruments/sports/cards; use + most objects, e.g. a computer/a mobile phone/a dictionary; speak + other languages, e.g. Polish, Arabic; drive + a car/a bus/a train; ride + a motorbike/a horse. Some of these nouns might be new to students.)

Exercise 4b

- Put two pairs of students together to compare their nouns. You could ask them to find combinations which are the same and different.
- Write the verbs on the board and invite students to come and write nouns next to them. Check that the nouns are correct. You may need to correct spelling errors.

Grammar & Speaking can, can't

Exercise 5

- Ask students to read sentences 1–4.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students can try to remember whether these sentences are true or false before they read.

- Students read the text again and answer true or false.

ANSWERS

1 True 2 False 3 False 4 False

Exercise 6

- Ask students to underline can and can't in the sentences in exercise 5, then use these to help them complete the Grammar focus box. Elicit answers from two students.

- You could check students fully understand ability and how it relates to can/can't. Give examples from the text: Koko can understand instructions. Ask Has she got the ability to understand instructions? (yes). Koko can't speak. Ask Has she got the ability to speak? (no).

PRONUNCIATION Model and drill can and can't, paying attention to the negative to ensure students make the long /ɑː/ sound and the /t/: /kɑːnt/. Without this careful differentiation, people could think they are saying they can when they can't.

ANSWERS

1 can 2 can't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p128. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 7a

- Refer students to the photos of clever animals. Elicit the animal words from the class (dog, cat, bird). Then ask students to read the sentences about these animals. Elicit or teach the meaning of rules in sentence 3.
- Ask students to decide whether can or can't is true in each case and circle the correct option. Point out that there is but in each sentence, which shows the two ideas are contrasting, i.e. one can and one can't in each sentence.

Exercise 7b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Nominate three students to read out one sentence each, including their circled words. Check answers are correct.

ANSWERS

1 can 2 can't 3 can't 4 can 5 can 6 can't

Pronunciation sentence stress: can, can't

Exercise 8a 7.1

- Play track 7.1 and ask students to listen to the sentences and decide which word is stressed: can or can't.
- Elicit the answer from a student. Point out that in sentence 1 the stressed words are Koko, use and paintbrush because these key words carry the meaning and information in the sentence. For this reason, can is pronounced very quickly and the vowel sound is reduced: /kən/. Model this: first just /kən/ on its own and then in the whole sentence. Can't gives key information in the sentence, so it is stressed.

ANSWER

can't is stressed

Exercise 8b 7.1

- Play the track again, pausing after each sentence for students to repeat.

Exercise 8c

- Put students into pairs and refer them to the sentences in exercise 7a. Ask them to say the sentences aloud to practise stressing can/can't correctly.

EXTRA SUPPORT Ask students to mark the stressed words (with a mark over the vowel of the stressed syllable) before they try to say the sentences.

- Monitor and correct any errors with sentence stress.

Exercise 9a

- Ask students to read the four sentences and choose can/can't to make them true for themselves. Point out they need to choose between but and and depending on whether they have two contrasting or similar ideas in their sentence.
- Allow plenty of time for students to work alone on this exercise. Monitor to check they are making logical sentences in terms of and and but.

Exercise 9b

- Ask students to think of other skills and abilities they have and make their own sentences. Refer them to the verbs and nouns in exercise 3, and their ideas for other nouns in exercise 4, to help them get ideas.

- When students have written two more sentences, put them into pairs to compare the sentences they have made. You could tell them their aim is to find out any skills they have which are the same as their partner's.
- Elicit from pairs of students the skills they have which are the same, e.g. We can ... (You could also elicit any skills which they both don't have, e.g. We can't ...)

EXTENSION Ask students to write down two of the skills in the sentences in exercise 9a, e.g. speak Spanish, ride a motorbike. Tell students to mingle and say the two skills to as many other students as possible. Their aim is to find people who can do the two things they chose and write their names down. So one student says speak Spanish and the student they are talking to says either I can speak Spanish or I can't speak Spanish. Tell them they have five minutes only. For feedback, elicit names of students and what they can do.

Vocabulary & Speaking abilities

Exercise 10a 7.2

- Ask students to look at the photos and read the verbs while you play track 7.2. Point out the spelling of write, i.e. that it has a silent w.

Exercise 10b 7.2

- Play track 7.2 again, pausing after each verb for students to repeat.

Exercise 11a

- Ask students to read the instruction and the example. Then put them into pairs to use the verbs in exercise 10a to talk about their abilities.

EXTRA SUPPORT Allow weaker students some thinking time to plan what they want to say about each verb. It is better if they don't write their sentences as the focus is on speaking.

- Allow plenty of time for students to share their skills. Tell them they can make notes of their partner's skills as they need to remember them. Monitor students' conversations and note any errors to correct after exercise 11b.

Exercise 11b

- Put students into new pairs so they can tell each other about their first partner's skills. Refer them to the example and encourage them to try to use and and but.
- Elicit sentences from students about their first partner's skills to round off the exercise. Try to elicit something about each student if your class is not too big.
- Correct any errors with the class, eliciting the corrections from students where possible.

Listening skills the schwa sound /ə/

Ask students to read the information. Be careful when you model the example words that you show the schwa sound which has totally relaxed lip, tongue and jaw position. You could say each word in its full pronunciation, followed by its unstressed version to clearly illustrate the difference, e.g. can /kæn/, /kən/, are /ɑ:/ /ə/.

Exercise 1 7.3

- Play track 7.3 and ask students to listen to the phrases and identify the schwa sounds (one in each phrase). Pause after number 1 and elicit whether students heard the schwa sound. You may need to play this first phrase again as the idea of this sound is quite new for students. Elicit that the a is a schwa sound.
- Play to the end of the track for students to complete the exercise, pausing if necessary to allow thinking time.
- Elicit answers from students.

EXTRA ACTIVITY You could ask students to mark the main word stressed in each phrase, playing the track again if necessary. It could help some students to see visually that all the schwa sounds are in the unstressed words.

ANSWERS

1 a paintbrush 2 from Spain 3 of course
4 an easy job 5 black and blue 6 stay at home

Exercise 2 7.4

- Allow time for students to read the sentences. Tell them they will hear more than one schwa in them.
- Play track 7.4 and ask students to listen to the sentences and underline the words they hear with a schwa sound.

EXTRA CHALLENGE In pairs, stronger students could predict before listening which words they think will have a schwa.

- Students could compare the words they have underlined in pairs before you elicit the answers.

EXTRA ACTIVITY As in exercise 1, ask students to mark the main stresses on the sentences.

ANSWERS

- 1 Koko can play an electric piano.
- 2 The boys have lunch at school.
- 3 The shops are closed from one to three.
- 4 There are lots of cafés and parks in this town.

Exercise 3a 7.5

- Ask students to read the text. Elicit what they think the missing word is in number 1. Point out that all the missing words are unstressed, so they need to listen for schwas.
- Play track 7.5 and ask students to listen to the speaker and complete the text. Don't pause this first time, but play the track again and pause at the end of each sentence to allow extra time for students to write.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class, asking different students to read out one line of the text at a time. Model how the word sounds with a schwa each time if possible.

ANSWERS

1 a 2 an 3 can 4 and 5 and 6 can 7 to 8 for 9 are 10 From 11 To 12 A 13 A 14 From

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.5

My neighbours have a parrot, Murphy. He's an amazing bird! Murphy can sing and speak, too. He likes dancing and he can listen to The Beatles for hours. There are two songs Murphy loves, From Me to You and She's a Woman, but he hates With a Little Help from My Friends – nobody knows why!

7.2 Can you help?

Goals

- Use can to ask and answer about abilities
- Use adverbs of manner

Lead-in

- Put students into small groups and ask them to try to remember any of the skills and abilities of students in the class (from the exercises in 2.1). Elicit ideas in full sentences, e.g. (Name) can drive a bus.
- Make a list on the board to use later in the lesson.

Listening & Grammar Can you ...?

Exercise 1a

- Pre-teach volunteer (which can be a noun, verb and adjective). Mark the stress and drill pronunciation /vɒlən'tɪə/. Elicit or explain that this is when a person works, but isn't paid. You could briefly tell students about any volunteering you do or someone you know does, and elicit examples from the class.
- Put students into pairs and give them a few minutes to ask and answer the questions about volunteer work.
- Elicit answers from the class. You could ask them to report what their partner said to practise third person pronouns and verb forms (adding s).

Exercise 1b

Background note: Zanzibar is actually two islands, located off the east coast of Africa, and it is part of Tanzania. The population is around 1 million and the language is Swahili.

- Ask students to look at the photo and the title of the text. Elicit that the animals in the photo are dolphins and drill this word /'dɒlfɪn/.

PRONUNCIATION You could point out that ph in written English is almost always pronounced /f/.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could also teach research project to help students understand the job before they read. Stronger students can read the text and work out what the job involves.

- Ask students to read the advert and the questions. Point out the two words explained at the bottom of the text. Students can answer the questions in their pairs.
- Elicit full sentence answers from the class.

WATCH OUT! Check understanding as you go through the answers. Sometimes students are able to copy the correct information without really understanding it, e.g. they may see that teach English to tourist guides is a job, but you need to check they understand what a tourist guide does and teach this vocabulary if you discover it is new to them.

- Of course, students will have different opinions in answer to the last question. Make sure you help them explain their reasons (e.g. It's good because you go to Zanzibar. Zanzibar is hot and beautiful. It's good because you see dolphins. It isn't good because it's expensive.).
- Drill new vocabulary: research /'riːsɜːtʃ/, project /'prɒdʒekt/, behaviour /bɪ'heɪvɪə/, record /rɪ'kɔːd/.

ANSWERS

- 1 The project is in Zanzibar.
- 2 The different jobs are to record numbers of tourists and dolphins, watch dolphins, take photos of dolphins, teach English to tourist guides and drive.
- 3 In your free time, you can visit the island.
- 4 It costs €800 for two weeks.
- 5 Students' own answers

Exercise 2a 7.6

Audio summary: An interview between Jack (a young man who is applying for the volunteer job in the advert) and an interviewer who asks Jack about his skills and abilities

- Ask students to read the instruction in the book. Teach the meaning of interview. Check they understand they need to listen for Jack's skills and abilities to decide if he is a good person for the job.
- Play track 7.6 and ask students to listen to the interview and answer the question. Play again, pausing after Jack's sentences, to allow time for students to make notes.
- Elicit Jack's abilities from the class. Note that the verb type is explained in exercise 2b.
- Ask some students for their opinion, Is he a good person for the job in the advert? Encourage them to say why.

EXTENSION You could also ask students what Jack said about driving (he can't drive, but he can learn fast). Elicit why Jack says but (two contrasting pieces of information – negative and then positive).

ANSWERS

He can swim.

He can type, but slowly.

He can use computer programs.

He can use a camera.

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.6

I OK Jack, and can you swim?

J Yes, I can. I can swim well.

I OK, great. And are you good with a computer?

J I type quite slowly, but I can use different computer programs.

I Good. And can you drive?

J No, I can't. But I can learn. I'm a fast learner.

I Great! And can you use a camera?

J Yes, I can. I like photography a lot.

Exercise 2b 7.6

- Ask students to read the whole conversation.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students can try to complete the conversation before they listen again. You could write the missing words in random order on the board for them to choose from.

- Play track 7.6 again, pausing after Jack's sentences to allow extra time for students to write the answers.
- Elicit missing words 1–6 from the class and play the track one more time so they can hear them in context again.

WATCH OUT! Refer students to the definition of the verb type. You can mime this action to make sure they understand. Students also learnt the noun type in Unit 5 talking about fashion types, so if they ask about this, make it clear that these words which look and sound the same are totally different and not connected in meaning.

ANSWERS

1 swim 2 good 3 use 4 drive 5 camera 6 like

Exercise 3a

- Ask students to read the Grammar focus box and complete it using the interview.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you check with the class. You could point out that the grammar rules for Can questions are the same as for Do questions, i.e. the word order is the same and we use the verb in the infinitive without to. The short answer rules are the same, too.

ANSWERS

1 Can 2 can 3 can't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp128–129. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 3b

- Ask students to read the instruction and example question with Can.

EXTRA SUPPORT Do another example with the class as a demonstration.

- Students work alone to make questions. Monitor and check they are using the correct word order.
- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit questions from the class.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask fast finishers to choose three of the skills in 7.1 exercise 3 and write a question with can for each one.

ANSWERS

- Can you speak English?
- Can you use a camera?
- Can you swim?
- Can you teach English?
- Can you drive?

Pronunciation can, can't in questions and statements

Ask students to read the information. Then play track 7.7 and ask them to listen to the examples. Remind them that in positive sentences, the main verbs are stressed, not can (they learnt this in 7.1 exercise 8a). Point out that can't is always pronounced with a long vowel sound, never a schwa.

Play the track again to focus on the sentence stress patterns, the weak schwa sound for positive and question forms and the full forms of can and can't in short answers and negatives.

Exercise 4a 7.8

- Play track 7.8 and ask students to listen to the sentences. Pause after each sentence for students to repeat. Correct any mistakes you hear by drilling the whole class.

Exercise 4b

- Put students into pairs to practise saying the sentences. Ask them to monitor their partner's pronunciation.
- Monitor and ensure students are placing the word stress correctly and making weak forms /kən/ for sentences 1 and 2. Students need plenty of practice of this as it may be quite a new concept.
- You could also drill the sentences with the class in various ways: all the female students, all the male students, the front half of the class, the back half of the class, etc.

Exercise 5

- Put students into pairs to take turns to interview each other for the job in Zanzibar using the questions in exercise 3b. Encourage students to make the weak form of can for the questions.
- Read aloud the question Is your partner a good person for the job in Zanzibar? You could put students into new pairs and ask them to talk about the answer to this question, explaining to their new partner the things their first partner can and can't do. Give an example sentence: (Name) is a good person for the job because he can swim and he can drive. (Be careful to model the weak form of can.) Alternatively, just elicit these sentences from the class.

EXTENSION You could ask students to think about how they would ask a Can question using third person singular, i.e. not asking a person directly about their own skills, but asking another person to report what they know. Elicit Can he/she ...? Also elicit the short answers: Yes, he/she can. / No, he/she can't. Students can then practise these questions and answers in pairs to talk about their first partners.

Vocabulary & Speaking adverbs of manner

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read the instruction and the questions. Refer them back to the conversation in exercise 2b to find the information about Jack to answer the questions.
- Elicit answers from the class

ANSWERS

1 Yes, he is. 2 No, he isn't. 3 well, slowly

Exercise 6b

- Explain that the focus of the lesson is now on adverbs, which are words that give information about verbs. Refer students to the table and use bad as an example. The adjective gives information about a noun, e.g. a bad hotel. Badly is the adverb. This gives information about a verb, e.g. He drives badly.
- Ask students to use the conversation in exercise 2b to help them find the missing adjective and adverbs in the table. Monitor and assist by giving the verb (type, swim) and noun (learner) that they need to look for.
- Elicit answers from the class.

WATCH OUT! Point out that you can add -ly to the end of adjectives to make many adverbs (slowly, badly), but not all. The adverbs well and fast are two irregular examples which they will have to learn.

ANSWERS

1 slowly 2 well 3 fast

Exercise 7

- Ask students to read the sentences and complete them with the words in the box.
- Elicit answers from the class.

! Point out the position of the adverbs. Adverbs go after the verb but also after verb phrases, so we don't say ~~I can drive well a car~~. In this case, it's important that drive and a car stay together. You could give other examples: I can play the piano fast. He can paint a picture slowly.

ANSWERS

1 well 2 slowly 3 badly 4 fast

Exercise 8a

- Students work alone to make sentences from the jumbled words, putting the adverb in the correct position. Point out that one of the sentences is a question.
- Do the first sentence together as a demonstration. Elicit which is the first word: He (capital letter) and then the next reads (verb), and then complete the sentence.
- Allow plenty of time for students to complete the exercise. Monitor and correct any word order mistakes.

Exercise 8b 7.9

- Play track 7.9 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers. Pause after each sentence to allow time for students to correct any errors.

- As another check of learning, write this question on the board: Can he fast type? Elicit that it is incorrect and what the correct word order is (Can he type fast?).

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 7.9

- 1 He reads very slowly.
- 2 She can type fast.
- 3 He speaks French badly.
- 4 I can't play tennis well.
- 5 Can she understand English well?

Exercise 9

- Put students into pairs to talk about their own skills and abilities. Ask them to take turns to say a sentence. Refer them to the example and remind them to include adverbs from the box, too.
- Monitor as students do the exercise and make a note of any errors with word order or pronunciation. Students should be using the weak form of can, but may forget now as they are concentrating on adverbs. Remind them of this at the end and drill some of the sentences you heard, modelling and insisting on the weak form of can.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to continue talking about their skills in pairs, using ones they remember from 7.1 exercises 3 and 4a (or they could look at page 66). Remind them to use adverbs, with or without very. Monitor and then elicit some of these skills, asking them to report about their partner's skills, e.g. (Name) can play football well.

Exercise 10a

- Put students into pairs and ask them to read the job advert. Check they understand tourist information centre, receptionist, foreign.
- Ask students to prepare interview questions as in the conversation in exercise 2b. Refer them to the example questions. Tell them their questions can include can, but they can ask other questions, too.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into new A/B pairs. Tell Student A to be the interviewer and ask Student B their prepared questions.
- Monitor for any errors and ensure students swap roles after the first interview.

Exercise 10c

- Conduct feedback with the class by nominating a number of students to answer the question. You could also ask students to give feedback to the student they interviewed, e.g. You are the right person for the job because you can ...

Reading skills scanning for specific information

Ask students to read the information about scanning. Ask questions to check understanding: Is scanning fast or slow? (fast) What do we scan for? (words and numbers).

Exercise 1

- Ask students to read and complete the gaps using the words in the box.
- Elicit answers from the class. Explain that the highlighted information answers the questions What is the name of the film? Where is it on? What time's it on? To find out this information quickly, we need to read fast to find words (which in this case are names and places, so have capital letters) and numbers (because the information is a time).

ANSWERS

a place   b name of film   c time

Exercise 2a

- Write the job and the place on the board. Then tell students they have ten seconds to read the advert and find the two pieces of information.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit the answers. Ask students if they could find the information in ten seconds. Point out the capital letters which start the names of the job and the place. It is important they notice this in order to scan effectively.

ANSWERS

a English teacher   b Brighton

Exercise 2c

- Ask students to read the question then tell them to find the answer as quickly as they can.
- Elicit the answer from one of the fast finishers. Ask how they found the answer fast (because they looked for a number – the age).

ANSWER

twelve to sixteen year-olds

Exercise 3a

- Put students into pairs and tell them to cover the photo of the car and the advert. Ask them to read the questions, and explain these are about a car they want to buy (and they want to know the answers).
- Ask students, in their pairs, to predict what they need to scan for, e.g. 1 the make of car (a word starting with a capital letter) 2 the age/date (a number) 3 a colour (a word) 4 the price (a number and currency symbol) 5 the place (a word with a capital letter).

Exercise 3b

- Tell students that this time they have a time limit of twenty seconds to find the information in the advert. Say 3, 2, 1, go and time the exercise. Count down the final five seconds.
- Students could check in pairs who has the most answers.
- Ask if students were successful at finding all the necessary information. Point out there are words they don't need to read at all because they only need the answers to the questions. Elicit the answers and elicit or point out what they scanned for each time.

DICTIONARY SKILLS Write some of the new vocabulary/ phrases on the board: grey leather seats, registered, or near offer, London area. Give students dictionaries to look up any words they don't know. Check phrases as a class when they have tried to find the meanings for themselves.

ANSWERS

1 Mercedes R230   2 From 2012   3 red
4 £15,000 or near offer   5 London area

7.3 I like going out

Goals

- Use like + -ing
- Talk about your hobbies

Lead-in

- Students need to fully understand hobbies for this lesson. Give examples of your own hobbies: In my free time, I read books and I play tennis with my friend. Write the sentence on the board, underline the activities and say my hobbies.
- Put students into pairs or small groups and ask them to brainstorm any free-time activities they can think of in English.
- Elicit hobbies from the class and make a list on the board.

Vocabulary & Speaking hobbies

Exercise 1a 7.10

- Explain that the infographic shows things people in the USA and the UK do in their free time. Point out that these are in order of popularity, with the most popular activity being number 1. Elicit the word hobbies.
- Refer students to the USA half of the infographic and ask them to look at the pictures and verbs/phrases to understand the activities.
- Play track 7.10, pausing after each verb/phrase for students to repeat.

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.10

- 1 travel
- 2 cook
- 3 watch sport/play sport
- 4 play video games
- 5 shop online
- 6 take photos
- 7 make things
- 8 go on Facebook/go on Twitter

Exercise 1b

- Refer students to the UK side of the infographic. Some pictures are labelled. Students add labels to the other pictures using the verbs in the box.
- Check students understand go out with friends. You could elicit places they go with their friends in the evening – generic or real places in their town.
- Put students into pairs to complete the exercise.

Exercise 1c 7.11

- Play track 7.11 and ask students to listen to the verbs/phrases and check their answers. Play again, pausing after each verb/phrase for students to repeat.

ANSWERS

- 1 read
- 2 work in the garden
- 3 go out with friends
- 4 go to the cinema/theatre

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.11

- 1 read
- 2 watch TV
- 3 travel
- 4 work in the garden
- 5 listen to music
- 6 cook
- 7 go out with friends
- 8 play sport
- 9 go to the cinema/go to the theatre

Exercise 1d

- Put students into A/B pairs to test each other on the verbs. Student A can test Student B on the USA list, and Student B can test Student A on the UK list.
- Correct pronunciation errors as you hear them, but make a note of any common ones to drill with the class.

EXTENSION Drill the class by saying a country and a number, e.g. The UK number 5. Students say the verb/phrase for the hobby. Then nominate a student to choose a country and number. Continue until all or most of the hobbies have been said.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Tell students to look at the infographic for 1 minute to try to remember the order of the hobbies from 1–8/9. Then put students into A/B pairs. Student A has the USA list and Student B has the UK list. Ask them to take turns to test each other on the hobbies, e.g. What's number 1? It's read. Yes./What's number 2? It's play video games. No, it isn't. It's cook.

Exercise 2a

- Refer students to questions 1–3 then put them into pairs and ask them to use the infographic to answer the questions.

EXTRA SUPPORT Tell students how many hobbies to look for in answer to each question: 1 six hobbies, 2 six hobbies, 3 three hobbies.

- Allow plenty of time for this exercise as students have to find out what is the same and different between the two countries. Elicit answers from the class: students can just say the words for the hobbies.

ANSWERS

- 1 watch sport, play video games, shop online, take photos, make things, go on Facebook/Twitter
- 2 read, watch TV, work in the garden, listen to music, go out with friends, go to the cinema/theatre
- 3 travel, cook, play sport

Exercise 2b

- Ask students to read the question and refer them to the example to show them what to do. Allow plenty of time for students to discuss the answer.
- Elicit answers from the group. Alternatively, pair students again so they are working with someone different. Ask them to report to their new partner what their first partner told them, e.g. Martin's friends play football.

Grammar & Speaking like + -ing

Exercise 3a 7.12

- Point to the photos and tell students they are going to hear Anja and Marcin talking about their hobbies.
- Ask students to read the question and check they understand they are listening to find out whether Anja and Marcin have the same hobbies.
- Play track 7.12 and ask students to listen to the conversation and answer the question.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

No. Anja likes swimming and taking photos; Marcin reads and listens to music.

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.12

M Do you have any hobbies, Anja?

A Yes. I like swimming and taking photos.

M What do you take photos of?

A People, usually. And you? What do you like doing in your free time?

M Umm ... not a lot.

A Do you go out often?

M No, I don't like going out. I like reading and listening to music at home.

Exercise 3b 7.12

- Ask students to read sentences 1–3 in preparation for the listening exercise.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students could try to remember the information and circle the words before they listen.

- Play track 7.12 again for students to circle the correct words/phrases. Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 people 2 doesn't like 3 listening to

Exercise 4

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to read it carefully. Tell them they need to focus on the verb + -ing forms in sentences 1–3 in exercise 3b to help them complete the spelling rules. Allow enough time for students to find the examples in the sentences.
- Elicit answers and say each spelling rule aloud to highlight how the spelling changes, e.g. swim (a vowel and a consonant) to swimming (double consonant).
- Point out the note at the bottom of the box. The focus is on like + -ing, but we also use like with nouns.

ANSWERS

1 going 2 taking 3 swimming

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p129. There are three more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 5a

- Ask students to read the conversation, which they listened to in exercise 3. Students work alone to circle the correct words, but can compare answers in pairs.

Exercise 5b 7.12

- Play track 7.12 again for students to check their answers.
- You could point out that when the verb is the same in two parts of a sentence, we don't need to repeat it, e.g. I like reading and listening to music and not I like reading and I like listening to music.

ANSWERS

1 have 2 swimming 3 taking 4 doing 5 go
6 going 7 reading 8 listening

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read the two new conversations. Point out that the verbs they need are in brackets.
- Students work alone to decide on the correct form and complete the conversations. Remind them of the spelling rules in the Grammar focus box in exercise 4 and allow extra time for students to check their spellings.

Exercise 6b 7.13

- Play track 7.13 for students to check their answers. Pause after each word and elicit the spelling.

ANSWERS

1 going 2 being 3 go 4 seeing 5 doing
6 getting up 7 going 8 having

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.13

1

A Do you like going out in the evening?

B Yes, I do. But my husband likes being at home.

A Oh. I often go out in the evening. I like seeing my friends.

2

A What do you like doing at weekends?

B I like getting up late and going shopping. And you?

A Oh. I'm always bored at the weekend. I like having lots to do.

Pronunciation linking vowels with /w/ or /j/

- Ask students to read the information as you read it aloud.
- Play track 7.14 and ask students to listen to the examples.
- Model the examples yourself so students can see the lip position as this is very important. Show them that when you say do, your lips are rounded and ready to make the /w/ sound. Similarly, when pronouncing see, your lips are widely spread and ready for the /j/ sound, which is mostly controlled by movement of the back of the tongue.

Exercise 7a 7.15

- Tell students to look at the four -ing verbs and practise moving their mouths to make them. Ask them to notice where their lips are at the end of the verb before they add -ing, so they can predict which they will need to circle out of a and b.

- Play track 7.15 and ask students to listen to the verbs and circle the version they hear.
- Elicit the answers from the class: they can say a or b.
- Play the track again, pausing after each verb for students to repeat.

ANSWERS

1 a 2 b 3 b 4 a

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.15

1 going 2 being 3 seeing 4 doing

Exercise 7b

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the conversations in exercise 6a and ask them to practise. Monitor that they are pronouncing the -ing verbs well.
- Ask students to swap roles and practise again.

Exercise 8a

PRONUNCIATION Before students start this exercise, drill the question so they find it easy and natural to say. You could use back-chaining to help build the question, e.g. free time (repeat), in your free time (repeat), doing in your free time, etc. Remind them about the /w/ sound in doing if they forget.

- Put students into groups of 4–6 and label each group A, B, C, etc. Tell students to ask other people in the group about their hobbies. Remind them to write the answers as they will need to tell someone else about their group afterwards. Refer them to the example notes about Erik.

WATCH OUT! For any students whose hobby is working in the garden, point out that I like gardening is more natural than I like working in the garden.

- Monitor and encourage quieter students to ask questions as well as respond to others. Keep a note of one student's name from each group to be a spokesperson in class feedback after exercise 8b.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into pairs; two students from different groups. One way to do this is give each student in each group a number 1–6 and then ask them to find another student with the same number from a different group.
- Ask students to take turns to tell each other about their group's answers, as in the example.

EXTRA SUPPORT Allow students planning time before they start their conversations. Ask them to look at the answers they wrote down and find the favourite hobbies in the group and think about how to say the other answers clearly.

EXTRA CHALLENGE You could ask strong students to find similarities and differences between the two groups' hobbies. This might mean they use and and but in some of their conversations.

- Allow plenty of time for this speaking exercise. Monitor carefully, noting any points for error correction, either with using like or pronunciation of -ing verbs.
- Conduct whole class feedback by nominating one student from each group to say what the favourite hobbies are in their group. You could write the favourite hobbies on the board and keep a tally of the answers to find the favourite hobbies for the whole class.

Vocabulary like, love, hate + -ing

Exercise 9a

- Refer students to the Vocabulary focus box and ask them to read it carefully. Check they understand that love and hate are stronger than like and don't like. Drill the verbs love and hate to ensure good pronunciation.
- Point to the small photos and say sentences yourself about your own likes and dislikes: I love books, I hate playing football. I like cooking. I don't like coffee.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Put students into pairs to do the same. They take turns to point at a photo and say a true sentence about it, starting with I.

Exercise 9b

- Ask students to read and complete sentences 1–4 so they are true for them. Refer them to the example in number 1 and point out that they have to finish each sentence in two ways: with a verb + -ing and with a noun.

EXTRA SUPPORT Refer students to the hobbies in exercise 1a if they cannot think of verb + -ing words to use. For nouns, you could ask them to think of food and drink or animals which they like and don't like.

- Monitor and make sure students are practising using both nouns and verbs + -ing.

Exercise 9c

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers and find out whether they share any likes and dislikes.
- As feedback, encourage students to tell the class about any shared likes and dislikes using We, e.g. We like tea. We hate shopping.

Exercise 10a

- Ask students to read and complete sentences 1–6 so they are true for them. Monitor and assist any students who don't understand any of the words in the sentences.

Exercise 10b

- Drill the question Do you like ...? Point out that the stress in the sentence is on the noun or verb + -ing which follows like, so Do you like is not stressed and Do you sounds like /dʒə/ with the schwa sound. Drill the question including some nouns and verbs + -ing to practise the stress pattern: Do you like big cities? Do you like driving?

WATCH OUT! Tell students we usually use like in our questions Do you like ...? (and not Do you love ...?, Do you hate ...?, etc.).

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to practise the example questions and answers. Point out that in each case, Student B adds some interesting information.
- Tell Student A to ask questions about sentences 1, 2 and 3 for Student B to answer. Monitor and encourage Student B to add something to their yes/no answers if they can.
- Students swap roles for sentences 4–6.
- Invite pairs to act out a question and answer for the class.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to think of one noun and one verb + -ing to ask the class about. Tell them to mingle and ask Do you like? questions for their chosen topics. They should ask as many other students as possible and make a note of their answers. In feedback, elicit what they found out about the class' likes and dislikes. If your class is too large to do a whole class mingle, you could do this activity in groups of six to eight.

Exercise 11a

- Ask students to read the instruction. Elicit words for different people in the family to reawaken their knowledge of this vocabulary.
- Students work alone to write sentences about their family members' likes and dislikes. Remind them to use third person verb forms (s).

Exercise 11b

- Ask students to share their sentences in their pairs from exercise 10b. The student listening should respond with questions. Refer students to the example A/B conversation. Tell them to try to keep talking for as long as possible.
- Conduct feedback by asking specific students about what they heard, e.g. Marta, tell us about Luisa's sister.

7.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Make simple requests
- Write a post on a social media website

Lead-in

- Tell students to look at the illustrations in exercise 1a. Ask about the illustrations in general: Are these people happy? (no). Say There are some problems.
- Ask When you have a problem, what do you say? to elicit Can you help? Teach/elicit that a request is asking for help with something.
- With books closed, ask students to think of one or two situations when they need to ask for help. They could do this in pairs or small groups.

EXTRA SUPPORT Monitor and if students are struggling, give examples: You need to know what time it is. You don't understand what someone says.

- Elicit ideas from the class and write them on the board.
- Explain that this lesson is about making requests in situations when you need help.

Listening & Speaking simple requests

Exercise 1

- Ask students to read problems 1–6. Check any unknown vocabulary (box, lost, thirsty) and teach the words using real examples, mime, and by asking students questions.
- Put students into pairs to match the problems to the illustrations, as in the example.
- Elicit answers from the class.

EXTRA ACTIVITY You could ask which problems students think are big problems and which ones are small.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 e 3 a 4 f 5 d 6 b

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to read the words under picture a. Elicit that these are mixed up and need to be put in order. Elicit the first word Can and then the other words in order. Say the whole question aloud and elicit that it's a request for help with the problem I'm lost.
- Ask students to make requests for b–f.
- Monitor and assist where necessary. Encourage students to write the requests in full in their notebooks.

Exercise 2b 7.16

- Play track 7.16 and ask students to listen to the requests and check their answers. Play again, pausing after each request for students to repeat.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 7.16

- a Can you tell me the way to the city centre?
- b Can I take this chair?
- c Can you help me?
- d Can I have some water?
- e Can you speak slowly?
- f Can you call me a taxi?

Exercise 3a 7.17

- Elicit what we can answer to requests, e.g. Can you call me a taxi? We can answer yes or no, but we don't always just use these words to answer.
- Ask students to read the conversations, which contain the problems and requests from exercises 1 and 2a. Point out the missing words are part of the answers to the requests.
- Play track 7.17 and ask students to listen to the conversations and complete them. Play again, if necessary, pausing after each conversation to give students another opportunity to catch and write the answers.

! Point out that when we make a request for a drink we ask Can I have some water/tea?

ANSWERS

1 can 2 problem 3 that 4 now 5 are 6 Sorry

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.17

1

A Excuse me. I can't open this box. Can you help me?

B Of course I can.

2

A I can't understand you. Can you speak slowly?

B Sure, no problem.

3

A Excuse me. I'm lost. Can you tell me the way to the city centre?

B Sure. It's that way.

4

A I want to go to the airport. Can you call me a taxi?

B Yes, of course. Do you want it now?

5

A I'm really thirsty. Can I have some water, please?

B Sure. Here you are.

6

A Excuse me. We only have one chair. Can I take this chair, please?

B Sorry. It's taken.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into A/B pairs to practise the conversations. Listen carefully and make a note of any errors in pronunciation. Make sure students swap roles.

WATCH OUT! Students may try to translate the phrase Here you are and this is not helpful for understanding the meaning. Point out that we use this phrase when we give someone an object, and they need to learn it as a complete phrase.

Exercise 4 7.18

- Refer students to the Understanding ... box and ask them to read the information. Then play track 7.18 and ask them to listen to the examples.
- Check students understand that sorry is used to mean no. Tell them that it is polite English and the tone of the voice goes down at the end. Model it for students to repeat.

SMART COMMUNICATION Politeness in the UK and the USA is very important culturally and, especially in the UK, No is a very direct and hard word, particularly if someone asks for your help. It is very usual to use Sorry to mean No, e.g. Sorry, I'm busy.

- Refer students back to the conversations in exercise 3a and ask how many people said no to the requests (just one: request 6).
- Point out that the positive answer Sure is often followed by no problem, though sure is an answer on its own.
- Play the track again or model the answer phrases yourself for students to repeat.

PRONUNCIATION Insist on good pronunciation of of: /əv/ (in of course), as this word can sound like off when mispronounced.

Exercise 5a 7.19

- Ask students to read the instruction. Elicit that a tick means a yes answer and a cross means a no answer to the request.
- Play track 7.19 and ask students to listen to the conversations and complete the exercise.

Exercise 5b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the students or play the track again, pausing after each conversation to elicit yes or no.
- You could also elicit which yes or no phrase is used.

ANSWERS

1 ✓ 2 ✗ 3 ✗ 4 ✓

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.19

1

A Can I use your pen?

B Of course. Here you are.

2

A I'm lost. Can you tell me the way to the station?

B Sorry. I don't know.

3

A Can I have a bottle of water, please?

B Sorry. We haven't got any water.

4

A Can I take this chair?

B Sure. Go ahead.

Exercise 6a

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box and ask them to read the requests and answers. Remind them that we often use Excuse me when talking to strangers. It is a way to get their attention before making a request. You could demonstrate this by acting out the start of conversation 6 in exercise 3a with a student.
- Drill the phrases in the box. For the requests with Can I/you, drill the full requests with each of the options given.

Exercise 6b

- Divide the class into two halves: A and B. Put students into pairs of two Student As or two Student Bs. Ask them to read their problems 1–4 and discuss how to make the requests for each one. Refer them to the Language for speaking box and the conversations in exercise 3a to help. Tell them not to write the requests down as the focus is on speaking skills.

EXTRA SUPPORT Students may also need to look at the other pair's problems, i.e. Student As read Student Bs' problems, and plan how to respond to the requests they will make.

- Put students into A/B pairs to have their conversations.
- You could ask students to pause after they have each acted out two conversations and have some thinking time to prepare for their final two conversations.

FEEDBACK FOCUS The main aim here is for students to remember and use words and phrases for making requests. Praise students for being polite in their requests and answers or point out any problems with making the requests effectively, including problems arising from not stressing the most important words. Students are likely to make other pronunciation errors and grammar errors and it is fine to correct these at the end.

EXTENSION Put students in groups of 6–8. Ask them to choose one of the problems in this exercise (from either Student A or B, though stronger students could choose a problem from the four they have not tried yet). Ask them to make their request to all the students in their group and respond to the other students' requests. Give a time limit. Monitor carefully and note any problems to address at the end of the activity.

Reading & Writing a post on a social media website

Exercise 7a

Text summary: This is a post on a social media website. Eduardo from Uruguay gives information about himself in order to find a new friend to speak English with.

- Elicit from students which social media websites they use (Facebook, Twitter, etc.).
- Ask students to read questions 1–5. Allow plenty of time for them to read Eduardo's post and find the answers.

Exercise 7b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 He's twenty-six.
- 2 He's from Uruguay.
- 3 He's an engineer.
- 4 He likes football and rock music. He likes playing the guitar, too.
- 5 He likes meeting people from all over the world and wants to find people to speak English with.

Exercise 8a

- Refer students to the Language for writing box. Point out that they have learnt the grammar in this box before, but the focus is on using all these types of words and making sure the word order is correct.
- Ask students to read the information in the box as you read it aloud. Emphasize or point to the word order as you read each example.

EXTENSION You could ask students to brainstorm more examples of the three types of words in the box; adjectives, adverbs of manner and adverbs of frequency.

Exercise 8b

- Ask students to read and complete sentences 1–3. Refer them to Eduardo's post to help them if necessary.
- Elicit answers from students as well as which part of speech each word is: never is an adverb of frequency, so it comes before the verb speak; badly is an adverb saying how you do something, so it comes after the verb + noun (play the guitar); amazing is an adjective, so it comes before the noun songs.

ANSWERS

- 1 never
- 2 badly
- 3 amazing

Exercise 9

- Ask students to read sentence 1 and find the first word (They). Give them a moment to sort this sentence into order then elicit it from one student.
- Put students into pairs to reorder sentences 2–6. Monitor and assist struggling students by referring them to the Language for writing box or by asking questions about the kind of words they have in the sentence.
- Go through the answers together, eliciting from nominated students. For each answer, elicit the kind of word and word order with reference to the Language for writing box.

ANSWERS

- 1 They always play football at the weekend.
- 2 I can speak English slowly.
- 3 We live in a small flat.
- 4 I like cooking, but I can't cook well.
- 5 I like taking photos in my free time.
- 6 I sometimes watch American films.

Exercise 10a

- Ask students to read sentences 1–6 and think about what kind of word is missing from each sentence. After a few minutes thinking time, students could discuss this in pairs.
- Elicit what kind of word is missing from each sentence (1 verb 2 adverb of frequency 3 adjective 4 verb 5 adverb of frequency 6 adjective).
- Students complete the sentences so they are true for them.

EXTRA SUPPORT Assist struggling students by offering them alternatives for the gaps, which they can choose from, e.g. for sentence 1: swim, play the piano, speak Spanish, play football, cook, etc.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into pairs to compare their sentences and find ones which are the same.
- Elicit example sentences from the class – at least two examples for each sentence. Find out whether any pairs had the same sentences.

Exercise 11a

- Tell students they are going to write a post about themselves similar to Eduardo's. Refer them to the prompts to show them what to include. They could also read Eduardo's post again as this provides a good model.
- Monitor and correct errors as you see them, eliciting the correction from students. Make a note of common mistakes, particularly with word order, to correct later.

Exercise 11b

- Put students into pairs and ask them to read each other's posts. Refer them to the points of things to include in exercise 10a and ask them to find each thing in the post.

- Ask students to read their partner's post again to check how they have used adjectives and adverbs. Ask Are there any adjectives? Are there any adverbs of frequency? Are there any other adverbs after verbs? Tell them they can ask you if they are unsure whether their partner has made a mistake. Monitor and clarify any of the students' queries.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask students to find one place in their partner's post where they can add an adjective or an adverb and mark it with a star. (Draw a star on the board in case they have forgotten what it is.)

- Students swap their posts again and look at any corrections and, if they have done the Extra challenge, think about adding an adjective or adverb.
- Praise students and correct any word order errors by writing them on the board and eliciting corrections.

EXTENSION For homework, ask students to write a perfect copy of their social media post to make a class display so that they can share information about their skills, likes and dislikes with the class.

7.5 Video

An unusual hobby

Presenter We all have different hobbies. Some people play football, others listen to music. But some people have unusual hobbies. I'm here to meet James Carcaterra. From nine to five, he's an IT consultant, but in his free time he juggles. And he can juggle very well. He can juggle three balls with two hands and he can juggle two balls with one hand. Hello.

James Hi!

Presenter So James, first of all – why?

James I like juggling. It's hard but it's fun, too. Actually, it's fun because it's hard. I like trying new things and learning new tricks.

Presenter And you're in a juggling group. Is that right?

James Yes. We meet every week and we often go to events and festivals. It's really nice because we've got very good jugglers and beginners, too.

Presenter Beginners? Really?

James Well, yeah. Everybody can learn!

Presenter Everybody? Can you teach me?

James Yeah, sure. First of all, can you catch one ball?

Presenter Er, I think so ...

James Here you go. Now, can you throw it from one hand to the other?

Presenter Yes, that's easy.

James But can you do it with your eyes closed?

Presenter Ah! OK, that's hard!

James Try again. That's it! Excellent! OK, open your eyes. Here's another ball. Now try with two.

Presenter OK ... OK, I can do this ...

James Fantastic. Now you can juggle, it's time to try three balls!

Presenter No. I definitely can't do that!

James OK. You just need to look and catch quickly. Now it's your turn.

Presenter I can do it ... I can do it ... Well, James. What's the secret?

James That's easy – practice.

Presenter Well I think I need a lot! Right, time for some more. Juggling is a great hobby. Everybody can do it. It's difficult, but it's great fun!

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

1 throw 2 catch 3 juggle 4 trick 5 practice
6 juggling

Exercise 2

1 juggling 2 three (two in one hand)
3 Not very well. 4 No, it's hard.

Exercise 3

1 F 2 F 3 T 4 T 5 T 6 T 7 F 8 F

Review

ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

- 1 can remember 2 can learn 3 can speak
4 can't see 5 can drive 6 can understand 7 can play

Exercise 2a

- 1 f 2 e 3 b 4 d 5 c 6 a

Exercise 3a

- 1 good 2 well 3 correct 4 correct 5 slowly
6 badly

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.20

My wife, Jane, is a translator. She is very good at her job. She understands over seven languages and she can speak three languages well: German, French and Japanese. She can type very fast. I am a bad typist. I type very slowly. I can speak French, too, but I speak it badly.

Exercise 4a

- 1 Both 2 Both 3 C 4 C 5 M

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.21

C Do you like dancing, Mark?

M Well, yes, I do, but I can't dance very well. But I love listening to music.

C Oh! What music do you listen to?

M Pop music, usually. Do you like listening to music?

C Yes, I love it. And I love dancing, too.

M Do you have other hobbies?

C Yes, I like playing sport ... and I like swimming. Do you play sport?

M No, not really. I like watching football on TV.

C Oh, I don't. It's really boring.

Exercise 4b

- 1 do 2 well 3 usually 4 love 5 dancing
6 playing

Exercise 5b

- 1 I want to go to the station. Can you call me a taxi?
2 I'm thirsty. Can I have some water?
3 Excuse me, I'm lost. Can you tell me the way to the centre?
4 Sorry, I can't understand you. Can you speak slowly?
5 Excuse me, I can't open the door. Can you help me?

AUDIOSCRIPT 7.22

- 1 I want to go to the station. Can you call me a taxi?
2 I'm thirsty. Can I have some water?
3 Excuse me, I'm lost. Can you tell me the way to the centre?
4 Sorry, I can't understand you. Can you speak slowly?
5 Excuse me. I can't open the door. Can you help me?

Exercise 6a

- 1 I like English and I often watch English films on TV.
2 But the actors don't speak very slowly,
3 so I don't always understand them.
4 It's a great school,
5 but we never speak English in class,
6 so I don't speak English very well.
7 I want to be an engineer and work a big company.
8 All the people in the company can speak English really well.

8.1 When we were seven

Goals

- Use the verb be in the past
- Talk about your life then and now

Lead-in

- Tell students to look at the photos of Suzy and Neil, and of the children. Ask them to think about the possible connection between the two sets of photos. (Students might think Suzy and Neil are the parents of the children or may guess immediately that the photos are of Suzy and Neil as children.) Point out or elicit that the photos of the children are black and white, which gives a clue that they are older. You could also elicit the clothes each child has got (to revise clothes from Unit 5).
- Finally, ask what age the children are, but you do not need to confirm the answer at this stage.

Reading & Listening Seven Up!

Exercise 1

Text summary: An article about a series of TV documentaries called Seven Up! which filmed the lives of real children in England every seven years as they grew up.

- Explain that students are going to read about a film called Seven Up! and that Neil and Suzy were in it.
- Ask students to read sentences 1–5 about the film. Check they remember the meaning of poor in sentence 2. Elicit the opposite adjective: rich.
- Students read the text to find out whether each sentence is true or false. Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 F Seven up! is a TV film about fourteen children.
- 2 F The children were from different families – rich and poor.
- 3 T
- 4 F In the second film, the children were fourteen years old.
- 5 T

Exercise 2a 8.1

- Ask students to read the instructions, and check they understand the question they have to answer.
- Play track 8.1 and ask students to listen to the stories to answer the question, and find reasons why or why not.
- Elicit the answer. You could draw a time line on the board and mark NOW at the far right-hand end. Add the sentence They are happy to this end of the time line.

ANSWERS

Yes, they are. Neil has got a good job and a house. Suzy is married with two children.

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.1

Neil is from Liverpool. He was a clever child. His parents weren't rich and he wasn't at an expensive school, but he was happy. His dream was to be an astronaut. But at twenty-eight, his life was very different. He lived on the streets and life was difficult. Now he has a good job – he's a politician – and he has a house in a beautiful part of England. And he's happy again.

Suzy is from London. Her parents were very rich and she was at an expensive school. But she wasn't happy as a child because her parents weren't happy together. Her dream was to be married and have a family. And at twenty-eight she was married with two children. Now she helps people with their problems and she is happy. But she doesn't like the Seven Up! films.

Exercise 2b 8.1

- Ask students to read questions 1–5. Explain that they decide which person (Neil or Suzy) is the answer to each question.
- Play track 8.1 again and pause after the first sentence. Ask Is Neil from London? (No, so the answer is Suzy.)
- Play on to the end so students can listen to the stories and answer the questions.
- Elicit the answers from the class. Check students understand dream in His/her dream was to be ...: in this case, it is about wishes or ambitions for the future.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to read the audioscript on p142. Write three statements on the board and ask students to find out whether they are true or false: Neil's parents were poor. Suzy's parents weren't happy together. At twenty-eight, Neil was a politician. (Answers: T, T, F)

ANSWERS

1 S 2 N 3 S 4 N 5 S

Exercise 3a 8.2

- Play track 8.2 and ask students to listen to the years and repeat. Pause after each year if necessary.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could play the track again and ask students to write what they hear in words, e.g. nineteen sixty-four. This will be a useful reference for exercise 3b.

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.2

nineteen sixty-four nineteen ninety-eight two thousand and five twenty twelve

! Point out that when we say years we separate the four digits into two numbers, e.g. 1976 = 19 76, 2016 = 20 16. The exception is for the first ten years of the 21st century where we use 2000 + and + the final single digit, e.g. 2008 = 2000 and 8, 2002 = 2000 and 2.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs and ask them to work together to say the years. Refer students back to exercise 3a to remember how those years were pronounced.

ANSWERS

nineteen seventy-eight   nineteen eighty-one nineteen ninety-six   two thousand and three twenty nineteen

Exercise 3c 8.3

- Play track 8.3 and ask students to listen to the years and check their answers.

EXTENSION Ask students to write down three more years between 1910 and the current year. Tell them to think about how to say them. Put students into pairs and ask them to swap with a partner and take turns to say each other's years. Monitor and correct where necessary.

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.3

nineteen seventy-eight nineteen eighty-one nineteen ninety-six two thousand and three twenty nineteen

Grammar & Speaking verb be past simple

Exercise 4a

- Ask students to read the sentences about Suzy and circle the correct options. Students could work in pairs so they can help each other remember the information. If students are having difficulty remembering, play track 8.1 again and ask them to listen for the answers.

Exercise 4b 8.4

- Play track 8.4 so students can check their answers.

ANSWERS

1 an expensive   2 happy   3 parents   4 happy

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.4

- 1 Suzy was at an expensive school.
- 2 She wasn't happy as a child.
- 3 Suzy's parents were rich.
- 4 Suzy's parents weren't happy.

Exercise 5a

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box. Point out that the focus is on the verb be to talk about the past.
- Ask students to complete the sentences in the box. Monitor and assist struggling students by referring them back to the relevant sentence in exercise 4a.
- Check answers by eliciting just the missing words, but also point out which pronouns each form is used with.
- You could add to your time line on the board. Write 7 years old near the left side of the time line and add They were very rich and Suzy wasn't happy as past simple examples. Write PAST above all the time from the left end of the time line to NOW.

ANSWERS

1 was   2 were   3 wasn't   4 weren't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p130. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read and complete the new conversation (not Neil or Suzy), using the verb be in past simple tense.
- Monitor and refer students to the Grammar focus box to help them find the correct forms. Remind them to look at the pronouns and think about positive and negative.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. If students have different answers for any gaps, ask them to look carefully at the pronouns and check in the Grammar focus box to find which answer is correct.

EXTRA SUPPORT Go through the conversation again with the class, eliciting why each form is correct for each gap, e.g. 1 were. We need were because it is the form for you.

ANSWERS

1 were 2 Were 3 wasn't 4 was 5 Were 6 was 7 were 8 were 9 Was 10 wasn't 11 was

Pronunciation was and were

Ask students to read the information about how to pronounce was and were. You could elicit or point out that unstressed words often contain the schwa sound /ə/.

Exercise 7a 8.5

- Play track 8.5 and ask students to listen to the sentences and focus on the pronunciation of was and were when they are stressed and not stressed. Point out the stress marking over weren't in sentence 2 and over was and wasn't in the short answers in 3 and 4. Also focus on the unstressed examples of was and were in 1, 3 and 4. Elicit that these are positive sentences and questions.

Exercise 7b 8.5

- Play track 8.5 again, pausing after each sentence for students to repeat.
- Play any sentences again where students' pronunciation is incorrect. Alternatively, model these examples yourself for students to repeat. It is often useful for students to see the mouth position when trying to pronounce words well.

Exercise 8a 8.6

- Tell students they are going to hear the conversation they completed in exercise 6a. Ask them to read the instruction and then ask a checking question: Do you circle the stressed or unstressed was and were? (stressed). What about weren't? (weren't is always stressed).
- Play track 8.6 and ask students to listen to the conversation and complete the exercise.

ANSWERS

A Where were you born?
B In Malmö, Sweden.
A Were you born in 1964?
B No, I wasn't born in 1964! I was born in 1980.
A Were you a happy child?
B Yes, I was. There were six children in our family.
A That's a lot of brothers and sisters!
B Yes, my parents weren't rich, but we were very happy.
A And your father's a doctor. Was your grandfather a doctor, too?
B No, he wasn't. He was a shop assistant.

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.6

A Where were you born?
B In Malmö, Sweden.
A Were you born in 1964?
B No, I wasn't born in 1964! I was born in 1980.
A Were you a happy child?
B Yes, I was. There were six children in our family.
A That's a lot of brothers and sisters!
B Yes, my parents weren't rich, but we were very happy.
A And your father's a doctor. Was your grandfather a doctor, too?
B No, he wasn't. He was a shop assistant.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to practise the conversation in exercise 6a.

FEEDBACK FOCUS As you monitor, focus on the pronunciation of was and were above all, though there may be other mistakes. Note the most common error students are making with was and were – it is likely that they will have difficulty making the weak forms with /ə/.

- After students have practised once, conduct error correction with the class, modelling and drilling sentences where was or were have been incorrectly pronounced.
- Ask students to swap roles and practise again.

Exercise 9a

- Ask students to read the sentence beginnings. Check they remember the meaning of dream. You could also elicit why the verb be is am and not was in the last sentence (because it's about now). Allow time for students to finish the sentences to make them true about their own past.

DICTIONARY SKILLS Allow students to use good bilingual dictionaries to find words they want to express themselves. Check carefully that they are finding the words they need and help them with pronunciation.

- Monitor and encourage struggling students to think of nouns or adjectives to use to complete the sentences.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into pairs and monitor carefully as they say their sentences to each other.
- Make a note of any errors in pronunciation of was/were.
- Conduct whole class feedback, inviting pairs to report on similarities or differences between their sentences. Do any necessary error correction of pronunciation of was/were.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to think of one question to ask other students using was or were. Remind them of the word order for questions by referring them back to the Grammar focus box if necessary. Give an example: At (age) were you noisy/friendly/happy? Instruct students to ask their question to five other students in the class and make a note of the answers. Monitor to check they aren't stressing was/were in the questions, but they are stressing these words in the short answers. Elicit reports from some students: e.g. At twelve, three students were happy, but two students weren't happy.

Vocabulary dates

Exercise 10a

- Write today's date on the board and say it aloud. Tell students this is the date today. Explain this word further, if necessary, or translate it into L1 if appropriate.
- Ask students to look at the numbers in the box. Explain these are ordinal numbers and we use them for dates. Point to the date on the board and say the ordinal number again.
- Refer students to the Vocabulary focus box and ask them to use the numbers in the box above to complete the list of ordinal numbers. They could compare answers in pairs.

Exercise 10b 8.7

- Play track 8.7 and ask students to listen to the numbers and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each word for students to repeat. Make sure they try to produce the th /θ/ ending on many of these ordinal numbers and model the tongue appearing between the teeth to make this sound.

WATCH OUT! Sometimes students aren't clear enough in their pronunciation of thirteenth and thirtieth. Point out that thirtieth has three syllables with stress on the first /'θɜːtiəθ/, but thirteenth has two syllables with stress on second /,θɜː'tiːnθ/. Model to show the difference and drill the class.

ANSWERS

1 sixth 2 seventh 3 ninth 4 tenth 5 twenty-third
6 thirtieth 7 thirty-first

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.7

first second third fourth fifth sixth seventh eighth ninth tenth eleventh twelfth twentieth twenty-first twenty-third thirtieth thirty-first

Exercise 11a 8.8

- Ask students to read the instruction. Read out the example, eliciting that the stress is on the first syllable.
- Play track 8.8 and ask students to listen to the months and complete the exercise. You may need to play it more than once, pausing to allow time to mark the stresses.
- Go through answers as a class, eliciting how many syllables there are in each month and which syllable is stressed. You could use your fingers to show syllable counting and the stressed syllable in each case.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 8.8

January February March April May June July
August September October November December

Exercise 11b 8.8

- Play track 8.8 again, pausing after each month for students to repeat. If any months seem particularly difficult, model these yourself and drill them more than the others.

PRONUNCIATION Both January /'dʒænjuəri/ and February /'februəri/ have three syllables in British English (four in American English). Students often have difficulty with the long initial vowel sound of August /ɔːgəst/ (you could give other words containing this sound to help them, e.g. four, door). Point out the similarities in the stress pattern of the late months of the year: September, October, November, December: three syllables and word stress on the second.

! Point out that when we say dates we include words which are not there when we write them. Read the example aloud. Point out that spoken dates need the + ordinal number + of + month. Refer back to the date on the board and elicit how to say it.

Exercise 12a

Background notes: Women's Day started in 1917 in Russia but is now celebrated in around 100 countries. Nelson Mandela was famous for campaigning for equality in South Africa and spending twenty-seven years in prison for his beliefs. He was President of South Africa from 1994 to 1999.

Valentine's Day is a romantic day when people give cards and gifts to those they love.

The First World War was from 1914 to 1918 and around 9 million soldiers died. In the UK on 11th November at 11 a.m. there is always a one-minute silence to remember people who have died in wars around the world.

- Put students into pairs and ask them to read 1–6. Elicit or teach the meaning of moon in number 1 and any other vocabulary necessary.
- Ask students to find the date from a–f which matches each event.

Exercise 12b 8.9

- Play track 8.9 and ask students to listen to the information and check their answers.
- Elicit the meaning of event and of celebration. Use examples from 1–6 to illustrate each word. Check new vocabulary in the events and celebrations.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 c 3 a 4 f 5 b 6 e

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.9

- 1 The first moon landing was on 20th July 1969.
- 2 Women's Day is on 8th March.
- 3 New Year's Day is on 1st January.
- 4 Nelson Mandela died on 5th December 2013.
- 5 Valentine's Day is on 14th February.
- 6 The end of the First World War was on 11th November 1918.

Exercise 12c

- Put students into pairs and ask them to write down three to five important dates for them.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could write five of your own dates and write them on the board. Then use them as further examples of how to do the exercise.

- Tell students they need to say why each date is important, as in the example. Allow time for them to think about how to do this. Monitor and help with vocabulary.
- Ask students to take turns to tell their partner their dates and why they are important. If you are going to do the Extension, ask students to make a note of their partner's dates.
- Monitor carefully that students are using the and of in their dates as they say them.

EXTENSION Put students into new pairs and ask them to report their first partner's dates to their new partner.

8.2 Lives from the past

Goals

- Use past simple regular verbs to talk about the past
- Describe a past life

Lead-in

- Ask students to think of three famous people from history and write each person's name and country. If necessary, start them off by writing examples on the board. Choose figures you are fairly sure they will know (e.g. William Shakespeare, England/Nicolaus Copernicus, Poland/Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Germany/Leonardo da Vinci, Italy/Che Guevara, Argentina/Sigmund Freud, Austria).
- Put students into small groups to compare their lists and see if any of them thought of the same people.
- Elicit some names and countries to write on the board. You could ask How do you spell that? to help students practise spelling using the alphabet they learnt in Unit 1.
- Tell students that in this lesson they are going to read and talk about some famous people in history.

Vocabulary & Speaking was born/died

Exercise 1

- Ask students if they know the name and job of the famous person in the photo. Tell them to read the information.
- Elicit or teach the meaning of was born and died. You could use pictures of a new baby and a gravestone. Explain that Ingrid Bergman's life was from 1915 to 1982.

Exercise 2a

- Before students start this exercise, check or teach some of the vocabulary in 1–4. To check understanding, ask Which person paints pictures? (an artist) Which person makes books? (a writer). Teach the meanings of scientist and civil rights leader.
- Ask students to look at the photos of famous people a–d and find their matching facts 1–4.

Exercise 2b 8.10

- Play track 8.10 and ask students to listen to the information and check their answers.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 a 3 b 4 d

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.10

- 1 Frida Kahlo was an artist from Mexico. She was born in 1907. She died in 1954.
- 2 Marie Skłodowska-Curie was a scientist from Poland. She was born in 1867. She died in 1934.
- 3 Leo Tolstoy was a writer from Russia. He was born in 1828. He died in 1910.
- 4 Martin Luther King was a civil rights leader from the USA. He was born in 1929. He died in 1968.

Exercise 3

- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to choose one of the famous people for their partner to talk about. Student A chooses a person first and Student B gives information about them. Refer them to the example and ask one pair to read it out together to show how to do the exercise.

PRONUNCIATION You could remind students that as was is not stressed in these statements; they need to pronounce it /wəz/ with a relaxed schwa sound. Model and drill the two example sentences in B which contain was. (They will need to pronounce was like this during this exercise and in the Communication activity in exercise 4.)

- Monitor and ensure students remember to use the correct male/female pronouns.

Exercise 4

- Divide the class into two halves: A and B. Refer students to the Communication pages and ask them to look at the photos and read their instructions.
- Put students into pairs of the same letter, e.g. two Student As, and ask them to use dictionaries to check the jobs if they don't know them.
- Put students into A/B pairs. They take turns to talk about the people in their photos so their partner can complete their factfiles. Monitor and make sure students are using past simple was, was born and died.
- When students have finished, they can check the completed information with their partner's factfiles.

ANSWERS

Student A: Maya Angelou, Country: USA, Job: writer, Was born: 1928, Died: 2014

Oscar Niemeyer, Country: Brazil, Job: architect, Was born: 1907, Died: 2012

Student B: Mahatma Gandhi, Country: India, Job: political leader, Was born: 1869, Died: 1948

Coco Chanel, Country: France, Job: fashion designer, Was born: 1883, Died: 1971

Reading & Grammar past simple regular verbs

Exercise 5a

Text summary: An article about the lives and achievements of two important, but not very well-known historical figures: Jan Wnęk and Harriet Chalmers Adams.

- Tell students to read the first paragraph of the text and then ask them about Leonardo da Vinci. Elicit where he was from and why he was famous (Italy, he was an artist). Do the same for Albert Einstein (Germany, he was a scientist/physicist). Elicit or teach important in relation to these famous people.
- Ask students to read the question in the instruction then read the text to find the answer. Allow plenty of time for reading – it is the longest text they have read so far, with plenty of information about the people. Point out the two words defined at the end of the text.
- Elicit answers and ask what students think a glider is. Refer them to the photo in the text to indicate it is a kind of plane without an engine. Also, elicit or teach the meaning of geography and the noun for the person who does it, geographer.

ANSWERS

Jan Wnęk made the first glider.

Harriet Chalmers Adams helped to start the Society of Women Geographers.

Exercise 5b

- Go through some of the new vocabulary with the class: carpenter, fly, flight, aviator, accident, horse, adventure, articles. You may need some pictures to illustrate some of these words and put the meaning across quickly.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students could work in pairs using dictionaries to find the meanings of this new vocabulary. Give each pair one or two of the words only. When they have finished, they could read their definitions to the class or translate using L1 if appropriate.

- Ask students to read facts 1–8 and look back in the text to find which person each fact is about.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could put students into pairs to compare answers and show each other where they found the information in the text.

- Elicit answers from students: the name and, if possible, the sentence in the text containing the information.

ANSWERS

1 Harriet   2 Jan   3 Jan   4 Harriet   5 Harriet   6 Jan
7 Harriet   8 Jan

Exercise 6a

- Point out that the text in exercise 5a is all about the past.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Ask students to look back through the text and circle all the verbs. Elicit past simple verbs from the students (not worrying at this stage if they don't pronounce them perfectly).

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to read it carefully. Go through the points about past tense endings: want + -ed, love + -d, try ... tried, and ask students to find more examples in exercise 5b of the different ways to make the past simple.
- Elicit answers from the class.

WATCH OUT! Students may choose travelled from sentence 4 in exercise 5b. In this case, explain the spelling rule that if a verb ends in one vowel and one consonant, we double the consonant then add -ed: travel, travelled. (This is explained in the Grammar reference on p130.)

POSSIBLE ANSWERS

1 worked, visited, returned, talked, showed, helped, started 2 lived, liked, died, used 3 studied, married

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp130 and 131. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 6b

- Ask students to read the texts about the famous people from exercise 2a and complete them with the past simple form of the verbs, as in the example.

WATCH OUT! There is some new vocabulary in these texts, but encourage students not to use dictionaries while they do the exercise. When they have finished, they can check unknown words (or do the Extension task in exercise 6c).

Exercise 6c

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class, including spellings where appropriate to check the rules in the Grammar focus box.

EXTENSION Give each pair one famous person to read about again and check 1–3 unknown words or phrases in a dictionary. Give a time limit to do this and when they have finished, put students into groups containing four pairs. Ask students to tell their group which words they checked and what the words mean. Monitor carefully.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Three of the texts contain but. Ask students to read the sentence or part of sentence before and after but to find out which pieces of information are contrasting. Elicit ideas from the class.

ANSWERS

1 started 2 painted 3 finished 4 married
5 wanted 6 walked 7 talked 8 studied 9 lived
10 studied 11 finished 12 opened

Pronunciation regular past simple endings

Ask students to read the information then play track 8.11 and ask them to listen to the endings. Play again, pausing for students to repeat.

Exercise 7a 8.12

- Ask students to look at the table where the past simple examples have been categorized. Then play track 8.12 and ask students to listen to the verbs and categorize them.

WATCH OUT! Students might try and put married and studied in the /ɪd/ column, but when a word ends in /i/ (e.g. marry, study, copy), the past simple ending is pronounced /d/.

Exercise 7b 8.13

- Play track 8.13 and ask students to listen to the list of verbs and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing for students to repeat.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 8.13

/t/ finished, talked, walked, watched, worked

/d/ lived, loved, married, opened, studied

/ɪd/ painted, wanted

Exercise 8a

- Ask students to read the instructions carefully. Tell them to choose one of the famous people from the texts in exercises 5a or 6b and make notes about the person's life.
- Monitor and assist weaker students.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to take turns to talk about their person's life without saying their name. Refer them to the example in the book. Student A goes first. Student B (with closed book) listens and then guesses who the person is.
- Monitor and note any errors with pronunciation of the past tense endings. Conduct error correction at the end.

Listening skills past or present

Ask students to read the information. Refer them to the example sentences in point 2 about time words and dates. Ask which other word in each sentence tells you about the past or present (the verb: play = present because there's no ending, lived = past because the ending is d).

Exercise 1 8.14

- Play track 8.14 and ask students to listen to the verbs and circle the present or past form. Pause after number 1. Check students have circled one of the verb forms and elicit which one. Play on to the end.
- Go through the answers together. Make sure students pronounce the past tense answers correctly.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 8.14

1 talked 2 finished 3 play 4 worked 5 lives
6 like

Exercise 2 8.15

- Students listen to full sentences to decide if they are past or present. Remind them of the tips in the Listening skills information before you play the track.
- Play track 8.15 and ask students to listen to the sentences.
- Elicit answers from the class.

EXTRA SUPPORT Play the track again so students have another chance to notice the features of present and past sentences. After each sentence you could pause and elicit how they know the sentence is present or past, e.g. in sentence 3 the verb ending is present simple tense and also the time expression is not past (at nine every day).

ANSWERS

1 past 2 past 3 present 4 past 5 past 6 present

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.15

- 1 He remembered my name.
- 2 I studied French at university.
- 3 The bank opens at nine every day.
- 4 I worked in Canada from 2011 to 2013.
- 5 We played football at the weekend.
- 6 I live with my parents.

Exercise 3 8.16

Audio summary: One speaker gives information about the lives and achievements of Bill and Melinda Gates.

- Ask students to look at the man and woman in the photo. Elicit who these famous people are and any information about them. Tell students they are going to hear someone talking about these two people and ask them to prepare by reading statements 1–5.
- Play track 8.16 and ask students to listen to the speaker and circle the present or past tense verb forms.

EXTENSION Write three more questions on the board: When did they marry? When did they travel around the world? When did they start the Gates Foundation? Play track 8.16 again for students to listen for the answers. Elicit answers from the class (1994, 1995, 2000). The aim of this activity is to check students remember how to say years.

ANSWERS

1 was 2 worked 3 travelled 4 live 5 use

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.16

Bill and Melinda Gates married in 1994. He was the boss of Microsoft and she worked for Microsoft as a product developer. In 1995 they travelled around the world and learned about the lives of other people. When they returned, they started a family and she finished at the company. They have three children and live in a big house in Medina near Seattle in the USA. In 2000, they started the Gates Foundation with their own money. Now they use the foundation to help poor people around the world.

EXTRA ACTIVITY For homework, you could ask students to find an important figure and research information about them. Ask them to write at least five sentences about the person using past simple verb forms. Collect the writing and correct any errors. Then in A/B pairs they could read their information to each other. The student who is listening could ask one or two questions about the famous person.

8.3 Special moments

Goals

- Use object pronouns
- Tell a story about a photo

Lead-in

- Teach or elicit camera using the photo in the book. Point out that camera only has two syllables /kæmɪrə/ and drill the word. Elicit which verb we use with a photo (take).
- Write three discussion questions on the board: 1 Do you take a lot of photos? 2 Do you take photos on a camera or on your mobile phone? 3 When do you take photos?
- Put students into small groups to ask and answer the questions. Elicit answers from some students.

Reading & Grammar object pronouns

Exercise 1

- Ask students to read the competition advert and answer the two questions.
- Put students into pairs to compare answers. Ask them to talk about the competition. Is it good? Why/Why not?
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

They want people to send in their holiday stories and photos. The first prize is a two-week holiday in Thailand.

Exercise 2a

- Refer students to photos a–d. With a strong group, you could elicit reactions to the photos: just adjectives would be enough, e.g. interesting, beautiful, strange.
- Ask students to read 1–4 and match them to the photos. Remind them they can do this without understanding all the words (so they don't need dictionaries now).

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class. You could ask them which words in the text helped them to decide.
- Ask students to discuss in their pairs which photo and story to give 'first prize' to. With a stronger group, ask them to try to explain why. Elicit opinions from students and award a 'first prize' based on the majority vote.

ANSWERS

1 b 2 d 3 a 4 c

Exercise 3

- Refer students to the highlighted words in the stories and elicit that these are all pronouns.

- In their pairs from exercise 2, ask students to find which person or animal a–g each pronoun refers to. Remind them to look in the stories for the answers.

EXTRA SUPPORT Monitor and assist weaker students by asking them to remember to think about male and female, singular and plural when they try to understand pronouns.

- Check answers together by eliciting each pronoun and the person or animal it refers to.

ANSWERS

1 a 2 f 3 g 4 b 5 e 6 d 7 c

Exercise 4a

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to read it carefully. Tell them that the missing pronouns are all in exercise 3 (and highlighted in the text).
- Elicit the missing object pronoun for 1 (me). Help students find the place in the text where me is used, so they can see the position in the sentence after the verb.
- Allow plenty of time for students to refer to the texts/exercise 3 to find the corresponding pronouns.
- Students could compare answers in pairs before you check with the class.

ANSWERS

1 me 2 you 3 him 4 her 5 it 6 us 7 them

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p131. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 4b

- Ask students to read sentences 1–6. Refer them to the example sentence to see how to do the exercise. You could do one more sentence together as a demonstration, eliciting which object pronoun replaces our family. Help students make the connection with we first and then refer them to the Grammar focus box to find the object pronoun (us).
- Students complete the exercise. Monitor and assist struggling students by asking questions, e.g. Maria is just one person. Is Maria male or female? What is the female subject pronoun? What is the female object pronoun?

Exercise 4c

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- When students have finished, elicit answers from the class.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to write 2–3 sentences with object pronouns, which refer to something in the sentence, e.g. I play tennis because I love it. Monitor carefully and check the sentences are correct. Put students into pairs to show their partner their sentences. Their partner says what the object pronoun refers to.

ANSWERS

1 him 2 us 3 her 4 them 5 it 6 him

Pronunciation linking (2)

Ask students to read the information. Play track 8.17 and ask students to listen to the examples. Explain that we link like this because it makes it easier to speak faster. The linked words almost sound like one word. Play the examples again for students to repeat.

Exercise 5a 8.18

- Play track 8.18 and ask students to listen to the sentences and write the two missing words. Remind them that there will be linking between the two words. Pause after the first sentence to elicit the words students heard.
- Play on to the end, pausing if necessary to allow more time for students to write the answers. You may need to play the track more than once.
- Elicit answers from the class. You could ask students to mark the linking as in the information box.

WATCH OUT! Remind students that sometimes there is an e in the spelling at the end of a word, but the linking is based on the last consonant sound, so in answer 1, the /v/ of love links with the /t/ of it. The e is not pronounced.

ANSWERS

1 love it 2 watched us 3 photographed it
4 likes us 5 for it 6 at us

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.18

- 1 I love it.
- 2 He watched us.
- 3 I photographed it.
- 4 She likes us.
- 5 He studied for it.
- 6 They looked at us.

Exercise 5b

- Put students into pairs to take turns saying the sentences. Remind them that the -ed ending of past simple verbs can be pronounced in different ways (refer them back to 8.2 exercise 6c if necessary). They certainly need to think about this before trying to say sentences 2 and 3.
- Monitor carefully. Check students are taking turns and note any common errors more than one pair is making. Correct errors as you hear them, but also correct at the end.

Exercise 6

- Ask students to read questions 1–4. Check that all students know the film Star Wars. You could find an image from the film online to show them.
- Put students into new pairs and ask them to take turns asking and answering the questions. Remind them to use object pronouns in their answers. Nominate a student to ask you the first question so you can demonstrate, e.g. I check them in the morning. Point out or elicit the object pronoun them which refers to emails.
- When students have finished, ask some pairs to act out their questions and answers. Elicit the object pronouns used and which thing/person in the question they refer to.
- You could drill some of the linking of verb/preposition to pronoun in the sentences, particularly if you noticed that students did not always do this during the exercise.

ANSWERS

- 1 I check them ...
- 2 I like it./I don't like it.
- 3 They like me./They don't like me.
- 4 Yes, I know him/her./No, I don't know him/her.

EXTENSION Write some more questions on the board.

Ask students to write them down and think about how to answer them using object pronouns in the answer.

Questions: Do you watch TV a lot? Do you like coffee? When do you take photos? Do you often see your best friend? When do you wear smart clothes?

Vocabulary & Speaking past time expressions

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to underline the past time expressions in the sentences and then compare their answers with a partner.
- Elicit answers from the class. Check students understand the meaning of yesterday and last year by saying Today is ... What day was yesterday? and also This year is ... What year was last year?

ANSWERS

1 last year 2 in 2012 3 yesterday

Exercise 7b

- Ask students to read the expressions in the box. Ask if they are all past time expressions (yes).
- Draw a horizontal line on the board and mark NOW at the far right end, as in the book. Elicit which time expression is closest to now by pointing to the line. Write this morning very close to NOW. Put students into pairs to put the other expressions in order on the line.
- Go through the answers with the class, eliciting past tense expressions in order and adding them to the line, working from NOW back into the more distant past.

PRONUNCIATION Drill all the time expressions with the class and encourage individual students to come up to the board to mark the stress in the words and phrases (in nineteen ninety eight, last year, in June, last week, on Monday, yesterday, last night, this morning).

WATCH OUT! Teach students about past time expressions with parts of the day so they can avoid errors.

We say this morning, this afternoon, this evening for parts of today. Today morning is a common error.

We say yesterday morning, yesterday afternoon, yesterday evening. Last evening is a common error. This is not surprising as there is an exception students need to learn: we say last night (not yesterday night). It is a good idea to drill the correct phrases to help students remember.

ANSWERS

in 1998 last year in June last week on Monday yesterday last night this morning

Exercise 8a

- Ask students to work alone to complete sentences 1–6 with a past time expression. Give a few examples to show they can vary the time expressions from those on the time line, e.g. I travelled abroad in 2003. I played sport on Saturday. Monitor and assist students who don't remember some of the vocabulary.

EXTENSION Fast finishers can think of two more sentences of their own including a past simple verb and a past time expression. Check the sentences carefully. Provide verbs if they can't think of any (cook, work, watch, study).

Exercise 8b

- Ask students to read the instruction and question carefully. Then put them into pairs to take turns saying their sentences to each other. Ask students who did the Extension in exercise 8a to read their extra sentences, too.
- Conduct class feedback by finding pairs who have a sentence which is the same and eliciting it.

Exercise 9

- Divide the class into two halves: A and B. Refer students to the Communication pages and ask them to look at the photos and read their instructions.
- Put students into pairs of the same letter (e.g. two Student As) to check they understand the new words they have been given to use. They need to know what kind of words they are (noun, verb, adjective) so they can use them correctly: Student A: safari (noun), lion (noun), friendly (adjective); Student B: holiday (noun), cycle (verb), mountains (noun). Students could use dictionaries to check unknown vocabulary.
- Students work alone to write a story about their photo. Remind them to use verbs in the past simple tense.

EXTRA SUPPORT Ask pairs with the same photo to work together to write a story about it.

- Monitor and assist students who are struggling. Ask fast finishers to check their past tenses carefully and make sure they have used pronouns so they don't repeat words.
- Put students into A/B pairs and ask them to take turns to show their photo and tell their story.
- When students have finished, you could ask which stories are interesting and why. You can also ask which photo they like and why.

POSSIBLE ANSWERS

Student A: We were on a safari in Tanzania last winter. It was great! There were lots of animals. There was a lion very near to our car. He looked at us, and he wasn't very friendly!

Student B: I was on holiday in Austria last summer. It was amazing! I was there with my friends from university. We cycled a lot every day. It was very difficult, but I loved it.

Reading skills understanding pronouns (2)

- Ask students to read the information. There is a lot of information here and you may need to refer students back to the Grammar focus box in exercise 4a to remind them that they have seen both subject and object pronouns and they can refer to the list there.
- Remind them of the normal word order for positive sentences (subject, verb, object) and point out this order in the example sentences, both before but and in the second clause too.

! Remind students that pronouns refer to gender in the singular (man, woman), but in plural we only have one pronoun form which is not gender specific. They and them could be all male, all female or a mixed group.

Exercise 1

- Ask students to read sentence 1 which has been done as an example: it refers to London, so this word is underlined.
- Put students into pairs to do the exercise.

WATCH OUT! Point out that some of the sentences contain two pronouns in bold.

- Monitor and help struggling pairs by referring them back to the examples in the Reading skills information.
- When students have finished, elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 it – subject pronoun; refers to 'London'
- 2 They – subject pronoun; refers to 'The students in my class'
- 3 them – object pronoun; refers to 'Sarah and Frank'
- 4 him – object pronoun; refers to 'Jim'
he – subject pronoun; refers to 'Jim'
- 5 We – subject pronoun; refers to 'John and I'
it – object pronoun; refers to 'the film Boyhood'

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to quickly read the text which has object pronouns highlighted in bold. Then demonstrate using number 1. Ask students to just read the first two sentences again. Elicit that them is a plural pronoun and that the plural word in the first sentence is friends, so this pronoun refers to my friends from university.
- Students work alone to find and circle the things and people referred to by the pronouns.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. If any answers are different, ask them to look again at whether the pronoun is male or female and singular or plural as this may help them decide which answer is correct.
- Elicit answers from the class. Make sure students understand number 6. There are two things in the previous sentence: journalism and a job with a national newspaper. Students can understand that it refers to job because studied journalism is in the past, whereas the job is now and she loves it is also in present tense.

ANSWERS

- 1 Celia's friends from university
- 2 Celia and her friends
- 3 Javier
- 4 Laura
- 5 Alejandra
- 6 her job
- 7 Rafa and Nicolas

8.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Use expressions for special occasions
- Show interest
- Write a biography

Lead-in

- Write special occasions on the board. Ask students to look at the four photos a–d and say that these show special occasions.
- Put students into small groups to talk about what the occasion is in each photo. Don't worry too much about grammatical accuracy – students just need to share ideas. Some of them may know the words to talk about the occasion, but many won't and that's OK.
- For each photo ask one or two questions to elicit ideas:
  - a Is it a boy or a girl? Where is she?
  - b What food is it?
  - c Is this a family or friends?
  - d Are they married?
- Teach useful phrases to describe each special occasion:
  - a It's her first day at school.
  - b It's her birthday.
  - c It's a celebration.
  - d It's their wedding day.

Listening & Speaking special occasions

Exercise 1a

- Ask students to read the expressions we use for the special occasions in the photos and match them.

EXTRA SUPPORT If you think a lot of students will struggle, put them into pairs to do this exercise and support each other.

Exercise 1b 8.19

- Play track 8.19 and ask students to listen to the expressions and check their answers.
- Play the track again for students to repeat.

PRONUNCIATION Congratulations is obviously a long word for beginners to pronounce. Write it on the board and mark the stress clearly then break it down into syllables and drill a syllable at a time from the end to the front until they can say the whole word, e.g. tions, ations, tulations, gratulations, congratulations. Also point out that this word is always plural and they must remember to pronounce the /z/ ending.

SMART COMMUNICATION Remind students that the sound of their voice is important when saying these expressions. If said with a flat tone, the expressions have much less meaning and may not sound real and sincere. Students (both female and, to a certain extent, male) need to vary their pitch and use higher tone to express feeling.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 b 3 a 4 c

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.19

- a Good luck!
- b Happy birthday!
- c Cheers!
- d Congratulations!

Exercise 2a 8.20

Audio summary: There are four conversations, each between two speakers. Each conversation is about one of the special occasions shown in the photos.

- Ask students to read the questions for each conversation. Then play track 8.20 and ask students to listen to the conversations and answer the questions.
- Students could compare answers in pairs before you elicit answers from the class, in full sentences as far as possible.
- You could point out some more phrases from the conversations: Oh no! Oh wow! Oh dear and teach or elicit which are used to react to good news and which to something negative.

ANSWERS

- 1 She doesn't have her lunch.
- 2 Nobody at work remembered her birthday.
- 3 He's got a new job.
- 4 Her grandmother is in hospital.

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.20

- 1
A OK – first day at your new school. Do you have everything?
B Yes, I think so. Oh no! I don't have my lunch!
A Never mind. Here's some money. You can buy your lunch.
B Thanks, Mum.
A Good luck!
- 2
All Happy birthday!
A Oh wow! Everyone's here.
B Of course! We wanted to give you a big party.
A Oh thank you. Nobody at work remembered.
B Really? Oh dear.
- 3
A You look very happy.
B I am happy. I've got a new job.
A That's great! When do you start?
B Next Monday.
A Well, here's to you. Cheers!
B Cheers!
- 4
A Congratulations! You look beautiful!
B Thank you. It's great to see all my friends and family.
A But where's your grandmother?
B She's not well. She's in hospital.
A I'm sorry to hear that.
B Thank you. It's very sad.

Exercise 2b 8.20

- Explain that the A/B conversations are taken from the conversations they just listened to. Play the track again for students to complete them.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students may be able to complete the conversations from memory before they listen again.

Exercise 2c

- Put students into pairs to compare answers. Monitor carefully to see if students have the correct answers.
- To check answers, nominate four pairs to read out the conversations. Correct any wrong answers. Write the words on the board to ensure students have spelt them correctly.

EXTENSION Elicit the phrases we use: for good news (That's great!), for very bad news (I'm sorry to hear that), for surprising news (Really?) and to show that something is OK (Never mind).

ANSWERS

1 Never 2 Really? 3 great 4 sorry

Exercise 3a

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box and ask them to read the expressions. Point out that two of the expressions for showing interest need a falling tone (Never mind. I'm sorry to hear that.). Model for the class.

Exercise 3b

- Ask students to read sentences 1–4 and find an appropriate response from the Language for speaking box.

Exercise 3c 8.21

- Play track 8.21 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers. Play again, pausing after each phrase which shows interest for students to repeat it.

ANSWERS

1 Really? 2 Never mind. 3 I'm sorry to hear that.
4 That's great!

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.21

1

A I watched four films yesterday.

B Really?

2

A I'm sorry, but I can't finish my lunch.

B Never mind.

3

A My dog died last week.

B I'm sorry to hear that.

4

A I studied a lot and the exam was really easy!

B That's great!

Exercise 4 8.22

- Refer students to the Understanding ... box and ask them to read the information as you read it aloud. Explain that intonation means how the voice goes up and down.
- Play track 8.22 and ask students to listen to the examples.

Exercise 5a 8.23

- Tell students they are going to hear six sentences which are either good or bad news. Elicit how they will know if the news is good or bad (by listening for intonation as explained in the Understanding ... box).
- Play track 8.23, pausing after the first sentence to elicit whether this is good or bad news (good). Ask how they know (the speaker's voice goes up and down). Play on to the end so students can complete the exercise.
- Elicit answers from students and ask how they know it was good or bad news.

ANSWERS

1 good 2 good 3 bad 4 bad 5 good 6 bad

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.23

1 There's a really good film on tonight.

2 I passed my driving test!

3 I failed my driving test.

4 The traffic was terrible.

5 We stayed in a lovely hotel.

6 I played very badly yesterday.

Exercise 5b 8.23

- Play track 8.23 again and ask students to choose an expression from the Language for speaking box to respond to each piece of news. Pause after each sentence and ask students to shout out their response.

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read the instruction carefully. Point out that there are four different types of sentence to write. Refer them to the example sentence and elicit what type it is (bad news, but it's OK).
- You could put students into pairs to think of sentences. Monitor, encourage and correct mistakes as you see them.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Encourage strong students to write original sentences, not only on the topics already covered in the lesson.

EXTENSION Fast finishers could write a sentence for some of the special occasion expressions, too.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into new A/B pairs. Ask them to take turns to say their phrases clearly, so their partner can respond appropriately. Monitor and ensure they are responding with the best phrases and using lively intonation for the good news ones.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to move around the classroom, saying their sentences to other students and also responding to other students' sentences with appropriate phrases. If the class is very large, put students into groups of 6–8 to do this activity.

Reading & Writing a biography

Exercise 7

Text summary: This is a biography which gives information about the life of the woman pictured in the photo: Um Ahmad from Jordan.

- Teach students that biography means life story. Write the word on the board, drill the pronunciation /baɪ'ɒgrəfi/, and mark the word stress. You could explain that biographies are written by another person, but if a person writes the story of their own life it is an autobiography.
- Ask students to read sentences 1–5 and then read the biography to find out whether they are true or false. Ask them to change the false sentences to make them true.
- Students could compare answers in pairs before you elicit answers from the class. Make sure they say the corrected sentence for the false sentences. Also encourage students to say how they know the true sentences are true.

ANSWERS

- 1 T
- 2 T
- 3 F Her first job was in her father's shop.
- 4 F She married Abdullah and then they moved to Amman.
- 5 T

Exercise 8a

- Point out the two highlighted words in the text and tell students these are sequencers.
- Refer students to the Language for writing box and ask them to read it carefully. Make it clear that we use then and after that with the same meaning. They both tell the reader what happened next in the story.

Exercise 8b

- Ask students to read sentence 1 and elicit where they could put a sequencer (at the start of sentence 2). Elicit why we use it to start a new sentence (refer students to the Language for writing box if they are unsure).
- Students work alone to use sequencers in the other sentences. Monitor carefully and refer struggling students back to the Language for writing box to help them.
- Elicit full answers from the class. Point out or elicit why answers are correct with reference to the points in the Language for writing box.

ANSWERS

- 1 I lived in Sweden from 2008 to 2014 and worked in a bank. Then I moved to England.
- 2 We walked in the park and then travelled home by bus.
- 3 She finished work at 7 p.m. Then, she cycled home.
- 4 We visited a museum with some friends and walked by the river. After that, we had dinner in a restaurant with them.

Exercise 9a

- Write Ayrton Senna on the board. Ask if anyone knows this name and anything about him. Point to the photo and the biography and tell students they are going to read about Ayrton Senna. Explain the biography is in the wrong order. Ask them to put the sentences in the correct order.

EXTRA SUPPORT Tell students to use the ages and years in the text to help them find the order.

- Elicit answers by reading aloud the first sentence and then asking the student next to you to continue with the next sentence and so on around the class. Stop students if there are any mistakes in the order and correct them, eliciting what comes next from the class if possible. (You could also write the letters on the board in the order they occur for visual learners to check.)

ANSWERS

1 b 2 f 3 e 4 d 5 c 6 a

Exercise 9b

- Put students into pairs and ask them to say the biography of Ayrton Senna together, taking turns to add one piece of information at a time. Remind them to use then and after that when appropriate.
- Nominate a strong pair to go through the story in front of the class. Praise use of sequencers in appropriate places.

ANSWERS

He started to drive ... 7 years old. Then at thirteen he had ... In 1981 ... formula 3 cars. Then at the age of twenty-three ... Formula 1 team Toleman. After that he had a great career ...

Exercise 10a

- Ask students to read the instruction for the writing task. Ask checking questions to make sure they know what to do: Who do you write the biography about? How many facts do you write about? Do you use sequencers?
- At this stage students choose a person for their biography and just write notes to get their facts and ideas on paper before they start to write the biographies. If students have access to sources of information, they could research facts about their person. When they have written down 5–8 facts, they should put them in chronological order.

Exercise 10b

- Allow plenty of time for students to work alone on their biographies. Monitor and check their sentences carefully, especially their use of sequencers. Point out any errors you see and encourage students to self-correct if possible.

WATCH OUT! Now that students have the sequencers to think about, they may lose focus on the past tense. Remind them to use the past simple and to choose the correct endings.

EXTRA CHALLENGE For fast finishers, ask them to include two more facts about the person in their biography.

- Give a time limit to the end of the task when you can see most students are near to finishing.
- Write the following checklist on the board and ask students to use it to check their writing and correct any errors: past tense endings, was born, pronouns, sequencers.

Exercise 10c

- Tell students they are going to read their biographies to other students. Ask them to practise saying any years or dates in their biographies.

- Put students into small groups of 3–4 and ask them to take turns to read out their biographies. Monitor and note errors from the checklist in exercise 10b.
- When students have finished, elicit how many of the biographies were of famous people.
- Read aloud some of the errors and elicit corrections.

EXTRA ACTIVITY For homework, students could write a short autobiography of 5–10 sentences, including sequencers where appropriate. Collect this writing to correct it. Students could write up a perfect copy for a booklet about the members of the class and they could all read it. You could include photos of the class members, too.

8.5 Video

The Wright siblings

Dayton is a small city in Ohio in the USA. It only has a population of around 140,000 people, but it's famous all over the world. Why? Because the Wright brothers lived here. Orville and Wilbur Wright were the first people to fly an aeroplane. As young men, they started a printing business and then opened the town's first bicycle shop. They even invented their own bicycle. But their dream was to fly. In 1899, they started to make a glider and they soon added engines and a propeller. In 1900, they moved to Kitty Hawk in North Carolina. Here they tested different machines and on 17th December 1903, they were successful with the Wright Flyer I. Today, almost everybody knows the Wright brothers' story, but most people don't know about their sister, Katharine. Katharine Wright was born in the Wright family home on 19th August 1874. She studied at Oberlin College, which was unusual at the time because there weren't a lot of colleges for women. She finished her degree in 1898 and moved back to Dayton. Here, she started work as a teacher in the local high school. But after Orville and Wilbur's famous flight, everything changed. Suddenly the brothers were famous all over the world. This was difficult because they were both very shy. But luckily Katharine wasn't. She was an excellent businesswoman, too. She helped to build the Wright Company and even started to fly with the brothers. She was an important part of the family business and travelled across the United States and Europe with her brothers. After that, the siblings returned to their home in Dayton and they all helped with the business. The brothers created their third aeroplane – the Wright Flyer III - and tested it here at the Huffman Prairie flying field. Orville and Wilbur Wright lived in Dayton for the rest of their lives, but life was very different. They were American heroes and they were famous all over the world. They started a company and were very successful. Wilbur died in 1912. Katharine married the journalist Henry Haskell and moved to Kansas in 1926. Sadly, she died three years later. Orville continued to work with planes. He even helped to re-make the Wright Flyer III. His last flight was in April 1944 and he died in 1948. Wilbur, Orville and Katharine were very close and together they changed the world forever.

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 three    2 They were the first people to fly an aeroplane.
- 3 a glider, a flight

Exercise 2

- 1 WO    2 WO    3 K    4 WOK    5 K    6 WO    7 K    8 WO

Exercise 3a

- 1 invented    2 glider    3 tested    4 engine    5 company
- 6 Flyer III    7 Wilbur    8 Orville

Review

ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

1 were 2 were 3 was 4 were 5 was 6 weren't
7 were 8 was 9 were 10 were 11 was 12 weren't 13 wasn't 14 was

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.24

The Brothers Grimm, Jacob and Wilhelm, were famous nineteenth century story-tellers. They were both born in Hanau, Germany. Jacob was born in 1785 and Wilhelm in 1786. There were nine children in the family. After their father died, life was very difficult. Jacob and Wilhelm weren't rich, but with help from their mother's sister, they went to school. In 1805, they were both students at the University of Marburg. It was a small but very famous university. The brothers were good students. They were interested in tales and started to collect them. Their first book, in 1812, was Children's and Household Tales. There were eighty-six stories in it. The stories weren't for children at first, but they loved them. Children's and Household Tales wasn't the only book that the brothers published, but it was the most popular.

Exercise 2a

1 lived 2 liked, was 3 studied 4 helped 5 worked
6 died

Exercise 3a 8.25

1 1916 2 4th November 3 12th July 2009 4 2040
5 13th May 6 22nd July

AUDIOSCRIPT 8.25

1 1916
2 4th November
3 12th July 2009
4 2040
5 13th May
6 22nd July

Exercise 4a

1 When is your birthday?
2 What year were you born?
3 When was your first day at school?
4 Where and when was your first holiday?

Exercise 5

1 holiday 2 the house 3 my daughter 4 the young boy
5 me and my family 6 our neighbours

Exercise 6a

1 her 2 them 3 it 4 him

Exercise 7a

1 e 2 d 3 f 4 b 5 a 6 c

9.1 Happy memories

Goals

- Use past simple irregular verbs
- Talk about a memory

Lead-in

- Start by giving a context for forget, e.g. Oh no! I forgot my mobile phone! Elicit the meaning by concept checking if necessary: Do I have my mobile phone today? (no). Write forget on the board. Ask What is the opposite of forget?
- Elicit or teach remember and write the word on the board. Ask How can you remember things? Elicit ideas from the class (write it down, make a note in your mobile phone, set an alarm, ask a friend to remind you, etc.).
- To teach the noun memory, explain that people who remember well have a good memory, and people who often forget things have a bad memory. Write on the board Do you have a good memory? Do you know someone who has a good memory? Put students into pairs to take turns to ask and answer these questions.
- Finally, ask students to look at the title of the lesson Happy memories and point out clearly that memory has two meanings: the ability to remember and also the things we remember from our past.

Reading & Grammar past simple irregular verbs

Exercise 1

- Write love story in the centre of the board. Add different types of love story around it to start making a spidergram, e.g. history, film, book, opera, famous people, my family, people I know. Check students understand all of these terms. You could also teach the expression fall in love, as students will need it for this lesson.
- Allow time for students to think about love stories they know in different categories. Then put student into pairs to talk about all the love stories they can think of. They can say the names of famous love stories, e.g. Beauty and the Beast, Gone with the Wind, Carmen, or couples, e.g. Anthony and Cleopatra, Paris and Helen of Troy, Romeo and Juliet, Layla and Majnun, John Lennon and Yoko Ono.

Exercise 2a

Text summary: Clive Wearing was left with no memory after a brain illness, but he does remember that he loves his wife Deborah.

- Tell students they are going to read a true love story about the people in the photos.
- Ask students to read sentences a–h about the story. Elicit or teach the meaning of get ill (and you could also teach the noun illness, which students will need in exercise 2b).
- Ask students to read the text to find the order of events in this love story and write the numbers next to sentences a–h. Point out that number 1 has been done as an example.
- Allow plenty of time for the exercise as the text is quite long and contains a lot of detail. Encourage students not to use a dictionary, but reassure them you will help with new vocabulary when you check the answers.
- You could put students into pairs to check they have the same order of events before you elicit the events slowly and clearly in order. Write the letters and numbers on the board. Ask students to give you the sentence in the text which tells them the information.
- Go through any new vocabulary, e.g. musician, seconds, difficult. Help students with the pronunciation.

ANSWERS

1 b 2 g 3 d 4 a 5 h 6 c 7 f 8 e

Exercise 2b

- Ask students to read sentences 1–6 and then read the text again and mark the sentences T or F.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students may be able to remember what they read and write T or F before they read again and check whether they were right. Fast finishers could try to make the false sentences true.

- Elicit answers from the class, encouraging students to refer to the text and say the sentence where they found the information. (If fast finishers did the extra challenge, you could also elicit true sentences.)

EXTENSION Ask students Do you like this love story? Why/Why not?

ANSWERS

1 False 2 False 3 False 4 False 5 True 6 False

Exercise 3a

- Refer students to the highlighted words in the text. Point out that these are all verbs. Elicit that the story is about the past and these verbs are all in the past tense. The verbs in 1–15 are infinitives and students have to find the corresponding past tense forms in the text.

Exercise 3b 9.1

- Play track 9.1. Ask students to listen to the verbs and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each verb for students to repeat both the infinitive and the past simple form.

PRONUNCIATION You could point out that for some of these irregular verbs, the only difference in spelling and pronunciation between the infinitive or present and the past tense is the vowel. This means it is important to try to be precise about the vowel sounds when saying them.

ANSWERS

1 was/were 2 could 3 came 4 fell 5 got 6 went
7 had 8 knew 9 left 10 lost 11 met 12 said
13 saw 14 sold 15 wrote

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.1

- |               |                |
|---------------|----------------|
| 1 be was/were | 9 leave left   |
| 2 can could   | 10 lose lost   |
| 3 come came   | 11 meet met    |
| 4 fall fell   | 12 say said    |
| 5 get got     | 13 see saw     |
| 6 go went     | 14 sell sold   |
| 7 have had    | 15 write wrote |
| 8 know knew   |                |

Exercise 3c

- Put students into A/B pairs. Ask them to read the instruction and example then take turns to test each other.

EXTENSION Ask students to write down five of the infinitives and then five past tense forms (of other verbs they have learnt). Ask students to swap their lists and write the missing past tense forms and infinitives.

Exercise 4a

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box. Ask them to think about which verbs we use before goodbye and a good film then look for the past simple form of these verbs in exercise 3a to complete the gaps. Elicit answers.
- Read out the sentence at the top of the Grammar focus box as it is important students don't try to change the form of verbs in the past tense to fit different pronouns. You could say that in this way, past tense is simpler than present tense.

WATCH OUT! The irregular verb be is the obvious exception to the rule above. Elicit from or remind students that we use was for I/he/she/it and were for you/we/they. They studied and practised this in 8.1.

ANSWERS

1 said 2 saw

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p132. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 4b

- Tell students they are going to read a new love story. Ask them to complete it by changing the verbs in brackets into past simple tense. Refer them to the example: meet – met. If necessary, elicit the correct past tense form of be (was) to complete number 2 as a further demonstration.
- Monitor and encourage students to try to remember the past tense forms.

Exercise 4c 9.2

- Play track 9.2 and ask students to listen to the story and check their answers.
- Check answers by eliciting them from students. They could read a line of the story each. Correct any mistakes.

FEEDBACK FOCUS The pronunciation of some of these irregular past simple forms tends to cause problems for students, e.g. saw, said, could. Make a note of any past tense forms which are mispronounced for correction after exercise 5.

ANSWERS

1 met 2 was 3 knew 4 went 5 saw 6 sold
7 wrote 8 said 9 came 10 went 11 fell 12 got

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.2

I met my husband, John, when I was five years old! We knew each other because we went to the same school. I saw him again in a clothes shop in 2010. I was with a friend and he sold a jacket to her. He asked her for my phone number. Then he wrote me a text message. It said, 'Do you want to go out for a meal?' So he came to my house one evening and then we went out to a restaurant. We fell in love and got married in 2011.

Exercise 5

- Write Is this a love story? on the board and ask students to read the story. Tell them not to worry about the missing words, but just try to understand what the story is about. Elicit the answer to the question: It isn't a love story. It's a story about a man with an amazing memory.

- Ask students to complete the story with past tense verbs as in exercise 4b. Encourage them to try to remember the past tense forms rather than look at the list in exercise 3a. You could put fast finishers in pairs to check their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class. Either elicit one line of the story at a time as in exercise 4c or read the story aloud yourself and ask them to say the verbs together as you come to them. Note any which are mispronounced.
- Drill any mispronounced past tense forms one more time. Sometimes it helps to point out similarities and differences between the infinitive and the past tense form (often just the vowel sound changes). You could use the list in exercise 3a to do this.

ANSWERS

1 studied 2 had 3 remembered 4 met 5 was
6 said 7 got 8 could 9 lost 10 had

EXTENSION Not all of the past tense verb forms are irregular in this story. Ask students to find two regular verbs. Elicit the answers: study (studied) and remember (remembered).

Exercise 6a

- Ask students to read sentences 1–5 and change the verbs into the past simple.
- Check answers together by nominating students.

ANSWERS

1 met 2 got 3 went 4 lost 5 saw

Exercise 6b

- Ask students to read the instruction. Tell them to think about two real events from their past
- Give your own example which uses the cues, e.g. Last summer, I lost my credit card. I was shopping with my friend and we were in a clothes shop. I wanted to buy a top but I didn't have my credit card. We stopped shopping and I called the credit card company. After that we went back to the car and ... it was in the car on the floor!
- Allow plenty of time for students to work alone, making notes about their two events. Monitor and assist students. They can use dictionaries if necessary, but check carefully if they want to use new words.
- When students have written notes, ask them to think about past tense forms of verbs they need to tell their memories.

Exercise 6c

- Put students into small groups of three or four and ask them to take turns to tell their memories.
- Tell each group to choose one memory they think is interesting or funny. Ask the student whose memory they've chosen to report it to the class.

Vocabulary adjective + noun phrases (2)

Exercise 7

- Ask students to read the Vocabulary focus box. Check they know the noun ending and, if necessary, teach the meaning in relation to stories. You could also point out that in the phrase an old friend, we don't mean that the friend is old but that it is a long friendship.

- Ask students to read the love story in exercise 2a again to find sentences which contain an adjective + noun phrase from the Vocabulary focus box. To demonstrate, ask a student to read out the first sentence from the story and elicit the phrase the unusual story. Refer students back to the Vocabulary box to see that the phrase is there.
- Students work alone to find three more adjective + noun phrases and write them in their notebooks.
- Elicit answers from the class.

WATCH OUT! Of course, the examples in the Vocabulary focus box are not the only possible combinations of these adjectives + nouns, e.g. a good friend is also possible. But they are common and useful combinations that students can learn as chunks to add to their vocabulary. If stronger students think of other combinations which collocate well, praise them for finding a new adjective + noun phrase.

ANSWERS

This is the unusual story of ... They had a good time.
It was a sad time. Their new life was very different.

Exercise 8a

- Ask students to read sentences 1–6 and choose the correct noun to go with each adjective.

EXTRA SUPPORT With a weaker group, elicit the first answer. Point out that interesting story is correct because it is a common adjective + noun combination and also because friend would need the sentence to begin with he or she, not it.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class. Wherever possible, encourage students to say how they know it is correct or refer them back to the Vocabulary focus box.

ANSWERS

1 story 2 ending 3 time 4 friend 5 life 6 time

Exercise 9a

- Ask students to read and complete sentences 1–5. Remind them to choose real memories from their lives and films, books and people they know, which they can talk about. Give examples yourself, e.g. I had a good time at university. Cinderella has a happy ending. Alice is an old friend.
- Monitor and encourage students who can't think of ideas. Some sentences are easier than others, e.g. ask them to start with sentence 3 and go back to the others after that.

Exercise 9b

- Put students into small groups and ask them to take turns to read their sentences to each other and give more information. Refer them to the example. You could ask a student to read it aloud. Also give your own example to help students understand what to do, e.g. Alice is an old friend. I met her at college and after that we worked in the same office for five years.
- Nominate some students to report one or two things about people in their group. Elicit corrections of any errors connected with past simple tense.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to choose five adjective + noun combinations from the Vocabulary focus box to write on slips of paper. Ask them to cut (or tear) the phrases in half. Put students into pairs and ask each student to hand their ten pieces of paper to their partner. Students match the adjective + noun phrases and use each one in a sentence. You could make this a competitive game where students get a point for each correct sentence.

9.2 A good excuse

Goals

- Use past simple negatives and questions
- Use common verb phrases (1)

Lead-in

- Put students into pairs to tell each other about their job or a job they did in the past. You could write where, when, etc. on the board as prompts to give more information.
- Say People sometimes don't go to work. Why? Elicit reasons from the class, e.g. They don't have a job. They are ill. You may not be able to elicit many reasons – the aim is just to engage students' thinking ready for exercise 1.

Listening & Grammar past simple negatives and questions

Exercise 1

- Ask students to read the instruction and the first part of the text, above the illustration. Then put students into pairs to read reasons 1–6 and discuss whether they are good or bad.
- Elicit ideas from the class.
- Teach the noun excuse /ɪk'skju:s/, explaining this is a type of reason we give to say why we didn't do something or we did something bad. Sometimes these reasons are not true.

WATCH OUT! You could point out that this noun excuse /ɪk'skju:s/ is different from the word in the phrase Excuse me /ɪk'skju:z/, which they learnt in 7.4 for making requests. Model the words to show that the pronunciation is different, too.

Exercise 2a 9.3

- Tell students they are going to hear a conversation where someone is making an excuse for not going to work.
- Ask students to read the questions. Elicit the meanings of employee and employer (students have heard the word boss before in 8.2 about Bill Gates).
- Play track 9.3 and ask students to listen to the conversation and answer the questions. Play again to give students a second opportunity to catch the information.
- Elicit the answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 He had a bad night, he couldn't sleep.
- 2 The employer thinks it's a bad excuse.

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.3

- A So where were you yesterday, Nathan?
B I'm very sorry. I had a bad night. I didn't sleep.
A Why did you have a bad night?
B Well, I watched a horror film.
A A horror film? OK ... Did you phone the office in the morning?
B No, I didn't. I'm sorry. I didn't get up until 12 o'clock. I phoned in the afternoon.
A In the afternoon? Nathan, that's not good enough ...

Exercise 2b 9.3

- Give students a moment to read through the conversation they heard in exercise 2a. Then play track 9.3 again for students to complete the conversation.

EXTRA SUPPORT For a weaker group, pause the track after each B sentence to allow more time for students to write.

- Elicit answers from the class by playing the track again and pausing just before each gap.

ANSWERS

- 1 were
- 2 had
- 3 have
- 4 watched
- 5 phone
- 6 get
- 7 phoned

Exercise 3

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box. Point out that the focus is still on past simple forms, but this time on negatives and questions. So they need to focus on these in exercise 2b to help complete the box.
- Go through the answers together, eliciting from students. Elicit that they need a capital letter for gap 3 as it is the beginning of the question.
- Check students understand they need the past tense form of auxiliary verb do (did for all persons) for making negatives and questions and that this auxiliary verb is followed by the infinitive form. You could make a comparison with present tense negative and questions if you think this would help.

WATCH OUT! There's a note at the bottom of the Grammar focus box about could. Point out that the negative of could is couldn't just as can becomes can't in the negative (so it is incorrect to say don't can or didn't could). Students will need to be encouraged to learn this. You could ask them to write their own sentences to practise.

ANSWERS

- 1 didn't
- 2 did
- 3 Did
- 4 didn't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp132-133. There are three more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 4a

- Ask students to read the conversations in 1 and 2 then underline the correct option in each case.
- Monitor and refer students back to the Grammar focus box examples to help them.

Exercise 4b 9.4

- Play track 9.4 and ask students to listen to the conversations and check their answers. If necessary, play again and pause to elicit each answer.
- Check students understand not feel well means feel ill.

ANSWERS

- 1 go
- 2 didn't
- 3 went
- 4 like
- 5 stay
- 6 did
- 7 feel
- 8 ate
- 9 eat

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.4

1

A Did you go to work yesterday?

B No, I didn't. I went shopping.

A Was your boss angry?

B Yes. He didn't like it.

2

A Did you stay at home yesterday?

B Yes, I did. I didn't feel well. I ate something bad.

A What did you eat?

B I don't know.

Pronunciation sentence stress

Exercise 5a 9.5

- Play track 9.5 and ask students to listen to the negative sentence and question and notice which words are stressed.

Exercise 5b 9.5

- Play track 9.5 again, pausing for students to repeat. You may need to do this more than once.
- Correct any sentence stress errors.

Exercise 6a 9.6

- Ask students to read 1–4. Point out that two are questions and one is a negative sentence. Ask them to think about which two words are stressed in each sentence.
- Play track 9.6 and ask students to listen to the sentences. Pause after each for students to mark the stressed words.

Exercise 6b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. If necessary, play the track again and ask students to repeat.
- Ask students to take turns practising the sentences. Monitor and correct any sentence stress errors as you hear them.

ANSWERS

1 They lost their dog.

2 Did you phone the office?

3 He didn't like it.

4 Did you go to the doctor?

EXTENSION Refer students back to the conversations in exercise 4a. Ask them to look at the questions and negative sentences and mark the stress on the key words. Ask them to look again at the examples in exercise 5a if they are unsure. Monitor and check they are marking sentence stress correctly. Put students into A/B pairs to practise the conversations.

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to read the list of activities 1–8. Check they understand party, radio, early, fast food restaurant.
- Ask students to read the instruction and then put ticks or crosses next to the activities. If necessary, highlight that they need to think about their real lives last week. Monitor and assist students who don't understand what to do.

Exercise 7b

- Put students into A/B pairs to practise asking and answering questions about last week. Refer them to the example and nominate one pair to act it out for the class.
- Remind students to make a note of their partner's answers.
- Monitor carefully and encourage students to take turns. Note any errors for correction at the end.

WATCH OUT! It is common for students to use Did to start questions and then mistakenly use a past form instead of infinitive, e.g. Did you saw ...? rather than Did you see ...?

EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students could ask for extra information whenever their partner answers Yes, I did, e.g. Who did you see? What film did you watch?, etc. Tell them to make a note of the extra information.

Exercise 7c

- Ask students to use the notes they made to report back to the class. Read the question aloud and nominate one student to start. Alternatively, put students into new pairs to report to their new partner about their first partner.
- Listen carefully and note any sentence stress problems.
- Conduct error correction of grammar errors and sentence stress mistakes. If you write sentences on the board with grammatical errors, students could work in pairs to find and correct the problem.

EXTENSION Set up a different time frame for students to do the same task as exercise 7b. Ask students to think about last year. Tell them to write a list of three more activities similar to those in the list in exercise 7a, e.g. go on holiday, change your job, make a new friend, travel by train, etc. Put them into pairs to ask and answer questions about these activities.

Vocabulary & Speaking verb phrases (1)

Exercise 8a 9.7

- Tell students they are going to listen to a woman talking about her (bad) day.
- Ask them to read the sentences, and explain any words/phrases they don't understand. In particular, check they understand the verb miss which is used here with her train. Point to the photo at the bottom of the page to illustrate this phrase.

WATCH OUT! Direct translation from a number of languages causes students to say lose the train instead of miss the train. If you know this may be a problem for your students, point it out for them to learn.

- Play track 9.7 for students to listen and tick the things which happened in Jenny's day. You may need to play the track more than once.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 ✓ 2 X 3 ✓ 4 X 5 X 6 ✓ 7 ✓ 8 X

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.7

I had a terrible day yesterday. I slept badly, so I got up very late. I had a quick shower, got dressed and went to work. I got to the office two hours late. My boss was there and he wasn't very happy! I started to work immediately, but unfortunately I forgot the time of my meeting with the team and I missed the first half. After lunch I got a phone call from the school. My daughter was ill. She had a really bad headache and felt sick, so we went to the doctor. On the way out I met an old friend, Cathy. She talked and talked for about an hour so we missed the last bus home. I phoned my husband, but he was in a meeting and couldn't leave the office. So we waited for about two hours and finally got home at 8 o'clock in the evening!

Exercise 8b 9.7

- Refer students to the sentences which they didn't tick. Play track 9.7 again, pausing after had a quick shower. Point to the example to show how the phrase fell in the shower has been corrected. Continue playing the track for students to correct the other sentences.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Stronger students could try to remember what was different and change the sentences before they listen again.

- Students could compare their answers in pairs before you elicit the corrected sentences from the class.

ANSWERS

She didn't fall in the shower. Her daughter felt sick.
Her daughter had a headache. She missed her bus.

Exercise 9a

- Jenny's talk in exercise 8a contained some more irregular past tense forms. Ask students to look at infinitives 1–8 and try to remember what the past tense forms are (they have already studied a few of them: fall, have, meet). If they cannot remember, refer them to the sentences in exercise 8a.

Exercise 9b 9.8

- Play track 9.8 and ask students to listen to the verbs and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each one for students to repeat the two words. Model and drill any words students have difficulty pronouncing.

ANSWERS

1 fell 2 felt 3 forgot 4 went 5 had 6 met
7 missed 8 slept

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.8

1 fall fell	5 have had
2 feel felt	6 meet met
3 forget forgot	7 miss missed
4 go went	8 sleep slept

STUDY TIP Most Coursebooks and dictionaries contain lists of irregular verbs but it is also a good idea for students to reserve a few pages in their notebook to add to an ongoing list each time they learn another irregular verb. They can also customize their own list with personal example sentences to help them remember.

Exercise 9c

- Ask students to read situations 1–4. Put them into pairs to talk about the situations and think of an excuse they could give for each one, e.g. I missed the bus. Refer them to the verb phrases in exercise 8a for ideas.
- Monitor and make sure students understand what to do. Weaker students can use verb phrases from exercise 8a in simple sentences. Stronger students could be encouraged to be more creative.

Exercise 10

- Put students into new A/B pairs so they work with a different partner (who they didn't brainstorm excuses with). Ask them to read the instruction. Refer them back to the conversation in exercise 2b for ideas for their own conversation.

EXTRA SUPPORT Elicit the employer's first question to get the conversation started: Why are you two hours late?

- Monitor and assist weaker students when they have difficulty keeping the conversations going.
- Make sure students swap roles so both of them have an opportunity to be the employer and employee.
- Nominate a few pairs to act out one conversation for the class. Praise good use of the past tense forms and of verb phrases from exercise 8a.

Listening skills words that sound the same

- Ask students to read the information. If students' first language is phonetic, they may find the idea of two different spellings but the same pronunciation very strange indeed. Model the example words to show this.
- Check students know the meanings of all the example words. It is a good idea to elicit the parts of speech too (noun, verb, adjective, pronoun).

Exercise 1a 9.9

- Ask students to read sentences 1–4, and point out there are pairs of words to choose from. Choosing the correct word depends on the meaning rather than the sound (because the words sound the same), so ask strong students to underline the correct answers before listening.
- Play track 9.9 and ask students to listen to the sentences and identify which word is correct in each case.

Exercise 1b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class.
- You could play track 9.9 again, pausing after each sentence for students to repeat. Saying the words aloud may help some students remember them better and pronounce them correctly the next time they use them.

ANSWERS

1 ate 2 eight 3 knew 4 new 5 You're 6 your 7 two 8 too

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.9

- 1 He ate six apples and eight bananas.
- 2 I knew her when we worked at the hospital. She's got a new job now.
- 3 You're late for your train.
- 4 Do you know the woman in flat number two? I know her, too.

Exercise 2a 9.10

- Ask students to look at the pairs of words which sound the same. Tell them they are going to hear six sentences, all of which contain one of the words. They have to choose the correct word according to the meaning of the sentence.
- Play track 9.10 and pause after number 1 to elicit the answer. Ask students How do you spell that? to check they have chosen the correct word. Play on to the end for students to complete the exercise.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Check answers together by eliciting from students. Rather than spelling them out each time, students could say one for the first word in each pair and two for the second.

ANSWERS

1 your 2 bye 3 write 4 sea 5 hour 6 their

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.10

- 1 Are these your keys?
- 2 She said bye and left.
- 3 Did you write a letter or an email?
- 4 The children went for a swim in the sea.
- 5 I waited for an hour but she never came.
- 6 Is it their flat?

Exercise 3a 9.11

- Tell students they are going to hear a mobile phone conversation between two friends.
- Ask students to read the conversation. Explain that the gaps are all words from the Listening skills box.
- Play track 9.11 all the way through once. Students can write answers as they listen to the conversation, but also allow them time after listening to complete the gaps.
- Play the track again, if necessary, pausing after every B sentence to allow time for students to write the answers.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers. If they have different answers, ask them to think about the meaning of the sentence and also the kind of word that is missing (noun, verb, pronoun, etc.).
- Nominate a pair to act out the conversation. Stop them after each line to elicit answers and spellings from the class.

ANSWERS

1 You're 2 right 3 I 4 buy 5 meat 6 too 7 See
8 Bye

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.11

A Hi, Andy. You're at the supermarket, right?

B Yes, I am. Why?

A Could you buy me some apples, please?

B Sure. Anything else?

A I need some meat, too. I want to cook tonight.

B No problem.

A Thanks, Andy. See you later.

B Bye.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to choose four words from the Listening skills box and write them down in a list. Put students into pairs. Ask them to take turns to say one of the words in their list. Their partner must try to remember and write down the two different words which sound like that, e.g. Student A: meat. Student B writes down meat, meet in their notebook. This is really a quick testing activity to show students what they have learnt and what they still need to study to remember. Students can check their spellings by referring to the Listening skills box.

9.3 News stories

Goals

- Use ago to say when something happened
- Talk about the last time

Lead-in

- Write restaurant in the middle of the board. Elicit the pronunciation /'restərɒnt/. Ask students to tell you the names of any good restaurants in the local area.
- Students have some experience of making vocabulary diagrams now. Put them into pairs to make a vocabulary diagram about restaurants using any words they can think of (e.g. eat, drink, food, waiter, expensive, cheap, etc.).
- After a few minutes, elicit some of their words to create a diagram on the board. You could invite students to come up and add words themselves.
- Ask What do you do at the end of a meal? (pay). Teach or elicit the word for the piece of paper with the total amount on it: the bill. Add to the diagram ask for the bill and pay the bill.
- Elicit or teach the meaning of the noun tip and add it to the diagram.

Reading & Grammar ago

Exercise 1

- Ask students to look at the restaurant bill and put them into pairs to discuss the question.
- Nominate a student to share their answer with the class.

EXTENSION You could ask How did the waiter feel? and elicit adjectives (surprised, happy, etc.).

ANSWERS

The waiter's tip is very big: $3,000.

Exercise 2

Text summary: A news article about a new fashion for leaving huge tips in the USA. The article gives examples of this trend and makes a suggestion about the cause.

- Review the meaning of customer /'kʌstəmə/ which they learnt in Unit 4 and also waitress /'weɪtrəs/ as this female job word is used in the text as well as waiter, which students have already learnt. You could add these words to the vocabulary diagram on the board.
- Ask students to read questions 1–4 then allow plenty of time for them to read the text to find the answers.
- Elicit the answers from the class. Go through any new vocabulary, asking which words they want you to explain.

ANSWERS

- 1 Between 10 and 20% of the cost.
- 2 a A customer left a $3,000 tip on an $88 bill.
b A worker in a fast food restaurant got a $100 tip for a $4 drink.
c A waiter got a $6,000 tip for his service.
- 3 No-one knows their names, but people think it is a group of internet millionaires from California.
- 4 They want to help poor people.

Exercise 3

- Ask students to read the questions and put them into pairs to discuss their tipping habits.
- Conduct class feedback and find out which students like giving big tips. Find out if they give different-sized tips to different kinds of workers. If your group is multilingual, you could ask them to compare tipping behaviour in the different countries.

Background note: In the UK, people usually leave a 10–15% tip in a restaurant (but not if a service charge has already been added to the bill). The British often give taxi drivers and hotel porters a tip. It is not very common to tip hairdressers or delivery drivers and people don't leave a tip in bars, pubs or fast food restaurants.

Exercise 4a

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and read out the first example sentence I left school five years ago. Ask students to focus on the years and events in the timeline to complete the gap in the second sentence.
- Elicit the answer from one of the students.

ANSWERS

three

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p133. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 4b

- Ask students to read sentences 1–5 and rewrite them using ago in relation to today's date. You could draw an empty timeline on the board as in the Grammar focus box with today's date below NOW, and use the example to demonstrate the exercise.
- Monitor and assist students who are struggling by asking how long into the past we need to look for the events, e.g. in number 2 How many days?
- Students could compare answers in pairs before you check with the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 He got married ... years ago.
- 2 I saw her ... days ago. (depending on what day it is)
- 3 She went to Switzerland ... months ago.
- 4 He left his job a week ago.
- 5 We sold our house ... years ago.

Pronunciation word stress in two-syllable words

Exercise 5a 9.12

- Point out that all of the words in the box have two syllables. Sometimes words with two syllables are stressed on the first and sometimes on the second. Model the two examples answer and about.
- Play track 9.12 and ask students to listen to the stress patterns of the words and categorize them. Pause briefly after each word to allow time for students to write.

Exercise 5b 9.13

- Play track 9.13, pausing after each word for students to check their answers and correct any mistakes in categorizing the word stress.
- Play the track again for students to repeat each word. Make sure they stress the correct syllable for each.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 9.13

Stress on the first syllable:

answer colour fashion meeting lucky story

Stress on the second syllable:

about ago correct decide forget hotel

Exercise 6

- Put students into pairs to take turns to say sentences 1–4 to practise the word stress of the two-syllable words.
- Monitor carefully and correct pronunciation errors as you hear them.

WATCH OUT! The word hotel is used in a number of languages and often stressed on the first syllable but in English it is stressed on the second syllable so be careful students pronounce this word well.

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to read the things in the list. Check they understand concert.
- Read out the question. Students are sometimes confused by the phrase the last time, so make sure they understand this means the time closest to now, i.e. the most recent.

- Allow time for students to make notes in answer to the question about each of the things in the list. They should write details and dates, but not full sentences.

Exercise 7b

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the example conversation and nominate a pair to act it out for the class. Point out that A asks a second question to get more information.
- Elicit the question for the second thing on the list: When did you last buy something online? Nominate a student to ask you the question and respond, e.g. I bought a tablet online two months ago. Encourage students to ask a further question to get more information, e.g. How much was it?
- Students take turns to ask and answer about the things on the list. Monitor and encourage the conversations. Help students self-correct errors in their questions.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to think of more things to add to the list in exercise 7a. Elicit these from the class and make a list on the board, e.g. send an email, eat in a restaurant, do homework, go on holiday, etc. For homework, students could write sentences about the last time they did things. Weaker students can write sentences about the things they have already discussed in exercise 7a. Stronger students can choose things from the list on the board.

Listening & Speaking asking questions about news stories

Exercise 8a

- Tell students to look at the illustrations. Ask Where is the man? to elicit the place for the first illustration and help them start talking about the news story.
- Put students into pairs to discuss what happened in this news story. Monitor carefully and help students with words they need but can't remember or they don't know.
- With a strong group, you could elicit news stories from the students and compare similarities and differences.

Exercise 8b 9.14

Audio summary: A news story about a man called Julio Díaz, who invited a boy that robbed him to eat with him in a restaurant.

- Play track 9.14 and ask students to listen to the story to see if their ideas matched it.
- Elicit from students what was the same and what was different about their stories.
- Elicit or teach the meaning of knife as this may be new. Teach spelling and pronunciation too as it has a silent k.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 9.14

One night in March 2008, Julio Díaz was in a train station in New York. He saw a boy with a knife. 'Give me your money', said the boy. Díaz gave him his wallet and his jacket to keep him warm. But then he said to the boy, 'Do you want something to eat?' The boy said, 'Yes'. So they went to a restaurant together. They ate and talked. When the bill came, Díaz said, 'Can I have some money?' The boy gave him all the money. Díaz paid the bill and then gave the boy $20.

Exercise 9a

- Ask students to read sentence 1 and the example below to understand that this is a sorting exercise.

EXTRA SUPPORT Do number 2 together as a further demonstration if necessary. Elicit the first word: students should know they need a capital letter to start and also that the question word comes first. Elicit the next word (auxiliary) and so on until they have the complete question. If students are finding this difficult, you could refer them back to the Grammar focus box about past simple questions in 9.2.

- Students work alone to complete the exercise. Early finishers could compare their questions with a partner.
- Check the questions together by eliciting them from students. You could help them mark the chunks in question 6 to make it easier to say naturally ([Why did the man][give his jacket][to the boy?]).

ANSWERS

- 1 When did it happen?
- 2 Where did it happen?
- 3 Who did the man see?
- 4 What did the boy say?
- 5 What did the man do?
- 6 Why did the man give his jacket to the boy?
- 7 How did the story end?

Exercise 9b 9.14

- Play track 9.14 again for students to answer the questions in exercise 9a. Advise them just to make notes of the information as they listen, not full sentences as they don't have time. To allow more time for students to write, you could pause the story at certain points: after New York, after boy, after warm, after restaurant.
- Monitor carefully to ensure as far as possible that students have the correct answers for exercise 9c.

Exercise 9c

- Put students into pairs and ask them to read the instruction.
- Students take turns to ask and answer the questions. Monitor and correct any mistakes in answers which you didn't catch when monitoring exercise 9b.
- When students have gone through all the answers, remind them of the question to discuss together and encourage them to think of the reasons for their opinion.
- You could ask students to raise their hands if they think Díaz did the right thing then elicit why from one or two of them. After that, ask students who didn't raise their hands to explain why they think Díaz didn't do the right thing.

ANSWERS

- 1 in March 2008
- 2 in a train station in New York
- 3 a boy with a knife
- 4 'Give me your money'
- 5 He gave the boy his wallet and his jacket.
- 6 to keep him warm
- 7 They went to a restaurant together and talked. When the bill came, the boy gave back all the money.

EXTENSION Put students into pairs. Ask them to continue the story after picture 3 in a different way. Allow plenty of time for this creative task. Encourage students to use dictionaries or translators if necessary. Monitor and assist. Put two pairs together to make groups of four and ask them to tell each other their different ending for the story.

Reading skills guessing meaning from context

- Refer students to the information about guessing meaning from context. Ask them to read it carefully as you read it aloud. Point out that guessing meaning from context is very important as they may not always have a dictionary or translator and also this method can help them understand reading texts quickly.

Exercise 1

- Put students into pairs. Ask them to read the sentence in the box and answer questions 1 and 2. Refer them back to the text on p90 to answer question 2.
- Refer students to the highlighted word huge. Remind them to look at the words around it and also the whole sentence. Ask them to choose one of the meanings and discuss with their partner why they make this guess.
- Elicit the answer from one pair. You could also elicit what part of speech this word is (adjective).

ANSWERS

- 1 $7,000
- 2 between $5 and $10
- 3 b, very big

Exercise 2

- Ask students to read the instruction and the sentences in the box. Tell them that thought is the past simple form of think (which is an irregular verb).
- Students guess the meaning of the highlighted phrase threw away. You could ask students to compare their guess with their partner from exercise 1.
- Elicit ideas from some of the students. Confirm the meaning of threw away. You may need to point to a bin in the classroom and teach this word as it is needed to explain the meaning. You could also elicit that threw away is a verb and is in the past, but doesn't end in -ed so must be an irregular verb.

ANSWER

threw away = put it in the bin

Exercise 3a

- Tell students to read the complete story in the box and highlight words they would normally check in a dictionary.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare which words they highlighted. Ask them to focus on words they are both unsure about. Refer them to the tips in the Reading skills information if necessary and ask them to guess the meanings of the words together.
- When students have finished, give each pair a dictionary and one of the highlighted words to check.
- Elicit dictionary definitions and clarify yourself where necessary. Encourage students to give information about the part of speech and pronunciation if possible.

PRONUNCIATION Teach and drill the pronunciation of all the new words from the Reading skills section. Remind students that learning the pronunciation is an important part of learning new words.

9.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Talk about the weather
- Write a review of an event

Lead-in

- Explain the situation: You meet someone new. You ask for their personal information (name, job, etc.). What do you talk about after that? Put students into small groups to discuss the question.
- Elicit topics from the class (suggestions: the reason why you are both in that place/situation, e.g. at a conference or in a language class; family/children; work; the town where you live; places you know; TV; sport).
- If students haven't already mentioned the weather, add this topic yourself. You could elicit any words students know about the weather, and confirm that this is the topic for the lesson.

Listening & Speaking the weather

Exercise 1a

- Put students into pairs to look at the illustrations and match them to the words. They may not know all these words, but can match most of them by process of elimination.
- Monitor and encourage pairs. Tell them not to worry if there are some words they are not sure about.

Exercise 1b 9.15

- Play track 9.15 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers.
- Play the track again for students to repeat.
- Elicit that all of these weather words are adjectives. You could ask students to copy the words into their notebooks and mark the word stress. If there is time, students could make a vocabulary diagram for weather.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 c 3 f 4 g 5 h 6 e 7 b 8 a

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.15

- |                |               |
|----------------|---------------|
| 1 It's sunny.  | 5 It's snowy. |
| 2 It's cloudy. | 6 It's cold.  |
| 3 It's rainy.  | 7 It's hot.   |
| 4 It's stormy. | 8 It's warm.  |

Exercise 2a 9.16

- Ask students to look at the photos of the tree in different seasons.
- Play track 9.16, pausing after each season for students to repeat.

PRONUNCIATION Remind students that they studied word stress in words with two syllables in 9.3. Elicit where the stress is in the three seasons which have two syllables (all on first syllable).

EXTENSION Write on the board Which season were you born in? Nominate a student to ask you the question, and give an answer, e.g. I was born in winter. Put students into pairs to ask and answer the question.

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.16

spring summer autumn winter

Exercise 2b

- Conduct a quick chain drill of the months of the year to remind students of the words and how to say them.
- Put students into pairs and ask them to read the questions and discuss the answers.

EXTRA SUPPORT Write some countries on the board for students to discuss, e.g. Australia, Sweden, Argentina, India, South Africa, your own country. Tell students it is OK if they don't know the exact seasons for some of the countries!

- Elicit some countries and answers from the class.

Exercise 3a 9.17

- Tell students they are going to hear three conversations about the weather. Play track 9.17 and ask students to listen and write down the weather mentioned.
- Elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 cloudy, warm, rainy
- 2 rainy, sunny, very hot
- 3 very cold, often snowy

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.17

1

A What's the weather like with you?

B It's OK. It's a little cloudy, but it's warm.

A It's rainy here.

2

B Did you have a good holiday?

A Yes, it was great thanks.

B What was the weather like?

A It was the rainy season for the first week, but after that it was sunny and very hot.

3

A What's the weather like in winter in New York?

B It's very cold and it's often snowy, too.

Exercise 3b 9.17

- Ask students to read the conversations they have just listened to.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students can be challenged to complete the gaps from memory before they listen again.

- Play track 9.17 again so students can complete the conversations.
- Check answers together by playing the track one more time, pausing before each gap to elicit the missing word.

ANSWERS

- 1 weather
- 2 cloudy
- 3 here
- 4 holiday
- 5 was
- 6 rainy
- 7 sunny
- 8 hot
- 9 winter
- 10 cold
- 11 snowy

Exercise 3c

- Put students into A/B pairs. Before they make their own conversations, they could act out the conversations in exercise 3b. Student A starts for Conversation 1 and Student B starts for Conversation 2 so they both have a chance to ask questions and respond.
- Ask students to have their own conversations about the weather using the vocabulary in exercise 1a. Monitor to check they are pronouncing the weather words well.

Exercise 4 9.18

- Refer students to the Understanding ... box and ask them to read the information. Then play track 9.18 and ask students to listen to the examples and notice how the content words are stressed.
- Elicit which words in the first examples tell us that the first word in B should be It's not It was (the time expression today and also I've got is present so it is about now).
- Do the same for the second example conversation (we know it is It was because the time expression is past: last week, and the verb is past: had).

Exercise 5a 9.19

- Ask students to read sentences 1–5 and use the tips in the Understanding ... box as they do the listening task.
- Play track 9.19 and ask students to listen to the sentences and choose the correct words. Pause after each sentence to allow thinking time about the other words students heard, which help them understand if it is is or was.
- Elicit answers from the class and also what helped them decide, e.g. 1 was because the verb went is past tense.

ANSWERS

1 It was 2 Is it 3 It was 4 Was it 5 It's

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.19

- 1 It was sunny in London so we went to the park.
- 2 Is it rainy in Berlin? Do you have an umbrella?
- 3 It was stormy in Tokyo today so we didn't go out.
- 4 Was it cold in New York today? Did you wear your winter jacket?
- 5 It's sunny and warm here in Buenos Aires. I've got a summer dress on.

Exercise 5b 9.20

- Tell students they are going to hear five more sentences and questions and this time write them down. Reassure them that you will play the track more than once.
- Play track 9.20 and ask students to listen to the sentences. Pause after each sentence for students to write. Play the track once or twice more if necessary.
- Elicit answers from the class and ask what could help them decide whether to write it's or it was (even if they didn't catch it), e.g. 1 the time expression now tells us it is present, so It's.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 9.20

- 1 It's cloudy in Paris now.
- 2 It was cold and snowy last Saturday.
- 3 What was the weather like yesterday?
- 4 It was cold and rainy so we went to the cinema.
- 5 It's really hot today. Do you want to go to the beach?

Exercise 6

- Put students into pairs and tell them they are going to talk about the weather. Refer them to the Language for speaking box and ask them to read it carefully.

WATCH OUT! We can use adjective modifiers really and very as students learnt in Unit 5. When we use them about the weather, we intensify the weather conditions, e.g. really cold. We can also use adverbs of frequency to talk about how often a type of weather occurs, e.g. It's often rainy, but this is to talk about the weather generally in a particular place or season and not about what the weather's like now.

- You could drill the questions in the box to help make them easy and natural to say. Try the back-chaining method for these longer sentences.
- Encourage students to have short conversations about the weather, using their imagination.

EXTRA SUPPORT Give conversation starters to help them begin. Tell students to choose the country:

I was in ... last week. I'm in ... right now.

Last spring I went to ... on business.

I'm on holiday with my family in ...

- Monitor and make a note of any errors with is or was. Write any sentences containing mistakes on the board and elicit corrections from the class.

Exercise 7

- Put students into A/B pairs. Refer them to the Communication pages and tell them to read instruction number 1. Ask Student As to think about the question they are going to ask. Student Bs should look at their weather information and think about the answer.
- After a minute, ask Student As to start. Monitor and assist Student Bs to explain the weather information. Note errors in pronunciation and any instances of missing auxiliary verb be.
- When Student Bs have finished, ask students to look at instruction 2. This time Student Bs think of the question they need to ask and Student As look at the weather information. Point out that this is about a holiday in the past and therefore was is the appropriate form of be for this conversation.
- Student Bs start when they are ready and ask the opening question. Monitor as before.
- Praise students and do any necessary error correction with the class, eliciting corrections from the students.

ANSWERS

Student A: Yesterday it was: In the morning it was cloudy. In the afternoon it was sunny. In the evening it was cloudy and snowy.

Student B: On Monday it was sunny. On Tuesday it was sunny. On Wednesday it was snowy. On Thursday it was snowy. On Friday it was cloudy. On Saturday it was cloudy. On Sunday it was sunny.

Reading & Writing a review of an event

Exercise 8a

Text summary: This is a review of a music festival which takes place every July in England. It gives information and also the writer's opinion (which is positive).

- Ask students to look at the photo at the bottom of the page and elicit what they can see. Explain that this is the Larmer Tree Festival and they are going to read about it.
- Refer students to the list of details and check they understand the words. You might need to teach feelings.
- Ask students to read the text and find which details the reviewer writes about. Allow plenty of reading time. Encourage students to guess words from context rather than use dictionaries or translators.
- Go through the answers with the class, eliciting which details they ticked (all details apart from the cost).

ANSWERS

- 1 the time ✓ 2 the place ✓ 3 the weather ✓
4 the cost X 5 things to see and do ✓
6 his feelings about the event ✓

Exercise 8b

- Students can decide on the correct options from memory and then read the text again to check, or they can refer back to the text straightaway to find the answers.
- Fast finishers could check their answers in pairs and refer to the place in the text where they found the answer.
- Elicit answers by asking some students to give you the full sentence including the word(s) they underlined.

ANSWERS

- 1 summer 2 the day 3 international 4 didn't like

Exercise 9a

- Refer students to the Language for writing box and ask them to read it carefully. Point out that the adjectives used by the writer are highlighted in the text.

Exercise 9b

- Ask students to read the list of things about the festival then refer back to the text to decide which things the highlighted adjectives are describing.
- Students can compare answers in pairs before you elicit answers from the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 the park: beautiful 2 the food: interesting 3 the bands: amazing 4 the festival: small 5 the people: friendly 6 the comedian: wasn't very funny 7 the weather: warm, sunny 8 the atmosphere: great

EXTENSION Ask students to think of one more adjective for each of the things in 1–8. Then put students into small groups to compare and increase their lists. Monitor carefully to check they are making appropriate choices of adjectives. In this way, students will have more adjectives ready to help them describe their own events.

Exercise 9c

- Read out the instruction and refer students back to the text to find the answer to the questions.
- Elicit the answer from some of the students. Explain that it is usual to give all the information about an event first and then give your feelings about it at the end.

ANSWERS

The third paragraph.
different, good, bad, terrible, never boring

Exercise 10a

- Ask students to read the instruction carefully. Allow time for them to make notes about their event. Refer them to the list in exercise 8a for ideas about what to include.
- Monitor and make sure students aren't writing full sentences but just making notes in preparation for writing.

Exercise 10b

- Ask students to read questions 1–6. Then put them into pairs to discuss their events by asking and answering these questions. This will help them notice whether they have left anything out of their planning notes.
- You could encourage students to help each other think of good adjectives to describe the different things about their event.
- Monitor to check students have sufficient notes to write a review. Encourage struggling students and remind them that they can invent information if they cannot remember or didn't see one thing at their event.

Exercise 10c

- Allow plenty of time for students to do this exercise. Refer them to the text in exercise 8a to find good sentences they might like to adapt about their own event.

- Monitor and encourage students to use adjectives. Assist with any new or specific vocabulary they may need and help correct grammatical errors when you notice them. You could allow them to use bilingual dictionaries at this point, but check they are finding appropriate/correct words for what they want to say.
- Ask fast finishers to check their review carefully for spelling or grammar errors.

Exercise 10d

- Put students into pairs to swap and read each other's reviews. Ask them to think about the question in the instruction and, in class feedback, elicit students' opinions about the events they read about.

EXTRA ACTIVITY You could display all the reviews around the room and ask students to go around reading them and find two events they want to go to, based on the reviews they read. Elicit opinions and reasons from the class or put them into small groups to talk about the reviews they read and events they want to go to.

9.5 Video

Whatever the weather

It's April in Paris, France. It's spring, and the weather is warm and sunny. The city is full of visitors from all over the world. They visit the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe, and the Musée D'Orsay, an art museum by the river Seine. They often relax in the city's many cafés and restaurants, too.

These tourists are very lucky because the weather is lovely. It's often cloudy and rainy here in spring, but today is a great day to see the city and take lots and lots of photos. It's January in Auckland, New Zealand. It's the middle of summer and it's twenty-five degrees Celsius. The weather is hot and very sunny, and there aren't any clouds in the sky. The long school holidays started in December and the city is very busy.

Auckland is next to the ocean and it has lots of beautiful places. This is Mission Bay, near Auckland city centre. It's very busy today because the weather is good. People spend time in the park and relax by the fountain.

They often go sailing, too. It's sometimes cold and windy on the boat, but it's very exciting. It's a great way to see the city and the views are beautiful!

It's autumn in Seattle, on the north-west coast of the USA. The weather is cold and very wet. It rarely snows in Seattle, but it often rains.

Tourists don't usually visit Seattle in the winter because the weather is so bad. The traffic is terrible and there isn't a lot to do when it's rainy.

It's winter in Stroud, in the UK. British winters aren't very cold or snowy. It often rains but the temperatures are usually around four or five degrees Celsius. A few years ago, however, it was very cold and the temperatures were around minus fifteen degrees Celsius.

But it was a lot of fun! Children played in the snow and the countryside looked beautiful.

The weather changes all the time and it's different in each season. But people always find ways to have fun whatever the weather.

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

Photo 1 – 3   Photo 2 – 4   Photo 3 – 2

Exercise 1b

countryside, ocean, sailing boat, sky, snow, tourists

Exercise 2

1 Auckland   2 Stroud   3 Seattle   4 Paris

Exercise 3

1 tourists   2 cloudy   3 December   4 the city   5 rainy
6 isn't a lot to do   7 four or five   8 the countryside

Review

ANSWERS

Exercise 1a

Present: come, get, go, leave, meet, write

Past: fell, had, knew, lost, said, saw

Exercise 1c

1 came 2 have 3 saw 4 get 5 left 6 met

Exercise 2a

1 were 2 see 3 was 4 Did 5 didn't 6 feel
7 didn't 8 go 9 get 10 lost 11 Were 12 were 13 have 14 was 15 have

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.21

1

A Where were you yesterday? I didn't see you at work.

B No, I was ill.

A Oh, I'm sorry to hear that. Did you see the doctor?

B No, I didn't. But I feel OK now.

2

A I'm sorry I'm late. The bus didn't come.

B But you never go by bus. Why did you get the bus today?

A Because I lost my car keys.

B Oh! That's bad luck.

3

A Were you on holiday last week?

B Yes, we were in Spain.

A Did you have a good time?

B Yes, it was amazing. I have some photos here. Do you want to see?

Exercise 3a

1 not go to work 2 late 3 big 4 cycled 5 not buy
6 tea 7 museum 8 daughter

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.22

I didn't go to work yesterday – it was my day off. So I got up at about nine and had a big breakfast. Then I went shopping in the city centre. It was a beautiful day so I cycled. I saw some nice hats and shoes in the shops, but I didn't buy them because they were expensive. At lunchtime, I met my friend, Helen, and we went for tea in a café. Then we visited the museum. We saw some really interesting objects from Peru. I got home at about 5 p.m. and my daughter, Elouise, and I started cooking dinner. It was a really nice day.

Exercise 4a

- 1 What did you do last night?
- 2 When did you leave school?
- 3 When did you last go to the cinema?
- 4 Did you play sport at the weekend?
- 5 Where and when did you first speak English?

Exercise 4b

a 5 b 1 c 3 d 4 e 2

Exercise 5a

1 cold 2 snowy 3 sunny 4 autumn 5 warm
6 rainy 7 spring

AUDIOSCRIPT 9.23

Auckland has subtropical weather: it's never very hot and it's never very cold. It's never snowy for example. In summer it's usually sunny and the temperature is 20–24°C. In autumn it isn't hot but it is warm – around 18°C. In winter the temperature is 12–16°C, but it is cloudy and often rainy. In spring it is around 18°C again, but it is still rainy.

10.1 We're going to raise £5,000

Goals

- Use going to for future plans
- Talk about a future project

Lead-in

- Write the title of the lesson on the board: We're going to raise £5,000. Teach the meaning of raise money and elicit ways you can do this: e.g. ask the bank, ask friends and family, make something and sell it, ask friends and family to sponsor you to do a challenge such as run or swim. This latter is a popular way for people to raise money for charity in the UK, though perhaps not so common in other countries. Remind students of the meaning of charity which they learnt in 4.1. Teach the meaning of the verb sponsor (promise to give money to charity if someone completes a task).

Reading & Grammar going to positive and negative

Exercise 1

Text summary: Two website texts where people describe a project that they wish to raise funds for. The first project is a European tour for a music group and the second is a scientific expedition to Alaska.

- Ask students to read the first sentence in the instruction. Refer them to the two texts on the right of the page and explain that these are two projects on the Gofundme website. Elicit or teach the meaning of project.
- Ask students to read the rest of the instruction and points 1–4. Then allow plenty of time for students to read the texts and do the matching exercise.
- Elicit answers from the class. Ask students which sentences from the text gave them the information.

ANSWERS

1 B 2 A 3 A 4 B

Exercise 2a

- Refer students to the highlighted sentences in the texts. You could read them aloud. Ask students to decide the time reference of these sentences: a, b or c.
- Elicit the answer from the class.

ANSWER

c the future

Exercise 2b

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to read it carefully.

- Write the structure going to on the board and elicit that this is used about the future as students saw in exercise 2a. Draw a basic time line on the board with past, present (now) and future on it if necessary.
- Do the first gap together as a demonstration. Ask students to look for a highlighted sentence in the text with I. Elicit that the missing word is the contraction 'm.
- Elicit or point out that all the missing words in the Grammar focus box are present forms of the verb be.
- Students work alone to complete the Grammar focus box.
- Check answers with the class, eliciting the missing words.

WATCH OUT! Drill the sentences, as a common error with this structure is to miss one of the words, e.g. I going to help or I'm going help or He not going to help.

ANSWERS

1 'm 2 's 3 're 4 isn't 5 aren't

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p134. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 3a

- Ask students to read and complete the text about another project from the Gofundme website. Tell them to refer to the Grammar focus box to help them.
- Monitor and assist by referring to the relevant examples in the Grammar focus box.

Exercise 3b 10.1

- Play track 10.1 and ask students to listen to the university student and check their answers. If necessary, play the track again, pausing before each gap to elicit the answers.
- You could remind students of the word volunteer (line 2 of the text) that they learnt in 7.2.

EXTENSION Put students into pairs or small groups to discuss which project they like of the three they've read about. Elicit opinions from the class, encouraging them to give reasons using because.

ANSWERS

1 'm going to be	4 're going to be
2 are going to join	5 aren't going to take
3 is going to work	6 're going to use

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.1

I'm a university student. I study international relations. I'm going to be a volunteer in Guatemala next summer. My friend and I are going to join a group there. The group is going to work with the local people in the mountains. We're going to be there for three weeks, but we aren't going to take mobile phones, or computers with us! We need $2,000 for this project, and we're going to use the money to pay for flights and transport in the country.

Pronunciation going to

Exercise 4a 10.2

- Read the instruction aloud to the class, carefully modelling /tu:/ and /tə/.
- Play track 10.2 and ask students to listen to the sentences and focus on the pronunciation of to in going to. Elicit the correct pronunciation of to. Point out that in the sentences, stressed words are the main verbs and nouns so no stress falls on to, which is why it is said with a schwa sound.

ANSWERS

1 /tə/ 2 /tə/ 3 /tə/

Exercise 4b 10.2

- Play track 10.2 again, pausing after each sentence for students to practise pronouncing to as /tə/. You may need to play this more than once.

WATCH OUT! The pronunciation of to as /tə/ is a result of sentence stress and also because it is easier to move from /tə/ to the next word (rather than make the full lip rounding of /tu:/). Sometimes the schwa is a result of speaking quickly but interestingly, you can model these sentences yourself quite slowly and to will still be pronounced /tə/, which shows that speed is not the important factor in the weak form in going to. It means that students at A1 level speaking slowly still need to pronounce it like this to sound natural.

Exercise 5a

- Demonstrate the exercise by writing your own five things on the board in mixed order, e.g. go shopping, cook dinner, play tennis, read a newspaper, have coffee with a friend. Explain that you are going to do three of these things next weekend, but you aren't going to do the other two.
- Students write their own list of five things. Monitor and assist where necessary by suggesting useful verbs (watch, go, read, play, meet, buy, visit, etc.).

Exercise 5b

- Put students into A/B pairs and nominate one pair to act out the example conversation.
- Students then take turns to guess which three things their partner is going to do. Monitor and encourage them to give extra information about place, people and/or time when they confirm or correct their partner's guesses. Note any errors in pronunciation of to as /tə/.
- When students have finished, elicit from some students what their partner is going to do, e.g. Elena's going to see a film with her sister on Saturday.

EXTENSION Ask the class to repeat the exercise with you to find out which of the things you wrote on the board in exercise 5a are true. Invite students to make a statement about one of the five things. Respond by saying true or false and give some extra information.

Vocabulary & Speaking future time expressions

Exercise 6 10.3

- Refer students to the future time expressions in the illustration. Point out that the nearest expression to now is in the centre of the illustration and the expressions move further into the future as you move around the circle.
- Play track 10.3, pausing after each expression for students to repeat it.
- If you aren't totally sure students know these time expressions, ask questions to check, e.g. What day is the day after tomorrow? What's the date in three days? What's the year next year?

WATCH OUT! With a strong group, point out that the phrase in three days can be adapted to reflect other future time reference, e.g. in two weeks, in a month, in ten years, etc. This is a useful and flexible phrase to refer to future time.

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.3

today, this evening, tomorrow, the day after tomorrow, in three days, next week, next month, next year

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to read the instruction and the example sentence. Make it clear that they need to write their answers at this stage.
- Monitor and correct any errors with the use of going to (e.g. missing auxiliary verb be, wrong form of verb after to).

Exercise 7b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- EXTRA CHALLENGE As well as finding things which are the same, strong students could find interesting things to tell the class about their partner.
- Elicit whether any pairs found any sentences the same and elicit any interesting things they are going to do, e.g. Tell me something interesting that Pablo is going to do.

Exercise 8

- Divide the class into two halves: A and B. Refer students to the Communication pages and ask them to read their instructions. Check they understand educational trip. Also elicit/teach the meaning of typical food as this is in both sets of instructions.
- Put students into pairs of the same letter (e.g. two As). Ask them to make sentences about their trip using the prompts. Remind them to use going to and encourage them to add information of their own. Monitor and assist struggling students. Correct errors with going to as you see them.
- Put students into A/B pairs to take turns to tell each other about their trip. They can make notes to help them remember the details of their partner's trip.

- When all students have finished, ask them to decide which trip they like better. Encourage them to think about it and plan how to give their reasons for their choice. After a minute or two, elicit ideas from some students.
- Conduct any necessary error correction with going to by eliciting the correction from the class if possible.

ANSWERS

Student A

- 1 We're going to travel to Washington D.C., in the USA.
- 2 We're going to stay in a hotel.
- 3 We're going to visit the Smithsonian museum.
- 4 We're going to eat typical American food.
- 5 We're going to see an American football game.

Student B

- 1 We're going to travel to Oxford, England.
- 2 We're going to stay with English-speaking families.
- 3 We're going to visit Oxford University.
- 4 We're going to see a concert.
- 5 We're going to eat typical English food.

Reading skills identifying the subject

- Ask students to read the Reading skills information.
- Refer students to the example in the information: Roxanne likes singing. Ask Who likes singing? Roxanne is the person who does the action of the verb, so Roxanne is the subject.
- Use the example in the first bullet point to ask the same Who? question to help students identify the subject. If students seem confused, give your own example and elicit which word is the subject, e.g. I watched TV last night. You could ask Who watched TV? to elicit that I is the subject.
- Make sure students have noticed the word order for sentences and questions. Refer them to the examples. Elicit that in the positive form, the word order is subject + verb, which may be a main verb or auxiliary verb. In questions it is a little more complex as the subject goes between the main verb and the auxiliary, but remind students to look for people in the sentences to help them answer Who? and identify the subject.

Exercise 1

- Ask students to read the first sentence which has been done as an example. Elicit that the subject is plural: my wife's parents. These are the people doing the action in the sentence.
- Ask students to find the subject in sentences 2–4 and underline it. Monitor and, if necessary, ask appropriate Who? questions to help students find the subject.
- Nominate students to give the answers and correct any errors as a class together.

ANSWERS

- 1 Next weekend, my wife's parents are going to buy a new car.
- 2 All my friends have got laptops.
- 3 Did Roxanne raise the money for her project?
- 4 Next month, the English department of the university is going to travel to Italy.

Exercise 2

- Ask students to read sentence 1. Refer them to the underlined part of the sentence and ask Is this the subject of the sentence? (yes).
- Ask students to decide whether the underlined part of sentences 2–4 is the subject.
- Go through the answers with the class. You could also encourage students to find the subject in sentences 3 and 4 (3 We 4 Rebecca and her friends).

ANSWERS

- 1 yes 2 yes 3 no 4 no

Exercise 3

- Ask students to look at the photo and the title of the text. Elicit that this is a text about a café that the writer wants to help.
- Ask students to read questions 1–5 to prepare for reading the text. Students then read the text and answer the questions. They could underline in pencil the places in the text where they find the answers.

EXTRA SUPPORT Weaker students might benefit from checking their answers with a stronger partner before whole class feedback.

- Elicit answers from a number of students. Elicit full sentence answers and you could also ask them how identifying the subject helped them to find the answer.

ANSWERS

- 1 James
- 2 It first opened.
- 3 James and a group of neighbours
- 4 $40,000
- 5 everyone

EXTRA ACTIVITY Refer students back to the time expressions illustration in exercise 6. Ask them to write 3–5 sentences about people in their family, neighbours or friends, clearly stating what they are going to do at the different future times. Monitor carefully to make sure the sentences are grammatically correct. Put students into pairs and ask them to swap their sentences. Ask them to identify the subject in each sentence and circle it. Elicit answers. Then ask students, in their pairs, to read their own sentences to their partner. Their partner can ask simple questions to extend the conversation, e.g. What time? Where? Why?

10.2 A new life

Goals

- Ask and answer questions using going to
- Talk about a life change

Lead-in

- Put students into A/B pairs and refer them to the photos in exercise 1a. Ask them to take turns to describe one of the photos using there's and there are (which they studied in Unit 6) and their partner guesses which photo they are describing. Demonstrate if necessary, e.g. There's a house. There are two people. Elicit which photo you're describing (photo c). This activity should be quick to do and the aim is to focus attention on the photos, ready for exercise 1a.

Vocabulary & Speaking verb phrases (2)

Exercise 1a

- Ask students to read the phrases in the box. Elicit or remind them of the meaning of abroad, which they studied in 4.1.
- Put students into pairs to find the matching photo for each phrase.

Exercise 1b 10.4

- Play track 10.4 and ask students to listen to the phrases and check their answers.
- Play the track again, pausing after each verb phrase for students to repeat.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 10.4

a have a baby   b learn a new language   c buy a house d move abroad   e finish school   f change jobs

Exercise 1c

- Ask students to read the instruction and the example sentence.
- Put students into pairs to take turns to choose a photo and talk about what the people are going to do. Monitor carefully. Make sure they remember to use the auxiliary verb be and remind them to say /tə/ rather than /tu:/.

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to underline all the verbs in the phrases in exercise 1a then use them to complete phrases 1–6.

Exercise 2b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from some of the students and drill pronunciation of the new verb phrases 1–6.

ANSWERS

1 learn   2 finish   3 buy   4 move   5 have   6 change

Exercise 3a

- Ask students to read the instruction. Point out that 1 and 2 are about something in the future and a and b are the reasons why.
- Give students a moment to read and match the sentences and reasons.

- Elicit answers from the class. One student could read sentence 1 and then nominate another student to give the reason. Then do the same with sentence 2.

ANSWERS

1 a   2 b

Exercise 3b

- Refer students to the words in bold in sentences 1 and 2 in exercise 3a. Write them on the board. Mark the stress and drill the pronunciation /'prɒbəbli/.
- Ask students to plot these adverbs on the line.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could add the sentences My brother isn't going to change jobs at 0% and My father is going to change jobs at 100%.

- Elicit the places for probably and probably not on the line. You could invite strong students up to the board to mark the places on the line.

ANSWERS

0%	probably not		probably	100%
X	X		X	X
No				Yes

WATCH OUT! Students may forget the word order for negative sentences using probably not because they have practised making the auxiliary verb negative. This can result in sentences such as She isn't probably going to ... You could point out that this is a common error and elicit the correction She's probably not going to ... You could write some more positive going to sentences including probably on the board and elicit how to make them negative.

Exercise 3c

- Refer students to the verb phrases in exercises 1a and 2a.
- Put students into pairs and ask them to take turns to tell their partner which things they are going to do. If they are not certain, ask them to use probably and probably not. Refer students to the examples given. You could ask a student to read them aloud. If necessary, give some more sentences of your own to demonstrate the activity.
- Monitor students and assist if necessary. Note any errors using going to and probably/probably not.
- Elicit some students' going to sentences and do any necessary error correction together by eliciting the corrections from the class.

EXTENSION Students could make more sentences using other verb phrases they know, e.g. go to work, go on holiday, etc. You could refer students to the hobbies in 7.3 or tell them to look at 4.1 Vocabulary and Reading skills to get ideas of things to talk about.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to choose three of their sentences, including one with probably not and write them down. Set up a class mingle activity: ask students to walk around and say their sentences to as many students as possible to find other students who have written the same thing. Example: Student A says I'm probably going to buy a flat and Student B responds by showing the same sentence on their paper. If Student B doesn't have the same sentence, they say one of their sentences. Set a time limit for the activity and when the time is up, find out any pairs of students with the same sentences.

Listening & Grammar going to questions and short answers

Exercise 4a

- Write the Maldives on the board and refer students to the map and photo. Elicit what they know about the country.
- Put students into pairs to discuss what Tom and Victoria are going to do in the Maldives. Tell students they can use bilingual dictionaries or translators to look up new words to help them express their ideas.
- Elicit ideas from the class.

Exercise 4b 10.5

Audio summary: A conversation between a couple, Tom and Victoria, and their friend Polly. The topic is the couple's plans to move abroad.

- Play track 10.5 and ask students to listen to the conversation to find out what Tom and Victoria are going to do. Elicit whether any of students' ideas in exercise 4a were correct.

ANSWERS

Victoria is going to teach English. Tom is going to get a new job.

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.5

P So, Tom tells me you have some news. Come on, what is it?

T Do you want to say?

V You say.

T OK. Victoria's got a new job. We're going to move abroad.

P Really? No! What are you going to do?

V I'm going to teach, in the Maldives. Here, look at a picture of the island on my phone.

P Wow! Beautiful. Tom, are you going to go with her?

T Yes, I am. Of course! I'm going to get a new job, too.

P That's ... great. I don't know what to say, I have so many questions. Who are you going to teach, Victoria?

V There are lots of big hotels in the Maldives. The people who work in the hotels need English ...

T And Victoria's going to teach them.

P Are you going to live in a hotel?

T No, we aren't. We're going to live in a small house on another island.

P Wow. I'm so happy for you! Are you going to stay there for a long time?

V Well, the job starts in June and it's for a year.

P June! That's in four weeks.

T I know! It's all so quick. But we're very excited. And happy. You can come and visit.

P I'd love to. I'm going to look for flights online this evening.

Exercise 5a 10.5

- Ask students to read questions 1–6. Explain that Polly asks three of these questions in the conversation they heard in exercise 4b.
- Play track 10.5 again and ask students to tick the three questions they hear. Elicit these from the class.

ANSWERS

Polly asks questions 2, 4 and 5.

Exercise 5b

- Ask students to read a–c, which are the answers to questions 2, 4 and 5 in exercise 5a. Elicit which person Polly is asking in these questions (i.e. who does you refer to?): 2 Victoria 4 Tom 5 Tom and Victoria.
- Students work alone to match the questions and answers. Monitor and assist struggling students: elicit which person is going to teach (Victoria) and which question is to Victoria (2); also help them notice that in a we is plural and question 5 is asking Tom and Victoria together.

Exercise 5c

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit the matching questions and answers.

ANSWERS

2 b 4 c 5 a

Exercise 6

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and ask them to complete the sentences with the missing words. With a stronger group, you could elicit which types of words are missing (they are all forms of the auxiliary verb be).
- Monitor and refer students back to the questions and short answers in exercise 5 to help them.
- Elicit answers from the class. Point out that as in other questions they have studied, the auxiliary verb and pronoun are the same as in positive sentences, but the order is reversed: She is going to visit. Is she going to visit?

ANSWERS

1 Is 2 Are 3 am 4 are 5 aren't 6 am 7 are

- Refer students to Grammar reference on pp134–135. There are three more exercises here that students can do for homework.

Exercise 7a

- Students work alone to do the sorting exercise. Ask them to write the questions out fully in their notebooks.

EXTRA SUPPORT With a weaker group, you could do number 1 together. Elicit the first word Where, and then each subsequent word in order.

- Monitor carefully and point out any errors as you see them for students to self-correct.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 10.6

- 1 Where are you going to go?
- 2 What are you going to do?
- 3 When are you going to leave?
- 4 Are you going to live there for a long time?
- 5 Who are you going to go with?
- 6 Are you going to buy a house there?

Exercise 7b 10.6

- Play track 10.6 and ask students to listen to the sentences and check their answers.
- Play track 10.6 again, pausing after each question for the class to repeat. You could also ask students to notice the word stress in each sentence.

PRONUNCIATION Point out that in yes/no questions and Wh- questions, just like in positive sentences, the to of going to is pronounced /tə/. Play the track again if necessary.

Exercise 8a

- Explain that students have to imagine answers to the questions in exercise 7a, i.e. choose a country, a job, etc.
- Allow plenty of time for students to prepare their answers, but encourage them to just write notes, not full sentences.

EXTRA SUPPORT If you think your class will find this exercise difficult, you could put them in pairs to do it. Each pair could think of answers together, but write their own notes so they have them to refer to when they are grouped with different students for exercise 8b.

Exercise 8b

- Put students into small groups and give each group member a letter A, B, C, D. Ask students to explain their imaginary plans. Student A starts. The other students in the group ask questions and Student A answers them, using their notes.

FEEDBACK FOCUS In this exercise, monitor and note any instances where students forget the auxiliary verb be in the questions and answers. This is a common problem.

- Remind students to take turns and when the last student is answering questions, give a time limit to the end of the exercise.
- Ask students to read the final question in the instruction and discuss it in their groups. Ask them to decide as a group which country and job is their favourite.
- Elicit the answer to this question from each group.
- Conduct error correction, writing up on the board any examples of where the auxiliary verb was omitted. Elicit corrections from students and mark clearly where the auxiliary verb should be inserted.

EXTENSION Students could write a paragraph about their imaginary move to another country. Display these for all the class members to read and vote on their favourite plan.

Vocabulary prepositions of time

Exercise 9a

- Refer students to the Vocabulary focus box and read the information aloud to the class.

Exercise 9b

- Ask students to read sentences 1–4 and the instruction.
- Students work alone to complete the sentences with the correct prepositions, referring to the Vocabulary box as necessary.
- Elicit answers from some of the students, encouraging them to say the full sentence each time.

ANSWERS

1 in 2 at 3 on 4 at, on

Exercise 10a

- Do the first one together as an example. Read out the first few lines of the email and elicit the correct preposition to go with Monday (on).
- Students read the rest of the email, and choose the correct prepositions. Monitor and refer students back to the Vocabulary box if they cannot remember which preposition to use.

Exercise 10b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from students. You could ask students to say one or two sentences from the text each in succession.

EXTRA ACTIVITY You could exploit the email text further by asking questions about the content: 1 Who is the email to? (Victoria) 2 What information does it give her? (about her flight to the Maldives on 12th May) 3 Does the email give information about Victoria's hotel? (No, Oliver will email that information next week.)

ANSWERS

1 on 2 in 3 on 4 at 5 in 6 on

Exercise 11

- Divide the class into two halves: A and B. Refer students to the communication pages and ask them to read their instructions.

- Ask students to write their own answers to the questions in the You column of the table in instruction 1. Remind them they can write dates, months, times, etc. (any of the categories in the Vocabulary focus box).
- When students are ready, put them into A/B pairs. Refer them to the example questions and answers in instruction 2.
- Students take turns to ask and answer questions and complete the table about their partner. Monitor and note any errors to correct later.

WATCH OUT! Each table contains a question which needs an answer in the past tense: Student A question 4 and Student B question 3. Make sure students remember to check for present and past tense.

- When students have completed their tables, put them into new pairs. Ask them to read the example sentence in instruction 3 and then tell each other about their partner. Monitor the conversations and note points for correction.

10.3 Café cities

Goals

- Use would like + noun/verb
- Talk about a café

Lead-in

- Closed book. Tell students they are going to read about 'The World's Best Café Cities'. You could write this on the board, too.
- As a whole class or in small groups, ask students to think about which cities in the world are famous for cafés. Elicit ideas from the class.
- You could ask students which is the best café in their country or the area where they live.

Reading & Vocabulary café food

Exercise 1a

Text summary: An article on a web page which is about the five best cafés in the world. It gives their location and information, with a focus on the cakes you can try in each one.

- Pre-teach some vocabulary to help students understand the text: best, popular, world famous, international.
- Ask students to look at places 1–5 on the web page and compare them to the cities they thought of as world famous for cafés in the Lead-in.
- Ask students to read the text and find which paragraph describes each food in photos a–e. Allow plenty of time for this matching task.

Exercise 1b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from students, asking them to read out the part of the paragraph which gave them the answer.
- Then ask students to discuss in their pairs which city they would like to go to. Monitor and encourage students to give reasons. They could use because and also express their likes and dislikes using love/like/don't like/hate (which they studied in 7.3).
- Fast finishers can discuss which café city they would not like to go to.
- Elicit opinions from some of the students.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Don't ask students for their own opinions, but to report their partner's opinions (to practise using he/she and third person verb form -s).

ANSWERS

1 b 2 a 3 c 4 d 5 e

Exercise 2a

- Ask students to look at the café menu and the pictures for each item. Refer them back to the text to find which words from the menu are mentioned.

ANSWERS

coffee, tea, milk, cake, doughnut, biscuit

Exercise 2b 10.7

- Play track 10.7, pausing after each word for students to repeat it.
- You could ask students to mark the stress on words with more than one syllable and check this by playing the track again (the stress is on the first syllable in each case).
- Some of these words have silent letters. This will be focused on in exercise 8a, so you don't need to address it now. You could mention to students that croissant is a French word and this is why it doesn't have a very English-sounding pronunciation.

WATCH OUT! Students often confuse coffee and café in pronunciation. Drill each of these words separately, making sure students say the vowel sounds clearly to differentiate them: /'kɒfɪ/ and /'kæfeɪ/. (Cafés are also sometimes referred to as coffee shops, which may add to the confusion!)

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.7

Drinks coffee, tea, apple juice, orange juice, water, milk

Snacks cake, croissant, doughnut, sandwich, salad, biscuit

Exercise 3a

- Ask students to sort the words in the menu according to categories 1 and 2.

Exercise 3b 10.8

- Play track 10.8 for students to check their answers.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 10.8

Food or drinks that are usually hot: coffee, tea

Food or drinks that are usually cold: apple juice, orange juice, water, milk, biscuit, cake, croissant, doughnut, sandwich, salad

Exercise 3c

- Ask students to read the instruction and example question and answer. You could nominate two students to read this example aloud for the class.
- To demonstrate the exercise further, you could nominate students to ask you about food and drink on the menu and respond with short answers.
- Put students into pairs to ask each other about the food and drink on the menu. Monitor and make sure students respond with correct short answers (a common error is Yes, I like rather than Yes, I do).

EXTRA CHALLENGE Encourage stronger students to give extra information, e.g. I love it/No, but my brother loves it/I often eat ...

- Conduct feedback by asking some students to report on their partner's likes and dislikes, e.g. Tomasz likes coffee, but he doesn't like tea. Alternatively, you could put students into new pairs to report their first partner's likes and dislikes to their new partner.

Exercise 4a 10.9

- Ask students to read conversations 1–3. Elicit that in each conversation, A is asking B to explain a particular food or drink item on a menu. Explain that the missing words are in exercise 2.
- Play track 10.9 and ask students to listen to the conversations and complete them.

Exercise 4b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit which country the food or drink comes from in each conversation: conversation 2 is obvious as B says here in Mexico; students may know that croque monsieur is from France and macchiato is from Italy.
- Ask students to think about food and drinks from other countries and discuss the question in their pairs.
- Elicit answers from some pairs, encouraging other students to ask what the food or drink is (What's a ...?) and pairs to use It's a kind of ... to respond. You could drill It's a kind of /ɪtsə'kaɪndəv/ with the class until it is easy and natural to pronounce.

EXTENSION Ask students to think about typical snacks to have with coffee in their own country and imagine a British/American visitor asks them What's a ...? Allow time for students to think about how to explain. Then put students into A/B pairs. Student A says the name of a snack. Student B is the visitor who asks What's a ...? and Student A explains. When Student A has explained, then it is Student B's turn to say a snack.

EXTRA ACTIVITY Ask students to write 2–4 sentences about the best café in their country. Refer them to the texts from the World's Best Café Cities web page to help them. If students do this activity in class, monitor and assist as they write.

ANSWERS

1 sandwich    2 doughnut    3 coffee, milk

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.9

1

A What's a croque monsieur?

B It's a kind of sandwich.

2

A What's this?

B It's a buñuelo. It's a kind of doughnut here in Mexico.

3

A What's a macchiato?

B It's a kind of coffee, with milk.

Listening & Grammar would like

Exercise 5a 10.10

Audio summary: A conversation which involves a waiter and two people in a café who decide what they would like and order it.

- Ask students to read questions 1 and 2. Then play track 10.10 and ask students to listen to the conversation and answer the questions.

ANSWERS

- 1 a coffee, a cup of tea and a piece of Sachertorte
- 2 Vienna, because Sachertorte is mentioned in the text in 1a.

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.10

- A Would you like a coffee? There's a café over there.
B Oh, yes, please.
W Hello. Table for two?
A Yes, please.
W Here you are. Would you like to see the menu?
B Thank you.
A So. What would you like?
B A coffee for me, I think.
A I'd like to have some dessert. What is the Sachertorte?
B It's a kind of chocolate cake. That's what the guidebook said.
A I love chocolate.
B Yeah, me, too. But I'm not very hungry. Would you like a coffee, too?
A No thanks, I'd like the cake and a cup of tea.
W Would you like to order?
A Yes please. We'd like a coffee, a cup of tea and a piece of Sachertorte.
W Wonderful. Anything else?
A No, that's fine, thank you.
B Now, after our coffee, would you like to go to another museum or would you like to go back to the hotel?

Exercise 5b 10.10

- Ask students to read the extracts from the conversation they heard in exercise 5a. Then play track 10.10 again so students can complete the sentences.
- Go through the answers together. You could ask students and pairs of students to read out the completed extracts.

ANSWERS

- 1 have 2 coffee 3 cake 4 please

Exercise 6

- Refer students to the Grammar focus box and allow time for students to work alone to complete it. Monitor and refer struggling students to exercise 5b to find similar sentences which will help them complete the box.
- Elicit full answers from some of the students.

PRONUNCIATION Model the contraction I'd /aɪd/ and drill it on its own several times. Then drill it in sentences with 'd like + noun/verb: I'd like a coffee. /aɪdlaɪkə'kɒfiː/, I'd like to see the menu /aɪdlaɪktə'siːðə'menjuː/. You could point out that as in going to the to in I'd like to is pronounced with a schwa.

ANSWERS

- 1 I'd like 2 Would 3 please 4 thanks

- Refer students to Grammar reference on p135. There are two more exercises here that students can do for homework.

SMART COMMUNICATION Point out to students that would like is very similar in meaning to want but it is much more polite. With friends, when we are making an offer, we can ask Do you want a coffee?, but it is not common to say I want ... because this is considered rude. This is why it's important to learn I'd like ...

Exercise 7a

- Ask students to read 1–6. Point out that there is a mix of sentences and questions and ask students to check the ending of each one carefully before they start writing their sentences.
- Ask students to make full sentences and questions including would like, as in the example, but remind them to use contractions.

EXTRA SUPPORT You could elicit the contraction of would for each pronoun, e.g. You say I, students respond with I'd, etc.

- Do another example together to demonstrate the exercise if necessary. Elicit that number 2 is a question. Give them Would to start the question then elicit what comes next, word by word (including the prompts given), until you have Would you like to try the cake?
- Monitor as students do the exercise and refer them to the Grammar focus box if they are having difficulty.

Exercise 7b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers by asking students to read out the full sentence or question.

PRONUNCIATION You could drill the sentences and questions to ensure good pronunciation of the contractions ('d), accurate sentence stress on like and the noun(s), and use of schwa in to.

ANSWERS

- 1 I'd like to order now.
- 2 Would you like to try the cake?
- 3 Would you like to see the menu?
- 4 We'd like an orange juice.
- 5 Would you like milk with your coffee?
- 6 She'd like a salad, please.

Pronunciation silent letters

Exercise 8a 10.11

- Elicit or teach the adjective silent.
- Ask students to look at the words in the box and explain that each has a silent letter which appears in the spelling but is not pronounced.

EXTRA CHALLENGE Strong students could work in pairs to try circling the silent letters before listening. Then they check their ideas as they listen.

- Play track 10.11 and ask students to listen to the words and circle the silent letters.

WATCH OUT! Students may circle the end r in answer and it is true that often r at the end of a word is not pronounced when we say the word on its own (e.g. teacher, doctor, etc.). However, we do pronounce /r/ if the following word starts with a vowel sound, e.g. the answer is ...

- Go through the answers with the class. For each word, elicit the silent letter.

ANSWERS

listen, answer, sandwich, juice, doughnut, would, biscuit, write

Exercise 8b 10.11

- Play track 10.11 again, pausing after each word for students to repeat it.
- Make a note of any problems and drill difficult words again with the whole class at the end.

Exercise 8c

- Ask students to read sentences 1–3 and practise saying each sentence to themselves in a quiet voice, being careful not to pronounce silent letters.
- Put students into pairs and ask them to take turns to read one sentence aloud and give each other feedback on whether the words were pronounced correctly. Tell them to say if they heard any of the letters which should be silent.
- Monitor and make sure they have three turns each so they say all the sentences.

Exercise 9

- Elicit how to say yes and no politely to Would you like ...? questions: Yes, please./No, thanks.
- You could drill pronunciation of Would you like ...? /wʊdʒəlaɪk/ with the class to help them produce this phrase naturally before they have conversations.
- Refer students back to the menu in exercise 2a. Put them into pairs and ask them to practise conversations similar to the example given. Ensure students take turns so they practise both asking and answering.
- Write down any errors you hear including problems with contracting would and mistakes with pronunciation of words with silent letters. At the end, do error correction with the class: elicit corrections and drill them.

Listening skills identifying words in connected speech

- Ask students to read the information. You could elicit which words are usually stressed in a sentence, e.g. Do we stress pronouns? (no, not usually), nouns? (yes, we do), articles 'a/an'? (no, we don't), etc.
- You could remind students that they learnt a little bit about consonant sounds linking to vowel sounds in 8.3. There are examples of this in the sentences in exercise 1a.

Exercise 1a 10.12

- Play track 10.12 and ask students to read the sentences and listen to how the words are connected.
- You could play the track again and ask students to notice that the unstressed words are connected so they really sound like one word.

ANSWERS

- 1 I'd like a cake.
- 2 Would you like a drink?
- 3 When does it open?

Exercise 1b 10.12

- Play track 10.12 again, pausing after each sentence for students to repeat.
- If you notice students are missing any of the linking, play the track again to point it out or model it yourself and drill.

Exercise 2a 10.13

- Ask students to read the instruction. Check they understand the task: Do you write down the words? (no) Do you write down how many words? (yes) How many words is 'they'd'? (one). Point out that they are going to listen to four different sentences.
- Play track 10.13 and ask students to listen to the four sentences and write down the number of words. Pause after each sentence to allow time for students to think.
- Elicit answers from the class – just the numbers.

ANSWERS

1 4 2 5 3 6 4 6

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.13

- 1 What would you like?
- 2 Would you like to order?
- 3 When would you like to go?
- 4 We'd like a table for two.

Exercise 2b 10.13

- Ask students to read the sentences they heard in exercise 2a. Stronger students could try to remember which words are missing before listening again.
- Play track 10.13 again for students to complete the sentences.

Exercise 2c

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit full sentences from the class. Play the track again if necessary to show the sentence stress in each sentence. You could ask students to mark the stressed words.

ANSWERS

1 What, like 2 order 3 When, go 4 table, two

Exercise 3a 10.14

- Ask students to look at the conversation. There are more gaps than words! You could read the conversation aloud, leaving time for the missing words. This can be an amusing way to show students that the meaning of the conversation is carried mainly on the stressed words.
- Play track 10.14 and ask students to listen to the conversation and complete it. Reassure them that you will play it more than once because there are a lot of gaps.

ANSWERS/AUDIOSCRIPT 10.14

- A Where would you like to go?
B I don't know. You?
A Well, I'd like a drink. There's a café next to the school.
B OK, that's a good idea.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into A/B pairs to practise the conversation.

EXTRA SUPPORT Ask students to mark the sentence stress in the sentences before they start speaking. Check that their marking is correct.

- Monitor and note any correction points. Ensure students swap roles so they have a chance to practise all parts of the conversation.
- Do any error correction, particularly of problems with stressing the correct words. Drill corrections with the class.

10.4 Speaking and writing

Goals

- Order food and drink
- Write invitations and thank-you notes

Lead-in

- Closed book. Put students into pairs and ask them to brainstorm different places you eat with friends and family (restaurant, café, fast food restaurant, home, another person's home).
- Elicit different places and write them on the board.
- Then ask students to think of occasions when people commonly eat together (you could remind them of some of the special occasions in 8.4). Give them a few minutes to brainstorm. You could also put pairs together to compare ideas and build a longer list.
- Elicit ideas from the class and make a list on the board.
- This Lead-in prepares students for speaking and writing situations where people are eating out and inviting each other for meals for special occasions.

Listening & Speaking ordering food and drink

Exercise 1

- Ask students to look carefully at the places to eat in photos a–c. Point out the labels at the bottom of the photos indicating the type of place.
- Ask students to read the instruction and the example sentence.
- You could put students into pairs to do this exercise. Ask them to tell each other the answer to the question. Remind them to give reasons for their answers.
- Conduct class feedback, nominating individual students to say which places they eat at or don't eat at and giving their reasons why.

Exercise 2a 10.15

- Play track 10.15 and ask students to listen to the conversations, which take place in the places in the photos. Pause after each conversation to allow time for students to match it to one of the photos.
- Elicit the answers from the class.

ANSWERS

1 photo b 2 photo c 3 photo a

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.15

1

A Can I take your order?

B A burger and chips, please.

A Small or large?

B Large, please.

A Anything else?

B No, thanks that's all.

2

A A large hotdog, please.

B Here you are.

A How much is that?

B Two pounds fifty.

3

B Is everything OK here?

A Fine, thank you.

B Would you like anything else?

A No, thanks. Can we have the bill, please?

B Of course, just a moment.

Exercise 2b 10.15

- Play track 10.15 again so students can listen just for the customer's sentences. Check students know what to do (tick). Pause after each conversation for struggling students to catch up.
- Elicit the customer sentences from some of the students, encouraging them to say the full sentence each time.
- Go through the meanings of some of the sentences. Check students understand that Anything else? is asking whether the customer has finished ordering or wants to add another item. Elicit that ... that's all is confirmation that the order is complete. Elicit/remind students of the function of Here you are for giving something to someone, which they learnt in 7.4.

ANSWERS

The customer says 3, 5, 7

Exercise 2c 10.16

- Play track 10.16 and ask students to listen to the phrases and repeat them. Note any difficulties and drill those sentences again at the end.

Exercise 3a

- Elicit/check the meaning of formal and informal. You could use the photos in 1 (the restaurant is fairly formal and the fast food restaurant is informal).
- Ask students to read the pairs of phrases in 1–4 and decide which is more formal/informal. Show students that 1a has been done as an example.

Exercise 3b

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Elicit answers from the class, nominating students to give the answer for one pair of sentences, e.g. Anything else? is informal and Would you like anything else? is formal.

ANSWERS

1 a l b F 2 a F b l 3 a l b F 4 a F b l

SMART COMMUNICATION

In most cases formal English is indicated by longer phrases and sentences than informal English. Formal English is generally considered polite. This doesn't mean that informal English is impolite, however. Students will probably have noticed that many of the sentences include please at the end, whether they are formal or informal because please is a polite word, and British and American people use it very often. Omitting please can make a bad impression on the listener. Thanks or Thank you is the other common phrase needed to be polite.

Exercise 4a

- Refer students to the Language for speaking box and ask them to read the information. You could drill all the waiter's phrases and then all the customer's phrases to prepare them for exercise 4b.

EXTENSION Put students into A/B pairs. Student B has book closed. Student A chooses one of the phrases from the box and reads it aloud. Student B says waiter or customer. Student A continues until they have tested Student B on five phrases. Then Student B tests Student A in the same way.

Exercise 4b

- Choose two strong students to demonstrate the exercise. Name them 'customer' and tell them that they are in a restaurant. Take the waiter's role yourself: tell the class My job is serving food. Start the conversation with Hello, can I take your order? Encourage one of the customers to continue the conversation. If they have difficulty, ask the class for suggestions about how to continue. Remind students they can use the phrases from the Language for speaking box and other conversations on the page.
- When the two nominated students have managed to say something to continue the conversation, stop and explain to the class that they are going to have similar conversations.
- Put students into groups of three. Tell them that they can choose the place for their conversation and refer them back to the photos in exercise 1 to choose.
- Allow plenty of time for students to have a conversation together. This is a speaking exercise, so it is not a good idea for students to write out their conversations in full. However, they will need to perform them to the class, so you could advise them to make a note of the food and drink they order so they can remember the conversation.
- Monitor and assist by referring students to the phrases they need. Correct any errors as you hear them.

- Remind students to be polite. Stronger students could be reminded to use the right level of formality for the situation, i.e. informal if their conversation is in the street or a fast food restaurant.

Exercise 4c

- Ask students to act out their conversations for the class. When one group is performing, ask the other students to try to identify which place the conversation is in, referring back to the photos in exercise 1.
- Monitor the performances, making a note of any errors to correct later.
- After each conversation, you could encourage the class to give brief applause, then elicit which place it was in.
- Conduct an error correction stage after the performances. Write errors on the board for students to self-correct. Write words on the board which have been mispronounced in order to model and drill corrections.

Exercise 5 10.17

- Refer students to the Understanding ... box and ask them to read as you read the information aloud. Give extra explanation of the different aspects if necessary as most of these words will be new to the students (you could translate into L1 if appropriate).
- Play track 10.17 and ask students to listen to the examples. They will hear the A/B conversation twice. Speaker A is a different gender in each conversation; Speaker B is different as follows: 1 male, slow, sad, British; 2 female, fast, happy, Australian. Elicit which gender the speakers are and the other aspects which make the two speakers sound different.

Exercise 6a 10.18

- Explain that students are going to hear three different speakers say sentences 1–4, but one of the speakers doesn't say exactly this sentence in each case. Point out that the speakers will all have different voices due to some of the aspects in the Understanding ... box.
- Play the first set of three sentences in track 10.18 and then pause to check students are doing the exercise correctly. You could elicit the answer for this first sentence (speaker C says something different).
- Play the track to the end. With a weaker group, you could play all the sentences one more time to give another opportunity to hear the answers.
- Elicit answers from the class. At this stage they just need to say which speaker was different.

ANSWERS

1 C 2 B 3 A 4 B

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.18

1

A What would you like to order?

B What would you like to order?

C What would you like to drink?

2

A Can I have a large coffee, please?

B Can I have a small coffee, please?

C Can I have a large coffee, please?

3

A I'd like a sandwich.

B Would you like a sandwich?

C Would you like a sandwich?

4

A The café's going to close at four forty-five.

B The café's going to close at four thirty.

C The café's going to close at four forty-five.

Exercise 6b 10.18

- Play track 10.18 again and ask students to focus on the speaker who says the different sentence. Tell them to write the sentence down. You will need to pause after the sentences to allow writing time and you may need to play them more than once.

EXTRA SUPPORT Remind students that most of the different sentences were very similar to the ones in exercise 6a, so many of the words will be the same. They can refer back to these sentences to help them check they have included all the necessary words.

Exercise 6c

- Put students into pairs to compare their answers.
- Invite some students to come and write the sentences on the board. Gently correct any errors.
- It is a good idea to conduct basic discussion about what made exercises 6a–b challenging: which aspects of different voices did students notice and which aspects were most difficult for them? You could also remind students about how sentence stress and chunking can help them understand what someone is saying.

ANSWERS

1 C – What would you like to drink?

2 B – Can I have a small coffee, please?

3 A – I'd like a sandwich.

4 B – The café's going to close at four thirty.

Reading & Writing invitations and thank-you notes

Exercise 7

- Pre-teach invitation and to invite. Elicit situations when students would invite people or they would receive invitations from people. You could do this as a whole class or put students into small groups to discuss.
- Tell students they are going to read three invitations and have to decide which invitation matches 1–3. Ask students to work alone to read and complete the exercise. Allow enough time for reading, but encourage students not to use dictionaries at this stage.
- Elicit answers from some students, asking them to say where they found the information in the text.

EXTENSION Go through each invitation in more detail, eliciting the meaning of words and phrases and checking that students understand exactly what each invitation is for. Possible questions to ask: a Are they going to meet in the morning? (no, in the afternoon) Where are they going to meet? (in the café in the park) Who are they? (We don't know, but Emer does! It is an informal email so probably friends or family.) b When did they get married? (twenty years ago). Elicit the meaning of anniversary. Where is the party going to be? (at the Orange Inn, Miami) Is there going to be food? (yes, it's a barbecue – check this word if unknown) What activity can you do at this party? (swimming – it's a pool party) c Is Katie going to cook food for Betty? (yes, the invitation is for dinner at Katie's house) You could check that students understand that How are things? is an informal phrase with similar meaning to How are you?

ANSWERS

1 b 2 a 3 c

Exercise 8

- Elicit that when you receive an invitation you need to respond. These responses are sometimes called thank-you notes.
- Ask students to read and match the three thank-you notes to the invitations in exercise 7.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 b 3 a

Exercise 9a

- Refer students to the Language for writing box and ask them to read it carefully.
- Elicit which of the phrases for invitations is more informal (Can you come ...) and point out that the other phrases are quite formal.
- Elicit which of the phrases for thank-you notes seem more informal (Yes, I can come./Thanks! Sounds great. This last one is not a complete sentence and the exclamation mark also makes it more informal.)

- Elicit which phrase is used if you can't say yes to an invitation (I'm so sorry, but I can't come because ...).

WATCH OUT! In Britain and the USA, as in many other countries, it's important to give a reason when you can't say yes to an invitation because this is polite. You could help students brainstorm possible reasons, e.g. We're going to be on holiday. I'm going to be at work. We're going to a concert. I'm going to visit my daughter.

Exercise 9b

- Ask students to read phrases 1–4 and complete them with one word in each gap.
- Monitor and refer struggling students to the Language for writing box and also the thank-you notes in exercise 8.
- Elicit answers from the class, making sure they say the full sentence, not only the missing word.

ANSWERS

1 very 2 come 3 because 4 join

Exercise 10a

- Students work alone to write an invitation for their chosen situation. Refer them to the Language for writing box and the example invitations in exercise 7 to help them. Remind them to include information about the place and the date/time of the event.
- Monitor and assist struggling students. Correct errors as you monitor, helping students to self-correct wherever possible.
- Encourage stronger students to think carefully about how formal or informal their invitations should be to help them choose appropriate phrases.

- Put students into pairs so they can add their partner's name to the invitation if appropriate, e.g. Hi, Amira.

Exercise 10b

- In their pairs, students swap invitations. Ask them to read their partner's invitation and decide if their thank-you note is going to say yes or no.
- Allow plenty of time for students to write a thank-you note, using the Language for writing box and the examples in exercise 8 to help them.
- Monitor and assist struggling students. Correct errors as you monitor.
- When students have finished and checked their writing carefully, ask them to pass the thank-you note back to their partner. Students read the notes to find out whether their partner can come or not.
- Elicit feedback from some of the students e.g. Sandra, what did Rafa invite you to do? Rafa, did Sandra say yes or no?

EXTRA ACTIVITY If appropriate for your teaching context, students could write a real invitation for other students in the class, i.e. to meet in a café or go for a walk in the park. This could be an opportunity for students to practise their English outside class time, but students are under no obligation to say yes to others' invitations. Ask students to give their invitations to each other or send them by text. Remind students to reply with a thank-you note. Encourage students that it doesn't matter if the thank-you note says no because the main aim is to practise their writing!

10.5 Video

A New York café

New York is a great city for coffee lovers. There are thousands of cafés in the city. The Frog's Crown is a small café in Soho. The owner – Krikor – is from Venezuela. He opened the café here in New York three years ago. Krikor and his employee Rocío start work at 6 a.m. every morning. It's early, so it's usually very quiet. They know they're going to be busy later, so it's important to prepare now. They make coffee, cook food and put snacks on the shelves. Then, at around 7 a.m., the customers arrive. There are many different shops and businesses in Soho. A lot of people work in the area and for many of them their morning coffee is very important! They buy coffee, tea, cakes and pastries. Most people want a quick takeaway, but some stay for breakfast. At around ten o'clock, Krikor and Rocío relax and have a coffee. But at lunchtime, it all starts again. A lot of people come to the café on their lunch break. Some people have a drink, but most buy food. The café is famous for its empanadas – a kind of pastry with a meat, vegetable and cheese filling. It's a typical Latin American dish and it's delicious.

After lunch, it's still busy. Customers come in for a drink, something to eat or just somewhere to relax. The Frog's Crown is a typical New York café. It's popular with both tourists and locals. They come for its coffee, food and relaxed atmosphere. It's the perfect place to rest after a busy day in the big city.

VIDEO ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 Photo 2   2 Photo 3   3 –   4 Photo 1

Exercise 2

a coffee machine, milk, a croissant, coffee with ice, cakes, a paper bag, a hot pastry

Exercise 3

1 Venezuela   2 three years   3 employee
4 the customers arrive   5 have a coffee
6 meat, cheese and vegetables   7 after lunch
8 tourists and locals

Review

ANSWERS

Exercise 1

NOW, this evening, tomorrow, the day after tomorrow
next month, in six weeks, next year, THE FUTURE

Exercise 2a

- 1 Next year I'm going to study English.
- 2 We're going to have an exam the day after tomorrow.
- 3 I'm going to see some friends this evening.
- 4 I'm not going to come to English class tomorrow.
- 5 I'm going to see my family next weekend.
- 6 My English class is going to watch a film in English this year.

Exercise 3a

- 1 move 2 finish 3 change 4 work 5 buy 6 visit

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.19

A Guess what! Michael and Sara are going to move to Chicago!

B Really? When?

A In May. Sara is going to finish university and then they're going to leave.

B Is Michael going to change jobs?

A No, he isn't. He's going to work from home. They're going to buy a house, too.

B That's great news. Are you going to visit them?

Exercise 4a

- 1 at 2 on 3 in 4 on 5 in

AUDIOSCRIPT 10.20

1

A Would you like a coffee?

B No, thanks. My flight to Vienna is at 12.15. Time to go.

A OK then.

2

A Hi. I'd like some information about the cooking classes. What days are they?

B We have cooking classes on Tuesday and Saturday.

A Tuesday and Saturday. Thanks!

3

A Listen. It says here that they're going to open a new café on the high street.

B Really? When?

A It's going to open in July.

B Great.

4

A Happy birthday!

B It's not my birthday. My birthday is on 20th September.

A Oh, sorry!

5

A Would you like to come to our house for dinner on Saturday?

B That sounds great. We're going to visit our son in the afternoon, but we're free after that.

A So ... Saturday night at seven?

Exercise 5

Hot drinks: tea, coffee Snacks: croissant, sandwich

Cold drinks: juice, milk, water Desserts: cake, doughnut

Exercise 6

- 1 d 2 a 3 b 4 c 5 e

1.1 On business or on holiday?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 I'm Demir.
- 2 I'm here on holiday.
- 3 You're here to study.
- 4 You're not here on holiday. (or You aren't ...)

Exercise 2

- 1 I'm not Seunghee.
- 2 I'm not here on business.
- 3 You're not here on holiday. (or You aren't ...)
- 4 You're not Saud. (or You aren't ...)

Exercise 3

- 1 Hi, I'm Ahmed.
- 2 Are you Serina?
- 3 I'm here on holiday.
- 4 Are you here to study?
- 5 Yes, I am.

Exercise 4

- 1 'm
- 2 Are
- 3 am
- 4 Are
- 5 'm
- 6 'm
- 7 Are
- 8 'm

1.2 Where are you from?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 I'm from Brazil.
- 2 We're not from Russia.
- 3 A Are you from Turkey? B No, we're not.
- 4 A Are you from Japan? B No, I'm not.
- 5 A Are you from China? B Yes, I am.
- 6 A Are you from the UK? B Yes, we are.

Exercise 2

- 1
A Are you from Spain?
B Yes, I am.
A Where in Spain?
B Valencia.
- 2
A Are you from Indonesia?
B Yes, I am.
A Where in Indonesia?
B Bandung.
- 3
A Are you from Australia?
B Yes, I am.
A Where in Australia?
B Brisbane.

1.3 How do you spell that?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 e   2 f   3 a   4 c   5 b   6 d

Exercise 2

- 1 What's   2 Where   3 Where   4 How   5 Are   6 Are

2.1 What's this in English?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 A What's this? B It's an umbrella.
- 2 A What are these? B They're notepads.
- 3 A What's that? B It's a bag.
- 4 A What are those? B They're apples.
- 5 A Who's that? B It's my friend, Benny.
- 6 A Where are those people from? B They're from Chile.
- 7 A What's this in English? B It's a key.

Exercise 2

- 1 A this B It's
- 2 A that
- 3 A those B They're
- 4 A This
- 5 A those B They're
- 6 A that B It's

2.2 What's your job?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 I'm not a doctor.
- 2 She's not an engineer.
- 3 They're nurses.
- 4 They aren't shop assistants.
- 5 A Is it a laptop? B No, it isn't.
- 6 A Are they teachers? B Yes, they are.

Exercise 2

- 1 are
- 2 Are
- 3 they
- 4 're
- 5 they
- 6 's
- 7 's
- 8 's
- 9 's
- 10 Is
- 11 's

2.3 Where are they?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 I
- 2 you
- 3 He
- 4 She
- 5 It
- 6 We
- 7 They
- 8 he

Exercise 2

- 1 A Where are you? B I'm on Richmond Street
- 2 A Where's the hospital? B It's on Marsh Road.
- 3 A Where's Ronnie's Bar? B It's on Broad Street.
- 4 A Where's Astrid? B She's at the station.
- 5 A Where's Pieter? B He's at the museum.
- 6 A Where are the students? B They're at school.

3.1 My neighbours

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 Jade's got four children.
- 2 They've got good neighbours.
- 3 She's got a friendly cat.
- 4 Oxford's got a big university.
- 5 My flat's got a lovely garden.

- 6 He's got a nice house.
- 7 I've got great friends.
- 8 You've got an interesting job.

Exercise 2

- 1 've got
- 2 's got
- 3 's got
- 4 've got
- 5 's got
- 6 've got
- 7 've got
- 8 's got
- 9 's got
- 10 've got

3.2 Possessions

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 A Has she got a car? B Yes, she has.
- 2 She hasn't got an umbrella.
- 3 A Have we got a key? B No, we haven't.
- 4 A Have they got bank accounts? B Yes, they have.
- 5 You haven't got a job.
- 6 We haven't got a TV.
- 7 I haven't got a good friend in this class.

Exercise 2

- 1 c   2 e   3 a   4 f   5 d   6 b   7 h   8 g

3.3 Family

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 It's my laptop.
- 2 They're our children.
- 3 It's their car.
- 4 It's his phone.
- 5 It's her umbrella.
- 6 It's your apple.
- 7 They're her sisters.
- 8 It's our flat.
- 9 They're my keys.
- 10 They're your wallets.

Exercise 2

- 1 This is my aunt's car.
- 2 This is my boss's phone.
- 3 This is Meg and Kane's teacher.
- 4 These are Jiang and Ting's books.
- 5 This is Colin's dog.
- 6 These are my brother's children.

4.1 About me

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 go   2 studies   3 live   4 watch   5 want   6 have 7 like   8 reads   9 play   10 teaches

Exercise 2

- 1 She lives in Abu Dhabi.
- 2 She has three children.

- 3 She teaches at the university.
- 4 She works from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m.
- 5 She likes her job.
- 6 She studies English and watches films.
- 7 She goes abroad a lot.

4.2 Journeys

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 doesn't watch 2 teach 3 goes 4 don't live
5 have 6 doesn't like 7 doesn't have 8 cycle

Exercise 2

1 Our city doesn't have a good school.
2 We don't live in the city centre.
3 Dan doesn't walk to work.
4 The buses don't go to the train station.
5 I don't like motorcycles.
6 Her sister doesn't watch TV.
7 You don't study at my school.

Exercise 3

1 live 2 work 3 teaches 4 have 5 walk 6 read
7 watches 8 plays 9 like

4.3 My day

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 A Does B does	4 A Does B doesn't
2 A Do B don't	5 A Does B does
3 A Do B do

Exercise 2

1 Does she live with her parents?
2 Do they work in the city centre?
3 Does he have breakfast at 6 a.m.?
4 Does Abdul study English at the weekend?
5 Do your daughters want to go abroad?

Exercise 3

1 Do 2 don't 3 Do 4 Does 5 does 6 doesn't
7 Do 8 do 9 doesn't 10 Do

5.1 Clothes style

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 never   2 sometimes   3 often   4 usually   5 always

Exercise 2

- 1 We never read newspapers in the morning.
- 2 I sometimes have breakfast in bed.
- 3 They usually get up early.
- 4 He always drives to work.
- 5 She doesn't often buy expensive clothes.

Exercise 3

- 1 usually wear
- 2 sometimes go
- 3 never buy
- 4 always wears
- 5 often visits
- 6 usually goes

5.2 Amazing architecture

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 Where 2 What 3 When 4 When 5 What
6 What 7 Why

Exercise 2

1 do 2 does 3 are 4 do 5 do 6 are

Exercise 3

a 2 b 3 c 1 d 4 e 6 f 5

5.3 Styles around the world

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 I sometimes wear really long skirts.
2 She has lots of beautiful clothes.
3 A Do you wear shoes at home? B No, I don't.
4 He doesn't like smart clothes.
5 We have different hairstyles.
6 A Does he put cream on his face? B Yes, he does.

Exercise 2

1 do, come 2 live 3 work 4 have 5 wear 6 wear
7 has 8 do, wear 9 've got 10 Do, like 11 like

6.1 Two towns

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 There's a football stadium.
- 2 There aren't any buses.
- 3 There's a park.
- 4 There is a café.
- 5 There are two shops.
- 6 There isn't a hospital.
- 7 There aren't any museums.
- 8 There are two hotels.
- 9 There are two restaurants.
- 10 There isn't a cinema.

6.2 Is there Wi-fi?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 There's 2 Is there 3 there is 4 Is there
5 there isn't 6 Are there 7 There's 8 there aren't 9 Is there 10 Are there 11 there's

Exercise 2

- 1 A Is there a bed? B Yes, there is.
2 A Are there any towels? B No, there aren't.
3 A Is there a TV? B Yes, there is.
4 A Are there any newspapers? B Yes, there are.
5 A Is there a bath? B Yes, there is.
6 A Is there a fridge? B No, there isn't.
7 A Are there any refreshments? B Yes, there are.
8 A Is there a phone? B No, there isn't.
9 A Is there an iron? B No, there isn't.
10 A Are there any keys? B No, there aren't.

6.3 Has each flat got a kitchen?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 All the 2 Each 3 All the 4 each 5 all the 6 All the

Exercise 2

- 1 All the rooms have tables.
2 Each cinema has a café.
3 All the restaurants are good.
4 Do all the trains have toilets?
5 Is each flat different?

Exercise 3

- 1 like 2 All 3 teachers 4 Each 5 different 6 all
7 have 8 Each 9 all 10 near 11 all

7.1 She can paint

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- |                             |                  |
|-----------------------------|------------------|
| 1 He can play the piano.    | 4 I can paint.   |
| 2 She can't ride a bicycle. | 5 They can swim. |
| 3 You can cook.             | 6 We can't sing. |

Exercise 2

- 1 can ride, can't drive
- 2 can't use, can paint
- 3 can speak, can't read
- 4 can play, can't do
- 5 can fly, can't play
- 6 can remember, can't remember

7.2 Can you help?

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 use 2 type 3 can't 4 read 5 can you 6 can't
7 drive 8 Yes 9 use 10 swim

Exercise 2

- 1 Can he drive a car?
- 2 Can you swim well?
- 3 Can she ride a motorbike?
- 4 Can they understand the instructions?
- 5 Can this phone take photographs?
- 6 Can they use a computer well?

7.3 I like going out

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 b 2 a 3 f 4 d 5 g 6 e 7 c

Exercise 2

- 1 like being 2 likes going 3 like doing
- 4 like reading 5 likes playing 6 like riding
- 7 like making 8 like doing 9 like watching
- 10 like getting

Exercise 3

1 b 2 g 3 a 4 f 5 e 6 j 7 d 8 h 9 c 10 i

8.1 When we were seven

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 wasn't 2 were 3 wasn't 4 wasn't 5 were
6 wasn't 7 were 8 wasn't 9 weren't 10 wasn't

Exercise 2

1 A Was B was	5 A Were B were
2 A Were B wasn't	6 A Were B weren't
3 A Was B was	7 A Was B wasn't
4 A Were B was	8 A Was B wasn't

8.2 Lives from the past

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 She visited her aunt every Wednesday.
- 2 He used his new laptop in the lesson.
- 3 They loved Amsterdam.
- 4 You always remembered my birthday.
- 5 I travelled to work by bus.
- 6 She watched films in the morning.
- 7 The shop opened at 10.30.

Exercise 2

- 1 was
- 2 was
- 3 lived
- 4 died
- 5 was
- 6 was
- 7 lived
- 8 was
- 9 painted
- 10 died
- 11 was
- 12 was
- 13 was
- 14 liked
- 15 studied
- 16 married
- 17 died

8.3 Special moments

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 him
- 2 He, her
- 3 They, us
- 4 me
- 5 you
- 6 She/him
- 7 it
- 8 them

Exercise 2

- 1 It
- 2 him
- 3 She
- 4 them
- 5 her
- 6 you
- 7 them
- 8 us
- 9 me
- 10 They

9.1 Happy memories

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

1 had 2 wrote 3 left 4 went 5 lost 6 saw
7 got

Exercise 2

1 met 2 studied 3 was 4 fell 5 saw 6 could
7 painted 8 wrote 9 visited 10 got 11 lived
12 were 13 wasn't 14 sold 15 were 16 went 17 left

9.2 A good excuse

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 They didn't go shopping.
- 2 The fridge didn't fall on me.
- 3 She didn't have a bad night.
- 4 You didn't come late.
- 5 We didn't walk on the beach.

Exercise 2

- 1 Did he get up late? No, he didn't.
- 2 Did she go to work? Yes, she did.
- 3 Did they lose their cat? No, they didn't.
- 4 Did your brother leave at 5 p.m.? Yes, he did.
- 5 Did the shop close at 3 p.m.? Yes, it did.

Exercise 3

- 1 see
- 2 miss
- 3 got up
- 4 had
- 5 eat
- 6 had
- 7 go
- 8 called
- 9 came
- 10 went
- 11 write
- 12 forgot

9.3 News stories

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 I went to the bank two days ago.
- 2 She lived in Zaragoza seven years ago.
- 3 We married six months ago.
- 4 You left five hours ago.
- 5 The film started twenty minutes ago.

Exercise 2

- 1 yesterday
- 2 ago
- 3 at
- 4 last
- 5 ago
- 6 on
- 7 in
- 8 yesterday
- 9 ago
- 10 when

10.1 We're going to raise £5,000

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 's going to play tennis
- 2 's going to clean
- 3 're going to paint
- 4 are going to watch
- 5 're going to play football
- 6 'm going to drive

Exercise 2

- |                        |                        |
|------------------------|------------------------|
| 1 're going to visit   | 4 're going to write   |
| 2 'm not going to have | 5 're not going to buy |
| 3 's going to take     | 6 're going to travel  |

10.2 A new life

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 Where are you going to live?
- 2 What's he going to teach?
- 3 Who are you going to visit?
- 4 What time's the train going to leave?

Exercise 2

- 1 A Are you going to change jobs? B Yes, I am.
- 2 A Is he going to buy a new house? B No, he isn't.
- 3 A Are Safiah and Fuad going to move abroad next month? B Yes, they are.
- 4 A Are the children going to sing for us tomorrow?
B No, they aren't.
- 5 A Is she going to study Chinese? B Yes, she is.

Exercise 3

- |                         |                        |
|-------------------------|------------------------|
| 1 are (you) going to do | 5 is (she) going to do |
| 2 'm going to get up    | 6 's going to work     |
| 3 are you going to buy  | 7 's going to learn    |
| 4 's going to start     |                        |

10.3 Café cities

GRAMMAR REFERENCE ANSWERS

Exercise 1

- 1 Would 2 Do 3 Would 4 do 5 do

Exercise 2

- 1 would you like 2 I'd like 3 Do you like
4 Would you like 5 would you like 6 I'd like 7 I like
8 Would you like 9 Would you like

Units 1 & 2 First meetings

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Copy the table onto the board. Demonstrate the task by eliciting a name from the box and writing it in the correct column. Elicit one job as a further example. Give time for students to do the task. Put them into pairs to compare answers. Check answers.

ANSWERS

Names	Jobs	Countries	Other words
John	waiter	England	wallet
Gabriella	nurse	the USA	business
Catherine	teacher	France	holiday
Alex	shop assistant	Brazil	restaurant
Brittney	student	Panama	laptop

- 2 Ask students to read through section 1 in exercise 2. Play the video and allow time for students to write the names on the correct photos. Then ask students to read exercise 1b. Play the next part of the video so students can match each speaker to his/her country and city. Check answers together. You could write them on the board.

Next ask students to look at 2a. Point out that they need to tick speakers who are here to study (not on business or on holiday). Play the next part of the video.

Then ask students to watch the last part of the video and circle the correct job for each person. Check answers together.

ANSWERS

1a 1 Alex 2 Gabriella 3 Brittney 4 John
5 Catherine

1b 1 e 2 d 3 b 4 a 5 c

2a Alex, Gabriella and Brittney

2b 1 a teacher 2 a student 3 a student 4 a waiter
5 a nurse

- 3 Put students into pairs. Ask them to read the instruction and example. Demonstrate with one strong student – you describe a speaker so they can guess. Set a time limit for the activity and make sure students take turns.

Unit 3 People and possessions

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Ask them to read the instruction and the example. Students do the first task individually, then work in pairs to compare their family members and the technology they have got. Elicit from some pairs any information which is the same.
- 2 Check that students know the words north, south, hairdresser, mum and dad which appear in section 1. Ask students to watch the video and listen carefully to decide if each statement is true or false. Make sure you pause between each speaker and play this part of the video more than once if necessary. Go through the answers together. For the false statements, try to elicit the correct information.

Next ask students to read the question and look at section 2. Play the video. Go through answers with the class, eliciting full sentences, e.g. Francis has got a ...

ANSWERS

- 1 1 F (Francis has got one sister.)
2 F (Alison has got a brother in the north of England.)
3 T
4 T
5 F (Susie's father is 56 years old. Her mother is 57.)
6 T (Rakibur has got five sisters and three brothers.)
7 F (Rebecca has got two brothers.)
8 F (Rebecca's brothers are Ben and Dan.)

2		smart- phone	tablet	laptop	digital camera	MP3 player
	Francis		✓	✓
	Alison	✓		✓
	Susie	✓		✓	✓	✓
	Rakibur	✓		✓
	Rebecca			✓

- 3 Put students into pairs to read and answer the question. Point out the example to help them understand what to do. When they have finished the task, elicit example sentences from some pairs.

Unit 4 My life

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Ask students to read the instruction and examples. Demonstrate the activity by writing your own list of five things and asking strong students to guess You ... every day. Ask students to write their lists of five activities. Put students in pairs to guess the three activities their partner does every day.
- 2 Ask students to watch the video and write down the time each person gets up. Check answers together. Then ask students to read statements 1–7 in 1b. Point out that students will need to use some initials more than once. Play the video again so students can write the correct initial letter next to them. Check answers together.
After that, ask students to read the question and the four summaries. Check that students know the words orchestra, swimming and theatre. Elicit that the sentences use third person forms, e.g. relaxes, plays and remind students to use third person forms for the verbs they use to complete the gaps. Play the video. Check answers together.

ANSWERS

- 1a 1 8.00 a.m. 2 6.00 a.m. 3 9.00 a.m. 4 7.30 a.m.
1b 1 J 2 A 3 L 4 J 5 F 6 A 7 F
- 2 1 football, cinema
2 plays, goes
3 friends, watches
4 London
- 3 Put students in pairs to discuss which of the statements in section 1b are true for them. Encourage strong students to change statements to make them true, e.g. I cook dinner at 7 p.m.

Unit 5 Style and design

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Put students in pairs to talk about three buildings they know.
- 2 Ask students to read the adjectives in the box. You may need to pre-teach tiny. Ask students to watch the video and use the adjectives in the box to complete the sentences. Play the video, pausing between speakers to give extra time for writing. Students may need to watch this part of the video more than once. Go through the answers together and then ask students to read through exercise 2. You may need to pre-teach comfortable and uncomfortable. Play the video for students to match the speakers and sentences. Go through answers with the class.

ANSWERS

- 1 1 beautiful, colourful
2 tiny
3 great, lovely
4 beautiful, old
5 big, modern
- 2 1 c 2 d 3 e 4 a 5 b
- 3 Ask students to read the instruction. Put students in pairs to do the exercise and encourage them to ask extra questions to get more information about their partner's style, e.g. What clothes do you wear for work? Do you like jeans? Conduct class feedback and ask students to report on their partner's style.

Unit 6 Places and facilities

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Ask students to read the instruction and examples. Give them a few minutes to write their lists of facilities. (Weaker students could look at section 1 in exercise 2 for ideas.) Put students into pairs to compare the facilities they think are important. Elicit ideas from the class.
- 2 Ask students to read the instruction and the words in 1–5. Play the video so students can circle the facilities mentioned. Check answers with the class. Then play the rest of the video and ask students to tick the hotel facilities each speaker talks about. Check answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 1 a beach, shops, parks, cinemas
2 shops, museums, a new library, parks
3 restaurants, cafés, hotels, parks, a cinema, shops
4 restaurants, shops, cinemas, theatres, a park, a museum
5 a shopping centre, a museum, an art gallery

2		swimming pool	restaurant	balcony	big bed	Wi-fi
	Francis	✓	✓
	Alison			✓
	John	✓	✓	✓	✓
	Susie	✓	✓		✓	✓
	Rebecca	✓		✓		✓

- 3 Put students into pairs. Ask them to read the instruction. If necessary give a time limit for the task. When students are ready, put two pairs together to present their hotels to each other. Conduct class feedback about similarities and differences between the hotels.

Unit 7 Skills and interests

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Explain the time reference by the age of 30. Ask students to read the instruction and give them some examples if necessary, e.g. ride a bike, play a musical instrument. Give students time to write their lists. Put them in pairs to compare and ask each other questions about their skills. You could also allow the class to ask you about the things on their lists.
- 2 Ask students to read through section 1. Play the video, pausing between speakers to give students time to tick the activities each speaker can do in section 1a, and circle the activities they can't do in section 1b. Go through all the answers together, eliciting full sentences where possible.

Before students move to section 2, give them time to read the sentences in sections 2a and 2b. Play the video for students to mark the statements in section 2a true or false and complete the sentences in 2b. Play this part of the video more than once if necessary, pausing between speakers to give extra time for writing. Go through the answers together. For the false statements, try to elicit the correct information.

ANSWERS

1a

	drive	play the guitar	cook	speak French	play football
Nigel	✓	✓
Camilla			✓
John	✓				✓
Alex		✓		✓	✓
Caroline			✓	✓

- 1b 1 sing 2 drive 3 dance 4 play the drums
5 play sport
- 2a 1 F (loves driving) 2 T 3 T
4 F (likes listening to music) 5 T
- 2b 1 bus 2 watching TV 3 getting up
4 video games 5 sports
- 3 Put students into small groups to discuss which likes and dislikes in exercise 2 are similar to their own. Conduct class feedback. You could write sentences on the board about the likes and dislikes most of the class share, e.g. Most students in this class don't like playing video games.

Unit 8 Our past

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Teach students the noun childhood and check students understand river, woods and fishing. Ask students to read phrases 1–5 and choose the correct verb. Elicit answers from the students.

ANSWERS

- 1 live 2 want 3 be 4 play 5 enjoy
- 2 Ask students to read the instruction and sentences 1–4 in section 1. Play the video. Before students move to section 2, check they understand the phrase dream job, then ask them to read all the jobs in 1–5. Explain any unknown words. Play the video. Go through the answers to sections 1 and 2 together.

ANSWERS

- 1 1 T 2 F (She had lots of friends at school.)
3 F (Anne talked about a brother, not a sister.) 4 T
- 2 1 a racing driver 2 a teacher, an actor
3 be Prime Minister, work in a record shop
4 a ballet dancer 5 a farmer
- 3 Put students in pairs to ask and answer the questions. Conduct class feedback. Encourage students to report what their partner told them, e.g. Natalia played in the garden with her sister. She wanted to be a doctor.

Unit 9 Unusual stories

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Ask students to look at the things in the box. Explain any unknown vocabulary, including the London Eye and the Pyramids. You could have pictures to help explain these. Give students time to do the ordering task. Put students into pairs to compare their order with their partner's.
- 2 Ask students to look at the names in section 1 and read sentences a–e. Ask them to watch the video and match the sentences to the speakers. Play the video. Check answers together.
Next ask students to read the question and look at the table. Show that students need to draw a line to connect each speaker with the correct place and information. Play the video. Check answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 a Angela b Caroline c Nigel d Anne e Catherine
- 2 Nigel 2c
Catherine 5d
Anne 1e
Angela 4a
Caroline 3b
- 3 Ask students to choose either When was the last time you did something exciting? or When was the last time you travelled? Ask students to read the prompts. You could elicit that felt is the past form of feel. Students work individually to prepare an answer to the question. Put students into small groups to share stories.

Unit 10 New places, new projects

- 1 Give a copy of the worksheet to each student. Ask them to read the instruction. When students have written three things, put them into pairs to compare their weekend plans.
- 2 Ask students to look at the table in section 1 and check they understand boat, coast and countryside. You could show them a picture of the white cliffs of Dover which are famous in the UK. Ask students to watch the video and match the speakers to their weekend plans. Go through the answers together.
Then ask students to look at the names and the options in section 2. Play the video so students can circle the letter corresponding to the place each speaker mentions. Go through the answers together.

ANSWERS

- 1 1 c 2 e 3 a 4 b 5 d
- 2 1 b 2 a 3 b 4 a 5 b
- 3 Ask students to read the instructions and example. If necessary, elicit the meaning of probably. Demonstrate the activity by choosing one student to ask you the example question. Give your own answer. Allow students a few minutes' thinking time and then put them into pairs again to find out what their partner is planning to eat, when and where. Conduct class feedback. You could find out how many students are going to eat out this weekend.